CHARLEVOIX — City Council members on Monday unanimously voted to name Charlevoix resident Joyce Golding the new city clerk.

Golding will begin on Monday, April 7. She will fill a long-vacant elected position and is expected to maintain the office at least until the current term's end in January 2016.

"I'm excited for the change. It's my first time working in the public sector," she said.

Golding, who worked since 2009 as an executive assistant at Odawa Casino Resort in Potoskey, said she is eager to assume this public role.

"I want to feel a sense of community and be part of the town," she said.

Charlevoix girl rescued after winter wander with family dogs

CAROLYN SHERK
COURIER CONTRIBUTOR

CHARLEVOIX — On the afternoon of Sunday, March 16, Danielle Vallad bundled up her 3-year-old daughter Emmory and headed outdoors with the family and their two dogs, Molly and Simba. Danielle put on her coat and bounced out the door with her daughter.

Emmory had a great time playing out in the large drifts of ice-packed snow. She managed to climb to the top of a very large snow bank and went over the top and then down on the opposite side of the mound. Danielle stayed within earshot and could hear her daughter laughing and talking to the dogs.

But suddenly it got quiet and Emmory couldn't be seen.

The child weighs only 40 pounds, so she easily made her way across the yard on top of the snow. Danielle and her brother Cole, along with family friend Lester Umlor, immediately began to trudge through waist-deep snow in an effort to catch up with Emmory, while her grandmother, Connie, ran back to the house and called 9-1-1.

The deep, frozen snow made it tre-

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office immediately responded with an organized group of 30 rescue workers from both the Charlevoix city and township fire departments, along with emergency medical technicians from the city.

The emergency responders arrived with snowmobiles and snowshoes to help manage their way quickly across the frozen terrain in their efforts to rescue Emmory. Weather conditions recorded just 9 degrees that day, and it took nearly three hours for the team to find Emmory and her mom, both cold

EAST JORDAN — Research into replacement of an old culvert-based Jordan River crossing in northern Antrim County lured dozens of area residents to a standing room-only public meeting.

Preliminary plans are to replace the culverts that create a bridge across the river on Old State Road, ideally with a concrete span that solves erosion and other issues. Local family seeks donations to adopt

Foster child's case in Oklahoma impacts Charlevoix-based family

ANNE KELLY
COURIER CONTRIBUTOR

CHARLEVOIX — Foster parenthood is a noble endeavor wherein a willing individual or family offers to take in a child — in temporary protective custody — into their home until the courts decide where the child is to be placed.

The usual path of a child placed in a foster home is to be returned back to the biological parent or parents after the domestic crisis is alleviated or resolved. This is the ideal scenario, but one that more often than not, is unrealistic. The patterns of neglect and abuse that precipitated the separation of the child or children from their parents often are an extreme challenge to overcome.

Baby AJ is a child in such a situation. Fostered by Colleen and Tony Gonzalez, of Charlevoix, the family now is caught up in the cogs of the court system in Tulsa, Okla., where AJ's biological mother spent her time in and out of correctional facilities as the result of drug addiction. In July 2013, the Gonzalezes received foster custody of AJ, whom authorities sheltered in an Oklahoma foster home for the first 14 months of his life while his mother spent time between jail and rehabilitation facilities. AJ's father currently is incarcerated, as well.

Colleen maintains a special stake in the child, as little AJ is her third cousin. It is a story of the cycle of drugs and abuse within a family, she said. The Gonzalezes, who have no children of their own, are eager to adopt AJ in hopes to break the ongoing cycle.

Dealing with the legalities is both expensive and frustrating. The family makes trips to Tulsa, at their own expense, for visitations with AJ's biological mother. The visits are brief and unsatisfactory, as the baby had never bonded with his biological mother, the Gonzalezes said.

In December, they learned the disappointing news that the biological mother sought reunification with her child, even after she formerly decided to give up her parental rights. Purportedly, she learned that if she didn't have the child, she would be returned to jail.

The Gonzalezes own a second home in Florida, where they previously lived and worked. They moved to Charlevoix in May 2012 to care for Colleen's terminally ill father, who subsequently passed away. They reside in her father's home on Lincoln Street and are licensed as an approved foster home.

AJ is now 22 months old and is cared for with love and devotion by the couple who makes ends meet through their pizzeria in the Oleson's Plaza, "Tony's Place." AJ even developed his own space on the premises where he delights his parents and customers with his antics and burgeoning vocabulary. He makes "pizza" in his child-sized kitchen.

The Gonzalezes recently found an Oklahoma attorney willing to take on their case with hopes to resolve it within six months for a $3,500 legal bill. This seems to be a last option for the family, they said.

The correctional facilities in Tulsa are overloaded, and the family's fear is that AJ's mother will not be returned to jail if she is responsible for a child's care. Or, she will be incarcerated for her many infractions involving methamphetamine usage if she fails to win her case to get AJ back.

"His life with his biological mother would be unfortunate," Colleen said. "She presently lives about 20 blocks from a drug-ridden area, in a small room with a single bed and a desk at the end of it. There is just barely room to get into the bed. If the courts get her housing, it will be in a halfway house with other drug addicts and their children."

It is not an environment in which they want to have AJ delivered, Colleen said.

A spaghetti dinner fundraiser was held at Community Reformed Church on Sunday, March 16. Children from the Northwest Academy Band provided music for the event and additional fundraisers may follow to achieve the $3,500 goal to complete AJ's final adoption.

The family welcomes donations at www.gofundme.com/6uic3c online. The Gon-

East Jordan Quiz Bowl team wins championship

STEVE ZUCKER
NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

EAST JORDAN — For the second time in as many years, the East Jordan High School Quiz Bowl team won a state championship title in the competition.

The team defended its Grand Champion status last week when it defeated Gaylord St. Mary in the final round. The Red Devils defeated Owosso High School in the semifinal to advance to the final round.

East Jordan High School principal Tammy Jackson said the win puts the school in an elite group of schools which won back-to-back titles in the tournament's nine-year history. Members of the team are: Joel Liesenberg, Alex Newman, Garrett Imel, Laura Harden, Nick Lewin and Raven Joseph. The team is coached by John Liesenberg.

The competition is part of Central Michigan University's Quiz Central Tournament which features a bracket-style face-off in four divisions in categories such as geography, history, math, science and pop culture.

After division play is complete, the winners of each division compete until a grand champion is crowned.

BOYNE CITY

Tom Schraw enters race for judge's seat

Five names now on ballot

STEVE ZUCKER
NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

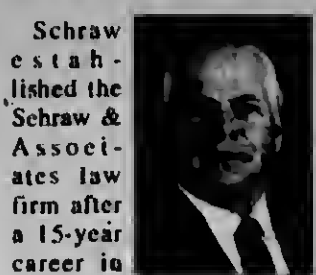

BOYNE CITY — Boyne City attorney Tom Schraw recently added his name to the already crowded ticket of candidates who seek election as the next 33rd Circuit Court judge.

Schraw filed the necessary paperwork to run for the office earlier this month, which brought the total number of candidates in the race to five.

Mary Beth Kur, Valerie Snyder, Edward Engstrom and Roy C. Hayes III, all from Charlevoix, are the other four candidates who already entered the race.

Schraw said he decided to run for the judge's seat because, after more than 20 years serving individuals and families, he looks for a way to serve people in a greater capacity.

Schraw

established the Schraw & Associates law firm after a 15-year career in transportation law and logistics with a major international chemical company in Allentown, Penn.

Schraw is a graduate of the Widener School of Law, Wilmington, Del., and became certified to practice law in Michigan in 1992. Shortly thereafter, he earned admission to practice as an attorney in the United States Federal District Court, Western Division of Michigan. At the Federal Bar, Schraw represented plaintiffs as both lead and local counsel.

Schraw said during the past 22 years, his firm represented clients in both civil and criminal litigation throughout Michigan in areas including commercial litigation, family law related matters including divorce, child custody and juvenile representation, estate planning and practice, real estate, business transactions, as well as misdemeanor and felony criminal defense.

In 2007, the firm purchased its present Boyne City location. More office space became necessary as his son Joel Schraw and daughter-

Charlevoix board extends administrators' contracts

CHARLEVOIX — The members of the Charlevoix Public Schools' Board of Education unanimously voted Monday to approve one-year employment contract extensions for three administrators.

The three administrators whom received contract extensions after this year's evaluations include Douglas Drenth, elementary principal, Suzanne Klinger, middle/high school principal, and Travis Garrett, district athletic director. All three received job performance evaluations that ranked them as effective or highly effective for the 2013-2014 academic year.

All three administrators' contracts now expire on June 30, 2016.

County Board of Commissioners approves trail grant application

STEVE ZUCKER
NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — It took the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners more time to approve the agenda for its meeting Wednesday than it did for it to approve an application for a $300,000 state grant for the next phase of the Boyne City-Charlevoix non-motorized trail.

With a quick motion and support, no discussion and a 5-1 vote, the board approved the application to the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund.

Commissioner Richard Gillespie cast the dissenting vote.

The reason the board was unable to make quick work of the matter Wednesday was because members discussed the matter — and conducted a public hearing on it — at its meeting two weeks ago. However, the board did not take action on the matter then because the written resolution was not prepared ahead of the meeting.

At its regular semi-monthly meeting on March 12, the board heard a presentation from consultants Northwest Design Group about the third of five expected phases for the trail.

Construction on the first phase of the trail is expected to begin late this summer. That section will go from Boyne City to the Bay-Evangeline Township line near Sumner Road. The second section, which is slated to be constructed up with the end of the phase one trail section near Sumner Road.

The next step in the funding for the third phase will be to apply for a $500,000 grant from the Michigan Department of Transportation's Transportation Alternatives Program. The remainder of the expected costs is slated to be paid for through a $33,000 contribution from Bay Township and $92,000 from other local sources, such as contributions and grants from other agencies.

In other business, the board received good marks on its annual audit report.

Steve Kirinovic of the accounting firm, Abraham & Gaffney told the board that the firm had given the county a "un-modified" (previously known as "un-qualified") rating on its accounting practices — the

BOYNE FALLS

Downstate man crashes sled near Boyne Falls

BOYNE FALLS — A downstate man received injuries when he crashed his snowmobile in Charlevoix County's Hudson Township Saturday.

Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office officials identified the injured man as Vince Ramirez, 48, of Chesaning.

Deputies said the crash happened shortly before 3 p.m. on Trail 76 near the area of Thumb Lake Road and Jenkins Road.

Ramirez rode the trail with a friend.

According to the release, about a mile north of Thumb Lake Road Ramirez approached a right-hand curve on his sled. Because he went too fast to make the curve, he lost control of the snowmobile, left the trail and the snowmobile hit a tree, throwing Ramirez from the snowmobile into another tree, injuring his back.

Boyne Valley Township Ambulance responders took Ramirez to McLaren Northern Michigan hospital for treatment.

Deputies said Ramirez wore a helmet at the time of the crash and that excessive speed and unfamiliarity with the trail were the main contributing factors of the crash.

Two injured in U.S. 131 crash

BOYNE FALLS — Two Northern Michigan men received injuries in a two-vehicle traffic crash near Boyne Falls Wednesday, March 19.

Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office officials identified the injured men as the drivers, Curtis Stephen Justin, 53, of Boyne City, and Brian Michael Ramsey, 52, of Bellaire.

Deputies said the crash happened at about 9:30 p.m. on U.S. 131 near Robbins Siding Road as Justin traveled north in a 2009 Nissan Versa. Authorities said Justin's passenger side tires ran off the roadway and as he attempted to correct, he lost control of the vehicle. Justin's vehicle crossed the centerline and entered the path of a southbound 2008 Jeep Liberty driven by Ramsey. Ramsey's vehicle struck Justin's vehicle on its passenger side.

Boyne Valley Ambulance responders transported Ramsey, who complained of abrasions on his wrists from the airbag, pain in his chest from the seatbelt, and pain in his knees, to McLaren Northern Michigan hospital. Medical officials treated him there and then released him.

Boyne City Ambulance took Justin, who complained of pain in his back and hip, to McLaren Northern Michigan hospital.

Michigan State Police and the Boyne Valley Township Fire Department also assisted at the scene.

Deputies said both drivers avoided much more serious injuries because they wore their seat belts.

Woman injured in snowbank crash

EAST JORDAN — A Boyne City woman received injuries in a single-vehicle traffic crash between East Jordan and the village of Advance late Wednesday, March 19.

Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office officials identified the injured woman as Jessica May Cowels, 21.

Deputies said the crash happened shortly before midnight as Cowels drove north on Advance Road near Dutchman's Bay Road in a 2002 Dodge Durango. Authorities said Cowels lost control of the vehicle, crossed both lanes of the road and struck the hard snowbank on the west side of the road, which caused minor damage to the driver's side front corner of the vehicle.

According to authorities, Cowels drove home after the crash and began to complain of pain in her head and abdomen, which prompted her boyfriend's mother to call 9-1-1 for an ambulance.

Long days, short nights

Now that we have passed the spring equinox, that day when all the earth has an equal length of light and dark, it is worth considering how plant and animal organisms manage to know that spring is here, even when surrounded by a few feet of residual snow. Days have been getting longer for more than three months. Robins have begun to appear in Charlevoix, even though it is clear to us that it will be weeks before juicy night-crawlers will be available to them. What do they know about spring and how do they know it?

Both plants and animals respond to the length of day and night. In our northern climate, some organisms only begin to grow or begin to produce babies or flowers when the division of night and day provides 12 or 14 or more hours of daylight. No matter how cold or warm it is, and no matter how much snow remains, it is the length of night and day that tells plants and animals what season it is.

The clock built into plants and animals can be remarkably accurate in measuring just how many minutes of light or dark each day provides. Soybean plants can tell time with an accuracy of within 10 minutes and most other creatures are at least that accurate.

Scientists have studied the processes they call photoperiodism for decades, and have acquired valuable knowledge about how plants and animals measure time.

For many plants, what is measured is not the hours or minutes of light, but the length of darkness. Suppose a plant responds with growth or flowers only when daylight gets to 14 hours. Experimentally we can interrupt the daylight with a short period of darkness. There is no effect on the plant's activities. On the contrary, if we interrupt the 10 hours of darkness with even a brief flash of light, flowering or growth is shut off: a simple and clever experiment. It seems that plants, like many of us, need a good night's uninterrupted sleep to function normally.

Humans probably respond to day or night length in ways that are too subtle for us to detect. We talk about spring fever or winter depression, but are surrounded by so much artificial light that we have lost most of our connection to the length of days.

I suspect that the crocuses and other early plants get enough light even under the snow to know that spring has arrived. Buds are already growing down there out of sight, recognizing spring even if buried in snow.

Enjoy the longer days and feel at one with the plant and animal creatures surrounding us, even if buried in snow.

LETTERS to the editor

Thanks for help chasing toddler

Editor:

My granddaughter unfortunately made the news Monday. This is what happened, for all the negative people out there. We were outside with her and she was playing on a very tall snowbank. She was running around the yard happy. When she didn't come back over the top of the very tall bank we went looking for her. We found she had went into the woods with our two dogs and three family members went after her. When we entered the woods we could hear her talking to the dogs. We called out to her which later she said she heard but was having to much fun with her "friends" the dogs. The problem was that being 40 pounds she stayed on top of the snow and our family being three times her weight continuously fell through the crust of ice. It didn't take long before she had a huge lead.

Her mother, Uncle Cole, and Lester never stopped calling, tracking and swimming after her. Myself, I called for help so a larger group of people could try to cut her off. Her mom and Uncle Cole finally caught up with her. Lester came out in a different spot because he was trying a different route to cut her off. I helped the rescuers with information on whereabouts she was. They were very cold and exhausted, so rescuers went in and helped them get out. The rescuers were tired just from going in the short distance that they did.

A whole-hearted thank you to all the men and women who stopped what they were doing to help us out during the scariest day of our lives and thank you to the people who understand. Yes Emmory is just fine. The speed at which emergency personal showed up was amazing. Thank You!

Park land swap no small matter

Editor:

I just finished reading the article, "State park land swap reviewed by city," in the Friday, March 14, edition of your paper. What jumped out at me was the passive-aggressive tone of Mr. Dirk Cox, operations manager for St. Marys Cement, (quote): "I'm not going to listen to popular opinion-only."

One has to "only" omit the last word of that statement to know where he and his company stand on this matter. And no small matter it is. All in the name of bigger profits do they seek this most precious piece of land that generations of folks — both local and visitors — consider to be, dare I say, sacred. A person doesn't love a place just because he lives there. He loves it because it is his own. It is ours. All of ours. And it should be our grandchildren's grandchildren's, as well. Thank you.

Bridging our past with our future

LOOKING BACK...

In the late 19th century, as more and more people began to discover the Lake Charlevoix and Little Traverse Bay region and move north, more roads had to be constructed to connect the various settlements. They were nothing more than crude two-tracks carved through the wilderness, usually along established Native American trails. The route between Pine River (Charlevoix) and Bear Creek (Petoskey) at one time was served by at least 12 stagecoaches. On the Charlevoix end, passengers boarded or disembarked at the Fountain City House hotel, now the site of the Weathervane Terrace Inn & Suites. For passengers coming from Petoskey, the far western portion of their journey ran along what is now the northern border of the country club, today called PaBeShan Trail, then onto PaBeShan Lane between Old Orchard and Mercer. It was not unusual in the wintertime for a stage to go out onto the Little Traverse Bay ice to avoid having to contend with piles of snow along the inland trail. The photo shows what PaBeShan Trail looked like — save for the fallen tree — about 50 years ago before the area began to be cleared and developed, what stage passengers would have seen along their journey — almost solid forest.

The Charlevoix Historical Society's new, fully illustrated exhibit titled Journeying to Charlevoix will be at the Depot building, at Depot Beach, through Saturday, May 3. The event initially was offered in partnership with the Smithsonian Institution exhibit titled Journey Stories, which was on display at Charlevoix Public Library. Hours at the Depot exhibit are 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturdays, or by appointment. Call (231) 547-0373 for more information.

Wanted: Main Street committee volunteers

Working — not advisory — group to be organized

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — A Charlevoix Main Street program steering committee is expected to come together in coming days, all part of a new revitalization effort for downtown.

Bethany Pearson, Charlevoix's economic development director, on Monday told the Downtown Development Authority board members about the first round of basic training through the Michigan Main Street program. The city only recently joined at the associate level.

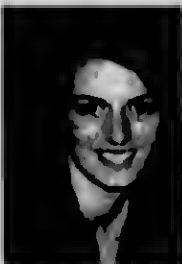

"One thing that was highly recommended... was to set up a Main Street steering committee under the DDA," Pearson said.

The steering committee would be responsible for attending training, developing and carrying out a community relations strategy, managing volunteers and helping Pearson strive to complete the application for the city to reach the select level in the state program.

"This is a working board that will be involved with hands on projects, not an advisory board," Pearson said.

This type of effort is expected to be beneficial when it comes to the city's grant applications, whether private or at the state or federal level.

Jeannine Wallace, DDA board member, asked how many members are expected to join this steering committee. Pearson said she expects 12-15 people to commit to make this a successful effort.

"I have compiled a list of people throughout the city I think would be good," Pearson said.

Dan Barron, DDA board chairman said this highly involved effort may be limited to those who are able to make the commitment to this steering committee.

"There's definitely a commitment of time and effort, consistently — on a weekly basis," he said.

Anyone who may be interested in Charlevoix's Main Street program steering committee is encouraged to call Pearson at (231) 547-3257 or download an application from the city's website at www.cityofcharlevoix.org online.

BOYNE CITY

Insurance company donates to charities

Clients chose which local organizations would benefit

BOYNE CITY — Korthase-Flinn Insurance and Financial Services announced local charities received $5,000 on behalf of the agency's clients, who voted for their favorite local nonprofit organization in conjunction with the Korthase-Flinn holiday giving program. Last year represents the second year in which Korthase-Flinn clients directed the firm's holiday contributions.

"The holiday donation program is a way for our team to support local organizations that focus on what really matters — strengthening our communities," said Randy Flinn, Korthase-Flinn president. "Many of our clients share our commitment to community, so donating on their behalf was an opportunity to make our gift to them more meaningful."

The following organizations received the recent contributions:

- The Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan
- The Care & Share Pantry of East Jordan

- Boyne Community Christmas
- The Manna Food Project of Harbor Springs
- Good Samaritan of Ellsworth
- The Friendship Centers of Emmet County
- The Nehemiah Project of Petoskey
- Compassionate Hearts of Boyne City

Korthase-Flinn employees presented checks to each recipient during a Feb. 13 luncheon at Water Street Café in Boyne City.

"I very much appreciate Korthase-Flinn's effort to support local charitable organizations and know I speak on behalf of all the recipients of their holiday giving program," said Sue Engle, executive director for the Friendship Centers of Emmet County. "As with other nonprofit agencies, we rely on contributions from philanthropic folks like those at Korthase-Flinn to provide the best possible service to the community."

BELLAIRE

BELLAIRE — April marks spring break and the end of ski season, but it also brings a one-of-a-kind event to Shanty Creek Resorts in Bellaire.

Quickly becoming among Michigan's biggest winter events, the Schuss Mountain Snow Challenge transforms the late-season slopes into side-by-side uphill truck racing. Spectators watch as modified trucks, Jeeps and more race to the top. It's loud, fun for the whole family and for a great cause — a portion of the proceeds is donated to Michigan's Disabled American Veterans.

This collaborative event between GRZ Productions and Shanty Creek Resorts is the sixth such annual event and will this year be on April 5-6. The event brings in more than 200 competitors, plus spectators from across the Midwest.

Various types of trucks, Jeeps and other vehicles will race up the face of several ski hills at Schuss Mountain at Shanty Creek Resorts in Antrim County.

"The Snow Challenge is appealing to everyone," said Jason Grzesikowski, event organizer and owner of both GRZ Productions and Griztek Auto Appearance & Off-Road. "It signals the beginning of spring, gives racers a chance to dust off the vehicles they've stored all winter, and gives everyone a unique experience you can't find anywhere else in the world."

The Schuss Mountain Snow Challenge uses three two Sportsman's classes to accommodate every day drivers all the way up to Super-Modified and Nitrous classes.

The annual snowy truck-racing is a popular family event that features an outdoor barbecue, accessibility to the pit area to check out all types of vehicles.

Spectator entry fees are $10 for adults and $5 for children up to 16 years old, as well as $5 for seniors and both veterans and active military members. Racing fees vary and advanced registration is required. More information is available at www.griztekusa.com/snowchallenge.html online.

Those interested in on-site lodging should contact the Antrim County-based Shanty Creek Resorts via reservations at (800) 678-4111.

Lions Club to promote organ donation

Michigan Secretary of State offices will on Wednesday, April 2, join with the agency's partners at Gift of Life and the Michigan Eye Bank to encourage residents to get a heart — on their driver's license — if they add their name to the Michigan Organ Donor Registry.

Locally on that day, the Charlevoix Lions Club will join with the Michigan Secretary of State office, in Captain's Corner on M-66 in Charlevoix, to promote National Donate Life Month. Lions Club members will be on hand at the Charlevoix office that day to help bring awareness to the effort.

Event organizers said one donor can bring the gift of sight, life and mobility to nearly 50 people. Everyone is eligible to sign up, regardless of age or medical condition. Everyone is evaluated at the time of death based on the needs at that time.

Anyone who wishes to sign up for the Michigan Organ Donor Registry program may do so year-round, at any Michigan Secretary of State office. Residents may also sign up via any of three websites: www.MichiganEyeBank.org, www.GiftOfLifeMichigan.org, or www.Michigan.gov/sos. Then click on the sign-up link.

The registry is confidential and is maintained and only accessed by Gift of Life Michigan to assist hospitals in the recovery and transplantation of organs and tissues. There is no cost to the donor or the donor's family.

Whooping cough case confirmed in Antrim County child

Treatment, vaccines recommended for those in contact with the disease

RACHEL BROOKHAM
NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

BELLAIRE — Authorities recently confirmed pertussis, more commonly known as whooping cough, in an Antrim County student.

The Health Department of Northwest Michigan mailed letters to parents in the affected school, to recommend students in that classroom be treated by their doctors with an antibiotic as a preventive measure. Letters also provided information about symptoms of the illness and vaccination recommendations.

According to the health department, the infected student did not receive an up-to-date pertussis vaccination.

Pertussis is spread by coughing and sneezing, and is highly contagious. Symptoms start with a runny nose, mild fever and mild cough, similar to a cold, but progress to severe coughing spasms that may interfere with eating, drinking and breathing. Infants and young children often have the most severe symptoms.

"The best prevention is to ensure everyone in the family is vaccinated," said Joshua Meyerson, medical director for the Health Department of Northwest Michigan. "Make sure young children receive all five recommended doses of DTaP (diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis) vaccine at 2, 4, 6 and 15 months of age, and again between 4 and 6 years of age. Starting at age 11, everyone should receive at least one Tdap booster dose, even if they have had a regular tetanus (Td) vaccine recently. Routine hand-washing is also helpful."

Meyerson warns those who refuse vaccination put others at risk.

"Even if you aren't concerned about the threat of pertussis for yourself, you may be unknowingly spreading the illness to others, especially infants and young children, to whom it may be fatal," he said.

He added there are new vaccination recommendations for women who are pregnant. "All pregnant women are now being advised to get a Tdap during their third trimester, between 27 and 36 weeks, and they should get the Tdap with each pregnancy," he explained. "This provides additional protection for infants when they are born."

The health department offers all necessary immunizations, including Tdap and DTaP vaccines, through its clinics in Bellaire, Mancelona, Charlevoix, Gaylord and Harbor Springs/Petoskey.

Medicare, Medicaid and many forms of private health insurance are accepted. Those without health insurance coverage for immunizations qualify for reduced rates for these vaccines. For more information, or to schedule appointments for yourself and your family, call the health department at (800) 432-4121.

in-law Sarah Schraw graduated from Thomas M. Cooley School of Law and joined the firm.

Schraw and his wife of 39 years, Marleen, live in Boyne City. They have two adult children, Whitney and Joel. Both Toni and Marleen served on a variety of community and church related boards.

Schraw said if elected, one of his primary focuses would be on keeping the courts accessible in all.

"There are a number of opportunities headed our way that will insulate the courts from the community and will make it increasingly difficult to get a trial and to get in front of a judge," Schraw said. "We ought to tear those barriers down."

Schraw referred to the way some courts instituted policies and procedures that make it nearly impossible for an average citizen to avail themselves of the courts without the assistance of an attorney. One example he pointed to is the requirement in some courts that many documents be filed electronically.

"I have to employ a person just to handle that work.

How is an average citizen going to do it on their own?" Schraw said. "I've told clients for years, that there are things they can do themselves, but they can't in many circuit courts."

Schraw said his decision to run for the judge's seat was not one that he or his family took lightly. That's in part because, if Schraw is elected, neither his son nor his daughter-in-law, who are part of his firm, will be able to practice in his court.

"There are two messages. I want to send about my campaign: I want people to understand that, in my practice I have had clients who could buy anything and those who could buy nothing, and I always tried to treat them equally; and that my campaign is not based on what I think about me. It's based on what people in the community think about me."

Schraw, the other four candidates, and any other attorney who files to run by the April 22 deadline, will square off in the Tuesday, Aug. 5, primary. The top two vote-getters in the primary will then advance to the Nov. 4 general election.

un charges of first degree criminal sexual conduct, assault with a dangerous weapon and domestic violence in connection with an attack that took place on Aug. 28 in Charlevoix.

A jury convicted Scotton after a four-day jury trial on Feb. 25 in the 90th Circuit Court in Charlevoix.

Charlevoix County Special Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Kayla Nixon prosecuted the case with assistance from Katrina Martin, of the Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney's Office. Defense attorney Christopher Turkelson represented Scotton.

In a news release about the case, Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney Allen Telgenhof said it amounted to excellent police work by the Charlevoix Police Department that led to the arrest and conviction.

"Officers were doing a well-being check on the victim who initially told them that everything was okay," Telgenhof said.

"But the officers, particularly chief Gerard Doan, knew that something didn't seem right and went back to the residence to investigate further."

"The victim then was separated from the assailant and told police what had happened."

"Chief Doan, assistant chief Scott Hankins and officer Matt Umilis all worked on the investigation and testified at trial. They were key to obtaining this important conviction," Telgenhof said.

Nixon is a prosecuting attorney who works in Emmet and Charlevoix counties pursuant to a Federal Grant to Encourage Arrest Policies and Enforcement of Protection Orders program.

She assists in the prosecution of cases that involve domestic abuse and sexual assault that arises out of domestic relationships. Telgenhof said in the release, top level, noting no major concerns.

He noted that last fiscal year the county dipped into its fund balance for about $421,000, but noted that number was down from the previous year.

Overall, Kirinovic said the county is in a "very stable" financial situation, but cautioned that the board should be wary of some liabilities that loom in the not-too-distant future in the form of pension and other past-employee expenses.

The board also set a special meeting for 9:30 a.m. on Monday, April 7, at which time it plans to interview two applicants for the position of full-time in-house civil counsel.

Golding holds a bachelor's degree in computer science from Madonna University and is a notary public. She will earn an annual $37,388 salary to work a maximum 1,500 hours per year, which works out to nearly $25 per hour — a rate set by city policy as 90-percent of the predecessor's compensation.

Golding moved within the city more than a year ago, and prior to that lived on Susan Lake for a couple of years, she said. Before that was Indian River and downstate, when she worked as an office manager for Delta Gear Inc.

Mayor Norm Carlson Jr. said he's eager for closure on this pending city clerk issue.

"I'm looking forward to having a longtime solution to this position," Carlson Jr. said.

Meanwhile, city leaders are expected to pursue a change in the city clerk position from elected to appointed, something that can be done only by a vote of the people, according to the city charter.

"I absolutely support making the position appointed. It would bring stability to the position," Carlson Jr. said.

Should voters support that measure at the polls, it would change the position at the end of Golding's term.

City voters recently elected as city clerk Larry Sullivan, Charlevoix County commissioner, but he declined to accept the city post when the Michigan Attorney General opined that state law and the city charter prevent Sullivan from holding both elected city and county positions at the same time.

"There isn't a parent that hasn't lost their child for a moment in the house, the store or the yard. Kids will be kids. We were just very lucky we found the child in a short period of time and everybody is happy," Schneider said.

"A whole-hearted thank you to all the men and women who stopped what they were doing to help us out during the scariest day of our lives," said Connie Vallad.

tion timing, ecological impacts, funding and the loss of a beloved recreational attraction.

"I know there are a lot of emotions surrounding these issues," said Heidi Shaffer, soil erosion officer with the Antrim Conservation District.

The idea is to remove the culverts and allow more natural flow of the river in that spot. There is quite a water level drop from one side of the culverts to the other, which makes it a challenge for some fish to traverse upstream and also super fun for paddlers on the river's rushing surface.

Burt Thompson, Antrim County Road Commission engineer-manager, said the culverts likely have a couple more decades of life in them, but eventually must be replaced. And when replaced, new state bridge standards won't allow for new culverts to be installed — it must be a bridge.

"Someday it will have to be replaced," he said. "I can't give you a prediction when."

The expected timeline is for the planned bridge work to be done in 2016 or 2017, should adequate funds become available. State and federal grant dollars likely will be sought, along with private donations.

Along with the bridge project, plans are to reinforce the area where a pipeline crosses the river — a spot heavily used by summertime revelers on float trips — with natural shoreline reinforcements, what engineers call "bio-engineering."

"The fragile soils here don't hold up to the heavy use," said John Richter, president of the Friends of the Jordan nonprofit.

Donna Theibert, an area resident and Jordan Township trustee, asked what exactly "bio-engineering" involves. Officials explained it's the use of plants and natural materials to literally shore up the sides of the river.

Plans also call to "spread out the users" of the river with the creation of design-nated pull-off spots, since most of the currently used places are on private property.

Traverse City-based non-profit Conservation Resource Alliance is on the design phase of the planned changes, along with basic fundraising.

"We're just getting started and want to work cooperatively," said Kimberly Balke, project manager and biologist with the river-focused stewardship group. "We know this site is used for various reasons."

This summer the Michigan Department of Natural Resources is expected to conduct field visits to observe the popular river's heavy human traffic and develop a recreation plan.

Improving upon a school record 27 win season from a year ago won't be easy, but the Rayders may just have a 2014 lineup to do so. Charlevoix also earned an undefeated Lake Michigan Conference crown and first district title since 1988 a year ago. Team members include: Kenen Borths, JJ Bottomly, Noah Cert, Hunter Cox, Logan Eckhardt, Luke Klinger, Devin Largent, Adam Michaud, Andrew Michaud, Andrew Mitchell, Nate Moon, Austin Putman, Spencer Stewart, Shane Sutherland and Will Telgenhof. The Rayders are coached by Allen Telgenhof and assistant coaches Tom Zipp and Morgan Stewart.

Charlevoix baseball team looking to hit off another dominant season

DREW KOCHANNY
NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — It's always good to see improvement.

For the 2014 Charlevoix baseball team, improving on last year's school record 27 win season won't be an easy task, but it's a challenge the Rayders will gladly take on.

"I've been talking to the guys, it's a little bit different when you're the target on your back, which being unbeaten in the league last year, you're the team everybody wants to beat," head coach Allen Telgenhof said. "It'll be a different kind of challenge but I think with the experience that we had these guys will react positively to that."

With a final 27-3 record, undefeated Lake Michigan Conference championship and first district title since 1988, last year's Rayder team ranks as one of the best in school history.

But with only a district title and a loss in a regional semifinal meeting against Negaunee to show for it, Telgenhof knows there's one area the team can definitely improve upon.

"As far as the state tournament goes, we've got some work to do," he said. "We were 27-3, but (Charlevoix) did have a team that went further in the tournament. They went to the state semi's back in the early 80s."

While they're confined to the gym for now, the four walls of Charlevoix High School aren't preventing the Rayders from working on areas that can help them get over the postseason hump.

Improving upon manufacturing runs and playing smart ball is one area the Rayders are focusing on this spring.

When the Rayders aren't getting their usual hits and average of nearly eight runs a game — another school best last season — like in their matchup against Negaunee in regionals, they've got to have a way of still coming out with the win.

"A lot of what we've been working on is a lot of the fundamentals," said Telgenhof. "The bunting, stealing, trying to emphasize when we get into those kind of games we need to be able to manufacture a run."

"We've got the kids to do it. I've got a bunch of fast athletic kids. It's just a matter of getting them to understand and they're baseball guys and they're excited about this year and trying to go a step further," he added.

The Rayders will lose starting pitcher Tommy Zipp and second baseman Tag McCreadie, but do return 10 members from last year's team, including seven starters to the lineup.

The rotation won't take too big of a hit, even with Zipp, an All-State member a year ago, leaving.

"Shane Sutherland was our No. 2 and he actually was our No. 1 to start the year. Shane was 7-0 with a 2.28 ERA (earned run average), so we kind of had a 1A and 1B," said Telgenhof. "Nate Moon, he was 4-0 with a 2.19 ERA. He was our No.

SOFTBALL

Rayder softball returns solid lineup to 2014 season

DREW KOCHANNY
NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — There's a lot of reasons to feel strongly about the 2014 Charlevoix softball team.

Actually, 11 reasons, as in the number of returnees back to the Rayders squad this season, including eight seniors.

They'll be under the direction of first-year head coach, Tom Mielke.

"We have a good strong senior class returning and we just have a good strong core returning," said Mielke. "We've got some good freshmen out. The juniors are solid. Three sophomores, I'm pretty upbeat and pretty hopeful for a good season."

As for Mielke, settling into the lead role after being an assistant to head coach Ken Hoffman last season, hasn't been a problem.

"I would say so," he said. "We're only two weeks into practice in the gym and there's only so much you can do. But it's not my first rodeo coaching either. It's a great group of girls, we've got good team chemistry."

While they'll return 11 players to this year's team, the Rayders will have to find a way to improve upon last year's 20-10 record, which included a Lake Michigan Conference title, without All-State pitcher and catcher, Katie Hyhl and outfielders Rachel Shull and Olivia Cert.

"We lose two starters off last year's team. Katie Hyhl, who was an All-State catcher, that's hard to replace," said Mielke. "Rachel Shull out in left field and Olivia Cert, that was her first year playing softball and she was playing quite a bit by the end of the year."

The 2014 Charlevoix softball team will look to improve upon a 20-10 season a year ago, in which the Rayders earned a Lake Michigan Conference title. Team members include Jennifer Archey, Alyssa Chomiczewski, Yogi Hang, Jacy Herriman, Hailey Berry, Ryleigh Knoop, Gabrielle Gray, Paige Bradley, Kelsey Pischner, Nicole Peterson, Lyndsay Towsley, Skylar Herriman, Nicole Hart, Allie Balyo, Lydia Balyo and Kara Simpson. The Rayders are coached by Tom Mielke and assistant coach Joe Solomon.

Archey, Jacy Herriman, Ryleigh Knoop, Kelsey Pischner, Allie Balyo and Paige Bradley all return, with Gray and Archey being shifted around on the field.

"Gabby Gray, who filled in at catcher last year is an actual shortstop and I see her spending most of her season there," added Mielke. "Looks like we'll have to move Jennifer Archey from the outfield to back behind the plate."

A big part of last season was the Rayders' freshmen duo of Yogi Hang and Skylar Herriman. Herriman was a first team Division III All-State member a year ago, while Hang turned in a phenomenal freshman season on the hill.

"They played huge roles," said Mielke. "Skylar was a freshman first team All-State player. Then Yogi had the lowest ERA on the team as a freshman and she hit well over .400."

Hang will once again be counted upon to carry the rotation this season.

"Jacy Herriman and Hailey Berry pitched some but we're looking for Yogi to carry most of the load pitching."

With a team loaded with softball talent at Mielke's disposal, getting to the district final and beyond this season will just take some adjustments throughout the season.

"We just have to make some adjustments as the game goes on and just remember that all the teams get better as the season goes on and the team you're playing isn't necessarily the team you played at the end of April," he said.

A Wednesday, April 9 meeting with Newberry at home is scheduled to be the season opener for the Rayders, but as it stands right now, a beat wave or multiple shovels will be needed to push that into order.

"By the dugouts there's three feet of snow," Mielke said with a laugh. "Terribly frustrating. Two years ago we spent one day in the gym all spring, the rest of the time we were outside."

For now, it's small ball in the inside for Charlevoix.

"You can only work on so much inside," he said. "The kids are working real hard on core fundamental skills, they're working real hard on hitting, our pitchers are throwing. Infielders and outfielders are working real hard on fundamentals."

Sooner or later, the Rayders will get outside and most likely will bring a talented team ready to repeat as conference champions this season.

"Long story short, as long as the girls are out there having fun, it'll be good," said Mielke. "I just keep telling them that we're here to have fun and winning is more fun than losing."

3 last year. You're in good shape when your guys moving up were a combined 11-0 last year. So that's a good thing."

With Sutherland and Moon manning the rotation, the Rayders will have a good order behind them as well.

"The guy that makes it go for us is Noah Certa, he was second team All-State as a sophomore," Telgenhof said. "Hit 402, he's our lead-off guy. He stole 22 bases, set a school record for runs scored in a season."

Sutherland hit .306 for the Rayders, while Moon hit for an average of .380. Both will be counted upon again for their bats, along with first baseman Luke Klinger, .282, third baseman JJ Bottomly, .361 and catcher Will Telgenhof, .307 average.

Hunter Cox and Austin Putman will be in the order, with one taking over at second base and the other in the outfield. Logan Eckhardt, Kenen Borths and Devin Largent will also be in the mix for a lot of playing time for the Rayders.

With a scheduled opening against Newberry at home on Wednesday, April 9, Telgenhof is hoping that holds true to start the season.

"I would be shocked if we're playing April 9," he said. "But that's the plan right now. We had a game with (Traverse City) St. Francis on the 11th which has already been canceled. Moved it to the conference makeup date. We're looking to go downstate on the 12th to try to see if we can find someone to play. Just to get them outside."

Whenever the Rayders can get outside, they'll do so with a new attitude in the program, instilled by the winning of last season.

"They've got an idea right now of what it takes to win," added Telgenhof. "In baseball, we struggled with that a little bit. It used to be the sport if you just wanted to have a good time, you came out. Well, we still have a good time, but winning is funner than losing."

Charlevoix marketing efforts ramp up for 2014 tourism seasons

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — There is an all-out effort to market Charlevoix as a visitors paradise.

The Charlevoix Convention & Visitors Bureau launched a major marketing effort for the 2014 tourism season. For starters, a Charlevoix-themed digital billboard in Times Square in downtown Manhattan is placed above the "Good Morning, America" studio.

The digital billboard will play 120 times during the first week of April. It features an image created by Mike Schlitt, of the Charlevoix Photography Club.

"I'm really flattered to have my photo displayed in New York City," Schlitt said. "And you know, our photography club in our town has turned into something really unique for such a small town. So much talent here."

Other Charlevoix marketing efforts include a full-page advertisement in Horizon Travel Magazine, inserted into 400,000 copies of the Wall Street Journal. The package also includes a month-long banner ad on the magazine's website.

Additionally, the Pure Michigan radio ad for Charlevoix will roll out for spring and summer and is ex-

U.S. News & World Report names high schools among best in Michigan

CHARLEVOIX — Two local high schools are among the best in the state, including Charlevoix.

According to the 2013 U.S. News & World Report's analysis of high schools across the nation, both Charlevoix and Gaylord high schools are ranked as two of the best high schools in the state of Michigan.

The magazine annually teams up with American Institutes of Research (AIR) to review 21,035 public high schools across the United States. The purpose is to determine the schools which are most successful in serving all students well, not just those who are college-bound.

"Being ranked is achieving a prestigious award. It says a lot about our schools and our staff. Even though it is a high school award, achieving excellence is a K-12 effort," said Boh Gendron, Charlevoix superintendent.

To be eligible for a state ranking, a school must be awarded a national gold or silver medal for performance. In the 2013 U.S. News Best High Schools rankings, Michigan scored seven schools with gold medals, 68 with silver and 131 with bronze medals. The rankings stem from measurements of academic out-

Dairy Grille opens for 2014 season

Seasonal business annually marks spring after long winter

CHARLEVOIX — The surest sign of spring in Charlevoix has arrived — the opening of the Dairy Grille for the season.

"We opened Friday to a very good weekend," said Dennis Rasmussen, one of the current co-owners of the long-running family business.

He said more than 3 feet of snow stood untouched in the parking lot when the family recently arrived from its downstate home. Now all that's moved and the customers are here.

Hannah Barrow, of Kewadin, said she got excited when she noticed the snow plowed out of the beloved business's parking lot.

"It means spring is right around the corner," she said, laughing.

Most area residents agree the opening of the Dairy Grille means spring is just about here and summer will soon follow. It marks the moment winter is on the way out.

"We love being that. It's 44 years living that," Rasmussen said.

Barrow, a former Charlevoix resident, said the food and ice cream at Dairy Grille both are good enough to lure her back to town — other errands to do, or not.

Inside, Northwest Academy graduate Dustin Prevo, 18, of Charlevoix, worked the grill with former owner Pat Hayden, who in recent years handed down the business to son-in-law Rasmussen and son Terry Hayden.

Out front, longtime Dairy Grille employee Zarin Bloomer, also of Charlevoix, said this is his ninth season at the famed Bridge Street business. He waved at several vehicles within a span of several mo-

Local COLOR*New book 'Bernida' sails into kids' hands

New book published about famed Michigan sailboat

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

A winning Michigan comeback story is now on the shelves for children 6-8 years old.

Sleeping Bear Press recently published "Bernida: A Michigan Sailing Legend" with its vivid illustrations and inspiring tale. And it's a tale with a Northern Michigan connection.

"We were half-way through the adult version and my wife said 'You know, this would make a great children's book,'" said author Al Declercq, a key player in the history of the Bernida sailboat.

Declercq is a sailmaker and competitive sailor who bought the Bernida with hopes to race the sailboat again in the Bayview Mackinac Race, which it won in the race's inaugural year but then fell into disrepair and went for years as a forgotten vessel.

The new book tells the story with plenty of enthusiasm and descriptive illustrations.

"It's about a boat built in 1921 that initially wasn't that competitive," Declercq said.

After some modifications, the sailboat went on to become a winner in the Bayview Mackinac Race in 1925 and 1927 — both years it competed. But then it left the waters of the Great Lakes and found itself settled for decades into an old, dusty barn.

"It surfaced 15 years ago on Mackinac Island," Declercq said.

A restoration project ensued and eventually ran short of funds. That's when Declercq said he bought the Bernida and finished the repairs to the historic boat.

The Bernida then made its return to the Bayview Mackinac Race in 2012 and won first in its class and first overall. Declercq proudly said.

That means the Bernida won the historic race each of the three times its owners entered it into the competition

— a sailboat once thought non-competitive.

Today, Declercq said the donated sailboat now belongs to the Michigan Maritime Museum in South Haven, where it is used for charter sails. Additionally, part of the donation agreement is that the Bernida may be used each July at Mackinac Island to teach Boy Scouts of America sailing skills.

"That is still the hope," Declercq said, explaining that program hasn't yet happened because of lack of funding.

The children's book surrounds the story of Luke, a boy who lives on Mackinac Island and strives to help restore the old racing sailboat.

Declercq penned the 40-page book with fellow Michigan co-authors Tom Ervin and Gloria Whelan. The story is illustrated with artistic images by David Miles, also of Michigan.

The children's book is available for $15.95 and more information about the publication is available at www.sleepingbearpress.com online.

The "adult version" of the story published as "Bernida:

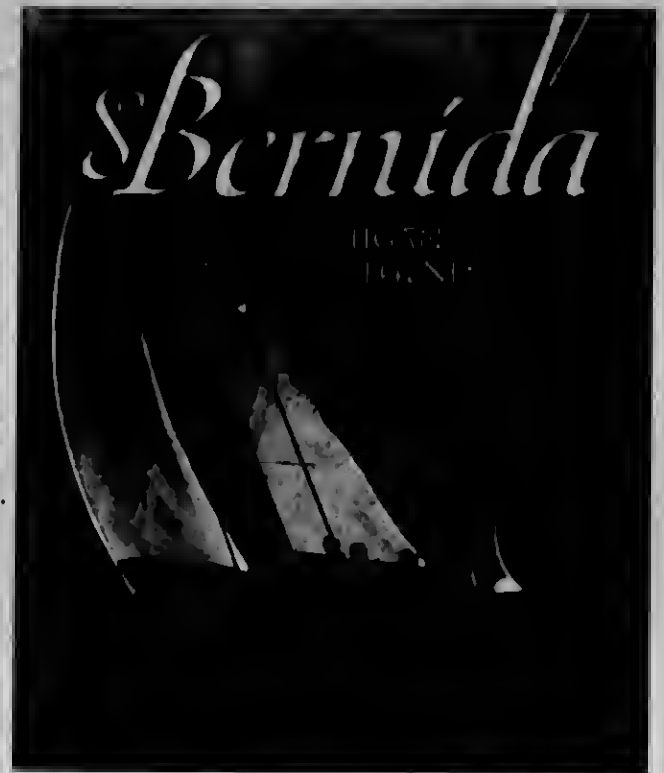

One of the book's illustrations of the sailboat on Mackinac Island.

A True Story That Can't Be True," which sold a modest 400 copies.

More information about the Bernida can be found at the maritime museum, or its website at www.michigan-maritimemuseum.org online by searching the yacht's name.

The harbor at Beaver Island is the center of tourism on the Lake Michigan island, though plenty of camping, hunting, hiking, swimming and other opportunities abound across the island.

Charlevoix County featured in California man's travel blog

Beaver Island, Ironton Ferry prove luring to writer

Blogger Pat Dodds wants to visit Charlevoix County. He is fascinated with Beaver Island out in Lake Michigan, as well as sites like the Ironton Ferry. So, he wrote about the area.

"I love to travel and explore, and I don't have the time or money to go everywhere. The 'every county' idea was inspired by a trip that my son and I made a few years ago, seeing everything there was to see in every county of my native Iowa in about 29 days, over two summers," he said.

The blog about Charlevoix County boasts its long history as a tourist destination since the 19th century. There also is various details about the region's population, attractions and natural resources, such as Lake Charlevoix, the third largest inland lake in Michigan.

As for Charlevoix Coun-

ty, I would love to see the area. I'm especially intrigued by Beaver Island, and also the Ironton Ferry," Dodds said.

He said last summer he and family members visited Detroit, but never ventured Up North. After researching the region for his travel blog, he now wants to plan a visit here.

Dodds, of Fresno, Calif., said states in the Upper Midwest seem to draw the most attention on his website. The ultimate goal is to encourage people who love to travel and see interesting things to do so in places they might not otherwise think about.

"I hope that people who love to travel will enjoy visiting — if only online — every county, not just the major tourist areas. A major point of the blog is that every area has something of interest, if we take the time to find it," Dodds said. "That's what my son and I learned on our trip to Iowa."

The blog can be found at www.everycounty.org online, where the latest area region to be featured is Antrim County. Next up is Leelanau County.

City police: Publisher's Clearinghouse phone scam reported in area

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix City Police learned that Charlevoix residents are receiving telephone scam calls from a male who states they won the Publisher's Clearing House.

The caller will state the recipient needs to pay the taxes and fees to be awarded the prize, either cash or a car, and that someone will stop by to deliver their prize. The recipients are instructed to pay over the phone by credit card or to go to a local store and purchase a PayPal credit card.

The calls come from the 876 area code, which is Jamaica. The 876 area code is long-associated with several scams over the years.

If anyone receives this kind of call, police warn not to provide any personal, banking or credit card information to the caller. Also, notify authorities.

IRS warns of identity theft scams

Identity theft remains a top priority for the Internal Revenue Service this year. Identity theft is among the fastest growing crimes nationwide, and refund fraud caused by identity theft is one of the biggest challenges facing the IRS.

This year, the IRS continues to take new steps and strong actions to protect taxpayers and help victims of identity theft and refund fraud.

Stopping refund fraud related to identity theft is a top priority to the tax agency. The IRS is focused on preventing, detecting and resolving identity theft cases as soon as possible. The IRS has more than 3,000 employees who work on identity theft cases — more than twice the level of a year ago. The agency trained more than 35,000 employees who work with taxpayers to recognize and provide assistance when identity theft occurs.

Taxpayers can encounter identity theft that involves their tax returns in several ways. One instance is where identity thieves try to file fraudulent refund claims using another person's identifying information, which has been stolen. Innocent taxpayers are victimized because their refunds are delayed.

Here are some tips to protect yourself from becoming a victim, and steps to take if you think someone may have filed a fraudulent tax return using your name:

IRS

Department of the Treasury Internal Revenue Service

— Don't carry your Social Security card or any other documents that include your Social Security number or Individual Taxpayer Identification Number.

— Don't give a business your SSN or ITIN just because they ask. Give it only when required.

— Protect your financial information.

— Check your credit report every 12 months.

— Secure personal information in your home.

— Protect your personal computers by using firewalls and anti-spam/virus software, updating security patches and changing passwords for Internet accounts.

— Don't give personal information over the telephone, through the mail or on the Internet unless you have initiated the contact, or you are sure you know with whom you are dealing.

You may be a victim of identity theft if the following happens:

— More than one tax return for you was filed.

— You have a balance due, refund offset or have had collection actions taken against you for a year you did not file a tax return.

— IRS records indicate you received more wages than you actually earned.

— Your state or federal benefits were reduced or canceled because the agency received information reporting an income change.

Anyone who receives a notice from the IRS and suspects their identity has been used fraudulently, respond immediately to the contact phone number provided on the notice.

If you did not receive a notice from the IRS, but still believe you've been the victim of identity theft, contact the IRS Identity Protection Specialized Unit at (800) 908-4490, ext. 245. Also, fill out the IRS Identity Theft Affidavit, Form 14039.

OPINIONS yours & ours

Only humans

Sometimes the actions of others that drive us to distraction are the very qualities which help that person succeed in life. The behaviors we may find difficult to wrap our mind around are the ones that someone else may even find endearing. On this earth, as I walk and breathe as a human being, I am still amazed at how human behavior unfolds. We are created equal in the eyes of God, but the lifestyles we choose continues to make me wonder how some of us still exist. The actions of humans are predictable and at the same time fluctuating.

For someone in the field of psychology, observing human behavior is a sporting event. For a counselor on vacation — like me when obligations and technology are absent — it's a field day.

Each new town presented new behaviors to enlighten and ponder upon. The young lady on her red and white bicycle greeted me kindly as she hopped off for a quick moment. She was sincere in her request and I found myself emptying my change purse into hers. She didn't appear sad or hungry just honest and open. As I turned to walk away she caught up with me then I felt her tapping me on the shoulder asking if I needed the coin that was so different than the loose change. I told her it was a token for a parking meter in Michigan. Her response was, "I've never been to Michigan." I said she could keep it. She smiled as she walked away mumbling something about "Wow, my first souvenir from Michigan." It seemed to make her day a little brighter.

While traveling, the trend of layered clothing took on new meaning. Temperatures can change quickly and not knowing what to wear it's just easier to layer up. We saw him from a brief distance but he was easy to notice as he rolled over and let out a loud belch. His clothes were layered for warmth, while mine in organized fashion. He wore oversized jeans that loosely covered his khakis and on his chest were two mismatched shirts weighted down by a heavy coat. He had his own routine of carefully laying out the plastic sheet on the ground to wick away moisture and provide added warmth. His daily routine provided a sense of comfort, but after seeing him I found it difficult to find my own.

One evening as I took our dog for a walk I couldn't help but notice a lad walking down the highway who was old enough to shave, but appeared older with his forward bent. He may have only had a few items in his backpack but he looked like he was carrying the weight of the world. He was dressed in baggy shorts and high tops that had never seen a tennis court. At 10:30 at night, walking alone along the highway, one can only wonder if he is running to something or running away. As his figure disappeared into the night, I was left with my own thoughts and concerns as if he were my son.

The following warm, sunny afternoon we relaxed on the front balcony watching dolphins at play and pelicans making quick dips into the water for an early dinner meal. We also witnessed a couple pulled over in the bay as they had continued to drive their jet ski recklessly without care for wildlife and humans, as well.

On the dock, a toddler patiently waited with a caring older woman as they observed the antics of this young couple. The police patrol pulled them over lassoing their vehicle to the enforcement boat. What followed appeared to be a stern lecture and then a ticket. I felt bad for the little boy waiting for the couple's return and I wondered how the rest of the day would unfold for this toddler.

For a writer and a counselor, I could see many a story waiting to be told. For now I'll keep those thoughts to myself and not create waves where there may be none and enjoy only the ones that tickle only my toes.

Healthy adolescent sexuality education fights future violence

Editor:

The children and teens of today are our hope for tomorrow. It's important for us as parents, caring adults and community members to help set young people on the path for a healthy future and support them as they work to create positive change. April is Sexual Assault Awareness Month and this year's campaign is focused on youth. Individuals and communities are encouraged to support healthy sexual development to help prevent sexual violence.

Young people face many challenges during adolescence. Stereotypes and negative messages in the media don't make this process any easier. By learning and talking about healthy adolescent sexuality, adults are able to support the teens in their lives; to be a resource to teens as they learn and grow.

How can we support teens during this time of change and discovery? Young people need age-appropriate information about healthy sexuality and relationships from trusted adults. The first step is to start an open and honest dialogue. Ask questions and, most importantly, listen. We can all play a role in modeling healthy behaviors, promoting positive skills, and creating safe environments. It's important to empower the voices of youth and challenge negative, unhealthy messages.

It's OK not to have all the answers. It's more important to welcome questions and learn together. To create a vision for a future without sexual violence, every voice can play a role in a healthier, safer tomorrow for all.

You can use your voice, to start the conversation. You can support the voices of young people, and together we can amplify our voices for a healthy future.

Beaver Island school trip deserves donated funds

Editor:

I believe that the Charlevoix fourth-grade class should keep taking a field trip to Beaver Island. We need more money toward this trip for the students every year. To help support this trip, we need businesses donating money and more student fundraisers.

This field trip is very important to the fourth-grade classes because although the students are playing fun games on the trip, they are also learning the history of Beaver Island, too. They visit educational and historic places on Beaver Island, such as the Lighthouse School, the Old Mormon Print Shop Museum, the Marine Museum, the Toy Museum and the Protar Home and Grave.

There are also outdoor, educational places that the fourth-graders visit, too, such as Mount Pisgah (which is the highest point on Beaver Island), the Big Rock (which is a large rock that was left by the last glacier period) and the Big Birch Tree (the largest hich tree on the island).

In summary, the fourth-grade Beaver Island field trip is a great learning experience for the students and should continue every year. The students learn about the history of Beaver Island and how Beaver Island came to be. We need to raise enough money every year, so all of the fourth-graders can enjoy this experience, and learn about the history of Beaver Island.

Bridging our past with our future

LOOKING BACK...

Built in Duluth, Minn., in 1944, the 180-foot buoy tender/ice cutter Sundew ("Old Reliable 404") was assigned to Charlevoix in 1958, where the ship remained for the next 22 years. One of its first duties after arrival was to respond to the historic November sinking of the lake freighter Carl D. Bradley off of Beaver Island, a tragedy reported worldwide. Thirty-three crew members were lost; only two survived. Eight of the bodies and the survivors were brought to Charlevoix aboard the Sundew. In April of 1963, the ship made a mercy mission to an ice-bound Beaver Island with five tons of hay and a large supply of grain for a starving herd of 150 Hereford cattle. During one January, in an attempt to extend the shipping season, the Sundew spent 19 days icebreaking in the Straits of Mackinac against the worst ice the ship ever encountered, one stretch a mile wide and in places 12 feet deep. Coming back to home port, it took the Sundew two hours to ram through the last 1.5 miles of ice into the channel, as seen in this photo. The ship was replaced by the Mesquite in 1980.

The Charlevoix Historical Society's fully illustrated exhibit titled Journeying to Charlevoix will be at the Depot building, at Depot Beach, through Saturday, May 3. The event is offered in conjunction with the Smithsonian Institution exhibit titled Journey Stories, which exhibited at Charlevoix Public Library. Hours of the Depot exhibit are 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturdays, or by special appointment. Call (231) 547-0373 for more information about the society's exhibit.

COMMUNITY Highlights

School enrollment numbers show slight drop

DEBBIE MCCORMICK

NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

For the 2013-14 school year, there are fewer students enrolled in schools within the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District than in the previous year.

When comparing school population numbers from October 2012 to October 2013, results show an overall loss of 264.47 full-time equivalent students throughout the district.

On Oct. 3, 2012, there was a total of 9,646.37 full-time equivalent students in the district. Oct. 2, 2013, the student population was 9,381.90 full-time equivalent students.

Full-time equivalent is a unit to measure students by the amount of time they are in school each week. A full-time student attends school the entire day and is counted as "1" and a part-time student who attends school just one half day is counted as ".5."

Rick Diebold, Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District superintendent, said he is encouraged by what he refers to as numbers which are flattening out.

"Each year individual schools are up a little or down a little. The significant drop five years ago was brought on by the economy — families moving out of the area, out of the region; out of the whole state, seeking jobs," Diebold said.

"Those seeking jobs were the young parents," he added.

According to Diebold, trends of birth data are watched as well as individual grade levels.

"A school with a large graduating class may have a small kindergarten, or an even larger kindergarten," Diebold said.

While area district numbers may be down slightly this school year, overall population numbers for Charlevoix and Emmet counties are showing recent growth.

The U.S. Census Bureau showed Charlevoix County's 2010 population at 25,949 and an estimated 2012 population of 26,023. Emmet County's population, according to the U.S. Census Bureau, was 32,694 in 2010. The estimated population of Emmet County in 2012 was 32,915.

Additionally, the U.S. Census estimates Charlevoix County's 2012 persons under 5 years was 4.6 percent and persons under 18 years 20.08 percent. In 2000, persons under 18 years was 25.90 percent. Emmet County persons under 5 years in 2012 was 5.0 percent and persons under 18 years as 21.5 percent.

FILE PHOTO
Aaron Crooks and Petoskey High School student Sabrina Collins demonstrate their sewing prowess at a past Job Olympics sponsored by Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District.

In 2000, 25.38 percent of the population was under 18.

The dip in enrollment will impact those school districts, since most districts get funding on a per-pupil basis from the state.

"The financial impact is different for each school district," Diebold said. "The amount of state aid each receives varies. Some schools which had an increase in students and receive funding based per pupil will have an increase."

Districts determine their upcoming school year budgets in June.

Schools on Beaver Island, Charlevoix Public Schools and Public Schools of Petoskey showed increases in full-time equivalent students.

Highway weight restrictions now in effect

Weight restrictions are in effect on all state highways in the Lower Peninsula.

Effective as of Monday, March 31, weight restrictions are imposed and enforced on all state trunkline highways from the state line with Indiana and Ohio north to and including the Mackinac Bridge. State routes typically carry M, I, or U.S. designations.

In the restricted areas, the following will apply:

— On routes designated as "all-season routes" (designated in green and gold on the Michigan Department of Transportation Truck Operators Map), there will be no change.

— On routes designated as "seasonal" (designated in solid or dashed red on the MDOT Truck Operators Map), there will be a posted weight reduction of 25 percent for rigid pavements and 35 percent for flexible pavements.

BUSINESS

BELLAIRE

This is the famed beer menu at Short's Brewing in Bellaire, the home of a growing brand of Michigan microbrews.

Short's marks 10 years

Brewpub brand grown through the years

BELLAIRE — Short's Brewing Company, Northern Michigan's largest craft brewery, is turning 10 years old on Saturday, April 26. To celebrate their growth and success, Short's will host a 10th anniversary party in Bellaire that day.

"We're celebrating loving what we do and where we live with the people we love," said Joe Short.

On April 26, 2004, Joe Short, just 25 years old at the time, opened the doors of his brewpub in Bellaire. Joe gained significant experience working at other Michigan breweries, but felt his brewing style was best suited for his own business model where he could brew specialty beers that some considered outrageous.

With the help of friends and volunteers, a lot of hard work, sacrifice and creativity, Short's brewpub has become a community gathering place that also brings many people to Bellaire.

Bigger than any prior Short's anniversary party, the 10th anniversary event will fill the streets of Bellaire, feature more than 90 beers on tap, a variety of specialty food, and live music all day. Bands playing at the event include: Dean Ween and the Brown Outs, The Ragbirds, Breathe Owl Breathe, Steppin' In It, and Don Julin and Billy Strings.

Specialty bottled beer and token pre-sales will run from noon-2 p.m. outside the brewpub. The anniversary's specialty release beer, Stache Bender, is a double version of Short's Hopstache. It is a double American India Pale Ale with intense citrus fruit and floral hop qualities aided by the addition of grapefruit zest. Also for sale will be Anniversary Ale, a wheat wine made with blood oranges and blood orange zest, spiced with green peppercorns.

Admission to the event is free. The event doors will be open from 3 p.m. to midnight and the first band starts at 3:30 p.m. After 8 p.m., the event will be for those 21 years and older only.

BOYNE CITY

Great Lakes Energy now a district system

RYAN BENTLEY
NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

BOYNE CITY — The Great Lakes Energy electric cooperative will switch to district-based elections for its board of directors following co-op members' recent approval of a ballot proposal to do so.

The switch from at-large to geographic district-based voting for board members comes by way of a bylaw change which members recently voted on via mail-in balloting. Ballots were sent to members with the February issue of Michigan Country Lines, an electric cooperative magazine.

Boyer City-based Great Lakes received 5,996 votes in favor of the change and 858 in opposition by a March 20 deadline, the cooperative announced Wednesday. Members favored the district-based board elections by a margin of nearly seven to one, exceeding the two-thirds majority needed to make the bylaw change.

"The change will allow our large 26-county service area to be more equally and locally represented by the nine members who serve on the board," said board chairman Richard Walsworth. "Most of the electric cooperatives in the United States have director election districts."

As a consumer-owned electric cooperative, Great Lakes Energy is governed by a board of directors elected by cooperative members. By the end of the 2016 election, there will be one director residing in each of the nine newly-created districts. Cooperative members will elect a director from their district once every three years.

The first district election will be held this year. Board positions for three districts, each involving a three-year term, will need to be filled.

The terms of directors Richard (Ric) Evans of Ellsworth, Larry Monshor of Gaylord and Dale Farrier of Kalkaska expire this year. Those directors reside in Districts 3, 4 and 5, respectively.

District 3 includes Antrim County. District 4 includes Otsego, Montmorency, Oscoda and Crawford counties. Counties in District 5 include Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Manistee, Missaukee and Wexford.

Great Lakes noted that more information about election changes can be found in the April issue of Michigan Country Lines magazine, in the PowerTalk bill insert or on www.gtlakes.com online.

Not all Great Lakes board members had favored the move to district-based elections. Paul Schemanski, a Petoskey resident currently serving on the board, had encouraged voting against the change, and noted several concerns about the proposal.

For example, members could vote for all nine at-large director positions under the older system, but would be voting only on the one seat representing their district with the new system — and Schemanski described this as a situation in which members would lose 89 percent of their voting rights.

Schemanski did not immediately respond to a telephone message seeking comment on the bylaw proposal's outcome.

CHARLEVOIX

Spots quickly filling at professional building

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Professional Building, at 06479 M-66 North in Charlevoix, is proven a popular spot for local businesses.

In fact, just two suites remain available at the former home of the Michigan Department of Social Services. The building sat empty for some time until John and Nona Szczepanski purchased it and created several office spaces for professionals in Charlevoix County.

The common areas are furnished and decorated to provide a sophisticated business environment for tenants, their clients and guests. The facility is situated two buildings east of Bartlett's Home Interiors and next to The Beacon Dental Center. Tours are available during business hours.

Current businesses within the facility number six and include KM USA, Independent Home Builders, Personal Graphics Inc., Top Choice Painting & Log Restoration, GC Services, and Dr. Michael A. Sullivan, DDS.

A one year lease includes:

It is expected the spaces will quickly fill.

pected to soon hit the airwaves throughout prime Midwest markets. The statewide Pure Michigan-television ad already is on the air and directs viewers to www.michigan.org online, where the Charlevoix Hot Spot page is found.

And on the home front, the bureau is ready to start a new Charlevoix Certified program this summer. The goal is to educate "front line people" in all there is to know about Charlevoix.

"The most important experience a visitor has in Charlevoix is with a front desk staff person or a server at a restaurant. When our front line has great customer service and is knowledgeable about Charlevoix, our visitors will enjoy their time spent, ultimately stay longer and come back more frequently," Wilkin said.

The Charlevoix Certified program will begin in June and coincide with a Charlevoix First customer service training jointly offered by the bureau, the Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority and the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce. That customer service training — called ZingTrain — will be on June 12, followed by social media training.

Finally, the bureau will expand its shoulder season marketing for fall and winter to increase visitor traffic during those seasons. The increase in the bureau's marketing is because of an increase in the assessment on overnight transient lodging facilities. The majority of the bureau members voted to increase the assessment from 2 percent to 5 percent.

"We are very pleased that our membership sees great benefits to the destination marketing put out by the (Convention & Visitors Bureau), and wishes to grow our available funds to increase our marketing program," Wilkin said.

The expected outcome is an increase in visitors during fall and winter seasons to come.

RANKING

comes across a broad range of performance indicators.

In order to place, ranked schools had a three step process:

1. Students needed to perform better than is statistically expected for average students in the state.

2. The school's least-advantaged students needed to perform better than average for similar students in the state.

Schools that qualified through the first two steps then became eligible to be judged nationally on the last step — college readiness performance.

3. Schools needed to show that they produced the best college-level achievement for the highest percentage of their students.

Of the 826 high schools in 598 districts, 206 Michigan schools received rankings. Charlevoix High School ranked 43rd in the state and 1,488 nationally.

Gendron said the ranking is something of which to be proud. Similar sentiments came from Gaylord High School's curriculum director Brian Pearson.

"Receiving this award is confirmation of the commitment of the entire Gaylord Community staff to providing a quality education to all students," Pearson said.

Gaylord placed 69th in the state and 2,175 nationally.

SOCCER

The Charlevoix varsity girls' soccer team heads into the 2014 season looking to repeat as Division IV district champions once again. The Rayders have earned five district titles in the last six years. Team members include: Katie Hinkley, Katie Kiteley, Shelby Robinson, Olivia Storm, Grace Whitley, Ellie Way, Gloria Greene, Leah Davis, Jessica Paramo, Kelsey Engstrom, Sophie Lynskey, Kylee Scholten, Isabel Hess, Beth Veenstra, Sophie Herboldshelmer, Julia Doskoch and Devon Bottlomy. The Rayders are coached by Pete Scholten and assistant coach Tom Conlan.

Team looks to keep momentum going

DREW KOCHANNY
NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — Expectations for the Charlevoix girls' soccer team are high as usual to begin the 2014 season.

After a 19-6 record a year ago and fifth district championship in six years for the Rayders, there's few reasons to believe Charlevoix can't be right back on top this season.

While most teams have struggled to get playing time outside of their high school's gym, the Rayders were able to travel to Olivet for an indoor meeting with Milan, Olivet and Lake Fenton, giving them a head start to the season.

"We were lucky enough to go down last weekend and compete at the Olivet scrimmages. That went really well," Charlevoix head coach Pete Scholten said. "It's a nice event to go to see where kids are going to mesh."

"We graduated some kids so we're trying to fill some new positions and it gave us an opportunity to see who's going to fit where."

Having spring break at the beginning of spring practice doesn't always help with continuity of the team as well.

"One thing that we always have with our season is we get spring break. You get going, then you kind of lose kids to spring break," added Scholten.

Along with the beginning of the season struggles,

Scholten will need to replace first team All-Conference players Anna Way, Carolena Elowsky and Sydney Carlson, all seniors a year ago.

He does however have the benefit of returning Lake Michigan Conference honorable mention selections Ellie Way, Leah Davis and Gloria Greene, as well as numerous underclassmen from a year ago, ready to take on larger roles this season.

"Most of our team from last year is pretty intact," said Scholten. "We've got most of the kids in the same spots."

Scholten will have three returning seniors to the lineup in 2014 in Katie Hinkley, Katie Kiteley and Shelby Robinson.

"Katie Hinkley, she's going to play some forward for us but she's also play real tough defense," said Scholten. "Shelby Robinson is one of the team captains. She'll probably start out as a sweeper on defense. Katie Kiteley, she's a forward. Probably going to work her into the midfield equation a little bit too."

Scholten sees Way sharing time between center mid and forward, while Davis will work into the stopper role for the Rayders. Greene will be back to her goalkeeper position for the second straight year for the Rayders. All three return as juniors to the lineup.

Sophomores will also play an impact for Scholten, as numerous freshmen received playing time last season.

"Kelsey Engstrom will probably play center forward for us. She's real fast. Kylee Scholten, she played mostly outside mid for us (last year) but we'll try to put her into the center mid position this year," added Scholten. "Sophie Lynskey, she didn't start last year, but she'll definitely be in the mix of the defenders for sure."

Isabel Hess and Beth Veenstra, both freshmen for the Rayders varsity team, have Scholten feeling comfortable about the defensive end, where each will play.

"Isabel Hess and Beth Veenstra are helping out defensively and they're pretty talented freshmen, so we're excited what we saw there" he said. "That was kind of a relief."

With a start to the season coming against Kalkaska on Thursday, April 9, still up in the air, Scholten is just hoping to play the Blazers as early as they can, weather permitting.

"Both of our schedules are pretty wide open the week we get back so we're hoping some time we can get that game in," he said.

The season will come sooner or later for the Rayders and when it does, aiming for their second straight district crown will be a bit sweeter for Charlevoix.

"We're going to host districts this year," added Scholten. "We're excited, it's been a while."

City leaders give the go-ahead to charter ballot language, effort to make city clerk appointed moves forward

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — City council members on Monday unanimously approved prepared ballot language to ask voters whether the city clerk post should be appointed, rather than elected.

This is the latest move in a series of events surrounding the city clerk's position in Charlevoix, a seat long left vacant, but recently filled by Joyce Golding after a candidate search. Officials want to increase accountability to the city manager and council by making the post appointed, something that only city voters can do by changing the city charter with an amendment.

The ballot language reads:
"The Charter currently states that the City Clerk is elected for a 2 year term. The proposed amendment would require the City Council to appoint the City Clerk in the same manner as other ap-

Charlevoix township water official charged with falsifying test results

STEVE ZUCKER
NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — The man who serves as the head of the Charlevoix Township water system was recently charged with a misdemeanor stemming from allegations that he falsified water testing results for three private water systems that he also oversees on a contract basis.

Randall Lee Holecheck, 54, who is the maintenance and water department foreman for Charlevoix Township, was arrested on March 19 on a charge of violating the state's Safe Drinking Water Act by allegedly submitting false laboratory reports.

The charge is a misdemeanor punishable by up to a year in jail and a fine of up to $5,000.

Holecheck is free from custody after posting a $500 bond. He waived arraignment on the charge and is slated next for a pre-trial conference at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, April 22.

The case was investigated by Detective Erick Thorson of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Environmental Investigation Section.

Thorson said the alleged acts for which Holecheck has been charged are not related to his position as the Charlevoix Township water department head. Instead, they are related to contract work Holecheck does in addition to his position with the township — specifically for work he's done to oversee three private water supply systems in Northern Michigan.

Thorson said the investigation started in late 2013 when Michigan Department of Environmental Quality officials were doing a routine check of water test reports from 2012 and noted discrepancies for the values reported for the water systems at the one of the developments at Boyne Mountain and the Bay Shore Estates mobile home park and Homestead Pines Homeowners Association, both in Emmet County. He said the lab that was listed on forms Holecheck filed with the state reported that it never actually received or tested the samples for which there were results reported.

Thorson said the tests in question are not frequent tests, but rather samples that are taken only about every nine years that look for radiation contamination. He said there is no evidence that the alleged discrepancies in test reporting placed any of the users of the private water systems in any immediate danger.

Charlevoix Township Supervisor Chuck Center said he was not aware of the charges until he was contacted by the News-Review. Center said the township would likely not consider any action regarding Holecheck's employment until after the case is complete.

However, Thorson noted that the allegations could have an impact on Holecheck's water system operator certification or license status with the state.

Holecheck's attorney Roy C. Hayes III did not return a message left at his office.

Ice prompts Beaver Island ferry runs' cancellation

RYAN BENTLEY
NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — Because of lingering ice cover on Lake Michigan, the Beaver Island Boat Co. is postponing the seasonal start of ferry service between Charlevoix and Beaver Island by a week.

Ferry trips that were planned for Monday, Wednesday and Friday, April 14, 16 and 18, have been canceled. If weather cooperates, the company now anticipates starting boat runs on Monday, April 21.

Cathy Dewey, a marketing specialist with Beaver Island Boat Co., noted that the U.S. Coast Guard recently has been performing icebreaking operations along the ferry route, and that the company hopes weather conditions will also help in dispersing the ice.

The company is rescheduling reservations for customers who had arranged to have vehicles transported on the ferry, Dewey said. The ferry service does not take passenger reservations.

For more information about ferry service, see bibco.com or call Beaver Island Boat Co.'s Charlevoix office at (231) 547-2311. The office is open 8 a.m.-4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The Beaver Island Boat Co. ferry Emerald Isle is shown moving through Charlevoix's Pine River Channel toward Lake Michigan.

Multiple museums share works for Charlevoix exhibit

NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — When the doors open at Charlevoix Circle of Arts' Museum Treasures exhibit, patrons will find works of fine art on loan from a variety of Michigan museums and art centers — from Albion College/Bobbitt Visual Aids, Denos Museum Center in Traverse City, Kalamazoo Institute of Arts, Muskegon Museum of Arts as well as Joseph's World Gallery in Petoskey. An anonymous donor has allowed the Charlevoix Circle of Arts to include "Jeune Femme," an original pastel by Pierre-Auguste Renoir from a private collection. "You have to have a big dream to do this, especially in the wintertime," said Ann Henricksen, Charlevoix Circle of Arts board member. Charlevoix Circle of Arts is five and a half years old, with a mission to promote the Charlevoix area as a cultural hub by providing community enrichment and support of the arts.

"It would be wonderful to have this (exhibit) in the summer, but we are thrilled to bring fine art to Northern Michigan this spring," said Henricksen.

Also in Museum Treasures are pieces by Andy Warhol and Aboriginal artist Tjapaltjarri, as well as landscapes, portraits and sculptures.

Planning for Museum Treasures began in December. Henricksen said Steve Overton, Charlevoix Circle of Arts co-director, and Ray Bier of Charlevoix, traveled in a big truck filled with cardboard, packing material and padding to bring the art pieces to Charlevoix from the various museums. She added that it is a combined team effort to hang banners on the highway in celebration of the exhibit.

"The art itself is beautiful," Henricksen said. "This is an opportunity for the Charlevoix Circle of Arts to show art which is magnificent, a treasure of collectible art. We want to bring people in to give them an opportunity to see art found in downstate museums."

The exhibit, Museum Treasures, runs through Saturday, June 7.

Charlevoix Circle of Arts is located at 109 Clinton St. in the former Charlevoix Public Library building, a half block west of Bridge Street and the downtown traffic light. It is open from noon-5 pm. Wednesday through Sunday. Volunteer docents are available to answer questions. For more information, call (231) 547-3554 or visit charlevoixcircle.org.

EAST JORDANJordan River Arts Council hosts show through May 2*Generational art focus of exhibit

MICHAEL KADE MORROW
COURIER CONTRIBUTOR

EAST JORDAN — Jordan River Arts Council is hosting Art Across Generations, a show with an encompassing glance of how the love of art has passed through the generations.

"You want to come to this show, because of the stories about the people. Many of the times you look at beautiful artwork, but you don't realize the beautiful work behind it," said Cynthia Tschudy, curator of the exhibit.

Art Across Generations shows how art has been passed through the timeline of the family, how it has evolved, how it has grown, how it has been steadfastly preserved, and how it has been treasured.

The show's theme sprang from a conversation between Tschudy and artist Bob Mohr, whose granddaughter is also following a path in the arts. Mohr was a medical illustrator and painter for decades. His granddaughter, Nina, is considering a career path in art restoration.

"I said I thought it would be wonderful to see both of your works together in a show," Tschudy said, "and the idea just went from there."

A fine example of how art has moved through the generations, and brought people together is the work of Peggy Midener and her family.

"I studied art at The Art School of the Society of Arts and Crafts in Detroit, and met and studied with so many kinds of people of all ages I never otherwise would have met in my isolated life," Midener said. "I majored in painting, and the following year I married professor Midener. Together our child was the beautiful and talented Wendy. Although I will be 89 in September, I couldn't imagine not doing some kind of creative work."

"I have never known a time in my life without art. I grew up surrounded by my father's sculpture, and my mother's paintings. I never thought about being creative. I just assumed it was 'normal,'" said Wendy Froud, daughter of Peggy Midener. "I knew that I wanted to focus on bringing creatures into this world that exist in the other world, and luckily, I met my husband, Dan Froud, and was even more firmly on the fairy path."

Ink drawing, set of "Little Shop of Horrors," by Jane Diller

My mother fed my imagination and my soul, and I hope I passed that on to my son, Toby, as well."

Toby Froud has continued on with his family's creative endeavors and is currently working on a series of selected short films with his father, Brian.

Pat Tinney is a lifetime artist, mother, and art teacher in East Jordan.

"Art for me is essential, it speaks to the very core of my being. This is a strange comment, but I am the most me when I am creating," Tinney said. "I have dedicated my life trying to teach that joyous moment of creation to others. My children, my students, and just about anyone that is willing to hear me carry on about the importance of being brave enough to search and find your creative spirit."

Her creativity was well planted in her daughter, Cayla

Acrylic painting by Rachel Diller

Tinney.

"I come from a family of possibility. Making art or otherwise, has never felt separate from any other aspect of life. My family, by example, showed me that the things and people you love are worth working for, and serve to live in the core of your life," Tinney said.

Art Across Generations runs through May 2. The exhibit is open from 1-4 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. The Jordan River Art Center is at 301 Main St. in downtown East Jordan. More information can be found at www.jordanriverarts.com online.

Prison sentence for attempted strangulation

STEVE ZUCKER

NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — A Boyne City man who pleaded guilty recently to the lesser of multiple charges he was facing amid allegations that he choked a woman during an alleged attempted sexual assault in January has been sentenced to prison.

On March 28, Charlevoix County Circuit Court Judge Richard M. Pajtas sentenced Roger Dean Cicotte Jr., 39, to serve 18 months to five years in prison after he earlier pleaded guilty to charges of attempted assault by strangulation, a five-year felony and interference with an electronic communication device, a two-year charge. He was given credit for 63 days already served and ordered to pay $266 in fines and costs.

Cicotte's pleas were part of a plea agreement with the Charlevoix County Prosecutor's office. In exchange for his guilty pleas, the original charges of attempted first degree criminal sexual conduct, a 10-year felony; second degree criminal sexual conduct, a 15-year felony; assault by strangulation, a 10-year felony; and aggravated assault, a misdemeanor will be dismissed. He had also been facing a habitual offender, second offense sentencing enhancement, which would have increased the maximum penalty of the other charges by 1.5 times.

According to court documents, Cicotte was originally charged stemming from an incident that took place on Jan. 23 at his home in Boyne City.

According to a Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office affidavit filed in the case, the woman who was the victim in the case was at McLaren Northern Michigan hospital with injuries consistent with having been assaulted and choked when she was interviewed by police.

According to the affidavit, the woman told police that she had been at Cicotte's home drinking vodka and eating pizza when Cicotte allegedly made sexual advances toward her and she declined. She said the assault — including the choking — ensued when Cicotte allegedly attempted force her to have sex with him. She also said Cicotte smashed her mobile phone during the altercation.

Firefighters pick through charred debris looking for lingering hot spots after a Monday fire at Morel's Bistro in Boyne City.

Morel's Bistro damaged by fire

STEVE ZUCKER

NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

BOYNE CITY — A fire that broke out shortly after midnight Monday caused extensive damage to a Boyne City-area restaurant.

Melrose Township Fire Chief Dennis Howard said fire crews were called to Morel's Bistro, at 00273 Old State Road, at about 1:30 a.m. when a passing Charlevoix County Sheriff's deputy noticed a shed behind the restaurant on fire.

Howard said the deputy attempted to put the shed fire out using a fire extinguisher he had with him, but the fire spread to the main restaurant building a few feet away.

Howard said the fire climbed some exterior walls, got into the attic space and began spreading throughout upper reaches of the building.

Howard called in mutual aid from Boyne City, Boyne Valley Township and Hudson Township fire departments who supplied equipment and manpower.

Howard said the construction of the building, which has included several additions over the years, made fighting the fire particularly difficult.

He estimated it took until about 5 a.m. before the bulk of the fire was under control.

Howard said most of the fire damage is in the attic spaces above the restaurant, but because of the amount of water used to put the fire out, the main level of the building sustained extensive water and smoke damage. Once the fire was under control, fire crews were able to assist the owner in removing much of the extensive wine stock that was housed in the building.

He credited and thanked the neighboring departments for their assistance with fighting the fire. He said Boyne City's aerial truck made a big difference in fighting the fire, noting that without it, the entire building likely would have been consumed by the fire.

Fire crews were still on the scene looking for hot spots in the charred areas of the building at 9 a.m.

Howard said the owner reported that the business had been closed for spring cleaning and among the work that was being done in the building was refinishing of the floor. He said the owner reported that linseed oil was among the products being used on the floors and that those supplies had been stored in the shed next to the restaurant.

Linseed oil is unique in that it gives off heat as it evaporates, and if material soaked with the oil is stored in such a way that the heat cannot dissipate, the build-up of heat can start a fire.

Howard did not report any injuries in fighting the fire.

The County Health Rankings, now in its fifth year, are the product of a collaboration between the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation and the University of Wisconsin Population Health Institute. They measure the health of nearly all counties in the nation and rank them within states. Rankings are compiled using county-level measures from a variety of national and state data sources.

METRO

In terms of health behaviors, Charlevoix County ranked 13th in behaviors such as alcohol and drug use, diet and exercise, sexual activity and tobacco use. In the same category, Emmet came in at 11th.

Other results show 29 percent of adults in Emmet County are considered obese, while in Charlevoix County that number stood at 27 percent.

The study also looked at birth rates, graduation rates, access to exercise opportunities and children in poverty, among other health factors.

Linda Yaroch, health officer for the Health Department of Northwest Michigan, said both Charlevoix and Emmet counties' favorable health rankings speak highly of the communities, but added there is still much for both counties to learn from the new County Health Rankings. Rankings now include several new health indicators, such as access to mental health providers, access to exercise opportunities and a food environment index.

"The next question we need to ask is what to do with this information," Yaroch said. "For example, we know access to certain health resources, such as outpatient mental health services for children and adults with Medicaid, is limited throughout Northern Michigan. The County Health Rankings help us to understand how such limitations may impact the overall health of the community. We should consider the rankings a call to action."

The full rankings for 2014, and past years, can be found at www.countyhealthrankings.org online.

Book report

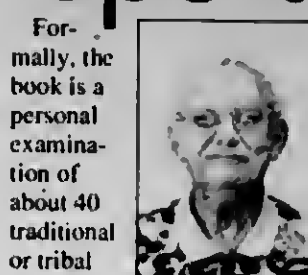

I spend a lot of time reading, especially in the winter. I haven't skied since I was a child, and most outdoor winter sports seem to me more painful than pleasurable. Much of what I read is not particularly memorable, but rarely I find a book that I believe should be read by everyone. I have just found such a book.

Jared Diamond is an ornithologist, and surprisingly, one of his most important books have been about birds. He won a Pulitzer Prize for "Guns, Germs and Steel," which explains most clearly why European societies came to dominate much of the Earth. And so, it was not because they were smarter, or better in any way than the natives, which Europeans mostly dismissed as savages.

Jared Diamond made his first trip to New Guinea as a young man in 1964 to study the birds, and has returned many times since. He has encountered many of the people of that island over the years, people who had seen no Europeans until 1931. His recollections of those visits form much of the frame of his most recent book, "The World Until Yesterday" is the book everyone should read.

Diamond begins the book with images from 2006, when he was leaving from an airport in Port Moresby, now the capital of Papua, New Guinea, the eastern half of the island. The western half is a part of Indonesia. The scene he recounts could be from any large airport anywhere in the world, until Diamond points out that the ticket sellers at the computers, the security guards in uniform, the pilots and the baggage handlers are all New Guineans. Only a couple of generations ago, nearly all New Guineans lacked clocks, phones, credit cards, computers, written language, metals, money, schools and any central government. It is clear that the population has gained much. Diamond spends the rest of the book contemplating what they, and we, may have lost in those few generations.

It is easy to consider the New Guineans of 1931 as unimportant savages. Various groups of them killed, and even on occasion ate both friends and enemies. They practiced infanticide and tribal warfare. Most never traveled more than a few miles from where they were born. Diamond quickly disabuses us of the idea that we should have little interest in them. In earlier writing he proposes that the average New Guinea tribesman he encountered was smarter than the average European. In this book he explains why that is true, and how it has been possible for them to have traveled from the stone age to computers in only a couple of generations.

EAR TO THE GROUND

Roger Knutson

Formally, the book is a personal examination of about 40 traditional or tribal societies from all over the world, and an expression of what we, the "modern" society could and probably should learn from them. The topics range from war to religion, and from investment strategies to the treatment of both infants and old people. How traditional tribal societies handle problems shared by most of humanity has much to tell us, especially since they have been handling those sorts of problems for many thousands of years longer than our modern societies have.

Startling information is common in the book. Who, other than professional linguists, is likely to know that the world currently has about 7,000 distinct languages. That means 7,000 different names for a rock, bird, baby, male, female or enemy. More than 1,000 of those languages are spoken in New Guinea. The island is not only a rich source of bird and plant life, but of languages. These are not similar dialects, but distinct languages.

Multi-lingualism is the rule among New Guinea natives. Many of them can carry on conversations in 6 to a dozen different languages. That means an enormous vocabulary, even if each language doesn't have many words — which pretty much explains the observed intellectual capacity of New Guineans.

Are there any other advantages to being fluent in many languages? There is good evidence that people who learn to speak several languages early in life are much less likely to succumb to Alzheimer's in later life. Learning languages later in life has no such benefits.

I can only call the book fascinating, and encourage it being read by the widest possible audience.

The Rockefeller University has given Jared Diamond the Lewis Thomas Prize honoring the scientist as poet. Diamond has been most favorably compared with Charles Darwin as one of the premier thinkers about, and communicators of, science. Read the book. You will be amazed.

Roger Knutson is a professor emeritus of biology from Luther College in Decorah, Iowa, where he taught for 30 years. He holds a master's degree and a doctorate from the botany department at Michigan State University.

Appreciate the volunteers

Editor:
During National Volunteer Appreciation Week, April 6-12, the Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan (WRCNM) pays tribute to the dedicated and generous individuals who volunteer with our organization.

It is with sincere gratitude that we celebrate WRCNM volunteers during Volunteer Appreciation Week and every single day. They provide invaluable help to our organization, making it possible for us to continue to provide vital programs and services to individuals and families in Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet, Cheboygan and Oscoda counties.

Last year, community members provided more than 5,386 volunteer hours to the WRCNM. They performed important tasks and activities such as providing information and support to those who call our 24-hour crisis line; assisting customers at our Gold Mine Resale Shop; helping prepare direct mail pieces; performing maintenance at our facilities; creating craft projects with the children of domestic abuse survivors at our Safe Home; or serving on our board of directors and Violence Prevention Team.

WRCNM volunteers are an inspiration to our staff, as well as those who seek and need our services. They help accomplish a wide variety of tasks with dedication and generosity. We would certainly not operate in the same manner without their donation of time, talent and energy.

Please know that the contributions of WRCNM volunteers make a significant and positive difference in Northern Michigan communities.

A child's view of the land swap

Editor:
The St. Marys Cement Plant and the Fisherman's Island State Park are deciding whether they should swap land. The land swap is where St. Marys would swap some of their land for some of the Fisherman's Island State Park land. Some people think that the two places should switch and others think that they shouldn't switch land. I don't (think) they should switch the land. I have three reasons that will persuade you to have the same opinion as I do in the next paragraphs.

Of the three reasons, the most important to me is citizens in Charlevoix and even people farther away use the trails and the park as it is. My dad runs on those trails and every summer we go with friends and run on those trails. Other ways we use the park is with presentations. I've gone on field trips to see a group release an owl. Some animals live in that area. You hear about rain forests that the animals have nowhere to live because all of the trees are gone. If St. Marys gets what is now our beautiful park, they will turn it into a quarry. Then, all the animals that live there now will have to move. I think people use the park enough in its current condition that we should be able to keep the park.

Another reason is that after the land swap the main entrance would be farther out of town and it wouldn't be used as much. If the entrance is out of town, people won't be able to find it and the park will be used less than it is now. Even if citizens know where the entrance is they won't travel there because it will be a farther drive.

If the swap was made the park wouldn't be as pretty.

If they do the land swap the trails on the park land will be very close to the St. Marys land so there will be a quarry on one side and a forest on the other. Then it won't be as pretty as it is now on the all-wooded trails.

If they do the land swap it will be a waste of time. I think that because we have a perfectly good park and a perfectly good cement plant, I hope you take my opinion into consideration.

CHARLEVOIX HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Bridging our past with our future

LOOKING BACK...

In May of 1891, the Charlevoix Summer Home Association (later the Belvedere Club) lobbied the Chicago & West Michigan Railway to place the depot for its new railroad, coming the next year, on its lakeside property below the resort. The club had sold this land for right-of-way. It thought that in return the depot placed there would save its members the inconvenience of having to travel more than a mile around Round Lake from a proposed north side depot. The CWMRR thought otherwise. More of the town could be serviced across the upper channel, so "The North Side Gets the Plum!" as reported in the Charlevoix Sentinel. But the company promised the resort it would have its own depot nevertheless. It was a few weeks late in arriving after the first train appeared. This photo shows the stopgap measure used from late June into mid August 1892, while the smaller depot was being built — wooden stairs and an open platform beside the tracks, behind the land currently occupied by the club's green casino building. Today, a look from the casino's east windows down onto the water shows the stubs of the trestle pilings, removed after the railroad bridge came out in 1983.

The Charlevoix Historical Society's fully illustrated exhibit titled Journeying to Charlevoix will be at the Depot building, at Depot Beach, through Saturday, May 3. The event is offered in conjunction with the Smithsonian Institution exhibit titled Journey Stories, which exhibited at Charlevoix Public Library. Hours of the Depot exhibit are 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturdays, or by special appointment. Call (231) 547-0373 for more information about the society's exhibit.

Charlevoix woman volunteers in Nicaragua instead of luxury vacation

ANNE KELLY
COURIER CONTRIBUTOR

When my youngest daughter was at the University of Michigan in the nursing program, she chose to spend her freshman year spring break working at a breast cancer treatment center on the south side of Chicago. Junior year it was a soup kitchen in Detroit. She did this while many of her classmates were hawking on the beaches in Cancun. We were really proud of her. Having missed joining the Peace Corps in the '60s and having decided not to become a Maryknoll nun, my missionary zeal had somehow become diluted over the years. But now, a nagging little voice buried deep in my subconscious said, "You too could do something other than spending time in a luxury resort for a vacation, you know."

The opportunity presented itself around Christmas in the church bulletin. A medical mission trip to Nicaragua was being planned for the end of February. That nagging little voice called to me, "Just do it!" So I, along with nine other adventurous souls, planned, packed supplies for and embarked on a week's journey that none of us will soon forget. Two nurses, one doctor, a dentist, several support volunteers, and a priest would join a Nicaraguan doctor, two translators, and a driver and leave the arrival hotel in Managua, Nicaragua, in 85-degree temperatures, to visit five remote villages in the Central Highlands. This entourage would bring medical supplies and good will to people who had no access to transportation to get to the closest Nicaraguan clinics.

If you have been in the Appalachian Mountains you have seen ramshackle shacks. Hurricanes have brought our attention to poverty-ridden areas in the south, and yes, we are aware of the scourge of economic devastation befalling many American cities, including Michigan's own Detroit. But Third World countries stand apart.

I was aware people live their lives in challenging conditions in our country and all over the world. What I didn't realize is that in traveling less than four hours south of Atlanta, past such hot vacation spots such as Marco Island and the Florida Keys, there is a country that is as needy as they come, and that I would go there.

I would meet people who were beautiful, grateful and patient. I would hold their hands as I took blood pressures and made their children laugh with my attempts at Spanish. I would not have hot water or bathrooms; I would eat rice and beans, and sleep on church floors for a week. It would be hot, dusty and inconvenient. But I would experience altruistic camaraderie and be refreshed in spirit when I came back. I would appreciate the efforts of others from other organizations and churches that have been doing this for years while I have been busy about many things.

Travel brochures arrive periodically offering cruises and tours. I can't say they don't tempt my wanderlust. But I also would consider taking another "alternative spring break," for half the price and twice the satisfaction.

Four water mains break in Charlevoix

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'CONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — Four water main breaks kept city workers busy during the recent weekend, what officials believe is the result of frozen pipes after an especially long and cold winter.

"There are a few similarities that we are noticing. First off they have all been 4-inch mains, which is on the smaller side for water mains," said Pat Elliott, city public works superintendent. Oftentimes, water mains break in the spring as the ground heaves during thawing. But this may not be the case in this instance, Elliott said.

"For the most part, the frozen and broken mains have been on streets with little to no residents living in the houses throughout the winter. With no one living in the houses and not running their water there is very little flow through those mains which increases the probability of that main to freezing," he said.

The weekend's breaks caused an incredible drop in the city's water resources. The water tower ran rather low, but not empty, officials said.

"It got alarmingly low," said Rnh Strachel, city manager.

Strachel told city council members on Monday that the situation is growing more and more concerning.

"We hope this is not a harbinger of things to come," Strachel said.

Officials said they expect more water line breaks — especially if city water customers don't continue to run a tap — and potentially more water main breaks as the spring thaw continues. This will bring jumps in city costs for equipment and overtime pay for workers, Strachel said.

"It's a disconcerting situation," he said.

Elliott underscored that city water customers should continue to run a tap until told otherwise by city water officials.

BOYNE CITY

Chamber music to show a fresh perspective

Recital set for 4 p.m. Sunday in Boyne City

The Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra Sunday Series Recital presents the Great Lakes Woodwind Quintet, and the Great Lakes Trumpet/Trombone Duo. This recital will be at 4 p.m. Sunday, April 13, at the First Presbyterian Church in Boyne City. Admission is free.

The Quintet is made up of Grace Olson (flute), Jayne Winchester (clarinet), John McCutcheon (oboe), Thom Zantow (bassoon), and Beverly Isenbarger (horn). According to Zantow, what makes the Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra a unique ensemble is the passion and enthusiasm for music. The pieces the quintet chose reflect that enthusiasm, and are all pieces the musicians love.

They begin the program with "Old Hungarian Dances, by Ferenc Farkas. The Farkas is a universal favorite, as fun to play as to listen to. The group will go on to play "Passacaille" by Adrien Barthe. According to Zantow, "I defy anyone to rip through the Barthe without smiling." The "Folk Suite for Woodwind Quintet" by Karen Gorten, taps into the exuberance of folk music, and the Maple Leaf Rag, by Scott Joplin, requires no explanation.

John McCutcheon, oboist, shares a wonderful narrative on Scott Joplin and the mastery of his compositional craft. By far the most famous and accomplished of the composers on the program, he is nonetheless underrated as a presence, especially in the context of American music. Like Sousa, the popular nature of his music tends to compromise a fair assessment of his work. This is a mistake. By carefully listening to the music, a task made easier by arranging his piano music for five different instruments, one can see how thoroughly polished the music is.

When asked why the quintet chose this particular grouping of pieces, Zantow had this to say:

"Years ago I was in a quintet that performed in very close quarters to the audience — literally within feet of the first row — yet we were so detached from these wonderful people that we could have been televised instead. As the initial offering for our quintet I felt very strongly about engaging the audience by force of the great music, and by opening ourselves to the potential intimacy inherent in chamber music. It starts with the theme of folk-based music that draws the audience in."

wind Quintet came into existence as an extension of the connection between wind instruments in the orchestra. Winchester and Zantow sit next to each other in the orchestra, and their parts are tightly interwoven. The same with the flute and oboe. With the horn, the core connection of orchestral winds is completed.

The second half of the recital will be played by the Great Lakes Trumpet/Trombone Duo. Edward Bahr (trombone) and Vern Campbell (trumpet) will perform with Rita McIntyre and Ellen Kendall accompanying on the piano. The duo has selected four pieces, all which are by living composers. The pieces are the Trumpet Sonata by Eric Ewazen, Sonata for Trombone and Piano by Walter Watson, Dialogues for Trombone and Trumpet in B-flat, and the Fandango for Trumpet and Trombone.

You may be wondering what the transition from orchestral musician to chamber musician is.

One obvious difference is that chamber music is far more nimble. In such close proximity to the others, each player can cue off musical gestures instantly so that the immediacy of the performance is palpable. The other big difference is that the respect and affection for each of the other players comes through in the playing, something that is not so obvious in the scale of a full orchestra. What is lost, of course, is strength in numbers and the far greater creative possibilities of orchestral music, especially with a chamber orchestra such as Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra. In both cases, though, it is the sharing of energy and enthusiasm with our audience that makes performing special. It flows both ways.

The Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra Sunday Series provides the community the opportunity to experience an intimate musical event. The programs are presented free of charge with the support of the Roger and Peggy Dicken Schwer Fund administered by the Petoskey/Harbor Springs Area Community Foundation.

The Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra produces live orchestral performances that provide entertainment, education and inspiration for Northern Michigan. Support for the orchestra is provided by the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs, the national Endowment for the Arts, the Petoskey-Harbor Springs Area Community Foundation, the Bay Harbor Foundation, the Charlevoix County Community Foundation, Meijer, and hundreds of individual patrons of the arts.

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix City Council members unanimously agreed to apply for a grant, all part of an effort to study the feasibility of the city to become a frequent port of call for Great Lakes cruise ships.

Bethany Pearson, the city's community economic development director, spoke Monday at the city council meeting about the opportunity to apply for funds through the Michigan Regional Prosperity Initiative Community Growth Grants Program. The idea is to lure the big ships to town, where passengers can disembark and spend time shopping, dining and re-

Mackinac Bridge license plate wins award

The Automobile License Plate Collectors Association (ALPCA, Inc.) overwhelmingly voted Michigan's Mackinac Bridge license plate as the world's best new plate.

First issued last August, the beautiful plate features the bridge against a sunrise sky and gives residents the opportunity to celebrate one of the Great Lakes State's greatest assets, an engineering marvel that connects the upper and lower peninsulas.

Since 1970, ALPCA has recognized the state or province with the best new license plate design of the year. Effective last year, all plates of the world were eligible for the contest.

Michigan's plate was selected as the winner from among 12 finalists by ALPCA members for only the second time in the contest's distinguished history. In 1976, the state's red, white and blue bicentennial plate earned best new plate honors.

ALPCA members worldwide were asked to nominate and then vote on the best new plates based in part on the overall attractiveness of the license plate design. "I knew it had an excellent chance of winning the moment I first saw it," said Gus Oliver, ALPCA's Best Plate Award Coordinator.

"We're delighted that ALPCA has honored Michigan with its plate of the year award," said Secretary of State Ruth Johnson. "The Mackinac Bridge is a spectacular example of the many things that make our state such a spe-

"I think this is a good project for this grant application opportunity," Pearson said.

Two possible locations are expected to be studied, including the city-owned pier at Ferry Beach and also Round Lake.

"While staff believes that the area adjacent to Ferry Beach is the more likely location, we did not want to limit our possible grant funding by not including the possibility of linkage to the downtown district," Pearson said.

City council members agreed and all voted in favor of the grant application being submitted.

Mayor Norman Carlson Jr. and council member Shane Cole did not attend the meeting this week.

pointed officials, such as the City Treasurer, and to set the Clerk's compensation.

Shall Sections 2.11, 3.8, 4.4 and 4.7 of the City Charter be amended to provide for the appointment of the City Clerk?"

There are even explanations that a "yes" vote is in favor of the proposed amendment, while a "no" vote is against the proposed amendment.

If city voters approve a future ballot question to make the city clerk an appointed post, that will begin at the end of the current elected city clerk term in January 2016.

City voters recently elected as city clerk Larry Sullivan, Charlevoix County commissioner, but he declined to accept the city post when the Michigan Attorney General opined that state law and the city charter prevent Sullivan from holding both elected city and county positions at the same time. That prompted the city clerk search and recent appointment of Golding.

Now the language goes to Gov. Rick Snyder for approval before being forwarded on to the Michigan Attorney General for the final OK.

Rob Straebel, city manager, said he anticipates a quick turnaround because the city's attorneys have already been in communication with Attorney General's officials in drafting the ballot language.

If all goes as planned, voters will decide the issue at the polls in August.

The Charlevoix girls' tennis team returns a solid mix of varsity returnees and newcomers for 2014. Team members include Madi Carey, Mallory Murray, Lexi Barnes, Emily Roloff, Jennaca Holecheck, Kasi Meggison, Erin Siebe, Cassie McCrancy, Rae Claramunt, Hannah Ennis, Becca Moon, Erin Wachler and Ellie Ackerman. The Rayders are coached by Audra Randall.

Rayders hope experience leads to state finals run

DREW KOCHANNY
NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix girls' tennis team has a lot of reasons to believe they'll once again take a step forward on the courts in 2014.

They're just waiting for a time to get outside to prove it. Like most teams in the area, the Rayders have struggled with finding clear, dry, or available court time this spring, but still, they've made the best of times inside the gym or at indoor facilities.

"We have not had an opportunity to be outside on courts but have made the most of indoor practices with serving, volleys and weight training practices," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "Limited access to court times has allowed us a few practices and only our singles challenge matches in so far as Bay Fitness."

The first two spots at singles for the Rayders will remain the same, with seniors Madi Carey and Lexi Barnes returning to their No. 1 and No. 2 positions.

"Madi Carey, returning to No. 1 singles from last year, has worked on her game in her consistency and also her power in serving and returns has only gotten stronger," said Randall. "Lexi Barnes, returning to No. 2 singles from last year, continues to move around the court, well and strengthen her backhand."

Although both are new, Randall also likes what she has at her No. 3 and No. 4 positions. Rae Claramunt, a junior, will take the No. 3 spot for the Rayders, while senior Jennaca Holecheck steps into the No. 4 position.

"She is very game ready from a physical and mental standpoint," Randall said of Claramunt. "She has strong rallies with other singles players. She is working hard on her consistency in her closing shots."

Randall has been equally impressed with Holecheck.

"(Jennaca) is new to tennis but has played volleyball, and the transition to a similar played sport has come with a strong serve and good smart play," said Randall. "She has made great strides in just a few weeks."

At doubles for the Rayders, the No. 2 team of Emily Roloff and Mallory Murray returns to move into the No. 1 position this season for Randall, giving her a solid senior tandem to lean on in matches.

"Both seniors, fourth year players, have been partners through their time in the program playing at No. 2 doubles the past few years," added Randall. "Both are great girls to coach, they both have dynamic net play and have great positive attitudes in match play, especially during the most intense sets."

The remaining doubles pairings are yet to be aligned for Randall, but it's not because of a lack of talent in the group. Senior Kasi Meggison, junior Cassie McCrancy, sophomore Hannah Ennis and freshmen Becca Moon and Erin Wachler will fill out Randall's doubles units.

"Cassie and Hannah are returning players and add a lot of experience to our doubles teams, each really focusing on being the best teammate to her future partner," said Randall. "Cassie's net play and Hannah's backhand stroke are really improving."

"Kasi Meggison has played in Arizona while attending high school, but this will be her first year as a Rayder," added Randall. "Becca Moon and Erin Wachler finish out our line up at this time and both will make huge strides just with their first few matches."

The first match for Charlevoix will come on Tuesday, April 15, at Elk Rapids, one week later than originally planned. The first home match for the Rayders will come on Thursday, April 17, against East Jordan.

While matches for the Rayders have already been on the move, warmer temperatures are bound to come sooner or later and when they do, the Rayders will be ready to go.

First segment of trail to be built this summer Charlevoix County officials still question land ownership issues

CRAM COWDER
PETOSKEY NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — Construction on the first phase of a nonmotorized trail from Boyne City to Charlevoix is expected to begin this summer even though county leaders are still uncertain whether the proposed route travels over any private land.

At a meeting Wednesday, the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners asked staff and county attorney Bryan Graham specifically to study a pair of neighboring properties where the owners have protested installing the trail.

Those properties are located along a 3.2-mile stretch where construction will begin. The landowners have refused to sign off on the detached trail and believe it is being built on private property outside the county's right-of-way.

"I warned about this from day one, get the signatures from property owners," county commissioner Rich Gillespie said. "Now it's getting rammed down people's throats."

Once built, the trail will span about 15 miles connecting Boyne City to the Little Traverse Wheelway in Charlevoix. Construction will be completed in phases starting at separate ends, which eventually will be connected.

State grants are expected to pay for the project, though funds exist only for three of the five planned phases. County Parks and Recreation Director Ross Maxwell said he just finished submitting paperwork for a grant to build the third phase.

Construction on the first phase of the trail is expected to begin in early August, Maxwell said. That section will go from Boyne City to the Bay-Evangeline Township line near Sumner Road. The second section, which is slated to be constructed in 2015, will go from U.S. 31 north of Charlevoix to Quarterline Road.

The third portion, which is expected to cost about $925,000 and is proposed to be constructed in 2016, would go from Pincherry Road west of Horton Bay and connect up with the end of the phase one trail section near Sumner Road.

"I'm very optimistic," said board chairman Joel Evans. "I think somehow, somehow this hike trail is going to come together."

Whether a trail separated from the roadway can be built within the road right-of-way remains unsettled, however.

Asked about the issue by the commissioners, Graham said further analysis is required to understand whether the county has 33 feet of space on each side of the roadway's centerline or if that expands to 49.5 feet under an amended agreement with many property owners that dates back to the 1950s.

"We're at a point now where we definitely need to do some more research," Graham said.

Maxwell said most property owners along the proposed trail have either signed a document giving their formal support to the project or verbally agreed to do so. Two neighbors, however, have indicated they will fight the trail's construction.

Petoskey-based engineering firm Northwest Design Group, which was hired to help design the project, wants an indemnity clause added to its contract to free the company from any liability should such a property issue arise during construction.

The board of commissioners did not approve such a clause Wednesday, but indicated they would be willing to include one if Graham or county staff deems it necessary.

Charlevoix city leaders to Monday consider combo administrator role

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL

CHARLEVOIX — Finding a successor for the impending retirement by Charlevoix Fire Chief Paul Ivan may be solved with the combination of administration duties for both his and the Charlevoix City Police Department.

Charlevoix City Council members are expected to consider the appointment of Charlevoix City Police Chief Gerard Doan to the role as top administrator for a yet-to-be-combined fire and police department. It's not an uncommon practice in Northern Michigan communities, officials said.

Doan, 52, said this dual administrator role for a combined police and fire department is used in communities such as Cheboygan, Manistee and Petoskey.

"I'm very excited and am looking forward to the challenge," Doan said.

City manager Roh Straebel said he is confident the switch will go well from the city's current two chiefs, to Doan's coming dual role as both the police and fire departments' director.

"We are fortunate to have strong, competent employees in the Fire/

EMS/Police departments that will assist Chief Doan in accomplishing a seamless transition. Additionally, Chief Ivan has done a stellar job over the years making sure the two departments have adequate trained staffing levels as well as equipment on hand to serve Charlevoix and the surrounding townships," Straebel said. "I have complete confidence that Chief Doan will be highly successful in this challenging new position."

Doan has for 28 years worked for the City of Charlevoix, including a stint in the 1990s as a Level 1 fire-

State Street water line upgrade under way

Replacement required by winter damages

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — City officials said a major utility project is under way in an emergency fashion after damages during this recent bitterly cold winter.

Pat Elliott, Charlevoix's public works superintendent, said workers will replace an old four-inch water main with a larger line after two blocks along State Street froze during the cold, lingering winter weather. Rather than patch up the old line or replace it with another four-inch line, city officials took advantage of this emergency situation to upgrade the line outright, he said.

"This was not planned to be done this spring," Elliott said. "We did have that section of State Street planned to be upgraded in 3-5 years, depending on funding."

The estimated cost of this emergency street project is about $90,000, including everything from excavation, utility line replacement, backfilling and new pavement.

Elliott said he hopes this emergency utility project will be the only one this spring, but he's not entirely confident about that.

"I hope that State Street is it for Arbor and Earth Day celebration planned

Event set for Sunday, April 27

MICHAEL KADE MORROW
COURIER CONTRIBUTOR

EAST JORDAN — Martha Wagbo Farm and Education Center will host its second annual Family Earth and Arbor Day celebration from 1-3 p.m. Sunday, April 27. This is a family-oriented event, with activities and crafts that prove to not only be fun, but beneficial to the mind and Earth, as well.

Arbor Day is the celebration of the planet, and strives to encourage individuals to plant and nurture trees, and Wagbo Farm officials are doing their part to make this a fun-filled event.

"Last year Pine Hill Nursery graciously donated a juneherry tree, and we are thrilled to be working with them this year to be planting more small perennial fruit trees. Families who attend will be involved in planting the trees," said Jen Lewis, Wagbo treasurer.

"We think our place is beautiful and special, and we want to share that with the community and let them know that the reason we are here is for them. The event is informal, we want people from all walks of life to come out, connect with each other and the land. When people make those connections they can't help themselves but to care about each other and the planet. It's kind of what Earth Day and Arbor Day are about," Lewis said. "We will have a meet the animals event, our goats, sheep, laying hens, chicks, geese will all be in attendance. We will have a small fruit bush planting and presentation, where we read a poem, and a make and take wool craft," she said.

The craft events are suited to children of all ages.

"The crafts are all easy to do, but also easy to elaborate as well. We will have volunteers to assist the kids in creating their craft. This year we are making a butterfly mobile," Lewis said.

There also will be informal tours, self-guided tours and a spring nature scavenger hunt.

"There is always an educational component to what we do. It is a hands-on — and often hands-dirty — experience though, not in a formal kind of way. We take the idea that kids learn through 'play' pretty seriously. That is the basis behind our nature club — informal activities here at the farm or field trips where kids have a hand in deciding what they want to do once we get there and the parents kind of step back and let them do it and/or play alongside," Lewis said.

The event is free to attend, but a suggested donation of $5-$10 is appreciated and allows Wagbo to continue to serve the community.

Wagbo Farm is just south of East Jordan, at 5745 N. M-66. Further information about upcoming events can be found on the website at www.wagbo.org online.

GAYLORD

Book features Northern Michigan's infamous serial killer

LORENE PARSHALL
GAYLORD HERALD-TIMES

GAYLORD — In the 1900s, a serial killer traveled Northern Michigan, leaving a trail of painful deaths behind in Alpena, Saginaw, Grayling and Kalkaska County.

Mary McKnight was eventually arrested and tried for three murders, but was suspected of committing five, or possibly nine, before being apprehended for the final three.

Author Tobin T. Buhk provides details about the case in the recently published "Michigan's Strychnine Saint: The Curious Case of Mrs. Mary McKnight." He chose that title because McKnight was seen as caring and kind by her family, always willing to help any of them in need of her care.

Buhk said he has always been interested in crime stories. Many authors put extensive time and energy into researching the topic of their books, but it is unlikely that many of them would spend a year volunteering in a big city morgue as Buhk did at the start of his true crime writing career.

"I was really into watching 'Law and Order Special Victims Unit,'" Buhk said. "One of my friends was Stephen Cohle, chief medical examiner of the Kent County morgue. We talked about how unrealistic 'Law and Order' and 'CSI' were, solving a murder in an hour with forensics. We decided to put something together about what really goes on in a morgue."

Buhk had a master's degree in English and had done some writing. They decided to do it from his perspective.

Buhk and Cohle co-wrote "Cause of Death" and "Skeltons in the Closet." Buhk went on to write "True Crime Michigan," "True Crime in the Civil War" and "The Shocking Story of Helmut Schmidt: Michigan's Original Lonely Hearts Killer."

But, Buhk's year in the Author Tobin Buhk spent a year volunteering in the Kent County morgue to prepare for his career as a writer of true crime books.

Kent County morgue did not come without a price.

"I had a reoccurring nightmare, over and over," he said. "I was in a stainless steel room with the body of a woman. She opened her eyes and moved her lips, saying, 'help me, help me.'"

Buhk discovered the McKnight story when he was researching "True Crime Michigan," but he decided the story deserved its own book. "It was a story that was time in her mother's home in Springfield Township near Fife Lake. McKnight's brother and his family were also staying there until their new home was completed.

In just a couple of weeks, John's infant, his wife and then John died, all after they'd been under McKnight's care.

When several suspicious circumstances involving the deaths came to the Kalkaska County prosecutor's attention, he ordered John's body, and later Gertrude's and the baby's bodies, exhumed. Fatal amounts of strychnine were found.

Examining McKnight's family history, the prosecutor discovered more suspicious deaths, including that of her two husbands.

Newspapers across the country covered the story, including the Herald Times in Gaylord. A June 5, 1903, story in the Herald Times noted John's wife, Gertrude, "was the daughter of Anson Ward of Waters, and was highly respected."

Newspapers started referring to McKnight as the "Michigan Borgia," comparing her to the Renaissance Lucrezia Borgia famous for poisoning her enemies.

Buhk's book includes stories about three Michigan women whose arrests for murder may have had more to do with the hysteria over the Michigan Borgia than actual guilt.

Buhk concluded the book with a section proposing seven possible and conflicting theories about McKnight's motivations and state of mind leading to the murders.

Buhk has formed his own opinions and will be doing a book signing at Saturn Booksellers, 133 W. Main St., Gaylord, on Saturday, June 21, for anyone interested in hearing them.

Beaver Island ferry runs canceled — again

First five trips topped by ice cover; next set for April 25

COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — The ice cover continues to linger on Lake Michigan, which means the Beaver Island Boat Co. ferries continue to linger at the mainland, too.

Company officials canceled the initial 2014 season ferry trip planned for April 14, along with trips set for April 16 and 18, as well. And now, the April 21 and 23 crossings also are canceled, said Margo Marks, company president.

"The 2014 scheduled ferry runs for April 21 and 23 have been canceled due to extreme ice conditions on Lake Michigan between Charlevoix and Beaver Island," she said.

The next scheduled ferry trip on the calendar is set for Friday, April 25.

"However, if conditions do not substantially improve, this trip may also be canceled," Marks said.

ing reservations for customers who had arranged to transport vehicles on the ferry, officials said. The ferry service does not take passenger reservations.

"Ferry service will begin when ice conditions permit and we are able to safely operate our vessel," Marks said.

Charlevoix gets gold status for clean marina

East Jordan recognized for economic development

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix, East Jordan, Curtis Township and Rogers City all received recognition for environmental leadership at the Michigan Green Communities conference in Flint in February.

As part of the Michigan Green Communities Challenge, participating local governments were awarded gold, silver, bronze or member seals of achievement reflecting community leadership in areas such as natural resource conservation, green economic development and energy efficiency.

Charlevoix — Charlevoix received gold status for participating in collaborative regional initiatives to promote sustainability. The Charlevoix Municipal Marina is recognized as a "Michigan Clean Marina." The city also cooperated with Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council to develop a storm water management plan for a recent street reconstruction.

East Jordan — East Jordan received member status for economic development. East Jordan collaborates with regional partners through Connect MI Connected Communities Broadband program and the Northern Lakes Economic Alliance.

Rogers City — Rogers City received gold status for administrative and planning initiatives. Rogers City adopted a sustainability-based master planning process and collaborative planning and zoning training.

Curtis Township — Curtis Township received member status for administration and planning. Curtis Township established an internal government sustainability team composed of a diverse cross-section of staff members and elected officials to coordinate sustainability initiatives within local government operations.

The challenge program is a new tool to help local leaders measure their progress in implementing energy, economic development and environmental improvements. It is supported by the Michigan Association of Counties, Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, Michigan Economic Development Corporation Energy Office, Michigan Municipal League and Michigan Townships Association. It uses a rating system to recognize sustainability accomplishments and serves as a guide for the community leaders looking to learn from their peers. Participation is free and open to all local governments in Michigan as part of the statewide Michigan Green Communities network that aims to support local sustainability efforts.

The Challenge launched in 2009 and emphasized energy efficiency projects in an effort to help local governments prepare for and make the best use of federal Energy Efficiency and Conservation Block Grant (EECBG) funds. In the past, graduate students from the University of Michigan worked with Challenge participants and the staff of a partner organization to update the program and reflect the evolving sustainability standards. The updated challenge reflects broader topics, such as green economic development, resource conservation and water quality, in addition to maintaining a strong energy component.

Libraries team up to offer Minecraft server

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix Public Library and Boyne District Library are cooperating to offer youth a local Minecraft server. The CharLeBoyne Minecraft Server will be available for students grades 4 and up.

Minecraft is a creative video game that has become very popular with young people. It is a "sandbox" game, where players have the tools to build and modify their own worlds themselves and create how they play. Minecraft also allows players to interact with other players online. The creative and building aspects of Minecraft allow players to build constructions out of textured cubes. Some have described it as a virtual and ongoing game of Legos, and note that it encourages critical thinking skills.

The CharLeBoyne server will be limited, offering a safe environment. Players will need a Charlevoix or Boyne City library card to access the server. A monitor chosen by library staff will be present during all game play on the server.

"By providing a supervised server we are offering a safe playing environment for kids," said Laura Potter, Charlevoix Public Library youth services librarian. "The limited nature of the server is reassuring to parents when their children are playing a game online."

To kick off the new server, Minecraft Mayhem will be at 3:45 p.m. Thursday, April 24, at both the Boyne District Library and Charlevoix Public Library. Youth will be able to register to play on the CharLeBoyne server at that time, sign-up for Minecraft accounts if necessary, and enjoy some pizza.

The Minecraft sign-up fee will be covered by the libraries for a limited number of players at the Minecraft Mayhem event on a first-come, first-served basis.

Minecraft game play on the CharLeBoyne server will then be offered on a regular basis beginning May 7 from 3:30-5 p.m. every Wednesday and Thursday through June.

For more information, please contact Potter at Charlevoix Public Library at (231) 237-7350; or Monica at Boyne District Library at (231) 582-7861; or visit www.boynelibrary.org or www.charlevoixlibrary.org online.

Happy Easter

When our children were young Easter meant packing up our van and heading down to Florida to visit with grandma and grandpa. This holiday became a tradition of heading south for warmth and time with family. Our girls focused on swimming, shopping and hoping to get their sun-kissed tan.

A generation earlier for my sister and me Easter meant wearing dresses that mom sewed together with love and care only a mother could possess. She would diligently work through many evenings cutting patterns purchased from a small shop down the street or she would expertly design her own. While listening to the old Singer sewing machine whirring in the background, my eyes were glazed over watching the "Ed Sullivan Show" on our black and white Zenith. Mom would finish up the dresses, hemming them by hand and the final touch was adding delicate lace or satin ribbon to the hems and necklines. She had a talent for creating and designing clothes that made us look and feel like we'd walked off a runway.

Easter also meant that we no longer had to give up chocolate and other assorted candy as Lent was over. The excitement of finding our Easter baskets carefully hidden behind a living room curtain were quickly diminished when we were reminded not to taste any of our goodies, as we would be leaving soon for church. In order to receive Communion we needed to fast before receiving the sacrament. As a child I wondered who came up with the idea of not eating anything one hour before taking Communion. I thought it must be a rule parents made to keep their kids clean before going to church.

After church, still donned in our new Easter bonnets and matching gloves, we'd gaily skip about with our baskets while dad took out the old movie camera to record a bit of history. Easter also meant cousins, aunts, uncles and grandparents would be caravanning over to our modest home to take part in the feast that mom had spent hours preparing. After eating until we thought we would burst, she then brought out the piece de resistance: a cake made to look like a rabbit. I'll always remember the bunny ears made from the white, drycleaner cardboard that kept my dad's shirts nicely pressed.

Mom had used round cake pans to bake this wonderful delicacy and sliced the slightly cooled cake in two to form the body;

the remaining cake formed his head. The fluffy white frosting and handfuls of flavorful coconut made the rabbit come to life. The final addition of black string licorice for the whiskers gave the rabbit its authentic look. As a small child I sat in awe of such a creation.

The sun usually peeked out from behind the clouds on Easter Sunday even if only for a few hours. The younger generation would be busily playing on the swing set in our backyard. The adults stayed inside catching up on family gossip and sharing recipes. Life seemed simpler back then. My only concern was not ruining my new dress while playing hide and seek or from climbing the craggy old apple tree that lived well past its prime.

Years have passed and our girls are grown with families of their own. Their memories of Easter spent traveling and visiting family and my childhood memories may differ but the important thing is that we were able to create them. As family members and friends pass on it's oftentimes these very memories that become the keepsakes of our contentment. My wish for you today is that your Easter be filled with moments to treasure and memory keepers for a lifetime: from our family to yours, Happy Easter.

Over two bitter winters beginning in 1991, the channel bridge, completed in 1949, underwent a major overhaul. The entire roadway and both sidewalks had to be replaced. Traffic was reduced to one lane as first two-thirds of the bed was done, then the remaining third the following winter. All was finished in 1993. Charlevoix waited for the reinstallation of railings that presumably would be comparable to the classy, but removed, originals. Ugly utilitarian ones had been put in (above photo) while the work was going on. When the town was informed that, like it or not, what you see is what you have already gotten, that the state was obligated only to provide minimal protective devices and forget aesthetics, a royal uproar exploded. Both local and summer citizens, spearheaded by the determined and vigilant leadership of local author and Courier columnist Edith Gilbert, lobbied and publicized without letup, all the way to Washington, D.C. They pointed out that the lowest railing was high enough off the sidewalk for a small child or pet to easily slip through and into the channel. If that constituted safety, what constituted danger? Their relentless persistence paid off. They finally shamed the state into providing covers over the visual blight. Protective plastic netting was temporarily installed while railing cover design ideas were hashed out. The new covers went in in 1994 (below photo). Their details echo the interlocking Gothic arches and crosshatchings of the railings that bedecked the 1901-1947 swing bridge, portions of which line the edges of Hoffmann Park on Park Avenue. Both bridge railings in turn inspired the design of the new logo of the Charlevoix Historical Society, "Bridging the Past with the Future."

LETTERS to the editor

More activities in the park wanted

Editor:

I think that there should be some activities for kids and adults down in the park. When I say activities I mean shuffleboard or a half court for basketball. I think this because whenever I go down to the park I want to do something new, like shuffleboard or basketball. I also think that this would attract more families and people down to our local park.

In my case when I am in town with my dad in the summer I want to play basketball with him, but there's nowhere to play besides the stuff at the beaches. I want it downtown, so we can get out of the car and shoot some hoops. We are always hearing that people are out of shape. Basketball is great exercise. You get an awesome workout while having lots of fun. It would be great if it were right downtown.

I would also like it if there was a shuffleboard court downtown because there is nowhere to play shuffleboard in Charlevoix. I know that most people like shuffleboard and would like to have a court downtown. This could be a great activity for the senior citizens, too. Not all people can play basketball anymore, but most everybody can play shuffleboard. I think they would love it, and would spend more time and money downtown.

Just think, it's Venetian with the night of the fireworks. A family is downtown waiting for the show to start. They want to play basketball or have a good shuffleboard game while they're waiting. They could turn the corner and be right there. Just keep imagining it. Wouldn't it be so wonderful?

I hope you think that this is a good idea. I think it would put people in better shape and get them much more active. It would also bring more people from our town in downtown Charlevoix. It just makes sense.

United Way board thanks volunteers

Editor:

On behalf of the Board of Directors of Char-Em United Way, I would like to thank all the wonderful volunteers and donors who participated in our recent Community Investment Allocation Reviews.

Twenty-seven volunteers met over three days to review funding applications and listen to 22 local health and human service agencies present their grants. Thank you to board members Karen Sherrard, Jennifer Rekas, Doug Buck, Bob Carlile, Therese Green, Betsy Britton, Jim Rudolph, Marty Van De Car and Steve Andreac, and to our dedicated citizen review team members Michelle Denise, Scott MacKenzie, Amanda Haworth, Amy Lalewicz, JoEllen Rudolph, Becky Jacques, Jeff Lange, Ann Purdy, Caitlin Koucky, Terri VanUum, Lisa Hoyt, Michelle Harrington, Pat Brewer, Emily Meyerson, Kate Ivy, Linda Sydnw, Peter Muss and Lori O'Neill.

These volunteers carefully read the funding requests from community agencies, considered community needs and United Way's funding priorities, and asked the tough questions that provide the information needed to make funding recommendations to our Board of Directors. They truly are stewards of our donors' investments in the community.

We would also like to extend a very special thanks to the AmericInn in Charlevoix, which provided our meeting space, and to our refreshment donors Subway, BC Pizza and Andy's Party Store, all in Charlevoix. The donations made by these generous businesses allow us to use the funds entrusted to us by our donors to directly fund programs.

Thank you to our volunteers for "living united" and helping Char-Em United Way make a difference in our community.

CTE programs available for area high school students

ERICA RAKOWICZ
PETOSKEY NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — Career and Technical Education (CTE) programs are available throughout the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District as a way to not only educate students early on about future career pathways, but also to give students necessary life skills.

"They can either be introduced to something with potential for their future — or the exact opposite," said Charlevoix principal Suzanne Klinger. "They can do their career shopping early, here."

CTE programs are available in graphics and printing technology, business administration and management, TV and film production, broadcasting, information technology, marketing, automotive, drafting and design technology, woodworking and furniture making, health occupations, creative teaching, agriscience and natural resources, culinary arts and construction technology.

Charlevoix High School houses one of the five construction technology programs in the area. The program consists of house-building skills, blueprint reading, power tool operation, construction layout and building regulation, framing, electrical, plumbing, drywall, roofing, painting and finish work skills, as well as many other skills.

"It definitely helped me improve my math," said Thomas Sarasin, a 10th-grade construction technology student at Charlevoix High School. "It's made me overall a better worker."

The advanced Construction Technology class works daily on building a house from start to finish, outside of the school's construction technology classroom.

"They can see the fruit of their labor with daily progress and watching the house come together to the finished project," said Norman Carlson, Charlevoix construction technology program teacher. The program then goes on to sell the house to recoup the cost of the project.

"Many students have continued on to work in the construction industry as a career as well as continued on to the university level," Carlson said.

Other students involved in the construction technology program don't see construction in their professional future but partake for other reasons.

"I'm always going to have to learn how to work on my house," said Jake Seger, a 10th-grade student involved in the program.

In addition to the experience, the completion of a CTE program holds the possibility of articulated credit, dual enrollment, direct credit, certificate programs and business and industry certification.

Ironton Ferry hours reinstated for season

CHAM CUMMER
PETOSKEY NEWS-REVIEW
CHARLEVOIX

Amid pressure from residents in Eveline Township, Charlevoix County officials voted last week to keep regular operating hours for the upcoming season for the Ironton Ferry.

The county's three-member Transportation Authority decided in February to end ferry service at 7:30 p.m. instead of the usual 10:30 p.m. during off-peak months at the beginning and end of the season.

The move, officials said, was expected to save as much as $10,000 per year. However, the decision also sparked outcry from some in Eveline Township who said they rely on the ferry, which cuts about 20 miles off the trip from Boyne City to Charlevoix by crossing 600 feet of water in the Ironton Narrows.

"At our meeting a number of people came in and showed their disdain for what we tried to do," said Norwood Township Supervisor Frank Hamilton, who is chairman of the Transportation Authority. "We explained to them it was simply a business decision and then we agreed to reinstate the hours."

While both sides seem to agree there is less demand for ferry service outside of the summer months, there are at least some people in Eveline Township who say they use it regularly from the beginning to the end of the season.

"I will admit to them that in the offseason it's not used as much, but there are people that do count on it to get to work or to get to a restaurant and then get back," said Eveline Township Clerk Michelle Johnson.

Following the meeting in February, Hamilton defended the choice by saying it would save $500 a week in wages alone while affecting the fewest customers.

In switching back to the regular hours for all of this year, Hamilton said the board also intends to pay close attention to the number of users and what times during the day are busiest. "The whole idea of this thing is to be able to put enough money aside for the five-year pull-out required by the Coast Guard," Hamilton said.

The ferry typically turns a profit between Memorial Day and Labor Day, but struggles to recoup costs in the beginning and end of its operating season, Hamilton said.

In its most recent Coast Guard inspection last year, an engine overhaul was required. The project's price tag soared from its initial estimate of about $200,000 to almost $450,000 by the time it was complete, Hamilton confirmed.

Looking to the future, he said the Transportation Authority wants to increase efficiency and put away profits to cover unexpected costs like those experienced last year.

"We're going to keep a closer track of the people and the hours so we have a better idea of when it's getting used," Hamilton said.

For Johnson and others from Eveline Township who begged the Transportation Authority not to cut back hours, there is satisfaction in knowing their voices were heard.

"We were thrilled," she said.

Ferry service typically begins in mid-April, but Hamilton said this year runs will begin whenever the ice melts.

"Short of us going out with axes and breaking the ice we're just going to have to wait," he said.

Early College Program designed for area students

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District and Baker College of Cadillac created an Early College Program that offers an accelerated path to college for high school students with tuition, books and fees paid by the program.

It is open to students in the school districts of Anson, Boyne Falls, Boyne City, Charlevoix, Central Lake, Ellsworth and Pellston.

Students who are currently high school sophomores are now enrolling for the 2014-2015 academic year.

Interested students and their families can learn more about the Char-Em ISD/Baker College Early College Program at an informational meeting 6-7 p.m. Monday, April 21, at the Boyne City High School Performing Arts Center.

The program allows high school juniors to begin classwork for associate degrees in advanced manufacturing technology (CNC emphasis), CAD and design technology, architectural/construction technology, medical insurance specialist and business administration.

Students on the business track can select a concentration late in their senior year of high school, choosing from accounting, accounting/computer information systems, accounting/management, administrative professional, entrepreneurship, human resource management, management and marketing.

During their 13th year of school, all Early College Program students transfer to Baker's Cadillac campus to complete their degrees.

Students are selected for admission into the program in accordance with the Char-Em ISD and Baker College admission requirements. A specialized advisor is assigned to the cohort to ensure personalized advising.

Baker College of Cadillac also offers an Early College Program with Westford-Missaukee Intermediate School District in which students can earn associate degrees in computer networking, criminal justice and welding.

These partnerships are two of 27 Early College Programs in Michigan for which the state grants incentives to help meet skill shortages. Early College programs serve all students but especially those from traditionally underserved groups, such as low income, low academic achievement or minority populations, to help provide college access at an affordable price.

Participating students recognize significant tuition cost savings and are on a faster track to obtain employment in their chosen careers.

According to the American Institutes for Research, high school students who can earn high school and college credits are more likely to earn a college degree than students who do not earn college credits early. Early College Programs also appear to mitigate the traditional educational attainment gaps between advantaged and disadvantaged students.

For more information about the Early College Program, students should contact their high school counselor.

For information about Baker College programs, visit www.baker.edu or contact the admissions office at (231) 876-3100 or audrey.channoli@baker.edu.

Margaret Ann "Ranny" Riecker, 80

Margaret Ann "Ranny" Riecker of Midland died peacefully at MidMichigan Medical Center-Midland on Monday, April 7. She was 80 years old. She was born on Nov. 9, 1933, in Ann Arbor, the daughter of the late Harry A. and Margaret D. Towsley.

Ranny married John E. Riecker on July 30, 1955. He predeceased her on Nov. 8, 2008. Surviving is her son, John T. Riecker (Cindy Brittain) of Salado, Texas; her daughter, Dr. Margaret E. (Peggy) Thompson (Dr. David Thompson) of Grand Rapids; and her granddaughters, Sarah Thompson and Stephanie Thompson. She also had four sisters Judy (Don) Ruelhart of Ann Arbor, Lynn (Stuart) White of Grand Rapids, Janis Elizabeth Pteat, who died in 1991, and Harriet Susan English, who died in 1995.

Ranny earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from Carleton College in Northfield, Minn. During her life, she had been awarded honorary doctorate degrees from Albion College, Central Michigan University, Ferris State University, Kalamazoo College, the University of Michigan, Carleton College, Northwood University and Michigan State University.

One of Ranny's greatest passions was serving as a trustee for The Herbert H. and Grace A. Dow Foundation for 51 years, and she led The Foundation as its President since 2000. During her tenure, Ranny was especially pleased to have established the Associates Program. Each year, for a one-year tenure, the Trustees selected a family member to represent the various branches of the Herbert and Grace Dow family on the board. The Foundation has benefited from their unique perspectives and talents, and they benefited by expanding their skills in philanthropy. In 1992, Wiley T. Buchanan, Pamela G. Dow and Jeffrey W. Doan became the first Associates.

Ranny has been a Trustee of The Harry A. and Margaret D. Towsley Foundation since 1962. She was the board president from 1985 to 1999 and became board chair in 1999.

In the 1970s, Ranny served as vice-chair of the Michigan Republican Party. She later served as a Republican National Committeewoman from Michigan.

Ranny was also a co-founder of the Council of Michigan Foundations (CMF) in 1973. She was a Trustee at CMF from 1974 until 2002, serving as the Chair of the Board from 1982 to 1984 and again from 1999 to 2000. She was also chair of CMF's Government Relations Committee.

From 1992 to 1996, Ranny served as a Trustee of the Council on Foundations. She chaired its Legislative and Regulation Committee from 1992 to 1995.

Ranny also was a strong believer in collaboration in philanthropy. In the 2012 annual report for The Dow Foundation, she wrote, "In a time of tightening resources and increasing need, it's important that we make the most of every minute and every penny. Often, the best way to do that is to work together. So we help create collaborative opportunities among nonprofits, governmental agencies, private sector and other organizations. Sharing expertise, finding complementary strengths and leveraging resources gives us stronger organizations who accomplish more. Even better, it creates a shared sense of purpose that makes us even stronger."

Ranny was an active leader and volunteer in our community, state and nation. She was a past chair and trustee of Carleton College's Board of Trustees as well as a past chair and trustee of Central Michigan University's Board of Trustees. She served as a member of the Board on the University of Michigan's Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy and the Center for the Education of Women. She and her husband John were the honorary co-chairs of the Michigan Difference Campaign which raised $3.2 million for U of M.

Ranny's local community volunteer activities included serving on the boards of Midland Downtown Development Authority; as former chair of the board of Greater Midland Community Centers, Inc.; as a member of the Board for MidMichigan Medical Center-Midland and member of several MidMichigan Health System committees: Midland Kids First; Saginaw Bay Watershed Initiative Network; Michigan Molecular Institute; Northeast Technology Investors Advisory Committee; Joint Midland City/County Building Authority; chair of the Dorothy A. Johnson Center for Philanthropy Leadership Council at Grand Valley State University and the University of Michigan President's Advisory Group.

Ranny's grandfather, Herbert H. Dow, was the founder of The Dow Chemical Company. His wife Grace Ball Dow established The Herbert H. and Grace A. Dow Foundation in 1953 in memory of her husband. The Trust Agreement specifies that the income of the trust is to be used "for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes for the public benefit of the inhabitants of the City of Midland and of the people of the State of Michigan."

Funeral services will take place on Monday, April 14, 2014, at the Memorial Presbyterian Church, 1310 Ashman St. in Midland, with the Rev. Dr. Wallace H. Mayton III officiating.

New 'boomerang' chamber president on the job

Alison Boyer Hubbard, '91
Charlevoix grad, returns to town

BERNARD DRYZ
COURIER CONTRIBUTOR

CHARLEVOIX — It's not uncommon for small town high school graduates to strike out in search of wider experiences, but 1991 Charlevoix grad Alison Boyer Hubbard cut a particularly wide swath through some of the nation's most iconic cities — New York and Boston — and desirable western resort towns such as Bozeman and Vail, all before her return as the new president and chief operating officer of the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce.

With a bachelor's degree in fine arts from Albion College and a New York internship behind her, Hubbard quickly worked her way up at Saks Fifth Avenue, Boston, to manage their Isaac Mizrahi boutique.

"It was an amazing opportunity to run my own business," she said, "from buying, to inventory management, to setting sales goals."

Hubbard was recruited away from Saks to Banana Republic, a part of Gap, Inc. where she gained more corporate, management and retail experience before moving west.

During her tenure with Vail's chamber of commerce, the Vail Valley Partnership — first as sales manager, then as membership director — Hubbard handled sales, marketing, special events, business liaisons, and membership drives, all while managing a budget of nearly $1 million. It was during this time that Vail emerged as a four season destinuation.

"I was lucky to work with wonderful community leaders, gaining experience in member relations, sales, nationwide branding and messaging, strategic planning, web presence, and operations, to name just a few. Looking back," she said, "I can say that I developed essential skills that will assist me in my role as president of the chamber."

It's this well-developed skill set which prompted the chamber to choose her after a nationwide talent search, said Steve Seely, chairman of the chamber board.

"Alison has very broad experience in business with important skills in bottom-line management."

Hubbard

Seely cites Hubbard's knowledge and understating of membership drives and marketing as well her administrative skills.

"Alison's take charge management style is already making a difference," he said. "She brings with her a complete business philosophy and some really nice organizational capabilities."

The memories that she carried with her throughout her career, and a desire to be close to family and friends, were also instrumental in her return.

"My best memories are my times in Charlevoix," she said. "I loved our little community where I knew everyone in the grocery store or at church, and you knew your neighbors by name and helped each other in times of need."

And while the town has gone through many changes, its core remains the same.

"I still see the iconic Charlevoix that holds so many precious memories," she says. "I want my children to have the same experiences only a small town can offer."

This year, Hubbard and the chamber organization will work closely on the Charlevoix First branding campaign, the growth of membership, and the development of an enhanced relationship between residents and business owners, with the eventual goal of creating extended shoulder seasons and four season business opportunities. Hubbard's status as a "boomerang" one, who came full circle to return back home, was a big attraction for the chamber board.

"We're enthralled to have Alison here," Steven Seely said. "It's a great story."

Charlevoix Area Hospital gains new, larger MRI

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix Area Hospital officials are excited to offer their new MRI system, the Open Bore, 1.5 Tesla, that combines a larger bore, or opening, for obese and claustrophobic patients with the ability to capture high-field quality diagnostic images.

"This is going to increase our efficiency and patient convenience," said Gary Vergon, Radiology Manager at Charlevoix Area Hospital. "The patient-friendly design of this magnet will make it easier for large patients and those with claustrophobia to have a MRI examination which produces higher quality images. This can reduce the need to repeat and interrupt exams."

Claustrophobic patients present another challenge for MRI systems. They can be sedated, adding to their inconvenience and the time it takes to schedule and perform an exam.

The new system installed at Charlevoix Area Hospital features a bore opening of nearly 2.3 feet in diameter and almost one foot of free space between a patient's head and the magnet. It also features the shortest 1.5 Tesla magnet available. Approximately four feet long, the magnet allows more than 60 percent of exams to be completed with the patient's head outside the bore, helping ease claustrophobia.

For more information about Charlevoix Area Hospital and the imaging services offered at the Hospital, please visit cah.org online or call (231) 547-8598.

Library to host 'The Elusive Morel' program Tuesday

CHARLEVOIX — Ken and Ashleigh Harris of the Michigan Mushroom Market will be on hand for a program titled "The Elusive Morel," at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, April 22.

This program will help people identify morels and offer tips on how to find them. Ken and Ashleigh will also provide general information about sustainable harvesting practices, environmental factors, storage, preservation and cooking tips.

Michigan Mushroom Market is owned and operated by Ken and Ashleigh Harris, of Petoskey. They both grew up picking morels, like many people who live in Northern Michigan. When their kids were very young, and after coming across them so many times, Ken ventured outside-the-box and began educating himself on the many different varieties of wild edible mushrooms available in the woods nearby. He read about them in numerous books, learned about them on the Internet, consulted with other foraging friends and wild mushroom enthusiasts from the area. He discovered them for himself via countless mushroom-hunting trips into the forests with his wife and kids.

After 20 years of seasonal hunting and collecting choice wild edible mushrooms, they have yielded a wealth of knowledge and understanding of many species. They know what to pick, when to pick, how to pick and perhaps most importantly, where to pick.

Ken is a recognized "mushroom expert" in Michigan, specific to the types of wild mushrooms harvested and sold to the general public. In February 2012, they obtained a Food Distributor License via the Michigan MDA and local Health Department, which enables them to dehydrate, process, and produce wild mushroom food products (such as our "Wild Mushroom-Herb Garlic Butter" TM), for which they utilize a licensed commercial kitchen.

In other words, your mushrooms are safe in their hands — and in your stomach.

BOYNE FALLS

Challenge Mountain reports good winter season

BOYNE FALLS — The 2013-14 winter sports season proved a huge success at Challenge Mountain thanks to near-record snowfall and the support of the Charlevoix County Community Foundation to purchase a recreation pathway to help first-time skiers walk up the beginner slope at Challenge Mountain. More than 2,500 clients and their families participated in skiing, snowshoeing, snowboarding, sledding and other fun winter activities at Challenge Mountain this season.

Challenge Mountain of Walloon Hills, a non-profit organization, is dedicated to enriching and improving lives for the mentally and physically challenged through outdoor recreation. The goal of all programs is to help create happy, healthy and longer lives. Challenge Mountain received the grant from the Charlevoix County Community Foundation in early winter for use during both winter and summer programs.

New skiers benefit from the recreation pathway as it provides a safe surface for walking up a beginner slope without slipping and sliding. After safely walking up the pathway, the new skier practices basic sliding and stopping skills on a gentle slope.

Although the winter season at Challenge Mountain has come to a close, the recreation pathway will not go into storage. Challenge Mountain will use the pathway to provide access to beaches and shorelines during the summer months. Clients using wheelchairs will have a firm safe surface to access kayaking, swimming, boating and swimming in our lakes and rivers.

The Charlevoix County Community Foundation is a local charitable organization dedicated to enhancing the quality of life for all citizens of Charlevoix County by holding permanent endowment, addressing needs through grantmaking, and providing leadership resources to serve the community. More information about the Charlevoix County Community Foundation may be found at www.c3f.org or by calling (231) 536-2440.

Business Briefs:

BookTalkers to discuss Fowler book

CHARLEVOIX

— BookTalkers, the Charlevoix Public Library's book discussion group, is reading "We are all Completely Beside Ourselves," by Karen Joy Fowler and will host a discussion 6 p.m. on Monday, April 21.

Rosemary Cooke is, in many ways, an ordinary girl raised in an ordinary family. Her father is a behavioral psychologist who always brings his work home, and her mother is his supportive better half. As the youngest, Rose admires her older brother, Lowell, and is jealous because she thinks he loves her sister, Fern, the most. In fact, Rose thinks everyone would pay more attention to her if Fern weren't around. But that's where the Cookes are different from most families. In this stunning and original novel, author Karen Joy Fowler explores the boundary between human and animal beings and what happens when that boundary is blurred.

BookTalkers is a group of readers who love to read different books that may challenge or delight. They gather monthly for lively discussions. The BookTalkers meet at 6 p.m. on the third Monday of each month. New members are always welcome.

On May 19, the book discussed will be "The Returned," by Jason Mott. For discussion questions, visit the book discussion page on the library's website at www.charlevoixlibrary.org online. For more information, call the library at (231) 237-7340 and ask for Beth.

now. I have concerns for some other areas, but no signs yet of trouble," Elliott said. "I'm suspicious of a couple spots, though."

To avoid continued water line problems, city officials continue to ask water customers to run at least one tap to keep water flowing through the lines at all times.

City officials started asking in mid-February for residential and business water system customers to constantly run a small stream of water, about the width of a pinky finger, in order to prevent individual customer water lines from freezing.

Additionally, the run water order issued enforces this measure until further notice because warmer weather doesn't necessarily solve the problem as soon as it arrives.

"Warmer weather may not immediately mean that the risk of freezing is over," Elliott said.

Both city water and sewer customers will pay an average of their bills for the three months prior to the run water order, so not to be financially responsible for the extra water gone straight down the drain.

fighter. He intends to complete the Level 2 certification within the next few weeks, he said, as well as his emergency medical technician license within the next two years.

"We have a well-trained, well-experienced police department. We have a well-trained, well-experienced fire department. And I expect the transition to be smooth," Doan said.

Both the city's fire and police departments already frequently work closely with each other, and the various staff members are well-acquainted with each other.

"We interact very well together already," Doan said. "And this isn't a new concept."

And not only did Doan formerly serve as a Charlevoix firefighter, so too did Ivan formerly serve as a city police officer.

Straebel said that through attrition — Ivan's retirement — this became an ideal time to restructure the three departments: police, fire and emergency medical services.

"We will be evaluating the quality of our emergency services on a monthly basis to make sure we continue to provide high quality, timely fire/EMS/police coverage," he said. "We will also be monitoring all personnel expenses to make sure the overall numbers work. This transition can be done with minimal setbacks and substantial tax dollar savings."

The plan is for city employees and Charlevoix City Council members to in September 2015 review the organizational change to determine cost savings and overall benefits, Straebel said.

City councillors will consider the proposed change, among other business, at their coming meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, April 21, at city hall, 210 State St., in downtown Charlevoix.

Leave the HOUSEWORK to US!

At last, spring has sprung. The sun feels so much warmer and soon everything in the yard will be bursting into leaf. There's no doubt about that urge you're feeling: it is indeed time to do some spring cleaning.

Cleaning the house is exhausting work and many of us try to put it off for as long as we can. And yet, our families' health and our comfort are at stake. To make this big job a little bit easier, just take it one step at a time.

1. SORTING

Before starting in on the cleaning, throw out or give away any objects that you no longer use. This goes for clothing as well. It isn't an easy chore, but your closets will thank you for it, as will the community organizations in your area who inherit your donations.

2. WASHING

Next comes the washing. Drapes, rugs, bedspreads — be sure not to forget anything. Some fabrics need to be dry cleaned, so you'll have to entrust them to the pros. And for carpets, you can bring in a carpet cleaning service or rent a carpet cleaning machine at the grocery store or hardware store.

3. CLEANING

And now it's time for some good old-fashioned elbow grease. Whether it's the windows, cupboards, walls, or ceilings, every square inch of the house should be scrubbed spotless. Getting everything clean will help you eliminate the dust and allergens in the air. Once that part of the job is finished, you can tackle the bedrooms, where the mattresses should be turned and vacuumed. Before putting the sheets on, slip a fabric softener sheet under the mattress cover for a lasting fragrance.

ENTRUSTING THE JOB TO AN EXPERT

Of course there is another solution if the thought of doing all that work leaves you feeling discouraged: call in a cleaning company. Housekeeping services are fast, efficient, and surprisingly affordable. It's worth looking into!

SOCCER

Rayder girls' soccer team tops Boyne City, 5-0

Record moves to 2-1

DREW KOCHANNY
PETOSKEY NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — After a challenging, damp start to the spring season, dry days are always game days.

Even if they are well below freezing with 20 mph wind gusts.

On Monday, the Charlevoix girls' soccer team would fight through the frigid temperatures outside and the Boyne City Ramblers on the field, en route to an 8-0 win at Shanahan Field in Charlevoix.

The Rayders, now 2-1 overall on the season and in the Lake Michigan Conference, posted their second 8-0 win of the season, after opening the season with an 8-0 victory over Kalkaska.

"We wanted to focus on getting back to some quicker speed, two touch soccer, that was the goal today and it worked pretty well," Charlevoix coach Pete Scholten said. "We're still kind of moving some kids around, finding out where everyone is going to mesh."

The Rayders speed approach worked early as they struck early in the first half off the leg of freshman forward Julia Dorskoch, who booted in her first of three goals on the evening.

Charlevoix junior Leah Davis made her first of three goals just five minutes later in the contest, then added her second on a top corner knock from 20 feet out.

Kelsey Engstrom and Dorskoch each added goals later in the first half, giving the Rayders a 5-0 lead to close out the first half of play.

While the offense was clearly having their day, Scholten was impressed with how his girls played defensively, improving from game to game thus far.

"We got a little better," said Scholten. "I think the biggest thing for us, our defense graduated last year, so just figuring out the best spot for everyone right now."

In the second half, Davis started the scoring off for the Rayders, adding her third goal of the game seven minutes in, giving Charlevoix the 6-0 lead.

"We moved her, she's been our stopper, but we moved her up to center mid," said Scholten. "She's got an incredible kick. Last year she was over-shooting more, but this year she's really held it in. I think she's going to be a big scoring threat for us in that position."

Dorskoch scored again three minutes later and Engstrom closed out the contest 14 minutes into the second half.

Elizabeth Way totaled three assists for the Rayders, while Davis had one assist. Gloria Greene posted the shutout in goal for the Rayders, her second of the season.

For Boyne City and coach Nick Baic, there couldn't really be a tougher way to start the season, fighting both a good Charlevoix team and the elements on the day.

"It's hard to communicate things when they're not all involved as much. They're thinking about the cold, the weather, the wind, it's a tough first outing, but they're going to be good," said Baic.

Playing through the weather now, however, means more non-conference games later in the season and less of a pile up of conference games.

"We didn't want to be in a position where we would have to be playing three in a week," said Scholten. "Also it might put us in a position where we'd have to make up league games. We've got some challenging non-league games that we don't want to lose out on."

The Rayders prepare for a fast Elk Rapids team on Thursday.

"We're going down there and it's going to be a great matchup," added Scholten. "It's always a classic matchup. Going to play a lot of fast, two-touch soccer."

TRACK & FIELD

Rayders have strong performance at invitational

PETOSKEY NEWS-REVIEW

CADILLAC — The Charlevoix High School boys' track and field team put together a solid team performance Friday at the 12-team Gary Rathbun Invitational as they placed second at Cadillac High School.

Host Cadillac won the boys' side of the meet as they finished with 196 points, while Charlevoix was runnerup with 148 points. Cheboygan was third with 130 points, while Petoskey, competing in its first outdoor meet of the season, was sixth with 93 points.

On the girls' side, Benzie Central took first place with 178.5 points, while Cadillac was second, 145.5; and Marion was third, 140.5. Charlevoix placed fourth with 116.5 points, while Petoskey was 10th with 61 points.

The Rayders boys, who competed in the Blue Division (smaller schools), captured four first place finishes as they won both the 1600-meter relay and 3200-meter relay along with the pole vault and 400 dash.

The foursome of Nicholas Plude, Benjamin Patkai, Micah Peebles and Ben Boss won the 1600 relay in 3 minutes, 39.68 seconds, while Tristen Rudolph, Jackson Buday, Luke Buday and Justin Pearl won the 3200 relay in 8:50.10.

Peebles also won the 400 meters in 55.20, while Sam

Hovie won the pole vault finishing at 11 feet, 6 inches.

Placing second for the Rayder boys was Nicholas Plude in the 800, 2:06.30; and the 1600, 4:57.01; Buday, 3200, 10:35.62; 800 relay (Peebles, Boss, Hudson Elowsky, Patkai), 1:40.32; and Brian Noiro, long jump, 19.5.

Third place finishers for the Rayder boys were Jared McLean, 100, 12.05; Rudolph, 1600, 4:57.04; Luke Buday, 3200, 11:17.84; Parker Skeel, 300 hurdles, 46.02; Noiro, high jump, 5-6; Patkai, long jump, 18-11.5.

For the Rayder girls in the Blue Division, Caroline Boss won the 800 in 2:22.84; while Amber Way won the 1600, 5:14.50. Both Boss and Way were also members along with Cora Taylor and Madeline Boss on the winning 1600-meter relay team, which finished in 4:24.23.

Madeline Boss also went on to win the long jump, finishing first in 14.5.

Placing second for the Rayder girls was Madeline Boss in the 400, 1:05.12; Way, 800, 2:23.62; Caroline Boss, 1600, 5:27.41; 400 relay (Erin Hybl, Sydney Whitley, Kourtney Putman, Ivy Wells), 58.06; 3200 relay (Olivia Bartelli, Isabelle Buday, Katie Mousseau, Mackenzie O'Leary), 11:36.88.

Finishing third for the Rayder girls included Mousseau, 3200, 14:24.11; Taylor, discus, 73-9; and Ivy Wells, pole vault, 7-6.

For the Petoskey boys who were competing in the Gold Division (larger schools) Bruce Skop won the 100, 11:19; while Mark Smith placed first in the 3200, 10:14.63; and BJ Chatterson won the 110 hurdles, 16.05.

"It was our first time being on an outdoor track this year," Petoskey coach John Goble said. "We have a young, inexperienced boys team, but with a lot of talent. It is going to take some work to get the spring relay teams figured out and up to speed with the hand-offs. Once we are able to start practicing at Curtis Field should help."

Also for the Northmen boys, placing second was Dakota View, 200, 25.16; Andy Frampus, pole vault, 10-0; and Smith, 1600, 4:52.60.

Placing third for the Petoskey boys were Frampus, 800, 2:10.03; Chatterson, 300 hurdles, 46.78; and the 1600 meter relay (Frampus, Cooper Carpenter, Patrick Shepherd, Chatterson), 3:52.74.

The Petoskey girls were paced by Lily Cesario who won the 3200 in 11:59.01; while Sarah Goble was third in the 1600, 5:38.68; while Chanel Lockett was third in the 100 hurdles, 19.71.

Also placing third for the Northmen girls was the 1600 relay team (Carolyn Norton, Deniece Clark, Sydney Hopp, Isabel Brumleve), 4:55.70; and the 3200 relay (Jalynn Byers, Cesario, Hopp, Goble), 11:17.75.

Abigail Blanchard was fourth in the discus for Petoskey at 82-5; while placing fifth was Alexis Knapp in the shot put, 27-11; and Kristen Coats in the 400.

PETOSKEY NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — Advance and play on.

The simple goal for the Charlevoix boys' golf team this spring.

"Expectations are to advance," Charlevoix coach Keith Grunch said. "Advance in districts, advance in regionals, our main goal is to get back to the state finals."

After a Division III regional championship in a tie-breaker over Roscommon and a No. 13 overall finish in Division III last season, there's high expectations for the Rayders.

Charlevoix will need to replace three key members from last year's team, which include Chandler Novotny, Corbin Turkelson and Tanner Catt.

The Rayders will return a pair of top golfers, however, in Brad Rizzo and Noah Jeakle.

"Brad Rizzo is the lone senior on the team, he's co-captain with Noah Jeakle," said Grunch. "They both averaged around 82 last year, were one and two last year." Rizzo shot a career-low 75 during the Lake Michigan Conference championship a year ago, right around a score Grunch expects to see often this spring.

"Last year they made big strides getting over the hump of breaking 80. Once they did that they shot in the 70s two or three times," he said. "They'll keep improving from last year and carry the team along the season."

Replacing last year's seniors will be Ryan Joy and a pair of freshmen, Matt Good and Collin Turkelson.

"Ryan Joy, he earned his varsity letter last year. Looking for him to probably be on varsity," said Grunch. "Then we've got two freshmen coming in who will compete for those top six spots. Matt Good and Collin Turkelson. A few other guys in the mix will be Montana Thompson, JJ Wachler, Sam Stewart and Tanner Drost."

As soon as Grunch and his team can get outdoors, he'll have a clearer picture of who will be playing where, but for now, that appears to be a ways off.

"I got probably 75 percent of them that went down to play some golf in warmer climates," he said. "There's three or five tournaments scheduled in April, but I don't see that happening, maybe May 1."

Charlevoix run water order lifted

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix city officials intend to lift the long-standing order to run water to avoid frozen water lines.

Pat Elliott, public works superintendent, said the order city utility officials issued in mid-February to run at least one tap in each residential and business unit connected to the municipal water supply is expected to be lifted today, Friday, April 25.

However, Elliott said any city residents who remain with a water hose connected to a neighbor are asked to continue to run their water until otherwise informed.

Council approves Bridge Park beer fest

Public-private partnership to promote craft beer

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix city leaders on Monday unanimously approved an inaugural summertime craft beer festival for downtown's Bridge Park — a venture of soon-to-open new business Bridge Street Tap Room.

"We want this to promote specifically craft beer and also promote Charlevoix and get people downtown," said Phil Parr, one of the business principles, during the Charlevoix City Council meeting this week.

The idea is for the festival to be co-sponsored by the new business and the Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority with proceeds to go back into the budget for the popular East Park summer concert series. No funds from the city will be used toward the effort, save for some staff

"I think it's a great idea of a public-private partnership," Pearson said.

The event is planned for the first Friday and Saturday in June this summer, merely six weeks away.

Festival organizers plan to use a portion of Bridge Park for the 21-years-and-older festival, which is immediately adjacent to their not-yet-opened craft beer tap room.

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix City Police Chief Gerard Doan received unanimous approval from city leaders to assume the duties of both police and the fire/EMS chief once his counterpart retires.

Charlevoix City Manager Rob Straebel said the agreement is for Doan to receive a 10-percent increase in pay when he completes both levels of firefighter certification, then another 10-percent raise when Charlevoix Fire Chief Paul Ivan retires, expected in September this year.

Doan's current wage is $62,508 and after the combined pay increase, would be $75,009 annually.

"We are finalizing the project specifications now," said Rob Straebel, city manager, adding how those plans will be submitted to the DEQ for additional review in coming weeks.

Then details for contractors to bid on the job will be released sometime in mid-summer, he said.

Charlevoix's aging wastewater plant is poised to cost the city upwards of $11 million in state-mandated upgrades to lessen the amount of effluent ammonia discharged into Lake Michigan following treatment.

New themes this year include Wild Wild West, Color Week and McSaubu Idol with special musical guests, along with other classic themes. Children who participate in Camp McSaubu can also sign up for Northern Kids Club, which is a before- and after-camp program.

Charlevoix Recreation also will have Men's Slo-pitch Softball and Co-ed T-Ball this summer. Men's Slo-pitch games will begin May 28, so those who wish to participate should get a team together soon. Team preregistration by May 23 is required.

Co-ed T-ball games for ages 5-7 years old will begin the last week of June. Preregistration is required to play. Anyone interested in coaching is asked to contact the recreation department.

In order to make information and registration for these programs more readily available, the City of Charlevoix now offers online registration. This community portal is going to be essential for the Recreational Department to communicate with members of the community who wish to participate in recreational activities. It allows

New book details multi-discipline lakeshore living approach

MSU Press publishes academic book with practical applications

A new how-to book for living along lakeshores is now available — a book ideal for Northern Michigan residents.

Michigan State University Press published Paul J. Radomski and Kristof Van Assche's new book titled "Lakeshore Living: Designing Lake Places and Communities in the Footprints of Environmental Writers." The academic book with practical applications is available for sale or order through bookstores, or directly from the publishing company at www.msupress.msu.edu online.

"This book is a timely, original and inspiring contribution to the existing literature about the management of lakes and wetlands and the environment in general. The combination of contemporary examples, stories about the work of environmental writers and activists, theoretical reflections and practical recommendations, makes this a must read for everyone personally or professionally involved in lakeshore conservation and development," said Raoul Buunen, assistant professor of spatial planning at Wageningen University in The Netherlands.

In this accessible synthesis of ecology, landscape design and social sciences, the authors present an approach to lakeshore living that addresses the need to create rich, sustainable places and communities on the water, where both the loon and the family find a place, and where the cabin can be handed down with integrity to the grandchildren. Fragile shorelines require care, and that caring comes from knowledge, experience and an environmental ethic.

"Authors Radomski and Van Assche offer an alternative vision for lakeshore development based on sound science and the wisdom of preeminent conservationists Aldo Leopold and Sigurd Olson, and sociologist Holly Whyte. It's a vision we must embrace now, before we lose the very attributes that first attracted humans to lakeshore living," said Steve Hirsch, a fisheries biologist and career natural resource professional.

Radomski and Van Assche argue that an environmentally sensitive lakeshore place and community design is the way forward. While many factors affect the quality of lakes and lakeshore living, property owners and local communities do not have to wait until policies are perfect: the design approach advocated here can be applied in any place people living lakeside can get together and collaborate.

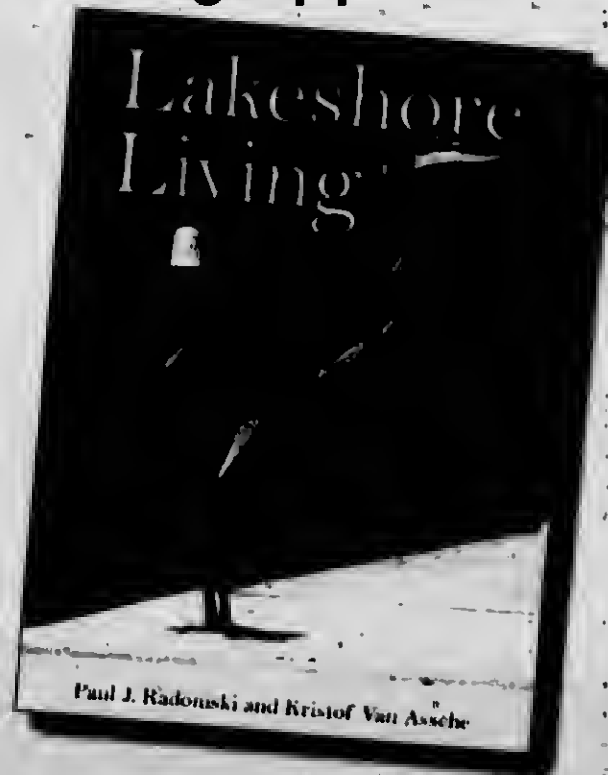

"America has a great architectural tradition in building on shores, beautifully exploring and revealing what landscapes provide us. Now is the time to ask ourselves how these landscapes can benefit from what we provide them. This book will help you to find answers," said Harro de Jong, landscape architect.

The approach presented in the book is proactive and context sensitive: new designs have to fit the existing ecological, cultural and policy landscapes. Development is always redevelopment in this sense. The authors introduce the reader step-by-step to this approach and carefully discuss leverage points that can be helpful in implementation and system change.

The paperback book costs $29.95 and includes black and white photographs, references and an index.

Radomski is a scientist with the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. He currently serves as Minnesota's lead scientific expert on lakeshore habitat management issues. Assche is associate professor in community planning and development in the extension faculty at University of Alberta, and research fellow at Bonn University's Center for Development Research.

Pornography pops up on school iPads

SHAWN MCWHIRTER-C'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — Some young Charlevoix students recently used their school-provided iPads to look at pornography after a content filter upgrade failed to properly download to the electronic devices.

Pupils at Charlevoix Elementary School were provided the Apple products as part of their school work, both in and out of the classroom. District officials at that time said content filters would prevent students from being able to access pornographic and other inappropriate materials.

According to a letter Superintendent Bob Gendron sent to parents on April 14, "a software update from our Internet filter provider created a gap in the Internet filtering of our student iPads."

That allowed for conditions under which pornographic and other objectionable material could be downloaded to the school-provided devices.

"And some kids in the elementary school did," said Edward Engstrom, a lawyer for a family with a child impacted by the illicit images.

District officials responded by on April 8 locking down all Safari browsers on the elementary iPads and that night installing an updated filter. Staff members reviewed the Internet browsing histories on about 1,000 iPads, and as absent students returned to school, their iPads were collected and reviewed, as well.

"It appears that a small select number of students may have accessed objectionable material. These students and parents have been contacted," Gendron said in the letter sent to parents across the district.

Additionally, all iPads for students in kindergarten through eighth grade will from now on be equipped with an alternate Internet browser called K9 Browser, which includes additional filtering. Plus, an additional filtering program was installed on all devices district-wide, designed to work wherever it's used whether on or off school campus.

Engstrom said an uptick in filtering is all well and good, he said, but it doesn't solve his clients' concerns regarding long-term impacts to the children's gender stereotyping.

"My client is concerned their kids saw things that could affect them," Engstrom said. "My client is able to pay for counseling, but is concerned other parents may not be able to. I don't think the school counselor is equipped to handle this."

Engstrom said a professional counselor specifically trained to deal with the impacts of gender imagery and pornography should be hired by the school district and made available at no cost to students' families, should they choose to pursue the service. That's what his client wants, he said.

"You just can't say it's OK and forget about it," Engstrom said.

Gendron responded that officials are "discussing it right now."

Meanwhile, the superintendent said school counselors are available to assist those students impacted by this incident, and can help families arrange for free or low-cost counseling on a more long-term basis, if needed.

Gendron said despite these "isolated occurrences of inappropriate activity," most of the district's iPad use has been for educational purposes.

"Even though we have many safeguards in place, as partners in educating our students, parents play an essential role in monitoring the usage of these devices," Gendron said. "We will need to continue working to ensure the student iPads are used appropriately and that students are protected."

Engstrom agreed parents need to be more vigilant about the electronic content their children consume, rather than relying on the school district for that.

City electric customers: Beware of phone scam

Police report an 800-number in caller ID

CHARLEVOIX — Police in Charlevoix are warning its residents of a recently-reported phone scam that is targeting city electric department customers. City police chief Gerard Doan said that the calls are reportedly coming from the telephone number (800) 881-4237. Doan said reports indicate the caller claims to be representative of the Charlevoix City Electric Department or Consumers Power. The caller then informs the resident that they need to make an immediate credit card payment or their electricity will be "shut off."

Doan said these calls are not legitimate and reminds residents to not to give out any personal, bank or credit card information over the phone.

Voters to decide on education millage May 6

Vocational and tech education tax renewal funds 40 programs

CHAD CURRIER
NEWS-REVIEW

Voters in Emmet and Charlevoix counties will decide next month whether to renew a nearly 20-year-old millage that funds vocational and technical education programs in 11 area school districts.

The millage, which has gone unchanged since it first was imposed in 1996, increases the annual property tax rate by 75 cents on each $1,000 of taxable valuation for a four-year period. It has been renewed three times previously by voters.

Without the additional funding, Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District officials said career training programs in local high schools would be in jeopardy.

"We cut $1.2 million out of our budget last year," Charlevoix Public Schools Superintendent Robert Gendron said. "We are skin and bones."

Voters will make the choice May 6 on a local ballot measure that asks whether to extend the millage through 2017. While the money is not entirely allocated to high school-level skilled training courses, the majority goes toward funding 40 such programs districtwide.

Those programs range from computer and graphics training to business administration, marketing, automotive and even culinary courses. Nearly 60 percent of the 3,400 high school students in the combined local districts are enrolled in one of the courses.

Some programs are designed to prepare students for more specialized coursework in college, while others can launch students into employment right after graduation.

"We see this as more than just providing programs for kids, this is about economic development in our region," said Rick Diebold, superintendent of the Charlevoix-Emmet ISD.

Each of the ISD's 11 local school districts has at least two state-approved programs. Since a tax reform measure was passed in 1994, only regional school boards — and not the individual districts themselves — can ask taxpayers for additional funding for vocational-technical educational programs.

In recent years, the money has helped school officials buy hydraulic lifts for an automotive program and SawStop technology that stops a table saw almost instantly upon contact with skin.

Though the programs are centered in the high schools, all K-12 students benefit from the additional money, officials said.

Millage funding goes toward improving technology in elementary and middle school computer labs, career and academic counseling programs and other types of technical support at all grade levels.

"The dollars are passed from the ISD right to the local schools for these programs," Diebold said.

Boyer Falls superintendent leaving for Kalkaska schools

ERICA RAKOWICZ
NEWS-REVIEW

BOYNE FALLS — Karen Sherwood, the superintendent and principal at Boyne Falls Public School, will leave the district to take a job as superintendent of Kalkaska Public Schools.

Sherwood was awarded the contract Monday, after a month-long interview process.

"We really got a lot of people interested in the job," said Joel Raddatz, Michigan Association of School Boards (MASB) search director.

For the Kalkaska search, the board received 26 applicants who were in some way qualified, Raddatz said.

He added that of the original applicants, 13 were or are superintendents, many of which were working at smaller school districts.

Sherwood was among the current smaller sized school superintendents who applied for the position. Boyne Falls Public Schools houses grades

K-12 in one building.

"I applied for personal growth and wanting to have a bigger effect on the students," Sherwood said.

Sherwood taught at Boyne City Middle School for about 14 years before applying for her first principal position at the middle school.

She was offered the position and stayed there for two years as principal before making the switch to Boyne Falls Public Schools where she's been for the past four years.

The Boyne Falls school board will begin talks on the search to replace Sherwood at their meeting on Monday, April 21.

The search and negotiations will take a couple of months,

Sherwood estimated. The school plans to have the position filled by the beginning of the next school year.

Sherwood will start her position as superintendent at Kalkaska Public Schools on July 1.

Sherwood called leaving her position at Boyne Falls Public Schools "bittersweet," but looks forward to the next step in her career.

Burnt popcorn prompts school evacuation

EAST JORDAN — Students at East Jordan High School were evacuated for a short time Tuesday when burnt popcorn in a microwave set off the school's smoke alarms.

Firefighters from the East Jordan fire department were called to the school at about 10:30 a.m. to a report of a smell of smoke in the school's media center.

Fire officials said students were evacuated to the nearby middle school while firefighters investigated the source of the smoke. After a short time firefighters discovered that the smoke was coming from burnt popcorn in the microwave and there was no actual fire in the building. Firefighters were on the scene until about 11:30 a.m. Students were seen walking back to the high school around the same time.

OPINIONS yours & ours

Science and ignorance

We are likely to believe that science marches on to ever greater discoveries. While that may be true, the public perception of science as a source of information seems to be fading rather than flourishing. According to polls in 1982, 44 percent of Americans believed that God had created humans and other creatures in their present form. Currently 46 percent of the American public believe in creationism as the explanation for the world's creatures. That is hardly science marching on.

In some parts of our country, too many parents are willing to believe there is a connection between autism and early inoculations for diseases such as measles, mumps and whooping cough. As a result, school children may be at risk of epidemics of such diseases. There is no such link, and serious research has discounted any connection. People are apparently willing to disregard the facts of science.

The threat of global warming and its attendant harms is very real, yet even prominent political figures are willing to deny such reality in pursuit of political gain. They are misleading from a position of authority; something we should examine carefully.

The above examples are not evidence of stupidity on the part of many people; they are literally examples of ignorance. In its original sense, that word refers to ignoring something. The dictionary definition suggests "unstudied, uninstructed or uninformed" as appropriate synonyms.

Much as we are dependent on the products of science and scientific thinking, we seem collectively to choose a kind of willful ignorance of what science has established.

Such ignorance is genuinely dangerous to a society. In times of uncertainty, we are likely to seek permanent answers that do not change with time. Answers that change with time, based on better or more complete information are the very heart of science.

The legal concept of "preponderance of evidence" can be a useful one. The preponderance of evidence overwhelmingly suggests that the earth's creatures evolved from earlier forms over long periods of time. The same concept suggests that there is no connection between autism and inoculations. And it certainly supports the idea that the earth is warming rapidly and that we are the cause of it.

EAR TO THE GROUND

Roger Knutson

Willful ignorance in pursuit of personal or political gain is widespread and dangerous, whether on the part of someone who labels themselves as a scientist or someone seeking to corral votes in an election.

Don't be ignorant. Examine the evidence and the facts, not someone else's conclusions or opinions. We all know politicians are likely to lie about some things. Their pronouncements about science are equally likely to stretch the truth. Don't blindly believe them. Be ready to change your mind if the facts and evidence are convincing. You will then be participating in the march of science, not retarding or denying it.

Roger Knutson is a professor emeritus of biology from Luther College in Decorah, Iowa, where he taught for 30 years. He holds a master's degree and a doctorate from the botany department at Michigan State University.

"The Belvedere bridge is a work of art, of the rustic order, and a credit to its builder," read the Charlevoix Sentinel on Oct. 8, 1908. This unique wood structure spanned the small ravine that cut through the southwest portion of the Belvedere resort. It was designed and built by Charlevoix resident John Lynn and his brothers who specialized in the technique. They used cedar harvested from the Charlevoix area. Lynn was known as the "Rustic Man," his business the Rustic & Decorative Company which employed 15 people. Resort member August Busch, of the St. Louis Anheuser-Busch brewing company, took a shine to Lynn. In late 1909, he commissioned the Rustic Man to build two rustic beer gardens at the same time, one in St. Louis, the other on the corner of 48th Street and Broadway in New York. When Lynn gathered all the materials he would be using for both jobs, they went out by train from Charlevoix filling 12 boxcars. Lynn commuted between both projects. The Belvedere bridge lasted until the very early 1960s.

LETTER to the editor

National food drive benefits local residents

Editor:

Saturday, May 10, marks the 22nd anniversary of one of America's great days of giving — the National Association of Letter Carriers Stamp Out Hunger Food Drive.

Letter carriers walk through the community every day, often coming face to face with a sad reality for too many — hunger.

So, each year on the second Saturday in May, letter carriers across the country collect non-perishable food donations from our customers. These donations go directly to local food pantries to provide food to people in Charlevoix who need our help.

Last year, we collected more than 74 million pounds of food nationally, feeding an estimated 30 million people. Over the course of its 21-year history, the drive has collected well more than one billion pounds of food, thanks to a postal service universal delivery network that spans the entire nation, including Puerto Rico, Guam and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

The need for food donations is great. Currently 49 million Americans — one in six — are unsure where their next meal is coming from. Sixteen million are children who feel hunger's impact on their overall health and ability to perform in school. And nearly 5 million seniors over age 60 are food insecure, with many who live on fixed incomes often too embarrassed to ask for help.

Our food drive's timing is crucial. Food banks and pantries often receive the majority of their donations during the Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday seasons. By springtime, many pantries are depleted, entering the summer low on supplies at a time when many school breakfast and lunch programs are not available to children in need.

Participating in this year's Letter Carrier Stamp Out Hunger Food Drive is simple. Just leave a non-perishable food donation in a bag by your mailbox on Saturday, May 10, and your letter carrier will do the rest. I invite you to join in America's great day of giving and help us in our fight to end hunger.

Family Reunion wraps up WinterFolk season

Library hosts concert April 28

CHARLEVOIX — Family Reunion will perform in the Charlevoix Public Library's last WinterFolk concert of the season at 6:30 p.m. Monday, April 28.

Family Reunion is made up of Elizabeth and Mary Anne Rivers, Patrick Niemisto, and Norm Wheeler, who accompanies on guitar, mandolin and bass. Mary Anne Rivers — singer, songwriter and storyteller — performed for more than 40 years to audiences of all ages and backgrounds. Her humor and strong vocals are complimented by guitar, autoharp and lap dulcimer. Elizabeth Rivers began singing with her mother when she was 7 years old. She concentrates her energy on standard jazz tunes, which she has sung all over Michigan, as well as in England and Scotland. Patrick and Mary Anne write and perform their own work, and Norm knows and recites hundreds of poems — not in one sitting, of course.

The evening's program is filled with music, poetry and fun, as these four old friends accompany each other. Audience involvement is encouraged during the show.

The WinterFolk Concert Series celebrates local folk artists with an evening of music. The featured performer kicks off the evening with a 45-minute concert, which is followed by an open mic session: an opportunity for the public to share talents.

Open mic sign-up begins at 6 p.m. the night of the concert, and is limited to five performers. For more information about the Folk Concert Series, talk to Dwain at the library by calling (231) 547-2651.

BOYNE CITY

Boyne City gets grant to plant trees

BOYNE CITY — The Michigan Department of Natural Resources and DTE Energy Foundation recently announced more than $75,000 in grants to 28 communities across the state for tree-planting projects.

Grants awarded through this program will be used to purchase nearly 1,100 trees of various species and sizes to be planted in spring or fall this year.

The city of Boyne City received a $3,000 grant through this urban and community forestry program.

This marks the 17th year of the tree-planting partnership between DTE Energy Foundation and the DNR. To date, the partnership resulted in the planting of more than 20 million trees on state-managed land and in communities across Michigan.

"Healthy trees provide many important benefits to our communities and the environment," said Kevin

Sayers, DNR urban forestry program coordinator. "These grants will help communities enhance local tree canopy cover while also promoting awareness about planting the right tree for the right location, especially as it relates to utilities."

For more information about the program, visit www.michigan.gov/ucf online.

BOYNE CITY

Boyne City senior lands CMU textbook scholarship

BOYNE CITY — Central Michigan University Public Television awarded three "Quiz Central" participants with textbook scholarships, including one from Charlevoix County.

The television station awarded Liz O'Donnell of Boyne City High School, along with Andrew Juliette of Cheboygan and Noah Danielson of Midland, each textbook scholarships to Central Michigan University's bookstore.

The current high school seniors will be supplied with their books during the fall semester of their freshman year at CMU.

For eight years, The CMU Bookstore has been awarding book scholarships to "Quiz Central" players who are also future CMU students.

"It is very rewarding to be able to provide book scholarships to 'Quiz Central' participants that are charting their path to Central Michigan University," said Barry Waters, director of The CMU Bookstore.

"We look forward to continuing to assist the best and the brightest of Michigan as they complete their senior year and come to CMU."

Show host Kurt Wilson said awarding students with scholarships is a way for CMU Public Broadcasting to give back to an important part of our schools: the academic Quiz Bowl teams.

"Barry Waters and The CMU Bookstore are outstanding partners with us at 'Quiz Central,'" said Wilson. "It's an honor to be able to provide these future CMU students with CMU Bookstore scholarships, and we wish them the best of luck at CMU."

Now in its ninth season, "Quiz Central" is an original series produced by CMU Public Television and features 48 Quiz Bowl teams from Michigan high schools competing for the championship title. Teams compete in four divisions based on school size for the chance to win scholarships to CMU and The CMU Bookstore — along with team "bragging rights."

CMU Public Television congratulates all of the students who've stepped up to the "Quiz Central" challenge. Find more information about "Quiz Central," see a complete broadcast schedule and team photos at <http://wemu.org/tv/quizcentral/> online.

New fairway mower bought under budget

City allotted $40k for new equipment this year

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — City leaders unanimously agreed to buy a used fairway mower for the municipal golf course, saving more than $4,000.

Tom Heid, director of golf and rounds at the course, explained Monday to the city council members how officials sought bids for a new fairway tractor, along with an alternate bid for a used version. In the end, city council members agreed with Heid's recommendation and went with one of the used options. "This tractor comes with a full two-year warranty," Heid said.

City leaders agreed to pay $35,887 for the used 2013 John Deere L555 Fairway Tractor with its approximately 130 operational hours, rather than the newer version for nearly $3,000 more. The budget allowed for $40,000 for this equipment purchase, which means officials saved more than $4,100 in the budget.

Heid explained how the replacement equipment became necessary after the transmission failed last autumn on the city's 2001 Toro 5200D tractor mower, which racked up nearly 4,400 operational hours during its use by city workers. The cost to repair the older mower amounted to more than $12,000, so city workers instead salvaged parts to use on the city's 1991 Toro Tractor.

Spartan Distributors of Sparta, Mich., and JW Turf Inc., of Wixom, Mich., also submitted bids for the replacement equipment, though the winning bid came from Grand Rapids-based Jacobson/Michigan.

The course is at 400 Fairway Drive in Charlevoix and can be called at (231) 547-3268. More information can be found at www.charlevoixgolfclub.com online, including rates, course history and an events calendar.

McGeorge named April Veteran of the Month

The Veteran of the Month for April 2014 is Norman Lee McGeorge.

Born on Aug. 10, 1934, in Boyne City, McGeorge attended school in East Jordan, graduating from East Jordan High School in the class of 1952 and went to work in construction in Plymouth, Mich. On June 24, 1954, McGeorge enlisted in the U.S. Air Force entering into active service in Detroit and was assigned to Sampson Air Force Base, New York. Following basic training he was reassigned to The 3420th Flight, 3657th Training Squadron, Scott Air Force Base, Ill., where he attended a specialty school from September 1954 to July 1955, graduating as a ground communication equipment repairman.

On Sept. 23, 1954, McGeorge, while home on leave in East Jordan, married Sally Kay Swafford and in August 1955 was reassigned to Okinawa, Japan, for a tour of duty of one year, five months and 14 days. On Dec. 1, 1956, McGeorge was promoted to Airman First Class and reassigned to The 84th Air Base Squadron, Air Defense Command, Geiger Field, Spokane, Wash., and on Dec. 20, 1957, he was released from active military service and transferred to the Air Force Reserves. On June 23, 1962, McGeorge received an Honorable Discharge, having completed his military obligation, and was awarded The National Defense Service Medal.

Following release from active duty in 1957, McGeorge returned home where he was employed by Penn Dixie Cement Plant near Petoskey and later he worked for

McGeorge

Courters Manufacturing in Boyne City. He finished his working years as a carpenter in the Michigan Carpenter's Union retiring on Aug. 10, 1996. McGeorge enjoyed being close to nature, whether he was cutting wood with his chainsaw, walking the dogs in the woods, camping with his family, fishing in Canada, snowmobiling, cross-country skiing or helping out, for many years, at the Korthase Brothers' Sugarbush making maple syrup. He also enjoyed traveling and in 2007 took a month-long trip of a lifetime to Alaska. But most of all he loved spending quality time with his family.

On June 9, 2013, Norman Lee McGeorge answered the final call and is being honored by his daughter, Stacy; sons Greg and Steven; and their families.

To honor a veteran, call the program chairman at (231) 588-6067 or on Tuesdays call (231) 582-7811 between 3:30-8:30 p.m. The ceremony may be witnessed at 6:15 p.m. on the first Thursday of each month in front of The American Legion Post on the corner of South Lake and Main streets in Boyne City.

Restaurant moves to country club

MICHAEL KADE MORROW
COURIER CONTRIBUTOR

CHARLEVOIX — Popular Charlevoix restaurant Edgewater Bistro has taken on a new name, and adopted a new home at the Charlevoix Country Club.

The restaurant, owned and operated by Allen and Mandy Plungis, is now known as The Bistro at Charlevoix Country Club. With the move, it has expanded its dining capacity from 80 to more than 300 patrons.

Opening night for The Bistro's new location was April 10.

"The reception was just awesome. We had great feedback from the members, many of whom would frequent Edgewater," said Allen Plungis.

With such a large increase in size, some might question the restaurant ability to adapt to that increase while maintaining its quality and popular menu. Plungis quickly puts doubts to rest.

"I have worked in many restaurants of this size through my career. I have a love and passion for what I do. I am here all the time. I spend 100 hours a week here, and am not only the owner, but also the chef," Plungis jokes.

The restaurant's menu choices are not changing with the move.

"Our sushi menus and our popular pizzas will be there as well," Plungis said. "We have been able to diversify with this move. There is a main dining hall, that is more upscale, but we also will now operate the sports bar as well. The sports bar will feature some lighter fare, but our full regular menu will be available as well."

The Bistro also will provide catering for a variety of events hosted by the country club.

"We are going to cater the events at the country club. I owned a catering business in Ann Arbor for about eight years, so this is something that won't be a problem," Plungis said with a chuckle.

Taking on a role of this size will still be a challenge, and a new opportunity for the country club as well.

"I like the challenge and the change, and I really enjoy being able to work in the country club atmosphere, and cover all of the events," Plungis said, adding that "We will also be running the snack shack as well."

The addition of The Bistro at Charlevoix Country Club is culmination of a top-to-bottom revitalization of the club that began in 2012 with its acquisition by new owner Fred Taylor. "The addition of The Bistro is the cherry on top. This union allows the Plungis to expand and brings a new level of culinary excellence to the Charlevoix Country Club," said club staff member Michelle LaVere.

The Charlevoix Country Club is open to the public, and is located at 9600 Clubhouse Drive, off U.S. 31 just north of Charlevoix.

The Bistro's spring hours are 10 a.m.-9 p.m. daily. For the summer, hours will run 9 a.m.-11 p.m. The restaurant can be reached at (231) 547-1700.

New Main Street Steering Committee sets first meeting

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix's new Main Street Steering Committee is coming together and is set to meet for the first time early next month.

"We are excited to be a part of this progressive, state-wide initiative, but even more excited to watch our community organizations, government and citizens come together to make a difference in the downtown," said Bethany Pearson, the city's community economic development director.

Charlevoix is an associate level member community in the Michigan Main Street program which helps communities develop main street districts that attract both residents and businesses, promote commercial investment and spur economic growth. The commitment involves a certain level of local participation and city officials weren't sure at first that they'd have enough participation, Pearson said.

Main Street Steering Committee:

Erin Bemis, Bemis Consulting Services
Jodi Bingham, Ga Ga for Kids owner and downtown resident Jennifer Haf, Bloom owner and city resident Amanda Wilkin, Charlevoix Convention and Visitors' Bureau
Aaron Hagen, Bridge Street Tap Room owner
Phil Parr, Bridge Street Tap Room owner
Val Meyerson, Charlevoix Public Library
Brenda Bryan, city resident
Richard Christner, Charlevoix State Bank
Mike Spencer, Charlevoix city planner
Alison Hubbard, Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce
Katharine Forrester, Charlevoix Area Hospital
John Murray, Berkshire Hathaway realtor
Greg Culver, United Methodist Church
Carissa Mullaney, StudioMl owner and city resident Dennis Kusina, city resident
Tammi Gillespie, Cherry Republic manager and city resident Rob Straebel, Charlevoix city manager
Kris Runblad, Merrymakers owner and city resident Shirley Gibson, Charlevoix city councilwoman

"At first we were a bit apprehensive knowing the amount of volunteers we would need to make this program successful, but the amount of support that we've received from the community since the announcement has been overwhelming. I think people are ready to embrace change and the next stage of Charlevoix's future, fortunately the Main Street program is just the tool that can help us do that," she said.

Pool hires new aquatics coordinator

CHARLEVOIX —

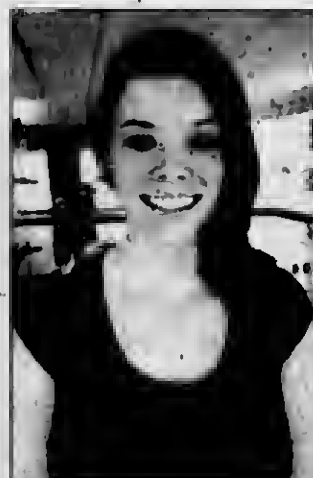

Charlevoix Area Community Pool director Kevin Hawley announced Chelsea Biddick as the new aquatics coordinator for the pool.

Biddick, a Charlevoix native, received a bachelor's degree from Grand Valley State University and during the past six years, she worked and volunteered at the pool. Since September 2013, she has been instrumental in operations as head lifeguard and swim instructor. Biddick is an American Red Cross Certified Lifeguard and will soon add Certified Pool Operator to her accreditations.

Biddick's mother was a critical member of the original team that helped build the pool and was one of the first pool managers. She said she has clear memories of being just 5 years old and sitting at the edge of the pool during construction, dreaming about when the hole would be filled with water.

Biddick said she is "very excited for the future of the pool and glad to be a part of its continuing benefits to the community."

BOYNE CITY

Morel's Bistro owners hope to rebuild after fire

STEVE ZUCKER
PETOSKEY NEWS-REVIEW

BOYNE CITY — The owner of a Boyne City-area restaurant heavily damaged by fire earlier this month said he hopes to rebuild and reopen the business.

Brett Cuper, owner of Morel's Bistro at 273 Old State Road just outside of Boyne City in Melrose Township, said Monday that fire and water damage from a fire that broke out at the restaurant early April 7 caused too much damage to make repairing the building feasible.

Cuper said he is currently working with his insurance company and building contractors to decide his next course of action, but his hope is to rebuild the restaurant on the current site and have the business reopened in time for next year's morel mushroom season.

He said the status of the building's foundation will determine if the restaurant is reconstructed on the same footprint, or if they are starting from scratch.

He added that the time it will take to complete all the insurance settlements and to coordinate and complete the building work, will make it impractical to try to reopen until next spring.

Cuper purchased the building — which has been the home to several restaurants over the years — and reopened it as Morel's Bistro on July 5, 2012.

He said the fire proves particularly frustrating for him because the business was gaining steam and was poised to make a profit this coming year.

Cuper offered his thanks to the community for the support he has been shown in the days following the fire and noted that he received about 85 supportive emails when he announced his intention to rebuild recently.

Melrose Township firefighters were called to the restaurant at about 1:30 a.m. April 7 when a passing Charlevoix County Sheriff's deputy noticed a shed behind the restaurant on fire.

Fire chief Dennis Howard said the deputy attempted to put the shed fire out using a fire extinguisher he had with him, but the fire spread to the main restaurant building a few feet away.

Howard said the fire climbed some exterior walls, got into the attic space and began spreading throughout upper reaches of the building.

Howard said the fire may have been caused by rags soaked in linseed oil used to refinish the floor that had been left in the shed. Linseed oil is unique in that it gives off heat as it evaporates, and if material soaked with the oil is stored in such a way that the heat cannot dissipate, the build-up of heat can start a fire.

Season's first ferry crossing postponed

April 28 will bring the boat, weather permitting

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — Ice cover on Lake Michigan continues to prevent Beaver Island Boat Company from resuming ferry service between the island and Charlevoix.

"It's still the ice conditions, of course," said Catherine Dewey, spokeswoman for the ferry company.

Company officials canceled the initial 2014 season ferry trip planned for April 14, along with four other trips set for April 16, 18, 21 and 23, as well. That's the first five trips canceled for ice conditions on the big lake.

And now, the April 28 crossings are expected to be the season's first, Dewey said.

"And that's weather permitting," she said. "Currently the harbor at St. James on Beaver Island is frozen in and there's plenty of ice in-between Charlevoix and there, covering what would typically be open water by now."

"Ferry service will begin when ice conditions permit and we are able to safely operate our vessel," said Margo Marks, company president.

The company is rescheduling reservations for customers who had arranged to transport vehicles on the ferry, officials said. The ferry service does not take passenger reservations.

Updates can be found at the company's website at www.bibco.com, as well as its Facebook page. Call (231) 547-2311 to reach the business at 102 Bridge St. in downtown Charlevoix. The office is open 8 a.m.-4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Nick Plude returns from two-year injury recovery

DANIELLE MCINTOSH
COURIER CONTRIBUTOR

CHARLEVOIX — For Rayders runner Nick Plude, this spring track season is about making a comeback. The junior athlete has spent the past two years overcoming an injury that taught him that some people just have to work harder.

Plude's mother and Charlevoix cross country coach, Mary Plude explained that during the summer of 2012, her son took a hit during basketball camp that had severely damaged nerves in his back. The nerve damage resulted in a mysterious injury to one of his legs. The following fall, during cross country season, a friend of the family who is also a doctor, noticed that Plude's legs seemed to be different. The nerve damaged had apparently caused muscle atrophy in one leg, but it took a lot of digging to find answers, explained Mary Plude.

With the help of three local doctors from Charlevoix Area Hospital, the Pludes were able to take Nick to University of Michigan Hospital for testing. The testing was mostly inconclusive, and even the pediatric specialists at U of M had difficulty explaining what had really happened to Nick's leg. In the end, the diagnosis was that damage to the nerves was preventing the calf and quad muscles from triggering properly. It had been six months since the injury, but the good news was that Plude's body was healing itself.

"It was a scary time for us. They even did a brain test to rule that out. It was a relief to know that the damage was done, but it would not get any worse. We were so grateful for the help of the local doctors. They even made sure that our insurance would back up all the tests," Plude's mother said.

Plude's older brother's basketball coach, Adam Wood, also took a special interest in Nick's case. Wood (now the athletic director and varsity basketball coach at Harbor Springs High School) dedicated time to help Plude rehab and train the weak leg.

His mother added, "Once Nick decided that's how it was going to be and he couldn't hurt it anymore, he showed the tenacious athlete he once was and was all business."

In fact, after training with Wood, Plude boasted All State honors last spring in the 2 mile relay, 800 M relay and the mile.

"He doesn't see it as an obstacle anymore, and he just never stops," Plude's mother said.

Wood can also attest to Plude's determination.

"Whatever it takes, he will do it," Wood said of the young athlete.

The basketball coach explained that he used his background in imbalance training to help Plude strengthen the weak leg. Sometimes this meant training the leg unilaterally or doubling up on exercises, but it meant training mindfully.

"They are just a high character family, and I have to give credit to his parents as well for raising a kid that handles adversity so well," Wood noted.

With snow finally melting, the Charlevoix Rayders recently began their scheduled running season and Plude is ready and stronger now — in more ways than one.

Rayders sweep league meet at wet Kipke Field

DREW KOCHANNY
NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — There were few dull moments from the Charlevoix boys' and girls' track and field teams a year ago.

Early in 2014, the Rayders are proving this season will be no different.

On Monday, Charlevoix hosted its first Lake Michigan Conference quad meet of the season, bringing in wins on both the girls and boys sides.

For the boys, Charlevoix led with 100 points, followed by East Jordan with 56 points, Harbor Springs with 40 points and Boyne City with 36 points.

In the girls' events, the Rayders led with 84 total points, with Harbor Springs second with 72 points, Boyne City third with 53 points and East Jordan fourth with 26 points.

Battling through a rain soaked track and puddles, Charlevoix boys' coach Ken Plude came away from the meet ecstatic, as his Rayders did something in the 1600 meter relay he's been hoping to see for more than 20 years.

"I've been trying for 20 some years to see if we can get four teams under 4 minutes and we did it," said Plude. "The goal was to have four teams under 4 minutes, well we almost had four teams under 3:50.00. So we finally hit one of my long term goals."

The Rayder boys' swept all four relay events, with the winning 1600 team of Jared McLean, Tristen Rudolph, Nick Plude and Kevin Pearl earning a time of 3 minutes and 42.45 seconds.

In the 3200 meter relay, Shea Bearss, Jackson Buday, Rudolph and Ben Boss finished first with a time of 11:10.5.

The 800m relay team of McLean, CJ Rice, Benny Pakkai and Plude won in 1:55.62, and the 400m relay team of Malcom Williams, Luke Buday, McLean and Hudson Elowsky finished with a winning time of 57.89.

Charlevoix's Parker Skeel took first place in both the 110 hurdles and 300 hurdle events, finishing with a time of 17.71 and 45.94 respectively.

Nick Plude won the 200m dash for the Rayders in a time of 23.11 and Mikah Peebles had with a time of 53.82 in the 400m dash, also a first place finish.

East Jordan freshman Ryan Graham won the 100m dash in 11.70, while Marcus Garrow won the 1600 meter run in 4:40.66, just edging East Jordan senior Josh Wojan's time of 4:41.12.

Wojan would take a win in the 800m run, though, earning a time of 2:07.86.

Boyne City's Ethan Book rounded out the track events with a win in the 3200m run Charlevoix junior Amber Way heads into the final stretch of the 1600 meter run on Monday in Charlevoix. Way won both the 1600m run and 800m runs, with times of 5:15.8 and 2:26.45, respectively.

coach Mary Plude came away impressed with a few girls on the day, particularly O'Leary and Putman.

"I had a couple of really nice surprises. Makenzie O'Leary had a really nice day today, Kourtney Putman was another one," said Plude. "I've kind of shifted her down to more sprints because I need Caroline and can't use her there. So Kourtney has really accepted that role of being the lead of my sprints."

The Harbor Springs 800m relay team of Salix Sampson, Clare Flemming, Charlotte Cullip and Paulina Adams had a first place time of 1:55.62.

Sampson also took in first place finishes in the 100m dash and 200m dash, finishing in time of 13.14 and 27.68.

In the hurdle events, East Jordan's Katie Rowbotham took first in the 100m hurdles with a time of 19.2 and Boyne City's Kylie Hicks finished with a first place time of 51.15 in the 300m hurdles.

Caroline Boss of Charlevoix won the 400m dash in 1:01.00.

Charlevoix junior Amber Way earned first place finishes in the 1600m run and 800m run. In the 1600, Way finished with a time of 5:15.8 and in the 800, a time of 2:26.45.

Lydia Damoose of Harbor Springs finished off the track events with a first place finish in the 3200m run, earning a time of 16:04.96.

In the girls' field events, Charlevoix's Madeline Boss won both the high jump and long jump, finishing with a height of 4 feet, 8 inches and 15 feet, 4.75 inches, respectively.

Charlevoix's Ivy Wells won the pole vault with a height of 7 feet, while Harbor Springs took both the shot put and discus events.

Caylin Bonser won the shot with a throw of 26 feet, 4 inches and Emily Lance won the discus with a throw of 80 feet, 1 inch.

Rayders improve to 4-1 overall with shutout win at East Jordan

EAST JORDAN — The weather conditions were difficult Monday on a wet and soggy Boswell Stadium playing surface.

The visiting Charlevoix Rayders made things even more difficult for host East Jordan.

The Rayders took a 5-0 lead after the first half before ending the game 28 minutes into the second half via the eight goal mercy rule as they rolled past East Jordan, 8-0, in a Lake Michigan Conference contest.

With the win, the Rayders move to 4-1 overall and in the Lake Michigan Conference.

"The girls did a great job in less than desirable conditions," Charlevoix coach Pete Scholten said.

Junior midfielder Leah Davis led the way for Charlevoix as she finished with four goals including a hat trick in the first half, while also scoring for the Rayders was freshman forward Julia Doskoch, sophomore forward Kelsey Engstrom, sophomore midfielder Kylee Scholten and junior midfielder Elizabeth Way.

"Leah Davis was again amazing this evening burying four goals for us," Scholten said. "Freshman defender Grace Sutherland played her first varsity game

Charlevoix Junior Golf marks 20 years

Registration open for youth golfers ages 8-17 years

CHARLEVOIX — The popular Charlevoix County Junior Golf program this year celebrates its 20th summer and to honor the occasion, long-time director and originator Dean Davenport announced two new program features. He also cautioned that it may be challenging to keep the program at the high level it has maintained through the years.

"We have seen our older players 14-17 drop out as they either have day jobs or they feel they know all the fundamentals we stress and teach. We hope to attract them back with our Red Rayder evening league we've set up for the Belvedere Course. The emphasis is on competition with match play. Players will be scheduled with a weekly match, they and their opponent agree on the day and time to play and after the 9-hole match, points are awarded the winner," Davenport said.

"It will be a great opportunity for the older juniors that have an interest to play on their high school team or already do. Handicaps will be established and will make for fair competition. The intent is to provide the opportunity for both boys and girls with two flights based on age/handicap scores," Davenport added.

More information will be made available later.

The second new feature is to follow the lead provided by the recent Masters' Tournament which televised junior golfers competing in the first Drive, Chip and Putt national finals. More than 15,000 competed for the chance to go to Augusta National.

"Our version called golf challenge is scheduled for the evening of Tuesday, July 8, as part of parent night. The Municipal Course has agreed to let us set up a long drive, pitch and putt for accuracy. Age brackets will allow for fun competition," Davenport said.

He added that hopes are that some of the juniors will be motivated to enter the State of Michigan qualifiers set for Katke Golf Course in Big Rapids on Saturday, July 12, and at Treetops in Gaylord Thursday, July 15.

Information and registration is available at www.drivechipandputt.com online.

"Our challenge this summer is we don't have the Belvedere Club Course available for our lessons. We have always used their wonderful facilities early in our program, but the State Armature Tournament and a nationally recognized Hickory Club tourney are scheduled in the time period we normally would use," Davenport said.

He reassured the juniors that the Charlevoix Golf and Country Club and Municipal Course directors stepped up and made their courses available on dates when the players would have been at Belvedere.

Program registration will be on Saturday, June 7, according to age bracket. Those 12-17 years old will report at 10:30 a.m., while those 8-11 years old will report at 11:30 a.m. Putters will be needed.

More details will be coming regarding registration and orientation.

Davenport commented about the two decades of this program.

"I was approached by a local committee 19 years ago to see if I would organize a junior golf program for Charlevoix. I had just retired as Director of Athletics at Ferris State and I told them, sure I would start the program and after a couple of years find someone to take it over," he said. "Obviously because this is my 20th year, my plans changed. Simply put, I realized golf is the best opportunity to expose youth to a value system that can lead them to successful lives.

"Being an educator, by stressing honesty (following golf rules and keeping accurate scores), learning responsibilities (raking bunkers, being on time, having proper attire and equipment), having self-control (poor shots can't bring on a display), having confidence (knowing your skills) and all the other traits (cooperation, obedience, friendship, alertness, skill and competitiveness) that are desired for success, it's been so rewarding to see this happen to our young people that stayed in the program, I couldn't walk away from the challenge to see that Charlevoix's youth had this opportunity to grow, learn and develop into successful young people," Davenport said.

He added it's been a joy to see how the community embraced the program, especially as the mentor staff and those at the Charlevoix Golf and Country Club, Antrim Dells, The Belvedere and the Municipal Course all turn their facilities over for use by the junior players at no cost. Davenport said an average of about 100 youngsters each summer participate in the program, which is recognized by the National Association for Junior Golf as one of the 13 best in the nation.

"We hope to continue the legacy we've established. We encourage area youngsters to join our program. It's a blast," Davenport said.

Rayders cruise to sweep over Pellston in non-league game

STEVE FOLEY
NEWS-REVIEW

EAST JORDAN — The Charlevoix High School varsity baseball team cruised to a pair of non-league wins over Pellston Saturday, winning 15-0 and 16-1.

The games were played at East Jordan High School because of unplayable conditions at Charlevoix's field.

With the sweep, the Rayders improve to 6-2 on the young season.

"I really want to thank Phyllis Olszewski and Tom Reid, East Jordan's athletic director and coach, for letting us use their field to play since ours still isn't playable," Charlevoix coach Allen Telgenhof said. "It was really great of them to host us."

Charlevoix had their first nine batters all reach base without an out being recorded in the opening game before batting for a second time in the inning Will Telgenhof and Nate Moon hit back-to-back homers to put the Rayders in front 11-0.

Telgenhof's homer was a two-run shot, while Moon's was a solo home run. Also for Charlevoix, which collected 11 hits in the mercy rule shortened game, Austin Putman had two hits including a double, while Hunter Cox had two hits and Luke Klinger doubled.

Putman was the winning pitcher as he struck out four, walked two and allowed one hit over three innings.

In the second game, Moon homered in the first inning and finished with three RBI, while Shane Sutherland tripled and Telgenhof and Putman both doubled. Putman drove in three runs, while Cox added two hits and drove in two runs.

Logan Eckhardt was the winning pitcher as he struck out four, walked one and allowed one run on four hits over four innings.

"After a tough split with Grayling on Thursday, everything went our way," Telgenhof said. "Pellston has a real young team and our guys took advantage of their mistakes and hit the ball well. Our pitchers threw the ball well and it was especially nice to see Logan (Eckhardt) do so well in his first game on the mound this year."

JV BASEBALL

Charlevoix 10-0, East Jordan 0-4

The Charlevoix High School JV baseball team swept East Jordan Monday as Mason Louiselle and Christian Matye each pitched one-hitters to pace the Rayders.

In game one, Louiselle allowed just one hit and struck out one in earning the pitching win, while Louiselle and Jordan Adkins each added a hit, RBI, scored two runs and stole a base. Camden Alden added two runs and Jake Seger pitched an inning of scoreless relief.

In the second game, Matye picked up the pitching win as he struck out six. Matye also singled along with Seger, Adkins, Jake Mitchell, Brad Klinger and Noah Dvoracek. Klinger also struck out two in an inning of relief pitching.

Charlevoix 15, Pellston 1 Jordan Adkins earned the pitching win and had two hits including a triple as the Rayders rolled past Pellston Saturday in their season opener.

Adkins struck out two and had two double plays turned behind him defensively. Offensively, Adkins had a triple, scored two runs, drove in two runs and stole two bases.

Also for the Rayders, Mason Louiselle had three hits with four RBI, while Alex Kleiber, Jake Seger, Justin Adkins and Forrest Noiro had two hits apiece.

The Rayders led 5-0 after the first half as Davis scored three goals while also scoring was Doskoch and Engstrom. In the second half, Davis added her fourth goal, while Scholten also scored before Way found the back of the net to end the game at the 28 minute, 9 second mark in the second half.

Assists were credited to Davis, junior forward Grace Whitley along with Engstrom and Kylee Scholten.

Junior goalkeeper Gloria Green collected the shutout in goal as she finished with two saves.

For East Jordan, senior goalkeeper Paige Poindexter faced 46 shots and played fantastic. East Jordan coach Kwin Morris said.

"Our girls never quit right up until the end," Morris said.

Charlevoix plays host to Harbor Springs for a Lake Michigan Conference contest at 5 p.m. Thursday, while East Jordan goes to Traverse City Thursday to face the Liberty.

Charlevoix families impacted by suicide deaths 14 years apart

SHERI MCWHITER-O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — Maureen LaBlance smiles when she speaks about her son who died early this year.

"He had a million-dollar smile," she said, clasping her hands together while speaking. "He was a good person. He was a wonderful son."

Timothy Bryan LaBlance, 48, of Charlevoix, committed suicide in January, all alone at a favorite local park. Most people who knew him couldn't fathom why somebody with such a winning personality and positive impact on the community would do such a thing. His choice left behind not only his loving wife, children and extended family, but also an entire community as devoted to him as he was to it.

"He had a big impact on the community. He cared about Charlevoix — no, he loved Charlevoix," Maureen LaBlance said.

In fact, such comforting support from those within the community shown to the LaBlance family in the days, weeks and months since Tim's death is overwhelming, she said, and also enormously appreciated and welcomed by those closest to him. But that doesn't mean everyone is ready to talk about the impact they personally feel, Maureen LaBlance said.

"They miss him so much," she said. And one need not scroll far down on Tim's online funeral guestbook to learn how many people carry fond memories of him, nor to sense the immense feelings of shock, loss and grief so many experienced with his death. His funeral quickly became a standing-room-only event at Round Lake Education Center — the former Charlevoix Middle School building.

Haggard

"They ran out of flowers in the town," Maureen LaBlance said. "The town showed its support at that service."

But the feelings of loss and confusion didn't end with that well-attended funeral service.

Loss of a community mainstay
Tim LaBlance proved again and again he was a vital part of Charlevoix's community at large.

First, he worked as a vice president at Charlevoix State Bank, where he helped grow the sole locally based bank in town. He specifically worked with consumer and commercial lending — helping those within the community grow the community, said Mike Hinkle, his longtime colleague at the bank.

"He was at the bank since it started, from the beginning," Hinkle said, adding that in the weeks immediately after Tim's death, he kept expecting to see him walk through the bank lobby or walk around a corner at the office.

"We're all adapting and working to move on," Hinkle said back in January. "This is really going to sink in after a month, or two."

And Tim's impact on the community didn't end in the business world. He and his family attended Ellsworth Wesleyan Church and he belonged to both the Charlevoix Elks Club and Antrim Dells Golf league. Then there are all the local children impacted by his youth coaching and work as one of the founders of Pop Warner football in Charlevoix.

"He did a lot. He coached in Little League. He was at a lot of open gyms working with individual kids. Then

Regional suicide deaths by the numbers

No discernable pattern; suicide a personal choice, not a trend

SHERI MCWHITER-O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

Nearly 200 suicide deaths happened within Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties during the last decade. Some of those deaths proved more violent than others, and far fewer women completed suicide attempts than men.

Charlevoix County experienced the least number of suicide deaths at 46 between 2003 and 2013, while Emmet County recorded the most at 76 during the same 10-year time frame. Finally, Otsego County officials identified 71 suicide deaths, records showed. And among all 193 suicide deaths across the three-county region, just 20 were women.

There is quite an age span in suicide victims across this region during the last decade, from teens just 14 years old to those in their elder years at 89.

"The young unfortunately are getting into drugs much more easily than ever before. Albeit illegal, drugs are much more available in our small communities and anyone who thinks otherwise is escaping reality," said Teri Daunter, a private-practice psychologist based in Petoskey. "Furthermore, they cannot see a future for themselves even with a college education. This is most unfortunate as they cannot set long-term goals for themselves. They feel empty, directionless, and helpless and hopeless."

Daunter treats youth struggling with depression and anxiety, among other issues, but also works with adults who may be impacted by mental health issues such as depression and suicidal tendencies.

"The older people are feeling the long-term effects of the slumping economy. Many have lost what they have had through the last decade and the recovery seems impossible for them," she said. "So many talk about how difficult it is to even put gasoline in their cars to get them to work when they are making the wages of unskilled labor at minimum wage. The discouragement is high and the hopelessness higher."

But regardless of all the numbers and statistics, what remains a fact is each of those suicide deaths made an impact on hosts of people and the community as a whole — tremendously powerful and long-lasting impacts.

Those left behind

Pain felt by those left behind when a loved one chooses to end his or her own life is not really comparable to other types of grief.

For many, they become fixated on the choice the deceased loved one made and the rationale behind it. Feelings of agony, abandonment and overwhelming sorrow can plague the survivors of suicide victims for years, or even decades.

"It doesn't ever go away," said Michael Lucido, a psychologist with and Charlevoix center supervisor for nonprofit North Country Community Mental Health, which serves this three-county area, along with Antrim, Cheboygan and Kalkaska counties.

Lucido works with mental health patients of all sorts and also serves as the chairman of the Suicide Prevention Workgroup for Char-Em Human Services Coordinating Body, a state-endorsed community collaborative body. Research shows there are all sorts of reasons why people make the choice to end their own life, and about 60 percent of those who do went through some sort of mental health history, he said.

Depression and anxiety are the predominant mental health issues that in extreme circumstances can lead to suicidal thoughts in some

Youth Day in sight at local facility

CHARLEVOIX — Youth Day at the Charlevoix Rod & Gun Club is the organization's biggest event of the year.

This will be the third year of the youth-focused event, and with decent weather, organizers expect between 300 and 400 young people on the grounds, plus at least one adult for each young person. The event lures folks from all over Northern Michigan. The youths will have an opportunity to:

— Shoot .22 target rifles on the range with one-on-one coaching from certified range officers.

— Try compound bows at the archery range, at regular and 3-D targets, with instruction available.

— Fish for trophy-sized brook trout in the pond; bring your own tackle or use rods provided by the club, while bait, cleaning and bags with ice for the trip home also will be provided.

Throughout the day, there will be presentations about turkey hunting and calling, a crossbow demonstration, a fly-casting demonstration and a presentation by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources in which participants will hear about antler point restrictions and the impact of the recent tough winter on game animals. These presentations are designed to appeal to adults, as well as the young people.

The event will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, May 3, rain or shine. Youth are to be accompanied by a parent/guardian during the event. A light lunch will be provided.

All attendees are asked to preregister by email at CRGCI946@gmail.com or call the club at (231) 547-2785, where a message can

Author pens book of Irish tales

A Northern Michigan author recently published a book of collected stories about an Irish clan that details the history of Ireland.

This is the cover to the new book "ClanDonnell: A Storied History of Ireland," by author David K. McDonnell, of Northern Michigan.

"My new book, 'ClanDonnell: A Storied History of Ireland' has received two recent national book awards, numerous favorable book reviews, and tremendous reception from readers," said author David McDonnell. "The book is a collection of stories of an Irish clan which tell the history of Ireland in an entertaining, easy-to-read fashion."

The book's tone is more like an oral history than that of a formal history text. The human stories, numerous illustrations and humor throughout bring the history of Ireland to life for the non-historian reader.

The two awards the book earned include first place in the Reader Views' 2014 Reviewer's Choice Literary Awards, as well as first place in the 2014 Beverly Hills Book Awards. The book is independently published by Michigan-based Burrowing Owl Press with help from The Jenkins Group, of Traverse City.

"I'm ecstatic, and it's not simply because of the literary awards," McDonnell said.

"The book has received several very positive reviews. The feedback from readers — in the United States, Canada, Ireland and the United Kingdom — is even more positive."

"All of this tells me that this type of book was long overdue and that I'm grateful that I was able to write it," he said.

McDonnell often appears at Irish and Celtic festivals, bookstores, libraries, Irish pubs and other retailers to present entertaining and informative stories of Ireland with a focus on audience interaction. He maintains a vast repertoire of stories and an encyclopedic memory for details, plus is creative and flexible in his approach.

McDonnell is a Detroit native who now lives along Grand Traverse Bay near Traverse City, from where he now spends his retirement writing. He earned his bachelor's and doctoral degrees from the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, then practiced law in Detroit and its suburbs for more than three decades.

McDonnell's new paperback book, "ClanDonnell: A Storied History of Ireland," is available for $34.95 at bookstores, or from the publisher at www.clanndonell.net online.

New digital scoreboard planned for Rayders' field

Charlevoix Gridiron Club will buy, maintain new equipment

CHARLEVOIX — The Rayder Gridiron Club recently made a commitment to purchase a new scoreboard and video and sound system for use by the Charlevoix football and track and field programs. The investment is substantial, totaling nearly $130,000 for the board, video and sound system, plus installation.

The Rayder Gridiron Club will raise money to offset the cost of the purchase and maintenance of the new equipment by selling scoreboard advertisements, organizing fund-raising events and seeking financial donations. The cost of the board and sound system, including maintenance, will be the complete responsibility of the Rayder Gridiron Club and will not require any financial support from the schools.

"This is all privately funded and will continue to be privately funded and maintained," said Norman Carlson Jr., Charlevoix's mayor and a member of the Rayder Gridiron Club.

Because the scoreboard will require audio visual training to operate, Charlevoix Schools leaders agreed to build off of their already existing speech and broadcasting classes to develop an AVA club or program. This will involve students assisting in the development of broadcasting materials, as well as the operation of the board.

The booster-style organization is excited about the opportunity for the students to learn valuable technical broadcasting skills. Gilbert Noirot, Rayder Gridiron Club member, stated,

"This project will benefit all of our student body — not just those who play sports. It has the potential of promoting involvement, enthusiasm and a feeling of pride in our schools and community," said Noirot. "Bottom line — this is a great investment because we are investing in all of our kids with this project. What better investment could we make?"

The investment in new equipment also will make hosting community events at the track and field facility more attractive and will help promote the pride that the community maintains in Charlevoix Public Schools.

Board of education members unanimously agreed to allow the group to pursue the new scoreboard at its April 21 meeting at Round Lake Education Center, the former middle school building.

Carlson told the school board members that the group already raised about 25 percent of funds needed to buy the new scoreboard and associated equipment and accessories.

Four challengers in Charlevoix County commissioners races

CHAM CURRIER
PETOSKEY NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — All but two of the six members on Charlevoix County's Board of Commissioners will face challengers in this year's elections.

Of those races, just one Democratic candidate filed to run while the other three commissioners face Republican primary opponents in August.

The lone Democrat is Tim LaCroix of Wilson Township, who hopes to unseat Ron Reinhardt, the Republican incumbent, in District 3.

"I'm very much fiscally conservative and I'm very much liberal when it comes to the ideas of our environment and maintaining it," LaCroix said. "Overall, I'm a very moderate Democrat and I'd love to see more moderate Republicans run."

Largely because of his political party affiliation, LaCroix recognizes he is a significant underdog to win a seat on the board, which is comprised entirely of Republicans.

Some may recognize LaCroix's name as he and longtime partner Gene Barfield became the first same-sex couple married last year by the Little Traverse Bands of Odawa Indians, which in March 2013 revised its policy to recognize such marriages.

Now that he launched a political campaign, LaCroix said he is readying himself for any renewed scrutiny of his personal life.

"I shouldn't (be an issue) and I'm hoping that it doesn't become one," LaCroix said. "I'm running on protecting our community, protecting our water. Those are the issues affecting people."

Reinhardt

If he's going to win a seat on the board, he'll have to defeat Reinhardt, a family friend and six-term incumbent commissioner.

Reinhardt said he still has unfinished business he'd like to accomplish as a commissioner in the form of a few projects not yet complete. Specifically, Reinhardt said he wants to see East-Deer Lake and Korthase roads resurfaced in the coming years

Technicality change required for ballot initiative

CHARLEVOIX — City leaders gathered in a special session last week to make a technical change in the paperwork needed to put a potential city charter change before Charlevoix voters that would make the clerk's position appointive rather than elected.

Charlevoix City Council members met on Thursday afternoon, April 24, and unanimously approved the technical language change in the paperwork to send the issue to the polls. Officially, the council voted to clarify that the first appointed clerk would be named by the council. "For the term of the current city clerk's term or upon a vacancy in that office, whichever occurs first," documents show.

Roh Straebel, city manager, said the wording proved a technicality the outgoing city attorney discovered in conversations with officials at the Michigan Attorney General's office. The minor language change did not change the overall request going before voters, he said.

City voters will decide the question on the Aug. 5 election.

Mayor Norman Carlson Jr. said he worries about low voter turnout at primary elections. But the Michigan Attorney General ordered the issue to be on that particular ballot, officials said.

"We don't really have a choice, though, do we?" said Peggy Brennan, Ward 2 councilwoman.

"We just have to try to sell it," said Lyle Gennett, Ward 1 councilman.

Councilman Leon Perron, of Ward 2, asked when the question could be brought back before voters, should it be held over this summer. Straebel answered that it likely couldn't be evaluated and turned around again until an election in 2015.

Carlson also said he hopes all the details for the ballot language are wrapped up prior to the new city attorney

Royster convicted of sex crimes at local resort

CHARLEVOIX — Following a four-day trial, a Charlevoix County jury last week convicted Jesse Louis Royster, 26, of Oxford, of four counts of third degree criminal sexual conduct.

According to a press release from Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney Allen Telgenhof, the charges are related to a sexual assault that occurred on Dec. 1, 2012, at a condominium at Boyne Mountain in Boyne Falls. Royster was in Northern Michigan for a bachelor party with eight other men, Telgenhof said.

Third degree criminal sexual conduct is a felony which carries a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison.

The crimes involved sexual penetration of an adult victim accomplished by force or coercion.

The jury deliberated for just over three hours before returning its unanimous verdicts, Telgenhof said.

Angela Povilaitis, of the Michigan Department of Attorney General, and Telgenhof tried the case for the prosecution.

"We are very fortunate to have a resource like Ms. Povilaitis available to Charlevoix County," Telgenhof said in the release. "She tries these types of cases all over the state and her position is funded by a federal grant authorized by the Violence Against Women Act."

He added, "Credit for this successful prosecution goes to Ms. Povilaitis and Lt. Mike Wheat and the Charlevoix County Sheriff's department who conducted the investigation in this matter. I also want to thank the jury for their time, attention and consideration in this very difficult and sensitive case."

Royster will be sentenced on May 23.

Life happens

We must never take life for granted. As humans we have a tendency to create days that become routine. We get ready for each day busily thinking of where we need to be and wondering how we'll accomplish the agenda that you or someone else had set out for you. I have broached this subject before but since life continues to happen while we are planning something else, it's always good to have a reminder or tip to help us through our day. Whatever chapter of life you're presently living in, remember to ask others for help when needed and take one day at a time.

It never does anyone any good to worry because most of what we are fretting about doesn't happen. Every one of us has our own concerns over events we have no control over. Each of us is given the opportunity to face each day with an attitude of our choosing. When life hands you difficulties and it seems overwhelming it's important to remember some sage advice: will what is happening today affect me two years from now, will it change my life, and will it affect my loved ones? Then stop and take a breath and break each part of the problem into smaller parts dealing with one situation at a time. Often times one problem can domino into another so keeping this in mind if you can solve one problem it becomes easier to work on the rest.

If you are dealing with health issues or someone you love is seriously ill or may have passed away it is very true that no one person knows exactly how you feel but people who are close to you will listen and talk and sharing your concern does create a feeling of well-being.

My reason for delving into a topic that is a far cry from cheerful was brought on by the bombardment of media in our lives that creates anxiety for individuals who are already feeling helpless.

A LOOK AT LIFE

Gayle Gennett

From a plane carrying precious lives disappearing into the ocean depths leaving unanswered questions and family and friends fraught with anger and overwhelming grief to a ferry accident so horrific it's almost too much to bear. Recently tornadoes twisting so fiercely that it's amazing some individuals were able to survive.

There will always be disastrous events, life tells us so. Our great-grandparents experienced gut wrenching losses, as well as our grandparents. All of us have been touched or have experienced some type of loss. Unfortunately this winter has been one of the hardest. It may have brought on frozen pipes or damaged roofs, flooded basements, or just feeling captive as you may have not ventured outside as much you had past winters. Sometimes it was too frigid to enjoy the winter wonderland — because of the lack of sun and bombardment of snow, plus the media reports only compounds how we are feeling.

What is important to remember is that life does go on. We do get through turmoil and loss and long winters. We all deal with stressors in our own way that provides us comfort.

Hope and faith are also the everlasting factors to keep us going forward. We need to live each day knowing that situations do change and improve but just not on our time table, never forgetting to let others know we care about them and forgiving those we disdain. Don't let someone else or any situation bring you down as it does affect your mental and physical health. You are in charge of how you feel and don't let anyone or anything make you feel bad. So if your life feels more like a country song realize that you can change the tune.

LETTER to the editor

Editor:

I think Charlevoix would be a lot better if there was a dog park. Then dogs and people could interact with others. You could have a playground with equipment for dogs and people. Lots of kids would agree that they love their pets and they love playing, so this would be a perfect combination. You could come with your dog(s) and could have a little play date with your friends and their pet(s). It would be cool to have a fence around the park so that you could let your dog(s) off the leash. First of all, this would help kids, adults and pets get social. Second, this would make Charlevoix the beautiful a more attracting place, and last of all, people and pets would get exercise. Charlevoix would be a better place with a dog park.

First of all, this would help kids, adults and pets get social. My family and pets all live in the country, and we don't get to play and hang out with people as much, so with a dog park it would be fun for all of us, and we could play and have fun with our friends and family. If you were already downtown and you want to play, you could just walk over and have fun. For example, if you are waiting for a band to play or you are waiting for the boat show or fireworks you could be playing with your dog. Maybe if you are going to your friend's house and you are meeting up downtown, you could meet up at the dog park. People could all pitch in and pay for toys at the park. There could be bones, tug-of-war toys, tunnels, hula hoops, doggy soccer balls, etc.

It would be a fun experience to go to the park and keep a toy there, and know that other dogs will have fun and enjoy that toy also. With a dog park you would make memories while being social. Secondly, this idea would make Charlevoix have more visitors and more people staying. Other places have thought about making a dog park, and that is a great idea. Don't you love when your pet(s) are happy and having their tongue sticking out? It's adorable! Some people ask, "Why can't we see that every day?" We can't see that every day because we don't have a dog park. If we have dogs, then wouldn't we need a dog show? We could let people put their own chairs around the park and at special times owners and dogs could do tricks for everyone in the audience. You could win a small prize and this would help kids have fun and use their imagination. This would really attract visitors.

Most importantly, people and pets would get exercise. When kids are playing at the dog park they will be having a blast while getting exercise. This would happen because in the dog park there would not only be dog toys, there could also be some equipment for the kids like slides, swings, hula hoops, softballs and baseballs, bars to hang on, maybe slides, etc. Every kid at the park will always be having fun and getting the right exercise they need. No person will be alone or sad because even if none of their friends are there, they will have dogs and they can make new friends.

The dog park will always have smiling people and dogs. Have you ever been to a dog park? I have, and the dogs are always happy and always getting exercise. This park doesn't have to be huge, it can be a small park and it will still be exciting. I think it would be awesome to have a dog park. We should also get a mini pool for the dogs. Think, it's a hot sunny day and you are wearing your bathing suit you can go in the mini pool with your dog. It will feel so refreshing, then right after you can play tag with your dog and run around and just have fun. This would help your metabolism and help you stay fit. We should have a dog park, why not?

In conclusion, having a dog park would help so many kids and pets have fun. Everyone can stay fit and entertained. There will be so many new people coming to have fun in Charlevoix and can have a little break at the dog park. Everyone would be social and this would make Charlevoix a lot happier place. This project won't take much money, but what it will take is helpful people, and I know Charlevoix has many helping, kind and loyal people. So help us make a dog park in Charlevoix.

Bridging our past with our future

LOOKING BACK...

In 1892, the Ferry Seed Company of Rochester, Mich., constructed a large building on the Lake Charlevoix shore just south of the Belvedere Resort to process seed stock from northwest Michigan's rich farmlands. Ferry pulled up stakes in the 1920s, and the building housed various businesses until the Foster Boat Company occupied it in 1940. Foster specialized in small pleasure craft until the advent of World War II saw production devoted to various military vessels. In late 1944 and early 1945, the U.S. War Department contracted with Foster to custom-build more than 600 small outboard landing vessels called "Storm" boats, specifically for the upcoming push to Berlin across the rivers of central Europe. They could carry 12-18 Allied troops plus equipment. Only one other U.S. boat builder made them — the Century company in Manistee. Easily stackable, the vessels were flown overseas from Willow Run Airport near Ypsilanti. After the push began, local and resort servicemen in the European theater wrote home about either seeing or being ferried in a boat with a Charlevoix nameplate. One Foster Storm boat even made it as far as the Admiralty Islands north of New Guinea in the far Pacific.

The Charlevoix Historical Society's fully illustrated exhibit titled "Journeying to Charlevoix" will be at the Depot building, at Depot Beach, through Saturday, May 3. The event is offered in conjunction with the Smithsonian Institution exhibit titled "Journey Stories," which exhibited at Charlevoix Public Library. Hours of the Depot exhibit are 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturdays, or by special appointment. Call (231) 547-0373 for more information about the society's exhibit.

SAFE in Northern Michigan program launches

The 2014 high school prom and graduation season is quickly approaching. Although surveys show that the majority of teens in Charlevoix and Emmet counties do not drink, prom and graduation celebrations can provide temptations that could produce tragic results.

During this celebratory time, Emmet County Sheriff Pete Wallin and Charlevoix County Sheriff Don Schneider will again be partnering with SAFE in Northern Michigan, the area coalition working to promote community awareness of youth substance abuse and participation in prevention in Charlevoix and Emmet counties, to send this reminder to seniors and their families.

SAFE (Substance Abuse Free Environment) also provided a "toolkit" of electronic materials to schools so that they may utilize established communications channels to encourage safe celebrations for spring break, prom, graduation and summer break. The toolkit included images and language for newsletters, Power School, Facebook posts, Tweets, school websites and more.

Some of the content is meant to appeal to students — particularly the social media messages and pieces that could be printed on posters. Information on legal penalties involved when teens drink, legal issues that parents face if they allow underage drinking in their homes or provide teens with alcohol, and guidelines for hosting substance abuse free parties in their homes are targeted to parents.

This effort is made possible with the leadership of SAFE in Northern Michigan in partnership with Emmet and Charlevoix sheriff departments and the generous support of Mitchell Graphics. To view social media messages provided through the SAFE Celebrations Toolkit and Sheriff's Mailing Project, "like" SAFE in Northern Michigan on Facebook.

Lawrence (Larry) was born on April 10, 1924, in Hayes Township to Jake and Margaret (Shodtz) Speigl. He grew up on the family farm on Murray Road and attended the Murray School. Larry enlisted in the Navy in 1943 and served in both the European and Pacific Theaters. After the war, he began working for Brunswick Corporation and ended up building bowling alleys for the better part of 40 years in locations that stretched all across the United States and from Germany to Tokyo.

Larry was also a member of the Eagles, Veterans of Foreign Wars and of the American Legion. He was also a member of the Detroit Carpenter's Union. When he wasn't building bowling alleys, he constructed numerous houses for himself or for family, made improvements at the church and built (on many additions and garages to mention.

But a lifetime of hard work was balanced by an appreciation of a good time. He played ball for the Toledo Mud Hens and had a lifelong love of baseball. He definitely enjoyed happy hour with the guys. Earlier this month, family and friends gathered to toast Larry with his beverage of choice, a Miller High Life, when they helped him celebrate his 90th birthday.

Larry is survived by brothers, John (Mary Lou) Speigl of Charlevoix and Fred (Betty) Speigl of Petoskey; sisters-in-law, Ardeth Wieland of Charlevoix and Arvilla Bates of Baldwinville, N.Y.; his nieces and nephews from the Simon, Moore, Speigl, Ager, Bates and Wieland families; and his cousins, Philip (Janet) Speigl and Helga (Volker) Binder. He was preceded in death by his parents; his wife, Elinor; his brother, Leo; his sisters, Mary, Anne and Clara; his brothers-in-law, Ted, Herb, Terry, Bill and Tom; and his sister-in-law, Vonda.

Special thanks go to the team of devoted family and dedicated caregivers, whose efforts allowed Larry to live out his final years on his own terms, in his own home.

Memorial contributions may be made to Hospice of Northwest Michigan.

Charlevoix maritime history focus of historical society program

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Historical Society will present a fully illustrated program on the history of the vessels of Charlevoix at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, May 6, at the Depot at Depot Beach.

This program will emphasize the huge variety of boats that either called Charlevoix its home port or visited Round Lake harbor over the course of 16 decades. Tugs, schooners, passenger steamers and liners, palatial yachts, sailboats, cabin cruisers, racing vessels, U.S. Coast Guard boats — all contributed to Charlevoix's rich maritime history and made the town at one time one of the most important on the eastern shore of Lake Michigan. The stories about these vessels will be presented by Harsha House, Museum co-director David L. Miles.

Beer with your popcorn?

Charlevoix Cinema III applies for liquor license

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — Movie-lovers may be able to drink a beer with their popcorn at Charlevoix Cinema III, should city officials sign off on a new redevelopment liquor license request.

Documents show the business owners on April 16 applied for the license and the Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority board on Monday became the first local governmental body to review the request. DDA board member Luther Kurtz, who is a co-owner of the theater, recused himself from the vote for the obvious conflict of interest, and instead presented the company's pitch.

Ultimately, the DDA board members unanimously voted to recommend approval of the license request to the Charlevoix City Council when it meets again at 7 p.m. Monday, May 5, at city hall, 210 State St., Charlevoix.

"The Kurtzes would like to be able to serve alcohol at special events ... as well

Special events with alcohol on the menu could include showings of sporting events — Tigers, Red Wings or Lions games — or even programs such as the Academy Awards.

"We're hoping to enhance the experience in a classy way," Kurtz said.

Charlevoix-based attorney David Campbell spoke about the company's unsuccessful efforts to acquire a regular business license. Just one in Charlevoix is available, but is tied to a real estate deal for the former Giuseppe's Italian Grille building.

"This is not going to be another har in town," Campbell said.

Wi-Fi study report: 'financially and technically feasible'

DDA board first to agree to second phase

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — Downtown authorities agreed on Monday to press forward with a plan to launch free wireless Internet service specifically for the Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority district boundaries.

The DDA board discussed how the first phase of the Wi-Fi plan — the vetting period — is now completed and the three financially supporting agencies will be asked whether their leaders wish to move to the next step, which would be to seek bids for the work.

"We did find the results to be both financially and technically feasible," said Bethany Pearson, Charlevoix's community economic development director.

Consultant John Childs reported to the DDA board that the initial focus of the Wi-Fi effort would be along Bridge Street, in East Park and the marina, and possibly Lake Michigan Beach. He also said he knows there are a substantial number of vendors that intend to bid on this job, should it be approved.

Childs reported the minimum annual continuing costs for the maintenance of the system would be $3,600. However, for greater bandwidths and more consistent upload and download rates, annual maintenance costs could spike upwards of $12,000, Childs said.

"All those costs could be offset through the sale of advertising on the wireless service platform. After building up such an advertising system and exploring all paid business user options, the city could potentially generate as much as $18,000 a year, and more than cover the upkeep costs, Childs said.

John Yaroch, DDA board member, asked about the timeframe to launch this program.

"I'm all in favor of fast-tracking this," he said.

It is expected to be at least mid-July by the time contracts are awarded for the work, Pearson said, if bid requests go out in May and are due back in June.

This effort is jointly funded by the city, DDA and the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce, and all entities must agree to send out the bid requests before things begin to happen. The third phase of the project is actually awarding the bids and installing the Wi-Fi services.

Possible future uses include the streaming of movies in the park, wireless parking meters, security cameras in alleys and perhaps even selling capacity back to other service providers.

The total cost for the second stage of this project is $5,700, and would cost the city, DDA and chamber each $1,900 to cover that bill.

Pearson said there is a possibility that a city benefactor could cover the cost of this effort, as it is among a laundry list of projects on Charlevoix's to-do list.

Downtown market study OK'd by DDA

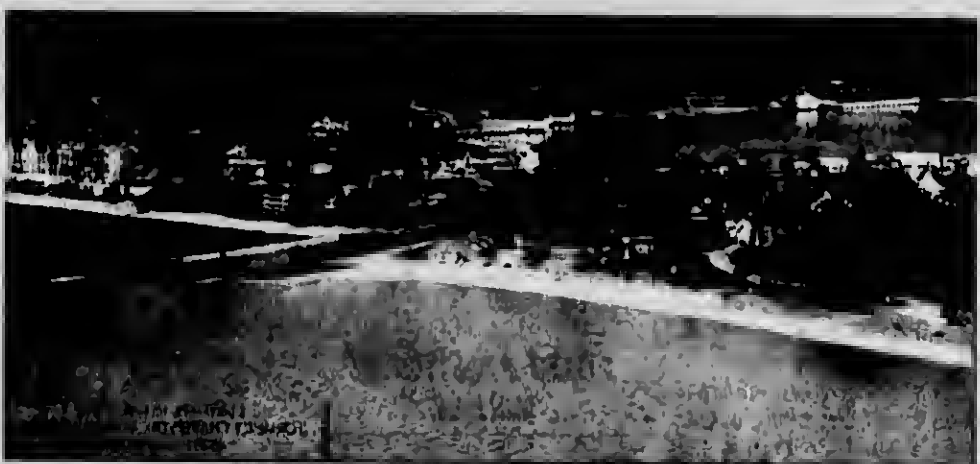

City council to consider asking for bids

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix city officials agreed to move forward with seeking bids on a downtown market study, which is promised to be paid by Amway Corporation president Doug DeVos.

The Downtown Development Authority board on Monday unanimously agreed to send out requests for bids with the specific details for such an economic study. The idea is one of a laundry list of projects city officials want to pursue, but one DeVos agreed to pay for a couple of months ago.

"We are getting ready to put it out to bid," said Beth-DeVos offered to donate the funds for economic development purposes and city officials suggested two studies be conducted. The first is a market study for

Charlevoix to guide future goals and decisions about the types and sizes of businesses the city could economically support both currently and into the future. The second is a market study for Charlevoix's Ance Industrial Park, intended to guide growth of existing businesses and attract new ones.

City planner Mike Spencer in March told city council members how DeVos offered this financial donation for these studies with "no expect-CHARLEVOIX — The ferry season to Beaver Island is finally launched after a bitterly cold winter and long-lasting ice cover occupied the well-traveled Lake Michigan route.

The first crossing happened Tuesday morning, about two weeks later than initially scheduled. The boat left a little after 9 a.m. from Beaver Island, and arrived in Charlevoix around 11:45 a.m., again departing Charlevoix a little before 1 p.m. to return to Beaver Island, said Cathy Dewey, spokeswoman for Beaver Island Boat Company.

Beaver Island Boat Company dock manager Mick Randall, of Charlevoix, prepares on foggy Wednesday morning to load a crate of Coca-Cola and other supplies into the Emerald Isle ferry, bound for Beaver Island.

"Due to ice in Lake Michigan we did have to change from our normal course but it didn't cause much of a travel delay," she said.

And it's not common for there to be a two-week or more delay to the start of the ferry season, either.

"One of our employees who worked here for more than 15 years said they don't remember this type of delay in the past," Dewey said.

On Wednesday, a semi-truck for McDonough's Market loaded into the Emerald Isle ferry carrying needed groceries and other supplies for the 500 or so island residents to re-stock their pantry shelves. Dock manager Mick Randall, of Charlevoix, used a forklift to load other supplies and freight into the belly of the boat, as well.

Officials hope the late start to the 2014 ferry schedule will be the last hiccup on the season.

"Starting April 30, we are running our regular schedule, weather permitting," Dewey said.

More details about ferry schedules, rates and services can be found at www.hibco.com online.

taking over for the retiring Jim Young — an imminent changeover. The mayor would like to be charged a second time for legal research that has already been done by the prior city attorney, he said.

Straebel said he will consult with the new city attorney about not being charged for research already on file for ongoing legal issues with the city.

Meanwhile, Traverse City lawyer Scott Howard is expected to be named the new city attorney, at the May 5 meeting of the Charlevoix City Council, following the city's request for proposals process.

Pearson said the cinema is eligible for a redevelopment liquor license under the entertainment provision in liquor control state laws, and also because of extensive renovations that included new seats. Two other downtown Charlevoix businesses also received such licenses — Scovie's Gourmet and more recently, Bridge Street Tap Room.

If granted, the cinema's redevelopment liquor license will cover the entire building, including all three theater spaces. This is an effort to broaden the clientele at the cinema, but still be aware of anticipated negative feedback from those who may not want their families — specifically children — to be exposed to alcohol at the cinema, Kurtz said.

Times when alcohol would not be served include matinee showings, G-rated films and other such inappropriate times, he said.

Mayor Norman Carlson Jr. said he fully endorses the license request and added he can't wait for his chance to have a drink when he watches his next new release. "I want to go to a movie hack to hack to hack," he joked.

And the mayor proved not to be the only one on the DDA board with a sense of humor about this possible development with the downtown cinema.

"Maybe increase the amount of salt on the popcorn," said Dan Barron, DDA board chairman.

Pearson said that should city leaders OK the redevelopment liquor license request May 5, Charlevoix will be one of just a few cities in Michigan that can boast of having a cinema with alcohol on the menu.

"Really, we are so fortunate to still have a theater located downtown," she said.

CHALLENGERS

after road projects on Beaver Island see the majority of the work this year.

"There are a few things I want to get done for the district and still think I'm capable of doing it," Reinhardt said.

Commissioner Rich Gillespie will take on challenger Nancy Ferguson of Eveline Township, who is campaigning as a Republican. Ferguson has been active in local government for several years and last ran for a county commission seat in 2012.

In District 1, Commissioner George Lasater and challenger Shirlene Tripp will face off in a rematch of the 2012 election. This time, their roles are reversed as Tripp was the incumbent and Lasater was the challenger two years ago.

In District 6, Commissioner Larry Sullivan has a primary challenge in Shirley Roloff, who like Tripp is a former board member hoping to win election back in to a seat.

Christensen

Chris Christensen in District 2 and board Chairman Joel Evans in District 4 are running unopposed.

The primary elections are Aug. 5 and any candidates without a primary challenger will advance to the November general election.

Democratic and Republican candidates had to qualify for the ballot by Tuesday afternoon, but the races aren't entirely closed. Independent candidates or those affiliated with any other political party have until mid-July to qualify for the November ballot.

tation in return," meaning the city can choose its own studies and its own consultants. The idea is to issue a request for proposals from potential consultants for the top two studies on the city's to-do list.

Then the city would tell

DeVos the grand total for the two studies, and the city would have "the money in hand before any funds were paid," Spencer said.

Spencer underscored how there will be a stipulation to ensure the city isn't on the hook for paying the study consultants if something happens to negatively impact the donation to the city. In fact, the donation amount will be determined by the city's chosen consultant proposals.

Charlevoix City Council members will consider sending out the bid packets at their next meeting, set for 7 p.m. Monday, March 5, at city hall, 210 State St., downtown Charlevoix.

people, Lucido said. Those aren't the only mental illnesses that can impact an individual's choice to end his or her life, just the most frequent.

But why talk about this now, especially as spring breaks free of winter and people in general begin to feel much better day in and day out? Well, May is declared Mental Health Month nationwide by nonprofit organization Mental Health America, which strives to raise awareness and improve education about mental health care as a means to overall good health.

Suicide deaths are an ultimate end to what may be treatable mental health conditions, but only for the deceased. The pain felt by the living carries on.

"At a time of deep sorrow, families ask the question 'why?' They find themselves responding to law enforcement, the media and are unsure what to say to their relatives or friends," said Greg Billiard, a retired clinical therapist with North Country Community Mental Health and social worker for local hospice patients.

Today he leads two survivors of suicide support groups in Boyne City and Petoskey, which are designed to assist those left behind by a loved one who died by suicide move through and cope with their often powerful grief.

"Oftentimes people will say 'I can't go into the bank now, or a grocery store now,'" Billiard said, "and that's because they fear seeing the reactions of friends or people they know."

Statistics mean little

Charlevoix County with its 30 fewer suicide deaths in the last decade than Emmet County doesn't tell officials much. The varying numbers of suicide deaths each year doesn't reveal anything, either.

"There is no pattern. There is no rhyme or reason to the numbers in a regional perspective," Lucido said, though national or even worldwide figures can identify and even contextualize trends.

"Women have more attempts, but men have more completed suicides because men tend to use more lethal means," Lucido said. "Also, men don't seem as apt to go see the doctor. There is still a stigma to mental health care."

But mental health care can be a solution in so vastly many of the cases — if appropriate treatment is sought, he said.

"It's part of our health, our overall health," Lucido said. "It can be really hard for people to come to our clinic and sit in the waiting room. But if they do, a lot of them walk away with a different perspective. That's the hope, anyway."

— Research for this story involved complete review of 2003-2013 death records maintained by the county clerks for Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties. Former News-Review reporter Brandon Hubbard contributed to the research effort.

LEFT BEHIND

there was all the basketball coaching with the travel teams," said Norman Carlson Jr., Charlevoix mayor and fellow Charlevoix youth sports supporter.

Tim served almost like a youth sports pillar for the town for waves and waves of Charlevoix children.

"He was just always there. He did a lot of giving of his time," Carlson Jr. said.

Even public officials made note of the community's loss, including the confusion felt by those left behind.

"We want to pray first for the LaBlance family, that your peace passes into understanding would fill their minds and hearts. We pray for them, Lord, as they try to understand some of the things in life only you can answer," said Joel Evans, chairman of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners during a prayer at a public meeting not long after Tim's unexpected death.

Family friends and supporters arranged for contributions to be made to the LaBlance Family Memorial Fund at Charlevoix State Bank, 111 State St., Charlevoix, MI 49720.

Longtime love of the lost

John Haggard, of Charlevoix, is rather well-known around town. It's not uncommon to hear him express opinions during public meetings, or come across him out and about around Charlevoix.

What some may not know, though, is how he knows exactly what Maureen LaBlance is going through. He can empathize with her more than most because his 22-year-old son, Ronald William Haggard, also committed suicide, 14 years ago.

"The family was devastated, as were all the friends and neighbors," John Haggard said. "The whole town came to our aid, as did our family of mine and my loving wife."

That was a great relief, he said, but the hurt remains all these years later. In fact, John Haggard places a memorial ad in local newspapers each year around the time his son died. The message changes each year, sometimes by a little and other times a lot. The point is, John Haggard is well-versed in grieving the loss of a child to suicide.

"Since his death I have always wondered what I should have done that I did not do," he said. "This has happened to others and I have always offered to talk with them whenever they wanted."

Furthermore, Haggard said he'd even speak with those contemplating a suicide attempt to convey the magnitude of painful heartache and confusion their loved ones would experience.

"I would be willing to talk to anyone who may be thinking that what our son did is the best way to solve their problems and talk with them about what they will be leaving behind," John Haggard said.

The Haggard family established in Ron's honor a memorial fund with the Charlevoix County Community Foundation to help with the Charlevoix wrestling team, of which Ron was once a member at state finals, and the Michigan Dyslexia Institute in Harbor Springs, where Ron received help for that learning disability.

Tim

BY RICH GILLESPIE

Tim, you left, with very few words,
You left us so sad, what in the world?
A bright loved man in Charlevoix town,
It won't be the same without you around!
For 48 years you were part of the scene,
Starred on our teams, you were something to see!
Whether Pop Warner, golf, basketball too,
You made things happen, you were always the glue.
Your family, so loved in this little town,
Is sad and hurt, wearing a frown.
We are trying to reconcile, begin again,
It won't be the same for you were the man!
We loved you so much, how could we know,
That you'd leave this way, in the wind and snow.
If only we could have talked about your chagrin,
Perhaps we could have brought that smile back again.

Your family is sad, they miss you so much,
All the LaBlances and so many you touched!
Grandfather George and Tom your dad,
Would feel so hurt, so incredibly sad.
Did you know that George, a wonderful man,
Like you was loved by all in this town?
On the day of his funeral
The community closed down!
One day that honor was sure to be yours,
It happened too soon, it's obvious of course.
If only we could reverse the hands of time,
Surely we would and all would be fine.
We cannot do this, so plain to see,
The human experience can be difficult to be.
You've left us now with memories galore,
Someday we will see you on the far distant shore.

Rayders roll past Grayling, 6-0, as Scholten ties team record

STEVE FOLEY
NEWS-REVIEW

GRAYLING — Sophomore midfielder Kylee Scholten tied a Charlevoix High School girls' varsity soccer team record finishing with four assists as the Rayders rolled past Grayling, 6-0, Monday in a Lake Michigan Conference contest.

With the win, the Rayders improve to 7-3 overall, 6-1 league.

Leah Davis had three goals, while Scholten set up goals via corner kicks from Julia Doskoch, Elizabeth Way and Kelsey Engstrom to pace the Rayders offensively.

"Our offense did a great job tonight using the entire field," Charlevoix coach Pete Scholten said. "This was one of our best finishing performances. The girls had a great first half and were able to string together many nice combinations and complete our corner opportunities."

Junior forward Grace Whitley would then string a pass to Davis with just 30 seconds left as the Rayders led at halftime, 6-0.

Charlevoix capped the scoring late in the second half at 7:22 on a pass from Scholten to Davis.

Sophomore goalkeeper Gloria Greene had three saves to secure the shutout in goal.

"Grayling is a quality team," Pete Scholten said. "They are aggressive and fast to the ball. I'm pleased we were able to execute well against them."

Rayders roll to non-league sweep over T.C. Christian

STEVE FOLEY
NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — The Rayders scored 11 runs in the opening inning in game one and kept the offense rolling in the nightcap en route to earning a non-league sweep over Traverse City Christian Monday, winning 19-5 and 14-6.

With the sweep, the Rayders move to 10-4 overall.

"After getting swept on Saturday, it was nice to get two wins going into a tough week in the league," Charlevoix coach Allen Telgenhof said. "I was very happy with the way we ran the bases. We had a ton of steals and caught them not paying attention quite a few times."

In the opening game, Logan Eckhardt had two hits including a double and drove in three runs, while Luke Klinger added two hits with a double and two RBI. Hunter Cox and Spencer Stewart each had a hit and drove in a run, while Nate Moon singled and drove in three runs.

Also for the Rayders, J.J. Bottomley, Andrew Michaud, Devin Largent and Austin Putman had a hit apiece. Bottomley was the winning pitcher as he struck out six, walked 10 and allowed five runs on four hits over five innings.

In game two, Putman had two hits including a home run, double and drove in two runs, while Largent had two hits and two RBI and Moon doubled. Also, Bottomley, Michaud and Cox had a hit apiece.

Eckhardt was the winning pitcher as he struck out two, walked three and allowed five runs on three hits over four innings, while Moon pitched an inning in relief and struck out three and allowed a run on two hits.

"We had a couple guys leave due to ankle injuries in Luke Klinger and J.J. Bottomley, but our bench really played well with Spencer Stewart getting a two-run single, Devin Largent continuing to stay hot and Andrew Michaud hitting well in the clutch."

On Saturday, the Rayders dropped a pair of non-league games to Gladstone, 8-4 and 9-6, in a doubleheader played at the Charlevoix Township junior league field.

HARBOR SPRINGS — The goal was to get better against tough competition.

Playing against Class A programs Utica Eisenhower and Flint Powers in the annual Harbor Springs Morel Cup soccer tournament on Saturday, the Charlevoix and Harbor Springs girls' soccer teams certainly did just that.

The four team tournament would be won by Flint Powers, in a 2-1 championship game against Utica Eisenhower.

The Rayders, now 6-3 overall, went 1-2 in the tournament, with 3-0 losses to both Utica and Flint, while pulling in a 2-0 victory over Harbor Springs, their second win over the Rams in a three day span.

"It's a great experience for us to play talented teams like these," Charlevoix coach Pete Scholten said. "We learn a lot from these games."

CHARLEVOIX — Gabby Gray collected five hits and Yogi Hang picked up a pitching win for the Rayders during a non-league doubleheader sweep over Traverse City Christian Monday.

The Rayders won the opening game, 14-0, then took the nightcap, 14-13. With the sweep, Charlevoix improves to 4-4 overall.

"We played much better tonight," Charlevoix coach Tom Meilke said. "Despite the wind, we were able to make plays and get our bats going."

In the opener, Hang threw six innings, allowed no runs on one hit, striking out six, and walking one.

Jacy Herriman collected two hits, both doubles, Skyler Herriman and Gabby Gray added two hits each while Hang had one hit.

In the nightcap, Jacy Herriman started and picked up the win throwing three innings, allowing 11 runs, and striking out two. Hang pitched the final three innings, allowing two runs and striking out four.

Gray led the Rayders with three hits, two doubles, Hang, Kelsey Pischner, Jennifer Archey and Nicole Peterson each had two hits, while Jacy Herriman and Hailey Berry each added one hit.

"Lindsay Towsley was the only player on base four times in the second game for us," Meilke said. "She was walked three times and hit once."

Rayders find success at Lake Michigan Conference Jamboree

DREW KOCHANNY
NEWS-REVIEW

EAST JORDAN — When the Lake Michigan Conference Jamboree track and field meet comes every year, it always ends up as a winning situation for everyone involved.

While there's no official team scoring for Lake Michigan teams at the meet, the individual times and events are as competitive as any other meet.

On Monday in East Jordan, the host Red Devils welcomed the Boyne City, Charlevoix, Harbor Springs, Kalkaska, Grayling, Traverse City St. Francis and Elk Rapids boys' and girls' track and field teams to Boswell Stadium for the annual Jamboree.

Without official scoring, many teams place runners out of their usual events, often finding different combinations to work with for future meets.

"That's what's great about this meet and our league quads, is you can try things," Boyne City coach Andy Place said. "That's what I was trying to do with some of the kids."

Place was able to try different combinations for a couple of relay teams; resulting in a win in the 3200 meter relay, as the team of Kory Skop, Ethan Book, Trevor Day and Josh Lange finished with a time of 9 minutes, 13.54 seconds.

The Boyne City team of Logan Sulak, Kevin Lange, Malik Smith and Corey Redman crossed the finish line first in the 800m relay as well, but was later disqualified because of an early baton exchange.

The technicality resulted in an East Jordan win in the 800 relay, but either way, Place was pleased with his results.

"We tried some different combinations, so I think we had a couple of the relays looking good," added Place. "I think we found a couple of new combinations today too, which is nice."

The Charlevoix team of Ben Boss, Jackson Buday, Tristan Rudolph and Nick Plude won the 1600 meter relay in 3:37.27, while Elk Rapids took first overall in the 400 meter relay.

In the 110 meter hurdles, Charlevoix's Parker Skeel won the event in 17.74 seconds.

East Jordan senior Josh Wojan finished first in both the 800 meter run and 1600 meter run, with times of 2:04.47 and 4:33.95 seconds.

In the 3200 meter run, Boyne City's Kory Skop placed first, running a time of 11:04.19.

Charlevoix junior Nick Plude, running the 200 meter dash for the first time this season, placed first in 23.40 seconds.

In the boys field events, East Jordan senior Ben Walton kept his undefeated streak alive in both the shot put and discus, with throws of 45 feet, 10.5 inches and 124 feet, four inches, respectively.

East Jordan also took in a co-first place finish in the high jump, as Donvee-Burks matched Boyne City's Corey Redman and Ryan Carson at the top, with a jump of 5 feet, 8 inches.

Charlevoix's Sam Hovie stood alone atop the pole vault, hitting 10 feet, 6 inches.

For the girls' relay events, the Harbor Springs team of Salix Sampson, Charlotte Cullip, Clare Fleming and Regan Damoose took first place in the 800m relay with a time of 1:54.82.

Charlevoix won both the 1600 and 3200 meter relay events.

Madeline Boss, Amber Way, Kourtney Putman and Makenzie O'Leary had a time of 10:15.54 in the 3200 meter relay, while Caroline Boss, Cora Taylor, Madeline Boss and Amber Way finished the 1600 relay in 4:18.51.

Boyne City senior Kylie Hicks placed first in both the 100 and 300 hurdle events, earning time of 16.18 seconds and 49.28 seconds.

Holley Carson of East Jordan took first in the 3200 meter run in 13:32.89 seconds.

find plenty of work, coming away with 24 saves against Eisenhower and 16 saves against Powers.

Against Harbor Springs, the Rayders struck early, scoring 12 minutes and 15 seconds in on a goal by senior Katie Kiteley, assisted by sophomore Kylee Scholten.

In the second half, Scholten would add an unassisted goal to make it a 2-0 game and final.

Harbor Springs also fell to both Utica and Flint by scores of 3-0, but for Rams' coach Ed Fantozzi it was more about the experience than the wins and losses.

"Sometimes it's not about the win, it's about how well you play," said Fantozzi. "I thought the girls did well against much bigger schools. At times I believed we frustrated Flint Powers a little bit. I was very pleased with the results, even though we weren't winners."

Getting his young team extra time against both Charlevoix — a Lake Michigan Conference rival — and good downstate teams, was also a plus for Fantozzi.

"We had a great opportunity to get our younger girls some experience playing against Charlevoix and playing against some of the other teams this weekend," added Fantozzi. "The teams are both highly skilled with unbelievable soccer players."

Kiersten's Ride

Lisa Clavier, of East Jordan, speaks to Charlevoix students about the impact of her daughter Kiersten's suicide on herself and her entire family.

Family funds event to raise awareness in daughter's memory

CHARLEVOIX COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — The auditorium at Charlevoix High School stayed dimly lit as Lisa Clavier approached the podium and looked out at the hundreds of young faces, turned at her. On the screen behind her, a beam of light projected a snapshot of her daughter, Kiersten.

Kiersten died by suicide in August 2012. Her mother said it takes great strength to discuss the loss, yet she loves to talk about her daughter. Her personal pain and heartache resonated through the room on that cold, February morning. Everyone could tell she spoke from her soul.

"One moment on one day in her life overwhelmed her," Clavier told the students, her voice cracking with emotion.

And that emotion translated, too. Charlevoix experienced a suicide death in early January — one that impacted not only a family, but the entire community. And it seemed everyone in the room was fully aware of it. One student even fled the room in tears, clearly emotionally impacted by the somber topic.

It's certainly a challenge to hear people talk so openly about suicide, said Barb Smith, as she spoke to the students. Smith is the Michigan state coordinator for the nationwide Yellow Ribbon Suicide Prevention Program.

"When you lose someone, whether from suicide or something like a car wreck, it's all about what happened after they died — what we can learn to do differently," she said.

And Smith knows all about this topic. She proved that when she read aloud her own brother's suicide note.

"Your problems today are not forever," Smith told the students. "Being depressed doesn't mean that you're crazy, nor being bipolar or schizophrenic. It doesn't mean you're crazy. It's treatable."

To drive that point home, a former Charlevoix student even took the stage and told his own story to the crowd.

Ryan Lowe, 17, now a student at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey, talked about his family experience and when he moved to Charlevoix. Drug and alcohol abuse began to take over his life as he failed to stay on track, he said.

"Very quickly I got myself into more trouble," Lowe said.

Then his older brother attempted but did not complete suicide, he said.

"I started isolating and thinking about suicide," Lowe said.

He even tried suicide himself.

"After a world of trouble, I went to rehab," Lowe said. "It is OK to ask for help. This is no game. You are not alone and you are loved."

Now he takes medication to stabilize his mood and is doing well in college, Lowe said.

And Charlevoix students weren't the only ones to experience this suicide prevention program. Students in Pellston and East Jordan also benefited, all thanks to a horseback trail-riding fundraiser Clavier and her family host in her deceased daughter's honor.

"She loved riding. We decided to take something she loved and turned it into an opportunity to raise awareness of suicide and prevention," Clavier said.

This year's Kiersten's Ride fundraiser is planned for Aug. 16 — what has become an annual event, she said.

Farmers return to Thursday market

East Park to host weekly event

CRAIG CURRIER/NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — For organizers and a handful of vendors who came to last week's first outdoor farmers market of the season in Charlevoix, it was a victory just to be out there.

With the record-breaking winter now behind them, Northern Michigan farmers are sprinting to catch up with time lost from the elongated stretch of cold weather.

"We don't know yet how behind we might be," said Cornelia Dhaseleer of Charlevoix's Dhaseleer Farm.

"With the ice-cold temperatures we couldn't seed."

A slow start, though, shouldn't have any impact on the berries the farm produces every summer. Strawberries will come in June, raspberries in July and then blueberries in August just as expected, Dhaseleer said.

"We'll have all the berries and all the veggies," she said.

The first vegetable of the season is asparagus, which could be available as soon as this week, said Callie Cupp of Guntzville's Berry and Vegetable Farm in Elk Rapids.

"Last year we were picking asparagus by now," Cupp said.

At her first farmers market of the season, Cupp was selling only homemade jams and jellies, but said fresh produce is coming soon.

CRAIG CURRIER/NEWS-REVIEW

Charlevoix farmers market manager Chris Leese talks with Paul Gelderblom of Charlevoix as he plays the hammer dulcimer Thursday at the first market of the season.

"I know they already have asparagus downstate, and we're usually about 10 to 14 days behind them," she said.

Even for those whose products aren't dependent on the weather, the warm summer days can't come soon enough. In his second summer selling homemade ice cream, Brian Freund said when it's sunny and hot his sales spike.

"My thought is I should sell out every farmers market," Freund said. "This summer should be mine."

The same goes for Gildas Berrou of Pea and Compagnie Produce and French Pastries in Charlevoix, who sold out of his pastries that day but is waiting until crowds grow larger to begin making crepes at the streetside market.

"Last year, we started May 1," Berrou said. "This year, we weren't so lucky."

Chris Leese, who is in her first year managing Charlevoix's farmers market, was happy to see a few of the vendors sell out of the products they brought.

"The whole gist of (Thursday) is that the season is beginning," she said.

Later this month, a summerlong series of special offerings will be included as part of the weekly market.

FILE PHOTO

The Charlevoix Farmers Market is a summer mainstay on Thursdays in East Park downtown.

On May 22, for example, there will be a mushroom hunting demonstration by the Michigan Mushroom Market.

Charlevoix typically holds its farmers market on Thursdays from 9 a.m.-1 p.m., but on May 29, it will move to 2-6 p.m. in conjunction with the annual Operation Petunia planting project. That day there will also be an asparagus cooking demonstration.

Starting in June, the Double Up Food Bucks program begins. For those with a state-issued EBT Bridge Card, the program provides a matching dollar amount in fresh produce for the money you spend at the farmers market.

The program aims to make it easier for lower-income residents to purchase fresh fruit and vegetables.

The same offer is available to Bridge Card holders at Boyne City's year-round farmers market, which moves outside Saturday, May 17, to Veterans Park. Market manager Becky Harris said she expects vendors will have plenty to offer that day as she has already seen tomatoes and fresh greens coming from vendors who grew them inside a greenhouse.

"We are going strong," Harris said. "We only had a few weeks there that we went without any fresh vegetables."

After May 17, the Boyne City farmers market will run every Wednesday and Saturday from 8 a.m.-noon.

Bird-lovers' banquet takes wing

Potluck event followed by bird-watching

CATHERINE DEWEY/

COURIER CONTRIBUTOR

CHARLEVOIX — The Petoskey Regional Audubon Society welcomes the community to a sparrow identification practice and potluck at 5:30 p.m. every Wednesday until May 28.

Darrell Lawson, society president, will meet participants at a family member's property at 9502 Burgess Road in Charlevoix. Those who come are encouraged to bring a dish to pass or meat for the grill, favorite drinks, a folding chair and binoculars. The land can be swampy at times, so proper footwear and clothing also are suggested.

Organizers said the land is considered scrubby with brush piles and shrubs, which is just the right habitat for sparrows. There will be discussions focused on how to separate various specific of sparrows from each other, as these "Little Brown Jobs" (sparrow nickname) can often be difficult to tell apart.

"We also include other discussion about which sparrows will stick around the nest and which are just passing through as they migrate north," Lawson said.

Some of the birds participants are apt to see include

Eastern Meadowlarks, Eastern Bluebirds, Tree Swallows, Song, Savannah, Fox, White-crowned, White-throated, Clay-colored, Lincoln's, Chipping, American Tree Sparrows, Dar-eyed Juncos and Bobolinks. Some unusual species are known to show up at this location as well, including Northern Mockingbirds. Those who stay later in the evening may hear the courtship of American Woodcock and Wilson's Snipe.

"It is a fun evening. It starts with a potluck and then we spend time watching the sparrows, and we talk about what we see so we can help people learn to identify the birds. There is always good company — everyone is very friendly and wants to help others learn. It is free and open to the public," said Lisa Hoyt, Charlevoix resident and Petoskey chamber membership director.

Each week the session offers new species as new migrants arrive.

For more information, contact Lawson via email at lawsondw@gmail.com, or call (231) 330-4572. If you are interested in becoming a society member, check the organization's website at www.petoskey-audubon.org/how-to-join.html online. The group also provides membership cards on field trips and indoor meetings.

As always, no smoking or pets are allowed on any society field trip.

Porter: 'gypsy artists' not wanted

Councilman objects to chamber-sponsored event in Charlevoix's East Park

STEVE ZUCKER
NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — City council member Jeff Porter doesn't want any "gypsy artists" in his town. He said so during Monday's city council meeting.

During the meeting, Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce board member Steve Seely spoke at length about all of the organization's efforts to promote Charlevoix as a whole, city events and facilities, plus enhance the entire business community. As he wrapped up his comments, Porter asked whether the chamber has anything to do with the annual Charlevoix Summer Solstice Art Show.

"They have these gypsy artists come from all over the United States," Porter said. "There is absolutely no need to have these people here."

Porter continued to contend

that this "for-profit gypsy art festival" nearly destroys local art galleries by allowing in East Park those who peddle what he called "poor-quality art" and take revenue out of Charlevoix.

"I think it detracts from any quality galleries we have here," Porter said. "It does not benefit anyone in Charlevoix, particularly."

He said he has no qualms at all about the professionally justified Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair, though. Both events are hosted in downtown Charlevoix's East Park.

Mayor Norman Carlson Jr. said after the meeting that he doesn't believe Porter's comments were made with any malice, just when Porter interrupted a reporter's conversation with the mayor.

"Before you get all wet here," Porter said to the reporter, he contended that he used the word gypsy with a lowercase "g," not a capitalized version of the word. Therefore, the word was not an ethnic slur, Porter argued.

"I consider this a gypsy art fair with a small 'g,'" Porter said.

Porter also refused to acknowledge that the terminology is widely considered derogatory or racist within the context that he used it during the public meeting. In fact, he said he didn't know the word could even be used as an insult.

"I guess I wasn't aware of County, Jarema settle harassment lawsuit

Terms remain undisclosed; attorneys decline comment

CRAM CURRIER
NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix County and former prosecuting attorney John Jarema have agreed to settle a lawsuit filed by a former assistant prosecutor who claims she was harassed by Jarema and her employer refused to do anything about it.

Court documents show only that an agreement was reached after a three-hour settlement conference April 23 in Grand Rapids. The terms have not been disclosed and attorneys for both sides either declined to comment about the case or did not return phone calls.

Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners Chairman Joel Evans and County Coordinator Kevin Shepard also attended last week's meeting, but Evans did not respond to requests seeking comment and Shepard referred questions to attorney Gretchen Olsen, who represents the county.

The sexual- and gender-based harassment claims were made by one-time county assistant prosecuting attorney Shaynee Fanara, who worked in that capacity until Oct. 4, 2012, three days after the lawsuit was filed against the county and Jarema in United States District Court.

Fanara brought the lawsuit only after asking the county board of commissioners on various occasions to intervene.

In court documents, she alleges that Jarema often fabricated complaints or falsely accused her of wrongdoing. Specifically, Fanara claims her boss accused her of having sexual relations with male defense attorneys and then offering better plea bargains to their clients in return.

In court filings, Fanara states Jarema threatened to file unfounded complaints against her with the Michigan Attorney Grievance Commission, wrongly accused her of submitting false time sheets and of authorizing warrants in bad faith or without probable cause.

After she filed a grievance against Jarema with the Michigan Attorney Grievance Commission for alleged lies he told to county commissioners and a judge, Fanara claims Jarema retaliated against her by restricting her hours, reducing her pay and launching investigations into her work.

Fanara eventually was placed on medical leave after she complained of headaches she said doctors attributed to work-related stress and tension.

At Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners meetings in April and May 2012, Fanara pleaded with commissioners to step in and stop Jarema from continuing behavior she alleged was "bullying."

At the time, Evans, the board's chairman, told Fanara: "Everyone I have talked to, they all say you're doing a great job. I think you are a very valuable employee for Charlevoix County."

But board members also noted there was little they could do about the alleged actions of Jarema, who occupied the publicly elected county prosecutor's office.

Jarema was eventually voted out of office, defeated in August 2012 by current prosecuting attorney Allen Telgenhof in the Republican primary. Telgenhof did not officially take over the office until January 2013.

Fanara returned from medical leave in July 2012 after 12 weeks out of the office and continued working for the county. She claims the bullying from Jarema continued upon her return, and she filed the lawsuit Oct. 1, 2012.

Prosecutor to pay fee, settles finance complaint

STEVE ZUCKER
NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney Allen Telgenhof last week entered into a conciliation agreement with the Michigan Bureau of Elections resolving a complaint made by Robert Taylor of Boyne City.

Telgenhof

Telgenhof issued a press release on the matter Thursday, May 1.

According to the release, Taylor filed a complaint against Telgenhof in October 2013, including a 15-page legal brief. The bureau investigated the many complaints and found "there may be reason to believe" that Telgenhof used the wrong form to report three of his contributions, did not list addresses for three contributors and did not show cumulative totals for two contributors. The Bureau rejected other claims made by Taylor, according to Telgenhof's release.

"The Michigan Bureau of Elections has determined that although I disclosed every penny contributed and every penny spent on my campaign, with respect to three contributions, I reported them using the wrong report," Telgenhof said in the release. "The contributions were listed on a post-primary campaign statement and should have been listed on a late contribution report. I had no campaign treasurer and did my own record keeping and reporting. I take full responsibility for these mistakes."

For the primary election in 2012, late contributions were defined as those received from July 23 through Aug. 4. The Michigan Campaign Finance Act requires these to be reported utilizing a late contribution report.

Telgenhof said he released the settlement agreement. See TELGENHOF, page A10

Police investigate home break-ins, one arrested

STEVE ZUCKER
NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — Police in Charlevoix arrested a Charlevoix man in connection with two of four recent home break-ins that have taken place in the city.

Charlevoix City Police Department Chief Gerard Doan said the first two break-ins happened in the early morning hours of April 20 when police were called to the 100 block of Hurlbut Street after a resident called 9-1-1 to a report that someone had broken into her home.

According to Doan, and court documents, while investigating the first break-in, officers learned of a second break-in at a neighboring home. No one was at the second home at the time of the break-in. Doan said. Items were reported stolen from both residences, he said. From one of the homes, items reported stolen included a television, numerous bottles of liquor and beer. In one case, the suspect entered the home through an unlocked door, while the other home required forced entry, Doan said.

According to court documents, as police were speaking to neighboring residents during their investigation, one of the residents whose home had been broken into recognized one of the neighbors as the man who had entered her house.

Police arrested Brian Kelly Hammond Jr., 24, Hammond was ultimately charged with three counts of second degree home invasion and one count of first degree home invasion. The second degree charges are felonies punishable by up to five years in prison. The first degree charge is a felony punishable by up to 15 years in prison.

In the affidavit, police said Hammond later admitted to entering both homes — one of them three times.

Hammond's bond was set at $25,000, and he remains lodged at the Charlevoix County Jail in lieu of bond.

He was slated to face a preliminary examination on the charges on May 6 in 90th District Court. Charlevoix attorney Chris Turkelson was appointed to represent Hammond.

Doan said the second set of two home break-ins happened a few days later on April 24. The first was reported at about 1:30 p.m. when an Alice Street resident, who had been away for several hours, returned home to find that someone had entered his home and stolen a laptop computer. In that case, the suspect had also entered through an unlocked door. Doan said. About 90 minutes later, another resident, this time on May Street, who had also been away for several hours, came home to find that someone had kicked in a door to the house, gone inside and stolen a handgun.

Doan said investigators don't believe the first two break-ins are related. The second two because Hammond has been in jail since the first two incidents. He said officers are still investigating if the second two incidents are related to each other. He said officers have several leads they are following up in their investigation of the later two incidents.

Doan asks anyone with information on the two break-ins to contact the Charlevoix Police Department at (231) 547-3258.

He also reminds residents to keep the doors to their homes and vehicles locked at night or when they are away.

The joy of growing

I have tilled up the vegetable garden and am reminded again how fulfilling it can be to grow things. I would like to encourage that fulfillment for more of us.

Suppose you have a lawn somewhere around your house. It has good soil and it grows fine grass. Think how much pleasure you could derive from planting a few fast-growing, easy to use vegetables. This does not require a great amount of effort or ingenuity. Slice the sod off a few square feet of lawn in some out-of-the-way corner. Save the sod in a shady place where it can be watered and kept alive for a couple of months. Stir a bag or two of potting or garden soil into your mini garden and plant a few short rows of radishes and lettuce. Radishes are good because they practically leap out of the ground. These seeds will germinate in only a couple of days and you can have fresh radishes in a few weeks. The lettuce may take just a bit longer, but unless you have eaten lettuce fresh from the garden in a salad, you have never tasted lettuce.

If after radishes and lettuce you want to restore the lawn, just replace the sod you have been keeping alive, or if need be buy a few square feet of new sod. You will have lost very little and gained valuable exercise. Delicious vegetables are just a bonus.

Lawn turned to vegetable garden is an idea that has intrigued me since a spring spent in Seattle some years ago. One of the yards I walked past each morning on my way to work was completely filled with growing garlic plants. The house looked stranded in a field. The added advantage, of course, was that the owner never would need to flavor any dish with garlic. Enough would seep in from the yard to supply all his garlic flavor needs.

There is at least one more lesson to be learned from planting vegetables in a tilled up part of your yard. If you have a carefully tended lawn, it is unlikely that any weeds have survived there. You may be surprised at how many different sorts of plants will begin to grow in your small garden, from seeds that have been dormant in the soil. Seeds like those can survive for decades, waiting for the right conditions. Any early professor of botany at Michigan State University hurried such seeds and tested their long-term survival. Some could still germinate 75 years later.

Grow a few vegetables. Both the experience and the food are valuable.

Roger Knutson is a professor emeritus of biology from Luther College in Decorah, Iowa, where he taught for 30 years. He holds master's degree and a doctorate from the botany department at Michigan State University.

LETTERS to the editor

Language used was inappropriate, ill-conceived

Editor:

While we fully acknowledge council member Jeff Porter's First Amendment rights to free speech, the inappropriate and ill-conceived comments he made at the May 5, 2014, City Council meeting are unacceptable in our view and do not represent the Charlevoix community as a whole.

The City of Charlevoix has a strong, rich history supporting a wide array of diverse cultural events. We will continue to invite artists of all walks of life and ethnicity to participate in the many art shows and cultural events Charlevoix has to offer. Although we do not need to agree on what constitutes "quality art," we do need to be open minded and inclusive while promoting diversity of both art and people in our community.

My use of 'gypsy' not hate speech

Editor:

It is with regret that my use of the term gypsy at the May 5 Charlevoix City Council was taken as "hate speech." Only after my comments were made, was I, and most others, made aware that the Southern Poverty Law Center considers the term gypsy, referring to Romany people, hate speech. It was brought to our attention by a reporter from the Petoskey News-Review, who also is the editor of the Charlevoix Courier.

My intention of the word gypsy, used as an adjective, was the definition that is found in my edition of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary. I quote:

"2. gypsy — used in the sense of 'vagrant,' without suggesting connection with the Romany chals of Europe."

It was never my intention to have the word gypsy refer to or be interpreted as suggesting any Romany people were connected to, or people involved at, the Summer Solstice Art Fair were or are part of the Romany Diaspora. Please accept my sincere apology.

However, it is ironic that on the same day, May 5, the Petoskey News-Review ran the following headline on page A7 as the lead story: "Gypsy music coming to local stage." "Gypsy" used as a noun.

Jeffrey Porter, Charlevoix City Councilman

— Editor's note: Petoskey News-Review's headline mentioned in the above letter refers to a specific type of ethnic music.

CHARLEVOIX HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Bridging our past with our future

LOOKING BACK...

In 1988, it became glaringly evident that the lighthouse house was making a decided lean to the north. The lengthy substructure of the pier was discovered to be crumbling away, in some places so badly that scuba divers could swim through the openings. So the lighthouse was hoisted and moved several hundred feet east toward the fisheries research station while the entire pier was torn out and rebuilt. Unknowing summer residents and regular visitors were shocked, sometimes to tears, to discover their beloved landmark had disappeared from its accustomed place — but only for a year. The new design (left) incorporated a long rectangular indentation that would lessen the force of waves before they traveled up the channel. However, this inadvertently eliminated a favorite fishing area along the channel, and the complaints were loud and long. U.S. Rep. Bob Davis listened and went to bat. By 1992, a walkway on pilings was in place across the gap. Waves could still dissipate along the boulders underneath, fishermen regained their spot, and pedestrians now had a straight welcoming shot out to the end of the pier.

Breast cancer memorial event flashes through town

Decorated bras help draw attention to charity event

CHARLEVOIX — The 20th annual Sue DeYoung/Judy Edger Memorial Breast Cancer 5K Walk/Run will be Saturday, May 10, in Charlevoix's East Park downtown.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. and the walk and run begins at 9 a.m. Individual walkers, runners and teams can collect pledges for participating in the walk, or sponsor themselves with a donation. Those who raise $30 or more receive an event T-shirt. Registration forms are available at www.walkrunclure.org online.

For the third year, a feature of the event is titled the "Wear Your Support" bra decorating contest. All participants, women and men, are encouraged to decorate a bra and wear the decorated bra over the outside of their T-shirt or clothing during the event. Prizes will be awarded. Area businesses are also participating by displaying a bra and displaying it in their front windows.

"Last year there were many participants with decorated bras," said Katie Beaudoin, event chairwoman. "We are excited to see new designs this year and hope even more people will wear their support this year.

Funds raised this year will go to Charlevoix County's Circle of Strength Foundation, to provide mammograms for women in need and to the Health Department of Northwest Michigan, to be used for the free cervical screening program.

The event honors two courageous local women, including Sue DeYoung, a young mother of four children who died in 1992, and Judy Edger, who was a driving force behind this event until her death in March 1999.

If someone is unable to participate the day of the event, but would like to make a contribution, they can donate by check to Charlevoix Area Memorial Cancer Fund and mail to the Charlevoix County Community Foundation, P.O. Box 718, East Jordan, MI 49727.

Nearly $233k in grants awarded by foundation

Latest grant cycle recipients announced

The board of trustees of the Charlevoix County Community Foundation recently approved $232,967 in grants during its spring grant cycle, including awards to Boyne Valley Township and Hayes Township to support master planning initiatives.

Maureen Radke, who coordinates the grant-making process at the community foundation, was elated with the results.

"We received a record number of grant applications (54) from area nonprofit agencies," she said, adding, "and we're so pleased to be in a position to fund a wide range of projects that will make a difference in Charlevoix County and throughout the region."

The grant awards included $24,375 in funding for projects that will impact Charlevoix County youth in a positive way. The grants were recommended by the foundation's Youth Advisory Committee (YAC).

"Agencies seeking support make presentations to the YAC members, who then evaluate the proposals and make determinations about which proposals should be supported, and at what level," said Michelle Shooks, who coordinates the Youth Advisory Committee on the foundation's behalf. "We have an exceptional group of high school students serving on the YAC," she added, noting, "each time they meet I'm inspired by the thoughtful way that they approach this most important responsibility."

Grants in the recent cycle supported programs in the arts, education, community development, the environment, human services, health and wellness, recreation, youth services and more. The foundation's endowed funds provide the resources for grant-making to occur.

"We're so fortunate to live in such a generous area," said Chip Hansen, the foundation president, adding, "our donors are so supportive, and we're often able to bring partners together to meet a wide range of community needs."

A charitable organization dedicated to improving and enriching life in the area, the Charlevoix County Community Foundation accepts gifts from individuals, families, businesses, and civic groups and manages them as permanent endowments. The principal of the endowment continues to grow, providing perpetual charitable capital to benefit Charlevoix County's residents and nonprofit organizations.

Since it was founded in 1992, the foundation's net assets have grown to more than $29 million, and grants and scholarships totaling more than $13.7 million have been distributed for the common good.

The foundation welcomes inquiries and grant requests. The next deadline for submitting a grant request is Oct. 1, 2014. For a complete list of the recent grant awards, visit the foundation's website at www.c3f.org and choose the recent grants link under the heading for what's new.

All-ages band benefit concert tuning up

Spaghetti dinner and auction followed by performance

CAROLYN SHERK
COURIER CONTRIBUTOR

CHARLEVOIX — Musicians of all ages are busy tuning their instruments for the upcoming spring concert in Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix Public Schools band director Gary Stutzman will present a concert that will feature his sixth-grade beginning band students, his seventh- and eighth-grade middle school band, and his high school concert band at 7 p.m. Friday, May 16, at the middle/high school auditorium. The concert will begin after a spaghetti dinner and silent auction at 5 p.m. in the school commons. Small ensembles will provide musical selections for entertainment during the dinner.

The concert will feature music that the students have been working on to perform at different functions throughout the year. Stutzman will also present the individual bands in a performance that will highlight the progress each group has made. At the end of the concert 140 musicians will be combined to present an all-hand performance number.

A portion of the evening will include a few numbers by the Pine Lake Winds Band, under the direction of Evelyn Wujcik. Wujcik originally organized this group of adult musicians to give them an opportunity to play their instruments again after perhaps decades of not playing. The group has become quite proficient, and presents concerts during the winter months throughout the Charlevoix area.

The Charlevoix Public Schools has a long, rich tradition and history of outstanding bands dating back to 1946 when Clarence Odmark moved to Charlevoix to take over the band program from Max Smith who had just taken a similar position with the Petoskey Public Schools. Stutzman, a Charlevoix Public School alumn, graduated from Northern Michigan University with his master's degree in music education and became Odmark's assistant. He went on to further his career and has now come full circle to the direction of his alma mater of the Charlevoix Public Schools band program and the Charlevoix City Band. Stutzman is known for taking the Charlevoix music scene to an exceptional level of entertainment and education over many generations. His contributions have offered individuals with the lifetime gift of music to enjoy whether they are musicians or a member of the audience.

"I would like to thank all of the students and their parents and or guardians for the great support and encouragement they give to the band program here in Charlevoix. I am looking forward to continuing in the fine traditions that have been established over the years. This summer the traditions will continue as the Charlevoix City Band takes the stage in the Odmark Pavilion of the East Park where students can continue their study of their instruments," Stutzman said.

The cost for the benefit dinner is $10 for adults and $5 dollars for students. Everyone is welcomed to attend.

Grant awarded to Charlevoix Area Hospital for kid's program

CHARLEVOIX — Fit-4-Life for Kids, a program of Charlevoix Area Hospital, recently received a grant from the Charlevoix County Community Foundation. The grant was awarded during a Fit-4-Life for Kids session at the Boyne Falls Public Schools.

Funds from the grant are used to bring the Fit-4-Life for Kids program into Charlevoix County schools. Through the program, Charlevoix Area Hospital school nurses are able to provide education in the areas of obesity management and prevention, nutrition, fitness, disease prevention and risk factor management. The goal of the program is to identify students who are at a high-risk for cardiovascular disease and obesity and to provide follow-up education.

"Fit-4-Life for Kids and the Charlevoix Area Hospital school nurse program are great additions to area school systems," said Kathy Jacobsen, director of community health education. "We are helping to teach students about the importance of health management, nutrition, fitness and disease prevention."

Cinema liquor license OK'd by council

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix's downtown movie theater on Monday received unanimous approval from city council members for its requested redevelopment liquor license.

The idea is for the owners of Charlevoix Cinema III to offer for sale alcoholic beverages at some, but not all, of the theater's movie showings and special events. Special events with alcohol on the menu could include showings of sporting events such as Tigers, Red Wings or Lions games and even the Academy Awards.

Luther Kurtz, one of the theater's owners, said more family-oriented movie showings will not offer an alcohol menu for patrons.

"We have a lot of families that come to the G-rated movies, especially," he said during the council's meeting this week. "There's a balance we have to strike."

Documents show the business owners on April 16 applied for the license and the Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority previously signed off on the proposal. Kurtz, who is a DDA board member, recused himself from the vote for the obvious conflict of interest, and instead presented the company's pitch.

The cinema's redevelopment liquor license will cover the entire building, including all three theater spaces.

This approval means Charlevoix is now among the few cities in Michigan to be home to theaters where movie-lovers can order a beer with their candy and popcorn.

Two other downtown Charlevoix businesses also in the past received such licenses — Scoville's Gnummet and more recently, Bridge Street Tap Room.

Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce will orchestrate an official ribbon-cutting ceremony and the grand opening of the Castle's newly expanded gift shop.

Wi-Fi second phase OK'd by council

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix city leaders on Monday voted in favor of the second phase of a plan to launch wireless Internet service in the downtown area.

Consultant John Childs reported Monday to the Charlevoix City Council that the initial focus of the Wi-Fi effort would be along Bridge Street, in East Park and the marina, and possibly Lake Michigan Beach. Installation and ongoing maintenance costs could be offset through the sale of advertising on the wireless service platform, he said.

This effort is jointly funded by the city, Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority and the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce, and all entities must agree to send out the bid requests before things begin to happen. The third phase of the project is actually awarding the bids and installing the Wi-Fi services.

Possible future uses include the streaming of movies in the park, wireless parking meters, security cameras in alleys and perhaps even selling capacity back to other service providers.

The total cost for the second stage of this project is $5,700, and would cost the city, DDA and chamber each $1,900 to cover that bill.

Now both the city council and DDA board approved the second phase of the project — the latter on April 28 — and at press time the chamber board members had not yet considered the measure.

Council member Jeff Porter this week cast the sole dissenting vote against the second phase of the Wi-Fi project from among the city leaders.

New antique gallery to feature 'something for everyone'

Area artists' quality pieces to be offered

BOYNE CITY — A new antique gallery and store soon opens this month along M-75 between Boyne City and Walloon Lake.

Mark Lindsay owns Boyne Country Antiques, which will operate at 2113 M-75 North, Boyne City. The store will be open sporadically during early May — Lindsay suggests calling ahead for more information on times — and will begin set hours on Friday, May 16.

"We will be carrying antiques, collectables, fine furnishings, a little bit of everything really," said Lindsay. "We will also have jewelry and antique furnishings as well as made-in-Michigan items. I'd like to say that we have something for everyone."

Though he's opening a full-time store for the first time, Lindsay has been involved in the antiques field for 20 years. He recently used space in two antique malls and also operated online and with direct clients.

At the new store, "we feature 3,000 square feet of indoor space and are currently in the planning stages of live auctions during the summer," Lindsay noted.

Lindsay is originally from Northern Michigan, having grown up in Mio.

"When I was growing up we would golf in Gaylord and ski in Boyne so it was just natural for me to come here," he said.

The business will feature online sales, estate goods and auctions, Lindsay said, with a specialty in handling estates.

"When someone brings in an item to me we will research it, and give them an honest current market value price, we are looking for high quality, unique and unusual antiques," he said.

Lindsay aims to gather quality items from area artists and offer them in one location.

Starting in mid-May, Boyne Country Antiques will be open 10 a.m.-7 p.m. Monday through Friday, 11 a.m.-8 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m.-5 p.m. Sunday.

For more information about the store or consignment opportunities there, call (989) 370-3640.

Marina expansion hearing set

SHERI MCWHIRTER-ODONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — The public will get a chance to speak out about the proposal to expand Charlevoix's city marina in Round Lake.

City officials discussed three possible marina expansion options at Monday's City Council meeting — two more than previously pitched a couple of months ago when the idea to add more slips to the docks first emerged this year. Nobody made any decisions, save to set a public hearing for 7 p.m. Monday, May 19, at city hall in downtown Charlevoix.

The initial idea came from a lack of available boat slips in Charlevoix large enough to accommodate yachts that come loaded with passengers and paid staff members who may seek some shore leave while in town.

The city's initial proposal remains on the table, now labeled Option C, including a nearly 160-foot dock extension on Pier A to create six additional 50-foot slips and seven 80-foot slips. Of those seven larger slips, two would be existing 65-foot slips that would be lengthened. This option is estimated to cost $363,000 and with expected revenues, would take about 3.5 years to get a return on the investment, documents show.

City manager Rob Straebel also detailed the option with the least increase — Option A — which calls for about 33 feet of new dockage to create three 80-foot slips, including the two 65-foot slips' upticks. That choice is estimated to cost around $151,000 and take more than nine years to receive a return on the investment.

Finally, what officials call the "compromise option" would add about 96 feet of dockage to create four additional 50-foot slips and four additional 80-foot slips, again including two existing 65-foot slips lengthened to 80 feet. That is estimated to cost about $255,000 and take about 3.75 years to make the return on the investment, Straebel said.

"Option A is probably the least visually impactful, but it's not a great revenue generator for the city. Option B, I think, is probably a good compromise between economic development and additional revenues," he said.

Option B doesn't jut into Round Lake as much as the initial proposal, Straebel said, which drew heavy criticism from some city residents and environmental advocates because of both visual and possible environmental and navigational impacts. Mayor Norman Carlson Jr. agreed the "compromise option" may be the best choice.

"I think that one sounds desirable, actually," the mayor said.

But he didn't win over everyone on the council.

"There is no public support for expanding the marina in any shape or form. Most people think the marina is finished and that's how I feel," said Shirley Gibson, council member.

Council member Jeff Porter said he believes the city should host a public hearing to accept comments about all three marina expansion options, rather than choosing just one to present to citizens. His fellow council members unanimously agreed.

it," Porter said.

Merriam-Webster defines Gypsy as a noun used to describe a member of Romani culture, a traditionally nomadic ethnicity known to primarily live in Southwest Asia, Europe and North America. Also, the word gypsy is an adjective used to describe something that is of, or resembles a Gypsy. The word — whether uppercased or not — is widely considered an ethnic slur, or hate speech, when used in context other than a discussion about Romani ethnicity — and sometimes even when it is such as with the word "Jew."

Additionally, the nonprofit Southern Poverty Law Center monitors hate groups across the nation which include those that target Gypsies, among other ethnic and racial minorities.

City manager Rob Straebel was quick to put this language squarely back in Porter's lap Monday night.

"What I can say with strong certainty is the city does not and will not condone inappropriate language used in city council meetings," Straebel said.

The city manager also said Porter's comments should be considered reflective only of Porter's thoughts, not of the entire city council or city government as a whole. Indeed, no other city council members made comments about the Charlevoix Summer Solstice Art Show.

Seely said he didn't know much about the annual art show in question, now in its 16th year, other than he helps park cars behind a downtown bank for the solstice-inspired art event. Should the art show require additional scrutiny, the chamber board will be sure to address the situation, Seely said.

More information about the art show can be found on the chamber's website at www.charlevoix.org under the link for annual events.

Three days later, Fanara's court documents she was informed by Telgenhof that he would not be bringing her in as a member of his staff when he took office in 2013.

In the time since, county leaders and their attorneys have argued they should not be liable for Jarema's actions and requested they be removed from the lawsuit.

Fanara states in court filings she has been deprived of her freedom of speech by the county and Jarema because, after she spoke out about Jarema's alleged harassment, the county retaliated against and terminated her because of "her exercise of her constitutionally protected speech on a matter of public concern."

With the lawsuit, Fanara is demanding that the county stop the alleged discrimination, harassment and defamation and award her all lost wages, as well as compensatory and punitive damages and attorney's fees.

Rather than filing a late

Pursuant to the council's decision, Telgenhof did not agree to pay $1,000 of $1,500, equal to the amount of the contributions reported incorrectly.

Jury convicts man for softball game attack

EAST JORDAN — A Charlevoix County jury last week found Christian James Kolp guilty of assault and battery arising from a fight that took place on Oct. 13, 2013, at the East Jordan softball fields.

According to a press release from Charlevoix County Prosecutor Allen Telgenhof, the fight took place during a co-ed softball game and according to witnesses, Kolp was a runner at second base and the victim was playing center field prior to the assault. Words were exchanged between the two and Kolp ran into the outfield and punched the victim. The victim was treated for an orbital fracture at the McLaren Northern Michigan emergency room.

Charlevoix County Chief Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Mark Muniak prosecuted the case. Officer Brent Seese of the East Jordan Police Department conducted the investigation. Roy C. Hayes III tried the case for the defense.

Kolp will be sentenced later this month. Assault and battery is a misdemeanor that carries a maximum sentence of 93 days in jail and/or a $500 fine.

Two injured in crash near East Jordan

EAST JORDAN — Two people were injured in a two-vehicle traffic crash near East Jordan Thursday.

A Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office official identified the injured as the two drivers, Randall Detavernier, 59, of Boyne Falls and Tanya Rohtoy, 25, of East Jordan.

Rohtoy was transported to McLaren Northern Michigan Hospital by East Jordan Ambulance where she was treated for injuries sustained in the crash. Detavernier was also treated for minor injuries sustained in the crash, deputies said.

According to authorities, the crash happened around 10:30 a.m. on Behling Road near Jaquay Road in Wilson Township.

Deputies said Detavernier was traveling west on Behling Road when, as he was attempting to make left turn into a private driveway, he failed to yield to an eastbound vehicle driven by Rohtoy. Police said Rohtoy reported she tried to slow down when Detavernier made the turn in front of her, but she was unable to avoid the crash.

Police said both drivers were wearing their seat belts and that airbags deployed in both vehicles.

Deputies were also assisted at the scene by East Jordan Fire Department and the East Jordan Police Department.

How to recognize a need for help

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL
CHARLEVOIX COURIER EDITOR

The best prevention against suicide is treatment — plain and simple.

So many times survivors of those who die by suicide did not recognize the warning signs of the impending tragedy, if there were any to observe. To get treatment, one first must see the need in themselves or others.

"If anyone even hints at suicide, err on the side of caution and take that person into ER for immediate attention," said Teri Daunter, a private-practice psychologist based in Petoskey.

She's not the only mental health professional who said it's best for somebody to step in and say something — encourage a friend or loved one to seek help — especially if the red flags for suicidal tendencies are witnessed. Michael Lucido, psychologist and Charlevoix center supervisor for North Country Community Mental Health, which serves Antirrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet, Kalkaska and Otsego counties, said lives can be saved through intervention.

Some of the symptoms of suicidal thoughts include anxiety or panic attacks, hopelessness, social withdrawal, reckless or risky behaviors, mood changes, sadness, irritability, apathy, guilt or shame, restlessness, loss of interests, crying, lethargy, insomnia or hypersomnia, inattention and severe depression.

"But these are signs of a temporary problem. It's not going to last forever," Lucido said. "Maybe it will for a day or a moment, but it's not going to stick. It's treatable."

What can play a critical intervention role is talking — actual verbalizations with another person — about what's bothering someone who may be contemplating suicide, he said.

"Not talking about or addressing it is the worst thing," Lucido said.

Talk therapy and medical treatment can be accessed via a variety of local institutions and agencies, whether it be nonprofit or governmental services, private practice or even tribal programs.

Individual cognitive therapy programs tend to run 12-24 weeks with regular sessions, yet individualized therapy can last much longer, even years, Lucido said. There is dialectical behavior therapy for those who suffer chronic suicidal ideations, most often seen in women who repeatedly attempt suicide or perform self-injurious behaviors.

But just because a person seems to be on the mend doesn't always mean it's true, Daunter warned.

"Many times someone who is planning to end his or her life seems recovered. However, this is only coming from the decision made to gain permanent relief from their suffering," she said. "So don't risk it — act."

Should anyone believe they currently are suicidal, or know somebody who is suicidal, experts strongly encourage immediate treatment be sought at the nearest emergency room.

Ensure their safety... insure your teenagers!

Is your child learning to drive? Be sure to get good insurance coverage

Is your teenager learning to drive? He, or she, is probably really excited but maybe you're feeling stressed out about the whole thing! So what can you do to make this step in your child's life as carefree as possible? Make sure he is prepared of course, teach him to be prudent but also ensure that he has good insurance.

To do this, it's important to let your insurance company or broker know that your child has started driving. This will entail certain extra costs, but it's preferable that everything is crystal clear right from the start in order to avoid problems in the future.

It is also very important to give precise information to your insurance broker, particularly concerning the use your teenager will make of the vehicle. Will he be an occasional driver or the principle driver? An inaccurate declaration on this subject could have unhappy consequences. If you ever wish to submit a claim, adding a young driver to your insurance policy inevitably entails an increase in premiums; you should be aware that certain factors can either increase or lower the final cost. These factors include the age and sex of the driver, their experience and the type of vehicle to be used. Sure enough, some vehicles are more expensive to insure because of their higher market value or the increased risk they represent as far as theft or accidents are concerned.

Moreover, most insurance companies give a rebate to a youngster who has taken driving lessons with a recognized driving school. And don't forget that these lessons will help your child become a better driver.

It's important to let your insurer know as soon as your child starts driving ley Burdick, Paige, Morgan Reeves, Julia Wixom, Harmony Lang and Jenny Hickman all had a hit each.

Calnon, Burdick, Wixom and Lang all added an RBI each, while Paige had two RBIs.

Charlevoix pitcher Yogi Hang took the loss, throwing six innings, allowing one earned run on seven hits, while also striking out five.

Hang, Skyler Herriman, Gabby Gray, and Lyndsay Tinsley each had one hit for the Rayders.

In game two, Hang earned the win pitching for the Rayders tossing six innings, while allowing eight hits and four walks, with three strikeouts.

Charlevoix took an 8-2 lead after four innings of play on the Rams, but a four run inning from Harbor in the fifth, that included a 3-run home run, would make things close for the Rayders.

Herriman led the Rayder offense with two hits, including one a home run, while Nicole Peterson and Paige Bradley each had a double. Hang also added a single.

Paige took the loss pitching for the Rams in game two, allowing six hits and six walks, while striking out five over six innings.

Garber added another two hits for Harbor, while Morgan Reeves went 3-for-3 with a home run and three RBIs. Libby Sylvain had three hits, including a triple and one RBI, Wixom had an RBI single and Rhyann Boeve had a hit.

The Rams move to 7-8 overall and 3-5 in the Lake Michigan Conference with the split and will play East Jordan at home on Friday, May 9.

and three runs scored.

"Our pitchers threw strikes and it all just came together for us," added Telgenhof. "We've been struggling with some injuries so it was good to get two in the league."

Ean Walda took the loss for the Rams, striking out eight, allowing no earned runs in the game, as the Rams defense gave way to 10 errors in the game.

Zach and Michael Gorman collected the two hits for the Rams.

"It was a very rough double header for us," Harbor Springs coach Josh Brey said. "We did not play well at all and Charlevoix is a good team and took advantage of our mistakes."

the game from a throw-in near the 18 from sophomore midfielder Kylee Scholten to junior midfielder Leah Davis.

Charlevoix then made it 2-0 later in the half off a pass from the corner from junior midfielder Elizabeth Way to sophomore forward Kelsey Engstrom.

The Rayders led 2-0 at halftime.

In the second half, Charlevoix found the back of the net again just under 10 minutes in on another throw-in from Scholten to Davis.

The Rayders' final goal came with just five seconds to play in the game off a direct kick from Davis to Kelsey Engstrom who completed the goal in front of the Liberty goal.

"The girls put together several great combinations that created a lot of opportunities for us," Scholten said. "We were fast to the ball and were able to keep the ball in their end."

Youth Day brings out all ages

The cold, damp weather made conditions less than perfect, but many youngsters and their parents took advantage of the day, to learn fishing and hunting skills.

Bonding for wastewater project on agenda

City council to discuss how to pay for state-required upgrades

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix city leaders will on Monday discuss how to pay for state-required improvements at the wastewater treatment plant along Lake Shore Drive.

It's expected city council members will discuss municipal bonding options at their next regular session at 7 p.m. Monday, May 19, at city hall, 210 State St., in downtown Charlevoix.

Charlevoix's aging wastewater plant is expected to cost the city upwards of $11 million in state-mandated upgrades to lessen the amount of effluent ammonia discharged into Lake Michigan following treatment. City council members approved in its coming budget a 24.5-percent sewer rate hike each of the next three years, followed by a 2-percent jump for two years afterward specifically to

Peacemaker may coast into Charlevoix

City leaders to consider proposal on Monday

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix City Council members will on Monday consider whether to waive docking fees for a schooner to this summer dock in Round Lake.

Linda Weller, of the city manager's office, said the tall ship could become an attraction for Charlevoix, should city leaders sign off on the proposal at their regular meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, May 19, at city hall, 210 State St., in downtown Charlevoix.

The plan is for a ship titled the Peacemaker to moor in Charlevoix as an added attraction from Friday to Monday, Aug. 1-4.

"I think the Peacemaker would be a magnificent site in our harbor," Weller said.

Prior to its anticipated visit in Charlevoix, the Peacemaker is set to appear in a host of other Great Lakes ports, including St. Ignace, Ludington, Alpena, Chicago, Buffalo, N.Y., and also Windsor and Midland, Ontario. Following its stop here in Charlevoix, the itinerary calls for the tall ship to sail to Green Bay and Port Washington, Wis., then Bay City, Mich., and finally Brockville, Ontario.

Despite its appearance, the ship is not an old one. In fact, an Italian family of boat builders constructed the schooner on a river bank in Brazil using traditional methods and tropical

TRAVERSE CITY

Questions remain about long-lost ship, Griffin

Mission leader to continue searching

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Members of a team that searched Lake Michigan for a lost 17th-century ship are divided over the likelihood that they've located the resting place of the long-lost Griffin.

Shipwreck hunters and scientists retrieved a 20-foot-long wooden beam from the lake bottom near Green Bay last June. They were disappointed to find it wasn't connected to shipwreck debris.

Nbw, reports obtained by The Associated Press show that some experts with the team believe the timber was simply part of an underwater fish-netting apparatus commonly used a century and more ago.

Mission leader Steve Libert, of Charlevoix, and his allies insist the beam is probably the bowsprit of the Griffin or another vessel. He says he plans to continue searching this summer.

The Griffin and its cargo of furs were last seen in 1679.

Operation Petunia to come after Memorial Day

Annual flower-planting event set for Thursday, May 29

CATHERINE DEWEY
COURIER CONTRIBUTOR

CHARLEVOIX — Spring is in the air, which means it is time for Keep Charlevoix Beautiful's Operation Petunia. Most years this annual event takes place right before Memorial Day, but this year it was postponed and will be on Thursday, May 29.

The community is invited to come out at 5 p.m. and start planting the colorful flowers. After planting, all volunteers are invited to a picnic.

The Rotary Club of Charlevoix will host a picnic in East Park to celebrate an evening of hard work and community spirit.

"I believe the community involvement is the best part of Operation Petunia. Many Charlevoix residents have planted petunias for the past 32 years, and being able to participate gives you a sense of community pride," said Aaron Wilkin, Keep Charlevoix Beautiful board member.

This year the organization will once again be planting the petunias in the road side beds. A generous donation from Todd Wyett allowed for an additional 55 hanging baskets in the downtown area, including along Antrim, Mason, Clinton and Park streets.

Last year, the beautification group hung baskets along part of Park street to see if the community preferred the look of roadside flower beds or hanging plants. After a community survey, it was decided to keep the roadside bed tradition.

Operation Petunia seeks a few more block captains who will lead their crews in planting. Anyone interested in taking on this role is asked to contact Steve Bennett at (231) 497-4080.

Once the planting is done, it still takes the community to keep Charlevoix and the petunias beautiful. Organizers ask residents to mark their calendars for the community weeding days from 4-7 p.m. on Wednesday, June 25, and Tuesday, Aug. 5.

with a treat provided to all the volunteers.

Keeping the petunias alive and flourishing is the only way to ensure this tradition stays alive.

"The survival of operation petunia depends on the community's participation in the weeding days," Wilkin said.

Charlevoix County seeks full-time civil attorney

CRAM COUNNER
NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix County hasn't had an in-house civil attorney since John Jarema left the post more than two years ago, but the board of commissioners is aiming to make it a full-time staff position once again.

The commissioners interviewed two candidates last month — Boyne City attorney Tini Amer and Traverse City attorney Lisa Vogler — and will meet with a few others before making a decision in the coming months, board chairman Joel Evans said.

"We have an attorney right now that we're very happy with, but he's not an in-house attorney," Evans said. "Often times, we find that it would be to our advantage to have someone there in the county building in an office that we could go to very quickly and ask questions."

Attorney Bryan Graham of the Bellaire-based law firm Young, Graham, Elsenheimer & Wendling has worked for the county on a contract basis since 2012.

Evans said that while Graham has served the county well in that setup, commissioners would rather have a full-time attorney working with them and staff.

"We decided, let's look into having someone in the courthouse on county payroll," Evans said. "We interviewed two, we're probably going to interview some more."

In Evans' eight years on the board, only Jarema and Graham have held the civil counsel position. Jarema was in the publicly elected prosecuting attorney's office while also working as the county's civil attorney for an annual stipend.

Jarema resigned as civil counsel, though, in April 2012, saying he was short-staffed and couldn't devote the necessary time in the role. Later that year, current prosecuting attorney Allen Telgenhof defeated Jarema in the general election.

Evans said it is unlikely the county will turn to Telgenhof as a civil counsel candidate, but wouldn't rule it out.

"That's not off the table," Evans said. "If Allen came to us and said I would really like to do this, we would listen."

The interviews have occurred in special meetings of the county board of commissioners and while salary has been discussed with each candidate, Evans said no amount has been set for the position.

"Most of them have a figure in their resumes that they would like," Evans said. "You have to look at it and say we can't pay that much and you try to average it out. We're also checking around on other counties to see what they do."

Graham will continue in the position until an agreement is reached with one of the candidates, county coordinator Kevin Shepard said.

Workers clean up sewer spill

CHARLEVOIX — City workers responded this week to a leak in Charlevoix's sanitary sewer.

Pat Elliott, Charlevoix's public works superintendent, said a pipe connection broke Monday beneath a manhole.

"We had a minor sanitary sewer overflow out of a manhole," Elliott said.

Waste from the sanitary sewer filled up the manhole and then pushed through, overflowing to the street above on Pa-Ba-Shan Lane, about one mile down from the intersection with Old Orchard, Elliott said.

"No bodies of water were affected by this," he said. "It flowed down an asphalt access road and was contained there."

Workers cleaned the estimated 50-100 gallons of waste up from the street and the manhole within hours. No homes are along that stretch of road, so no residents were impacted by the spill, either, Elliott said.

BOYNE CITY

Grice waives preliminary exam

BOYNE CITY — A Boyne City man facing a manslaughter charge in connection with the death of his brother has waived the preliminary examination in the case.

In March Christopher Mellon Grice, 29, of Boyne City, was arrested on a charge of involuntary manslaughter related to the death of his brother, William Benjamin Grice. Christopher Grice waived the preliminary examination on Thursday, May 8, and the case has now been bound over to circuit court where a scheduling conference will take place soon.

Grice is free from custody after posting 10 percent of a $50,000 bond.

Authorities said William Grice was treated in the emergency room at Charlevoix Area Hospital on Dec. 22, 2013, and was pronounced dead on Dec. 23 at McLaren Northern Michigan Hospital in Petoskey where he underwent emergency surgery on his brain.

Smart Commute Charlevoix County challenge to heat up

CHARLEVOIX — Smart Commute Charlevoix County (previously Smart Commute Charlevoix) will take place June 2-5.

This is a fun-filled week-long event designed to increase awareness of, and demonstrate the ability to use, alternative methods of commuting that provide health, economic and environmental benefits. Smart Commute Charlevoix County is organized by a volunteer steering committee and is set to be partnering with Top of Michigan Trails Council to bring this event to Charlevoix County.

Area residents are encouraged to join the Smart Commute Charlevoix County Challenge, a friendly competition to encourage co-workers and friends to hike, walk, car-pool or use transit to get to work.

Participants track their preferred method of smart commuting Monday through Thursday June 2-5. There will be a traveling trophy of the "COVERED CLOCK" presented to the team with the highest percentage of employees commuting within their division, based on the overall number of employees. Divisions are small (1-4), medium (5-15), large (16+).

Registered participants get free breakfasts June 2-5 at various locations in Boyne City, East Jordan and Charlevoix. This year Charlevoix County will compete for the regional Smart Commute Challenge cup hoping to heat out Emmet County and the Traverse City Community, TART Trails.

To make sure cyclists are ready for commuter week, a local business will host a free bike maintenance and safety clinic.

North Country Cycle Sport, at 126 E. Water St. in Boyne City, will offer the class 6 p.m. Tuesday, May 20, with no preregistration necessary.

Event sponsors include: Charlevoix County Transit, Roush CleanTech, Irish Boar Shop, Bay Winds Federal Credit Union, The Grain Train, Charlevoix Area Hospital, Castle Farms, Revolution Bike, and North Country Cycle Sport. Each chapter brings change

Our lives are like a book; living life one chapter at a time and as the story unfolds we are eager to see what will happen next. We shouldn't race ahead to find out how it ends and we shouldn't make light of another person's chapter because you really can't judge a book by its cover. As you get further into your book you sometimes slow down; like any well written story, you just don't want it to end. Whether your life reads like a series of short stories or feels a bit more like "War and Peace" your book will come to chapters that are difficult to get through.

Life presents us with challenges which can lead to making decisions that are life changing. Yesterday I spoke with a friend dealing with a chapter in her life she wasn't prepared for; the "How to care for an ailing husband while dealing with your own health issues." Do they have medical staff to come to their home or should they move entirely where they will both be able to receive help with their day to day living? Another friend shared her concerns about her parents' inability to drive and increased forgetfulness which led her to consider the decision of having her parents move into their family home. I don't know how their stories will end but hearing them share these chapters is helpful to them and reminds me to bookmark these events for future reference.

Our lives are so full when we are in our 20s, 30s and 40s that between work, keeping up a household, raising children and following family activities our lives begin to blur. Fortunately, many of us have taken photos of life events or kept a diary to remind us what took place during special moments in our lives. We watch our children grow up and then we watch them leave home to carve out new lives for themselves. Then we are left with tinges of sadness that life has moved too quickly and we wonder what will be in store for us as a new chapter is written.

When we've reached the summit of our careers or what I refer to as the summary chapter; some of us continue to work well into our 70th birthday still full of vim and vigor and worried that life would end if work did. Some retire early in order to travel and see places they've only read about. Some who have children in various states or countries will visit their children and grandchildren to make each moment special as you realize quality of time is much more important than quantity. Some of us become caregivers for our aging parents. And for some who have raised families and played host to many of the traditional holidays they may begin to think of downsizing to seek a much more carefree lifestyle.

In the latter chapters, we have collected many stories and realize that what we physically have accumulated is not as important as the story we have written. All of the places we've lived and the lives we've touched will be collected up and kept in the footnotes of our thoughts. This is also a time when we reflect and even go back and review a chapter that seems forgotten because this helps the story to make more sense. If you have reached a chapter in your life that's troubling you, remember to sit back, relax, let the story unfold and take time to appreciate all the good in your book. A good book is always worth a re-read and it may even change the ending.

LETTERS to the editor

Charlevoix welcomed us, so thanks

Editor:
Following a skiing accident at Boyne Highlands, my husband required back surgery. He was eventually transferred to Boulder Park Terrace for rehab. Neither of us knew anyone in the area, but we were pleasantly surprised by the kindness we experienced. The rehab staff started by finding me a convenient place in which to stay. The Weatherlane employees went out of their way to give me tips on walking routes, eateries and even the history of Charlevoix, including lending me a book to learn about the early settlers. While walking around town, someone always seemed to join me: Tina from the car wash, Marge and her friend with the big furry dog, and others braving the cold weather. Janice at the Art Center even gave me her name and number if I wanted more information on Charlevoix. Every place in which I ate, the servers were friendly and attentive, making me feel at home. The workers at the coin-op were always helpful and pleasant. The Dairy Grille owner brought the carry-out order to my car so I wouldn't have to stand out in the freezing wind. The pharmacist and other employees at Walgreens and CVS went out of their way to direct me within their stores.

I would be remiss if I didn't mention the staff at Boulder Park Terrace. From the minute we were transferred from Petoskey hospital, the staff, the PTs, the OTs, the receptionists, the assistants, etc., were instrumental in my husband's rapid progress. The professional demeanor was always accentuated by the use of humor. The food was very tasty. My husband really enjoyed the Ice Cream Parlor in the afternoons. Other patients came and went, giving us the opportunity to meet so many Michiganders.

Thanks to all who came into our lives and made an unpleasant event enjoyable. We understand now how you gut out those winters — because you are surrounded by such a caring community.

Liquor at cinema a bad idea

Editor:
Liquor sales in a movie theater? What a poor idea. No matter that liquor will only be available at certain events. Have the owners not witnessed what often happens at professional sporting events when too much alcohol has been imbibed? College sports are well attended, without liquor being present. I'm not a teetotaler, but why must there be liquor at a movie theater? Yes, alcohol is often available at legitimate theaters but there's a different decorum at live theater or orchestral concerts than at a sporting event.

There are ample places in Charlevoix to purchase one's favorite drink.

You can be assured we will not be attending the cinema when liquor is made available.

Bridging our past with our future

LOOKING BACK...

When the settlement called Pine River, later named Charlevoix in 1879, was first inhabited, access to Pine Lake to the east was blocked by a peninsula. Only a small river flowed into Round Lake from that direction, now called Old River below the Chicago Club, exiting to the right of the club's boathouse on Round Lake. In 1867, a tug called the Commodore Nutt (above in the drawing) was built and delivered to the settlement for the purpose of towing logs up Pine Lake from the area's lumber camps for delivery to local sawmills. The vessel had to be hauled with great difficulty over the large sand bar that once blocked the area of what is now the channel entrance from Lake Michigan, then sailed across Round Lake. From there it was hauled with even more difficulty up the old river, whereupon it became the first steam boat ever to part Pine Lake's waters.

The Nutt was followed by the Minnie Warren two years later, used also for the same purpose. The sturdy, dependable Minnie served the settlement for more than 40 years. Both little boats were named after the best man and maid of honor at the wedding of Tom Thumth and Lavinia Warren, two of P. T. Barnum's most popular attractions in his circus. Minnie (right) was Lavinia's sister. This photograph became one of famed photographer Mathew Brady's bestselling cabinet cards.

WATCH promotes Idle Free campaign

ERICA RAKOWICZ
NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — To make residents and visitors aware of the effects to the environment, your health and your wallet, WATCH, Water and Air Team Charlevoix, presents the Idle Free campaign.

For more than 10 years, WATCH has pushed out the Idle Free campaign, which is an effort to get the community to turn off their engines while waiting for the Charlevoix bridge. This effort is able to improve the air quality of the city.

"We have banners lining the downtown streets of Charlevoix from Memorial Day to Apple Fest in October which say, 'Be Idle Free, turn off your key' as a reminder to each driver to turn off their vehicle while waiting for the bridge in Charlevoix," said Michelle Rick-Biddick, executive director of WATCH.

Rick-Biddick believes that this campaign has made a large impact on drivers' behaviors. WATCH also receives much appreciation from downtown merchants for their efforts to improve quality of air each year.

WATCH took time to gather information from the Environmental Defense Fund, Union of Concerned Scientists, National Wildlife Federation, Environmental Protection Agency and Natural Resources Canada for their press release for May.

This exploration on idle engines generated the following data:

Idle engines:

Waste gasoline, diesel fuel and money.

Emit nitrogen oxides, carbon monoxide, hydrocarbons which all have harmful effects on health like increased rates of cancer, asthma, allergies and heart and lung disease.

Create sulfur dioxide that contributes to acid rain.

Produce 20 pounds of carbon dioxide for each gallon of gas consumed.

Reduce mileage.

The pollutants mentioned above can harmfully affect children and the elderly because those two groups are more susceptible to respiratory illnesses.

In addition to the money aspect, WATCH noted how most sources agree that idling for more than just 10 seconds uses more fuel than when you restart the vehicle.

WATCH doesn't want these efforts to just be observed during the summer or just while waiting for the bridge. They urge community members and visitors alike to turn off their engine while going into the store, post office or waiting for the Ironton Ferry.

"Business owners and shoppers in downtown Charlevoix have told us how happy they are that more drivers are turning off their engines while waiting for the bridge, especially on hot, humid days," said Rick-Biddick.

To kick off this summer's season, new Idle Free banners will don the city streets and remind drivers to stay idle free.

"We are excited that the majority of our past sponsors will be sponsoring these banners again this year and look forward to having new sponsors join us in spreading the message."

If you as an individual or business are interested in being an Idle Free sponsor, contact Michelle Rick-Biddick, WATCH executive director. WATCH is a nonprofit organization which can be contacted at (231) 224-6116 or watchcharlevoix@gmail.com.

Mother of the Year named by Lions

EAST JORDAN — The East Jordan Lions Club named Barbara Burks the 2014 Mother of the Year at its 46th annual Mother Daughter Banquet on Saturday, May 10, at East Jordan High School, where 200 guests enjoyed dinner music by harpist Jan Goodwin and a meal catered by Joe Krumholz of the Jordan Inn.

Burks is the mother of five children, 14 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. She is described as a caring, thoughtful, loving and giving person. She has shared her values with her own children, her foster children, family and friends.

A natural teacher, Burks believes the value of a dollar is much higher when "you've earned it yourself, and if you give to others around you, the reward will actually be your own. There is immeasurable strength in leaning on family and trusting in God. In her spare time, Burks loves to tend her plants, kayak and camp.

East Jordan Lions Club officials said they are proud to have named Barbara Burks as 2014 Mother of the Year.

Academy students collect rubbish, donations

CHARLEVOIX — This year's Earth Day became the second annual trash pickup for the students of Northwest Academy in Charlevoix.

As a school, the group collectively picked up more than 200 pounds of trash, which is more than twice as much as last year's pickup. While walking the back streets and downtown Charlevoix, the students experienced a great opportunity for service learning within their community.

Besides picking up along the streets and alleyways of Charlevoix, the kids, along with many of their teachers, found trash at Lake Michigan, the compass, and even gardens located around town.

Afterwards, the students took the trash back to the school so it could be sorted and analyzed by the math and science classes before being properly disposed of or recycled. Tying the analysis to their studies made the project a good service learning opportunity.

Students also completed many "green" projects, including raising environmental conservation awareness and investigating what it means to live green.

Northwest Academy also used the cleanup to help raise funds for the school. Before the pickup, Northwest students went to many local businesses for donations and pledges based on the amount of trash they picked up. The money pledged and donated will go toward an educational trip to Detroit at the end of May!

Donations remain welcomed at Northwest Academy, on the corner of Bridge Street and Hurlbut Road, or send them to Northwest Academy, 115 W. Hurlbut Road, Charlevoix, MI 49720.

Charlevoix hospital recognizes its nurses

National Nurses Week annually runs May 6-12

CHARLEVOIX — In recognition of National Nurses Week, Charlevoix Area Hospital expresses its thanks to the registered nurses who make a tremendous difference in the lives of countless patients each year. Registered nurses work tirelessly to ensure each patient has a comfortable and safe experience during an office visit or hospital stay.

Every year, National Nurses Week focuses attention on the various ways America's 3.1 million registered nurses work to save lives and to improve the health of millions of individuals. This year, the American Nurses Association (ANA) has selected "Nurses:

Leading the Way" as the theme for 2014.

"Registered nurses help make a difference in patient care. This group of individuals provides compassionate care and comfort to individuals needing medical attention," said Bernadette Cole, chief nursing officer at Charlevoix Area Hospital. "Quality care is based on medical excellence and the one-on-one attention registered nurses are able to provide for people."

Annually, National Nurses Week begins on May 6, marked as RN Recognition Day. It then ends on May 12, the birthday of Florence Nightingale, the founder of nursing as a modern profession. Registered nurses comprise the largest health care profession and National Nurses Week is devoted to highlighting the ways in which they work to improve all aspects of health care. From bedside nursing, to the halls of research institutions, state legislatures, and even Congress, the depth and breadth of the nursing profession is changing to meet the ever expanding healthcare needs of our society.

WALLOON LAKE

New hotel planned for Walloon Lake waterfront

More Charlevoix County construction by Borisch family

RYAN BENTLEY
NEWS-REVIEW

WALLOON LAKE — Aiming to continue with efforts to revitalize Walloon Lake village's business district, members of the Borisch family broke ground Wednesday for a new 32-room waterfront hotel.

"The hotel, which we have tentatively named Hotel Walloon, is expected to be a high-service, top-of-the-line hotel, where our guests will start the relaxation process from the time they walk through the door, and that will continue as long as our staff can make it continue," said Matt Borisch, the hotel's operator-to-be and son of primary project investor Jon Borisch.

Plans call for the hotel to open this winter along M-75.

"One of the more exciting parts of this for my dad and me is to see the economy, that has started to grow in the village, continue to grow," Matt said.

The Borisch-owned Walloon Village Marina and Barrel Back restaurant are located just south of the hotel site, where a small condominium building recently was demolished to make way for the new construction.

"Certainly, it's a beautiful location for it," Jon Borisch said. "The people in the township have been receptive to it, for the most part, and so we're excited about it."

other retail and office spaces in new and renovated structures nearby, as well as a lakefront green space, and acquired and remodeled the Walloon Lake Inn, which offers fine dining.

Along with opportunities for warm-weather enjoyment on Walloon Lake, Matt noted that winter recreation opportunities — including the region's ski areas and snowmobile trails, for which a new link to Walloon Lake village is in the works — will help make the hotel a year-round destination. He noted that the project is expected to bring 20 direct and 20 indirect jobs.

Wolcast Corp., based in Saginaw, will play a key part in the hotel's construction.

Library teacher Dana Frank and the students and staff members at Charlevoix Elementary School show off the new books received from the Charlevoix Schools Foundation, Round Lake Bookstore and McLean & Eakin Booksellers. Through grants and local book fairs, officials collected more than $4,000 to buy the new library books. The school will host a book drive for an end-of-the-year book sale and donations of gently used children's books — from baby through middle school — would be appreciated by organizers and can be dropped off through Friday, May 23, at the school.

BOYNE CITY

Progressive group to host speaker on gerrymandering

BOYNE CITY — Bobbie Walton will be the speaker for the next meeting of the Progressive Women of Charlevoix County.

Walton recently retired from her position as president of Michigan National Organization of Women (NOW) and currently is a board member of the new Michigan citizen-activist group, Citizens Against Government Overreach. Walton will speak about establishing a non-partisan redistricting commission and how to bring this tool for fair governing to Michigan.

The meeting will take place Tuesday, May 20, at the Boyne District Library in Boyne City. Members may arrive at noon and the speaker will begin at 12:30 p.m. Members are invited to bring bag their lunch. The program is open to anyone interested in progressive issues, male or female. RSVP by May 19 by emailing progwomenchxcty@yahoo.com or calling (231) 582-0416.

Each state re-draws its congressional and state legislative districts every 10 years after the national census is completed. Nine other states have established a non-partisan redistricting commission that redraws the district boundaries. In Michigan, the Legislature redraws the districts. Historically, whichever political party has had control of the redistricting process following the national census, that party has redrawn districts to bring advantage to their candidates or incumbents. This process of oddly shaped, geographically skewed districts for political advantage is called gerrymandering.

While voters in Michigan voted overwhelmingly for President Barack Obama and for Democrats in the race for congressional seats across the board, we now have a congressional delegation of nine Republicans and five Democrats. Gerrymandered districts created this imbalance, and is made possible through partisan redistricting.

Walton will address three ways the voters in Michigan can take the situation in hand and create non-partisan redistricting. Those are:

No. 1: Bring pressure to bear on the current legislature to pass legislation to create a non-partisan redistricting commission.

No. 2: Vote in November to change the Republican legislature to a Democratic legislature and bring pressure to bear on them to redistrict immediately and then create non-partisan redistricting.

No. 3: Undertake an initiative and/or referendum campaign to amend the Michigan Constitution and pass implementing legislation to create non-partisan redistricting.

Walton will discuss the third option at length and review the strategy to bring non-partisan redistricting to Michigan.

Walton served for more than 20 years as an advocate for victims of domestic violence, as both a volunteer and during her eight year employment as chief of staff for an elected official in Montgomery County, Maryland. Her work with county councilmembers, prosecutors and the sheriff's staff led to the establishment of the Family Justice Center in Montgomery County, Maryland. The Center is a collaboration of several agencies providing a range of services to victims of family violence including the prosecution of abusers, counseling and social services for all family members affected.

Walton received several awards for her work with survivors of family violence while in Maryland, including the first award made in this category by the Montgomery County NOW chapter. She was recognized for her advocacy for victims by the governor of Maryland and the county executive. Walton also served as executive director for Common Cause Maryland, lobbyist and treasurer for Maryland NOW, AmeriCorps volunteer coordinating after-school programs for at-risk youth and working with the Montgomery County Police Youth Services Division.

Walton and her husband were small business owners in Maryland and Washington, D.C., before they retired and moved to Michigan. She served for several years on the board for the Mentoring Task Force for Montgomery County, Maryland.

Walton has worked with women victims in Michigan since retiring here in 2008. She advocates for better services for women experiencing violence. She focuses on local government, including the courts, law enforcement and public policy. She has served on the board of the Flint Area League of Women Voters and is on the vestry of her church.

"I have had the luxury of doing what I found most fulfilling," she said.

The Progressive Women of Charlevoix County meets from noon-2 p.m. on the fourth Tuesday of the month. Locations alternate between Charlevoix and Boyne City. There are no membership fees and meeting announcements are by email only. For more information or to be added to the mailing list, email progwomenchxcty@yahoo.com online.

CHARLEVOIX — Voters in the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District showed a 71 percent approval rating to renew the vocational-technical education millage for 2014 to 2017.

The fourth renewal of this millage, since its placement in 1996, helps to provide available specialized training in highly technical careers for students throughout the district.

For the four-year period, the renewed property tax levy will involve a rate of 75 cents on each $1,000 of taxable valuation.

"We're thrilled with it," said Rick Diebold, superintendent of the Charlevoix-Emmet ISD.

Diebold thanked the community for support of the renewal.

"We've really got a great relationship with our regional business community.

They've shown overwhelming support with all the CTE programs we provide," he said.

Career and Technical Education programs available for area high school students

ERICA RAKOWICZ
NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — Career and Technical Education (CTE) programs are available throughout the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District as a way to not only educate students early on about future career pathways, but also to give students necessary life skills.

"They can either be introduced to something with potential for their future — or the exact opposite," said Charlevoix principal, Suzanne Klinger. "They can do their career shopping early, here."

CTE programs are available in graphics and printing technology, business administration and management, TV and film production, broadcasting, information technology, marketing, automotive, drafting and design technology, woodworking

"It's made me overall a better worker."

— Thomas Sarasin, Charlevoix 10th grade student and furniture making, health occupations, creative teaching, agriscience and natural resources, culinary arts and construction technology.

Charlevoix High School houses one of the five construction technology programs in the area. The program consists of house-building skills, blueprint reading, power tool operation, construction layout and building regulation, framing, electrical, plumbing, dry-wall, roofing, painting and finish work skills, as well as many other skills.

"It definitely helped me improve my math," said Thomas Sarasin, a 10th grade construction technology student at Charlevoix High School. "It's made me overall a better worker."

The advanced construction technology class works daily on building a house from start to finish, outside of the school's construction technology classroom.

"They can see the fruit of their labor with daily progress and watching the house come together to the finished project," said Charlevoix construction technology program teacher, Norman Carlson.

The program then goes on to sell the house to recoup the cost of the project.

"Many students have continued on to work in the construction industry as a career as well as continued on to the university level," said Carlson.

Other students involved in the construction technology program don't see construction in their professional future but partake for other reasons.

"I'm always going to have to learn how to work on my house," said Jake Seger, a 10th grade student involved in the program.

In addition to the experience, the completion of a CTE program holds the possibility of articulated credit, dual enrollment, direct credit, certificate programs and business and industry certification.

For more information, contact a specific school's principal or counselor, or call Char-Em ISD at (231) 547-9947.

"It's all regulated, so we don't have an option," previously said Steve Teunis, plant superintendent.

Lake Michigan water is not directly used in the wastewater treatment process, but the big lake is the city's municipal water supply. The cold winter water never warms enough — even after being used by households and businesses across the community — to allow for the chemical reactions needed to treat the sanitary sewer-sourced flow.

"It's that coldness that prevents the biology functioning properly," said Mark Prein, the consulting engineer for the project.

The biological process isn't hampered in summertime, but winter effluent ammonia rates remain unac-

Charlevoix has until October 2015 to build facilities to meet state standards, then an additional two months to bring ammonia discharge rates into compliance. City authorities originally built

The ship's current owners bought it in 2000 and after extensive repairs and maintenance improvements, first sailed the ship as the Peacemaker in 2007 with the mission to be a seagoing representation of the "life of peace and unity," according to online information about the schooner. High School and College Students Need Help Finding a Summer Job?

Eye-catching CV + well-prepared Interview = a job for sure!

At last, the school year is finished. But it's not the time to relax for you students. You have to find a summer job as soon as you can in order to be able to pay for at least some of your expenses when September comes around again. To maximize your chances of landing a good summer job you should count on an eye-catching CV and a well-prepared interview.

As far as the CV is concerned, it won't help to write a huge tome. You've never held a job before? Then limit your CV to one page emphasizing your talents, interests, volunteer work, etc. The document should be two or three pages long at the most and be written in clear, concise language using the same terms as in the job offer. Your CV has had the (hoped-for) effect and you've been able to get an interview. Good for you! But what strategy do you adopt now? First of all, you have to show the right attitude, that's to say, be confident without being arrogant. The trick is to show sincerity as genuine people inspire confidence. Moreover, facts should be emphasized rather than opinions. Saying that you would make a great day-camp counsellor isn't as valuable as recounting how you managed to keep busy your neighbor's six children who you looked after all last summer! It is also important to be exact, concise and coherent in what you say, being sure to mention any positive comments made about you. Good luck in your job search.

Rayders go 1-1 at Caro tourney

DREW KOCHANNY
NEWS-REVIEW

CARO — The Charlevoix High School baseball team would see a seven game win streak come to an end on Saturday at the Caro baseball tournament, as they finished with a win and loss over the weekend.

The Rayders would beat Caro 10-6 in their opening game of the tournament, before falling to Cass City in the championship game, 11-8.

Moving to 15-5 overall on the season, Charlevoix baseball coach Allen Telgenhof knew the tournament would be a good experience boost for his Rayders.

"We like to travel downstate to see different competition, so this will be good for us, despite the loss," said Telgenhof.

Against Caro, Charlevoix sent Nate Moon to the mound, where he'd throw a complete six innings, tossing six hits and three walks, while striking out seven.

Each team scored a run in the first and second inning, before Caro took a 5-3 lead heading into the fourth inning.

The bats would come on for the Rayders, however, as Charlevoix scored two runs in both the fourth and fifth innings and ended with a three run sixth inning.

Will Telgenhof went 4-for-4 with three runs batted in, Christian Matye had two hits and an RBI, Hunter Cox, Luke Klinger, Andrew Michaud and Austin Putman all added a hit each, while Putman had two RBI.

also finished with an RBI each.

In the championship game against Cass City, the Rayders fell behind 2-0 after the first inning, but would come back to tie it at 2-all in the top of the third.

"A pair of five-run fourth and fifth innings from Cass City would set the Rayders back, but they continued to battle, adding a four-run sixth in the loss.

"We hit well all day but played a tough squad in Cass City," added Telgenhof. "They had two huge innings where we couldn't get the third out. Still, we battled back and had the bases loaded with one out in the seventh but couldn't get the clutch hit."

Certa and KeNen Borths each had two hits in the contest, while Telgenhof, Moon, Cox and Matye added a hit each.

Certa and Telgenhof also had two RBI, while Moon and Borths each had one.

Pitching for the Rayders, Cox took the mound to start, allowing six hits and eight walks, while striking out five over four innings.

After six earned runs came in, Borths replaced Cox, giving up five hits, with two walks. Moon would also pitch an inning of relief.

Charlevoix will host Elk Rapids on Friday, May 16, in a Lake Michigan Conference meeting.

Rayder boys run to win at Boyne Invite, girls place third

NEWS-REVIEW

BOYNE CITY — Relaying to the finish.

With regionals less than a week away, area teams had one more chance to prove themselves at the Boyne City Invitational on Monday at Earl Brothers' Field.

Once again it was the Charlevoix boys and the Harbor Springs girls' team putting up the numbers, particularly in the relay events, as each earned wins in three out of the four relay events.

The Charlevoix boys took first overall with a meet total of 121, followed by Cheboygan with 112; East Jordan, 89; Boyne City, 74; St. Ignace, 67; Harbor Springs, 51; and Grayling, 37.

For the girls, St. Ignace took first with a 170.5, followed by Harbor Springs with 112; Charlevoix, 89; Boyne City, 51.5; Cheboygan, 46; East Jordan, 46; and Grayling, 28.

Harbor Springs girls coach Emily Kloss was happy with her runners once again as they head into their Division III Regional.

"I'm pleased, I feel like we're probably where we want to be with regionals this weekend," she said. "We came here today trying to get a few personal bests and we did."

Taking three wins in the relay events was really nothing new for Kloss and her team, after setting a school record in the 1600 meter relay less than a week ago. Depth and flexibility with her runners has been key.

CHARLEVOIX — One was all they needed.

Charlevoix sophomore Kylee Scholten crossed a ball to senior forward Katie Kitley who was able to finish the ball and find the back of the net 12 minutes into the game.

The goal would be all the Charlevoix High School girls' soccer team would need as they held off Elk Rapids, 1-0, Monday in a Lake Michigan Conference contest.

With the win, Charlevoix, ranked No. 7 in the most recent Michigan High School Soccer Coaches Association Division IV state rankings, improves to 12-5-1 overall, 10-1 league.

"This was a big win for us tonight," Charlevoix coach Pete Scholten said. "Elk Rapids is a really tough opponent. They are the kind of team that is fast to the ball and never gives up."

"The game was a battle right down to the last seconds of the game."

Charlevoix junior goalkeeper Gloria Greene had nine saves in goal en route to earning the shutout for the Rayders.

Charlevoix plays host to East Jordan in a league contest today, Thursday, at the Charlevoix High School soccer field.

On Saturday at the annual Petoskey Girls' Soccer Invitational at the Click Road Soccer Complex in Petoskey, the Rayders proved what they were made of.

Rayders fall to T.C. Central, Harbor Springs indoors

DREW KOCHANNY
NEWS-REVIEW

HARBOR SPRINGS — Spring weather often tends to alter the location and outcome of a variety of sports in Northem Michigan.

Monday came no differently for the Charlevoix girls' tennis team, as their tri-meet against Traverse City Central and Harbor Springs was moved inside to Bay Tennis and Fitness.

The Rayders would fall to Central 6-2 and fall to the Rams as well.

Even with the pair of losses, Charlevoix coach Audra Randall was just happy to get her team ready before Regionals in the near future.

"We were glad to get some tennis in against some good competition to prepare for Regionals," said Randall. "I have been trying to get that match up against T.C. Central and finally had the opportunity, even in abbreviated prosel."

Playing eight game prosels against the Trojans, the Rayders picked up wins at No. 2 singles where Lexi Barnes defeated Emma Sheldon of the Trojans, 8-6 and Rae Claramunt defeated Shaina Kalbfleisch, 8-4, at No. 3 singles.

Against Harbor Springs, the Rayders played both prosels and full matches because of time restraints.

Barnes once again earned a win for the Rayders, defeating Harbor's No. 2 singles player, Abby Knoodle, 6-4, 6-1.

"She probably had one of her best outings this season," added Randall. "She is setting a good pace for regionals this Thursday."

The No. 2 doubles team of the Rayders nearly earned a win, as Jennaca Holecheck and Becca Moon lost 6-4, 3-6, 4-10 to Harbor's Eva Zoerhof and Mikayla Dickinson.

Claramunt also had a strong showing against Harbor's Emily Lesky, but was defeated 6-4, 6-2.

Charlevoix tennis coach

"She has the ability to win against Emily, she may still get that opportunity at Regionals and the conference tourney," added Randall, confident in Claramunt.

The Rayders were scheduled to play a non-league match on Wednesday, May 14, at Ludington. Also, the Rayders defeated Elk Rapids on Friday, 7-1, in a Lake Michigan Conference dual match.

Singles results: 1-Madi Carey (CX) def. Katie Atkinson, 6-0, 6-4; 2-Lexi Barnes (CX) def. Ashleigh Allen, 6-0, 6-4; 3-Rae Claramunt (CX) def. Danielle Donahue, 6-1, 6-0.

Rayders prove capable of rising to the challenge, coming away with a win and pair of losses on a long Saturday of soccer in the six-team tournament.

The Rayders beat the Northmen 1-0 in their opening game of the day, fell to Ann Arbor Skyline 3-0 in their second game of the day and then fell against Gaylord in game three, 1-0.

"Three games in one day are physically draining for all teams," Scholten said. "It's tough to play three quality teams all in one day."

The Petoskey win for the Rayders came as only the second for Charlevoix in the history of the program, as the Northmen fell 1-0.

"This was a huge win for our girls," added Scholten. "Petoskey is and will always be a quality soccer team."

Scoreless at the half,

Charlevoix junior Leah Davis booted in what would be the lone and game deciding goal at 15:20 in the second half off a pass from Shelby Robinson.

Gloria Greene took the win in net for the Rayders, recording nine saves.

"We were minus two starters today due to illness and injury," said Scholten. "Today was a great opportunity for others to step up. Senior forward Katie Kiteley did a great job dropping back into our midfield today."

"I was pleased with how we maintained possession and really made Charlevoix chase the ball for long stretches," Petoskey coach Zach Jonker said. "Unfortunately we didn't turn that possession into enough quality chances. We got behind their backline twice in the first five minutes and could have been up 2-0, but we came away empty-handed."

"Those are the chances we needed to convert if we want to win games," Jonker added. "Charlevoix has a bunch of big, strong athletic kids and they really fought hard in the second half to turn the tide a bit."

Against Skyline, Charlevoix would head into halftime down 1-0, then had another two goals go in after the half, falling 3-0 in the game.

Greene added another nine saves for the Rayders.

Playing the Blue Devils in their final matchup of the day, Charlevoix would let in a converted corner kick late in the first half, the only goal of the match.

Charlevoix took nine shots on net, while Greene faced 17 from Gaylord.

Even with the two losses, Scholten was pleased with the way his team came out from a tournament against good, proven teams.

"I was really impressed with our girls' ability to keep a high level of play throughout the day," he added.

"It's nice to be able to switch it around with different people," Kloss added. "It's nice to include more people, I think you get a little more out of the relay, because they like to be part of it."

As good as the Charlevoix boys have been in relay events throughout the season, Rayder coach Ken Plude knows his boys can be even better, especially on their handoffs, which is what they'll work on throughout their week off.

"Handoffs and exchange zones, they cost us twice already in the 800 relay, almost got disqualified today," Plude said. "Handoffs will be all week. That's the number one thing."

The Charlevoix team of Justin Pearl, Tristan Rudolph, CJ Rice and Jackson Buday placed first in the 3200 meter relay at Boyne City, earning a time of 8:23.39.

In the 800 relay, Nike Plude, Micah Peebles, Benny Patkai and Jarod McLean took first in 1:33.70 and in the 1600 meter relay, Pearl, McLean, Plude and Patkai earned a time of 3:34.38, also a first place finish.

Plude would also place first in the 400 meter dash with a time of 51.04, while Rudolph also won the 800 meter run in 2:04.18.

East Jordan earned four first place finishes in the running events, two each from Ryan Graham and Josh Wojan.

Graham won both the 100 meter and 200 meter dash in times of 11.75 and 23.46, respectively, while Wojan earned first place finishes in the 1600 meter run and 3200 meter run, earning times of 4:33.54 and 10:10.05.

In the field events, East Jordan's Ben Walton took first in the shot put with a throw of 45 feet, 1 inch.

Sam Hovic also earned a first place finish for the Rayders, winning the pole vault by clearing 11 feet, 6 inches.

For the girls, Harbor Springs' 3200 meter relay team of Alexa Wespiser, Abby Detmar, Emily Bosley and Kyra LaRue took first in 10:37.15.

The Rams' team of Reagan Demuse, Salix Sampson, Fleming and Cullip also won the 800 meter relay in 1:52.87, and a team of LaRue, Sampson, Detmar and Cullip took first in the 1600 relay, finishing in 4:14.58.

Cullip also won the 400 meter dash in 1:00.55, while Fleming took first in the pole vault at 8 feet even.

Host Boyne City earned first place finishes in the 100 and 300 meter hurdles events, where Kylie Hicks placed times of 16.28 seconds and 48.34 seconds.

The Charlevoix girls' team took in wins in the 800 meter run where Caroline Boss won with a time of 2:19.34 and Madeline Boss in the high jump, as she cleared 4 feet, 10 inches.

Regionals for Boyne City, East Jordan, Charlevoix and Harbor Springs will take place on Saturday, May 17, at East Jordan. Field events begin at 9 a.m., with running events to follow.

Charlevoix City Council opts not to vote on controversial marina proposal

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix city leaders on Monday opted to float a marina expansion proposal to a committee to further study the issue following a heated public hearing at city hall.

More than 50 people crammed inside city council chambers for the public hearing and to learn to what decision officials came regarding the plan to potentially spend hundreds of thousands of taxpayer dollars to upsize the public harbor. Despite the large number gathered, just a handful of speakers approached the podium during public comments.

Dozens discuss planned old Camp Sea-Gull overhaul

CHARLEVOIX — Hayes Township recently received a grant for $8,250 from the Charlevoix County Community Foundation to be used toward the development of a park master plan for the newly acquired Hayes Township Park, formerly Camp Sea-Gull.

The park is a 20-acre parcel located on the north shore of Lake Charlevoix and was purchased in January 2014 with the assistance of a grant from the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund and private donations. In conjunction with an anonymous donation, the township has now retained the services of Landscape Architects and Planners Inc. to guide the township in developing the master plan.

The township hosted a special public meeting on Monday to take input from the public. Township officials first invited the public to tour the park in person at a 6 p.m. gathering. Then the public moved to the township hall for a meeting intended to accept comments

Joppa House public event planned

Open house a 'thank you' to donors, community

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — New women's and children's homeless shelter Joppa House will — likely for the only time — be opened to the public for tours during an open house event.

"It's a thank you to the community for all of the support because we couldn't have done it without that support," said the Rev. Ginger Stevens, who spearheaded the effort to open the new transitional home to combat a growing homelessness problem.

The open house will be 11 a.m.-3 p.m. Saturday, May 24, at Joppa House, 801 State St., Charlevoix. There will be live music for entertainment, along with refreshments served, while inside the facility visitors can explore with self-guided tours.

"It's a celebration. We are open and we are going to take in residents the first week of June," Stevens said.

Joppa House's intake committee will soon begin to review the residency applications already submitted. The facil-

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix County coordinator Kevin Shepard last week received a hefty salary increase with his new employment contract update.

Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners on May 14 decided in a 5-1 split decision to approve Shepard's new contract, which comes with a bump of nearly $8,000 in his annual salary. Commissioners met in closed session to discuss the personnel issue and when they emerged, commissioner Larry Sullivan cast the sole dissenting vote.

No parade this year, but two services scheduled

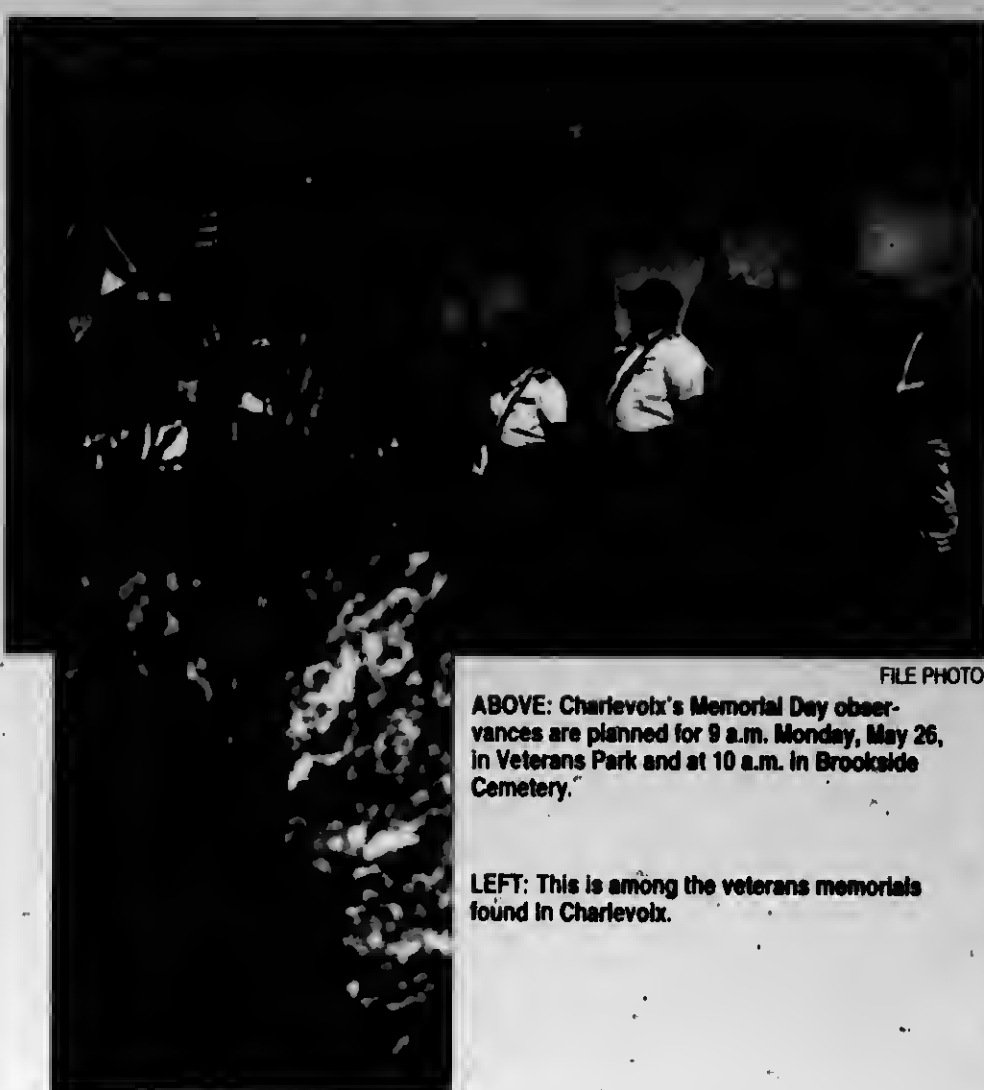

CHARLEVOIX — Monday is Memorial Day and there will be two services in Charlevoix.

Young Charlevoix artists win scholarships

Two local seniors win Waterfront Art Fair, Jordan River Arts Council awards

ANNE KELLY
COURIER CONTRIBUTOR

CHARLEVOIX — On Wednesday, the Charlevoix Council of the Arts presented its Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair Scholarships at the annual Honors Assembly. Charlevoix seniors Pauline Sheets and Annaliese Voci were awarded scholarships — valued at $1,000 each — for their schools of choice.

Waterfront Art Fair Scholarship winners are based on an application essay, acceptance into a college or university art program, and a presentation of work to members of the Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair Committee.

Mary Beth McGraw, retiring Charlevoix Public Schools art teacher who also spearheads the Waterfront Art Fair Committee, and, high school art teacher John Guirey are understandably proud of the girls' accomplishments. Their work, along with a cross section of art displays from all grades, had recently been featured in the Spring Art Show at Charlevoix Elementary School.

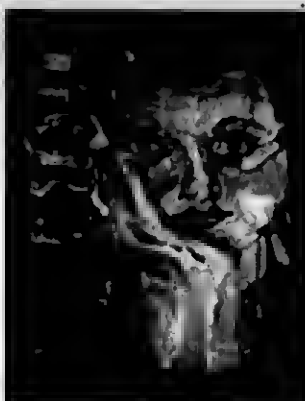

Pauline will study graphic design at the Savannah College of Art and Design next fall. Annaliese plans to study theater design and production at Columbia College Chicago.

The two students previously were also recognized for their work when on Sunday, May 18, the Jordan River Arts Council awarded its 2014 Scholarship Awards to the two Charlevoix seniors, along with one junior art student from Concord Academy Boyne. The highest scholarship awards, the $1,500 Betty Osborne Scholarship, given in the donor's honor to "a high school senior upon receipt of their first semester grades at a College of Fine Art," went to Pauline, while the $1,000 Betty Beeby Scholarship "awarded to a high school senior upon receipt of their first semester grades at a College of Fine Art" went to Annaliese.

The Jordan River Arts Council Award of $750, "awarded to a junior or senior based on the merit of the work submitted," was presented to Concord Academy Boyne junior Lacey Kotalik, who hopes to study art at the Kendall School of Art and Design. Receiving four honorable mention awards of $100 each were Julie Atwood of East Jordan, Roger Dickinson of Ellsworth, Alison Burnell of Boyne City and Emily Nixon of Ellsworth.

Cynthia Tschudy, Jordan River Arts Council board president-elect, said she has been involved in the organization's Scholarship Show for the past seven years.

"Our Scholarship Show attracts student artists from Charlevoix and Antrim counties. The kids do amazing work," she said. "During the jurying of the show, all names and school identifications are covered so that the judges will choose from the applicants who have submitted their work from many schools, completely without bias. The quality of the entries is also a tribute to their teachers who have done a really good job."

Serving as jurors for this year's art scholarship competition were husband and wife professional artists Meredith Krell and Steve Toorman.

Council: No stand on land swap

Opposition to Fisherman's Island issue dies by 4-3 vote

CHARLEVOIX — In a rare 4-3 split decision among Charlevoix City Council members — in which Mayor Norman Carlson Jr. cast the tie-breaking vote — city leaders voted down a resolution intended to take a stand against the potential land swap between St. Marys Cement and the local state park along Lake Michigan.

Councilwoman Shirley Gibson, of the Third Ward, introduced a resolution intended to show Charlevoix city government's displeasure with any possible land transaction that involves "swapping, trading or selling" state park land and "encourages St. Marys Cement to abandon its efforts to apply to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources to gain possession of Bells Bay Road and 190 acres of Fisherman's Island State Park land in Charlevoix County."

The move drew impassioned testimony both from those in the audience and on City Council.

"The community is overwhelmingly opposed to the land swap," Gibson said, further contending the city should strive to protect the park, "not to sell it off to the highest bidder."

Councilman Leon Perron, of the First Ward, agreed wholeheartedly with Gibson.

"There is no amount of profit in the world worth trading off those 190 acres," Perron said.

Others on the council disagreed about whether city government should take a stance on this possible land transaction at this time, or even at all since the park is outside city limits.

Carlson Jr. pointed out how St. Marys has been a good neighbor to the city and does not have a pending land-exchange request for property at the Charlevoix state park. He further argued the company made the initial concept public and then backed off the initial pitch in the face of heated opposition, to instead return to the drawing table with a community committee to further explore the issue.

"They could have brought it straight to the state," Carlson Jr. said, later adding that, "Quite honestly, they don't need public approval."

That point became underscored during public comments. One person even pointed out how the ultimate decision is made by one per-

CHARLEVOIX — A Charlevoix-based environmental group donated a sound level meter to be used by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's marine division.

Members of Water and Air Team Charlevoix — often known as WATCH — have long wanted to address the issue of excessively loud boats often heard from across Lake Charlevoix, said Bill Henne, a member of the organization's board of directors.

Nancy Ferguson, president of WATCH, said excessive noise from vessels with loud pipes and motors garnered complaints from area residents for more than a dozen years.

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix Public Schools' leaders on Monday unanimously voted to approve a new non-discrimination policy after a surprise visit by the Office of Civil Rights.

Last fall, the Charlevoix district was randomly selected for an on-site visit by the civil rights branch of the U.S. Department of Education. As a result of the federal findings, the district needed to

The new policy calls for the Charlevoix Board of Education not to discriminate in programs, activities or employment on the basis of "race, color, national origin, sex (including sexual orientation and transgender identity), disability, age, religion, height, weight, marital or family status, military status,

Send in the clones

When we think of the word clones, the image likely to come to mind is some science fiction tale of duplicating giant, aggressive humans to make up an invincible army. More realistically, a clone is an exact genetic duplicate of any organism. Clones are rare and wonderfully difficult to produce from animals as complicated as we are. Clones of sheep, frogs and some other animals have been produced, but they don't have much value compared to the cost and difficulty of producing them.

Among plants, clones are abundant and valuable. Many, if not most, plants have the capacity to produce clones of themselves. When you cut up a seed potato into pieces, each with at least one eye, the plants that grow from that process are clones. When you separate tulip bulbs from a clump of them that has grown under a single plant, the growth products of that process are clones. You could make money betting that all the tulip flowers produced from such a clump will be exactly the same color and form.

Plants that live on their own in nature are often clonal plants, producing exact duplicates of themselves. Sumac sends out below-ground runners that can produce new plants exactly like the parent plant. The end result is an often round clump of sumac with the oldest and largest plants in the center, and the youngest around the edges. In such a clump, all the plants are genetically identical.

Clones of common poplar trees do the same thing, and may eventually be many acres in size, with all the plants genetically identical. They will all turn color in the fall at exactly the same time, producing those golden Colorado mountainsides. Such a clone is really just one very large plant; the individual tree trunks are clones of the original parent tree.

Clonal reproduction is a common and successful strategy for plants in nature. In the sumac and poplar clones, all the buds open at exactly the same time, and even the branching pattern of the stems is duplicated in each plant.

You may be able to notice the clumps of early-blooming violets in your yard at this time of year. They are not quite the same sort of clones, but are the product of an unusual capacity of the violets. Violets bloom early and require insects for pollination and seed production. There are few if any of the correct sorts of insects available so early in the spring. Most of the violet flowers do not produce seed.

How then, do the clumps of violets develop? Violets do something almost remarkable. When the early flowers are not pollinated, the plant produces flowers underground. These are flowers that are normally self-pollinated, and produce seeds that are already planted. They are formally called cleistogamous. The word means hidden marriage. The subterranean flowers produce seeds that germinate in place and expand the clump of violets. The new plants are not exactly clones, because they come from flowers. But they are enough like the plant producing them to fare well in that environment. It's sort of like moving into a new community and living close to your relatives.

Clones and hidden marriages. Plants can be a never-ending source of wonder.

Military terms: Hells Bells

During the end of World War II, a sonar system was developed to detect mines. When a mine or mines were detected the equipment sounded a gong or bell sound. You can imagine that when the gong sounded every sailor said to himself, "hell those bells again." Hells Bells brought everyone to high alert.

Memorial Day

As a child I remember the Memorial Day parade in my hometown of Harbor Springs. The American Legion would lead the procession followed by the fire truck, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts and Brownies. Local merchants and farmers would add to the event. My grandfather, Bill Perry, from time to time, would add a team of horses and a dray to the parade. The whole procession would end up at Lakeview Cemetery for the solemn 21-gun salute and the playing of taps. All the veterans' graves were decorated with American flags. After the ceremonies, the crowd would disperse and quietly go home or to family gatherings.

So why do we have this day of remembrance? In order to answer the question let's look into the history of this day.

On May 5, 1868, Gen. John A. Logan, national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, issued general order No. 11 that: The 30th of May, is designated for the purpose of strewing with flowers, or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country.

The original Decoration Day has been changed over the years to Memorial Day, thus remembering and honoring the dead from any war. Memorial Day is now celebrated in almost every state on the last Monday in May. The National Holiday Act of 1971 (P.L. 90-363) was passed to formalize the date.

Several towns in the United States have claimed to be the birthplace of Decoration Day; including Columbus, Miss., Macon, Ga., Richmond, Va., Boalsburg, Pa., and Carbondale, Ill.

In 1915, Moina Michael conceived of the idea of wearing red poppies on Memorial Day, the National Moment of Remembrance resolution was passed in December 2000, which asks that at 3 p.m. local time, for all Americans "to voluntarily and informally observe in their own way a moment of remembrance and respect, pausing from whatever they are doing for a moment of silence or listening to taps."

Show your gratitude Have you ever wanted to show your gratitude to the troops, but didn't know how? Have you ever wanted to say "thank you" to a service person but you didn't? An easy way to show your gratitude is to look a service person straight in the eye, place your right hand over your heart and then extend the hand palm up. This indicates heart-felt warmth and thanks without saying a word.

Veterans and active-duty military members: Thanks for your service. NBF/DBF

CHARLEVOIX HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Bridging our past with our future

LOOKING BACK...

Round Lake was created during the retreat of the glaciers at the end of the last Ice Age, more than 10,000 years ago. It is called a kettle lake, imprinted by a huge block that either broke off the edge of the main body of ice as it passed over a depression and was snagged in place, or fell from an ice shelf a couple of miles up and slammed into the ground to leave a gigantic impression where it began to melt. Round Lake eventually filled up the triangular hole from Dixon Avenue to Hurlbut Street. Then the earth began to rebound from being under so much ice weight for centuries, channels were carved to the bigger lakes, the water started to drain off and Round Lake receded, but in stages. These stages created heaches and drop offs, best seen, as here, on the Belvedere Club, and the Chicago Club terraces. Belvedere Avenue is laid along the top of one terrace, then dips down to Ferry Avenue, another terrace. The terraces' ancient underlying formations and stages can be easily seen on a sunny day in late afternoon as one drives along Belvedere toward Bridge Street.

COMMUNITY Highlights

Local scouting troop marks 75th year

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix Boy Scout Troop 11 was originally chartered 75 years ago on April 30, 1939, by the Kiwanis Club of Charlevoix, which remain the chartering partner.

Troop 11 is one of the oldest troops in Michigan. Some of the historical highlights include being a service patrol at the opening of the Mackinac Bridge and members serving in the Governor's Honor patrol on Mackinac Island. In 2006, Troop 11 was given the Baden Powell Award for the having the perfect size troop (36), according to the founder of Scouting, Lord Baden Powell.

Troop 11 has given hundreds of hours of service to Charlevoix and some of the surrounding communities. These include several Eagle Scout projects, such as the new benches in front of the middle school, tree identification markers along the hiking trail at Fisherman's Island State Park, mile markers on the hike path, and the new sign by the bridge to welcome boaters into the harbor.

Some of Troop 11's Eagle Scouts have gone on to do great things in their adult years, including serving as a U.S. Army chaplain, government liaison to Japan, a documentary filmmaker, and another on his way through medical school.

The troop will host an open house 11 a.m.-1 p.m. Saturday, May 24, at the site of Charlevoix's cherry pie — where restoration work was an Eagle project — south of town along U.S. 31. The public is invited to attend.

Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan for the entire year.

Event organizers are in the process of reaching out to the community to find businesses that would like to participate by becoming one of the many table designers responsible for creating unique and interesting table designs to showcase their products and services in a visual way. Table favors for guests are included in the display at each table.

Another important aspect of the event planning is securing table captains. Table captains are responsible for filling seats at one of the 30 prospective tables.

Both table designers and captains are volunteer committee members who donate their services so the venue at Castle Farms is transformed into a cheerful, spring-like garden party atmosphere. Floral arrangements and unique centerpieces, created by talented and generous designers, result in festive tables decked out to welcome guests.

The Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan has provided crucial programs and services to thousands of women, children and families in the community for more than 35 years. Women Can/Women Do Charlevoix County is one of three annual fundraising luncheons organized by this nonprofit agency to help ensure the continuation of the center's services to those seeking and needing them.

New steps at Charlevoix Rotary cabin

CHARLEVOIX — The Rotary Club of Charlevoix members participated May 10 in their annual cleanup effort for summer campers at Camp Daggett.

This year, the work involved the installation of new steps to the Charlevoix Rotary cabin. The previous wooden steps deteriorated more and more in recent years. Before the steps became a safety concern, the club wanted to make a change to the steps, officials agreed. Rosetta/MDC provided the materials and Swanson K & D completed the installation.

Schooner docking approved

City Council signs off on tall ship, weather dependent

SHERI MCWHIRTER O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — If seafaring conditions are right, tall ship tours at Charlevoix's downtown marina will be an option for summer fun in early August.

City manager Rob Straebel on Monday told Charlevoix City Council members that if they agreed to waive docking fees for the schooner Peacemaker, its expected arrival date would be July 31 with an Aug. 4 departure date. All of that is dependent on weather conditions, as last summer marina workers faced problems with a large yacht at the end of the largest pier being pushed by wind off of Lake Michigan, he explained.

Pier stabilization work completed by city workers will help prevent that dock drifting situation from happening again, said Pat Elliott, public works superintendent, from the audience when asked by Straebel. But strong winds could lead to cancellation, city officials acknowledged.

Straebel said the crew of the Peacemaker is expected to offer sailing educational tours of the historically accurate schooner, constructed by an Italian family of boatbuilders on a riverbank in Brazil using traditional methods and tropical hardwood materials. The ship first launched in 1989 as the Avany and sailed as a charter vessel in the Caribbean Sea.

The ship's current owners bought it in 2000 and after extensive repairs and maintenance improvements, first sailed the ship as the Peacemaker in 2007 with the mission to be a seagoing representation of the "life of peace and unity," according to online information about the schooner. The ship also provides youth apprenticeships for rigging, sail-making, sailing, navigation, marine mechanics and carpentry.

MEDICAID PLANNING

PLAN NOW FOR THE ONES YOU LOVE

Many nursing home residents end up exhausting their assets on long-term care before qualifying for Medicaid. But, it doesn't have to be that way. The best time to plan for the possibility of nursing care is when you're still healthy.

Along with qualifying you for Medicaid benefits, Medicaid planning seeks to accomplish the following:

- Shelter your countable assets
- Preserve assets for your loved ones
- Provide for your healthy spouse (if you're married)

Family marks century at downtown pharmacy

RYAN BENTLEY
NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — The past century has brought some noticeable changes in how pharmacies operate, but one family's presence has provided a constant at a downtown Charlevoix drug store throughout that time.

As of 2014, members of the Ochs family have been part of the pharmacy operation at Central Drug Store, located at the corner of Bridge and Clinton streets, for 100 years.

F.N. Chapel founded the store in 1897 and would sell it to B.A. Herman. The first Ochs family member to work at the store, Harley Ochs, came there in 1914 as a pharmacist apprentice after completing a six-month pharmacy program at the Ferris Institute (now Ferris State University). Harley continued working for Herman at the store until 1929, when he acquired the business. With the Great Depression setting in soon after, Harley would have little money available at times, but the produce and livestock that many of his patients used for payment helped his family eat well.

Harley and his wife, Mildred, had two sons, Frank and James W. (Bill). Both worked at the store during their teens and college years, and also served in Europe during World War II. Bill served in the Army, while Frank — who completed the pharmacy program at Ferris in 1941 — was a pharmacist mate in the Navy.

During the war, Mildred posted pictures of each of her sons in Central Drug Store's front window. With others requesting opportunities to place pictures of their children and loved ones there as well, the window became filled with images of people from the community who were serving in the military.

Frank returned to work at his father's drugstore after the war, becoming Harley's business partner in 1954 and buying the store outright in the mid-1960s. Frank's work at the store continued until his death at age 88.

Frank's children, John and Virginia, began working at the store at an early age and stayed involved through their college graduations. Both attended Ferris State, with John graduating in 1969 and Virginia in 1973.

After working for Upjohn as a research pharmacist, John bought Central Drug Store from his father in 1982 and moved back to Charlevoix with his wife, Lani, and sons, Tom and Michael. John and Lani have shared pharmacist duties at the store for the 32 years since.

As John sees it, the family's long-running involvement at the store reflects a natural progression of each generation following in the footsteps of the previous one. He developed a sense during his early years at the store that pharmacy would be a fulfilling career.

"I've always liked science, and there was some science and math involved," John said.

In the 100 years since his family first got involved with the store, John noted that the medications dispensed there have evolved considerably in their form. A century ago, pharmacists typically compounded ingredients to formulate the particular product needed by a patient. Few medications came in tablets or other preformulated forms back then, but these are the most common way prescriptions are provided to patients at the store today.

In Northern Michigan and elsewhere around the United States, independent drugstores have become fewer and farther between in recent decades as pharmacy chains have grown. John believes a more personalized level of service has helped Central Drug Store persist as such competitors have arrived. With turnover in his staff rare, the pharmacist said employees have gotten to know many of the store's customers.

While John doesn't see other Ochs family members on track to take over the store in the future, he hopes at some point to find a buyer interested in keeping it running as an independent pharmacy.

"We have a niche here," he said. "I'd like to see that continue."

Central Drug Store will host celebration events on each Thursday in June to commemorate the Ochs family's 100 years of involvement in pharmacy there.

Stafford's plans new bistro at Edgewater Inn location

CHARLEVOIX — Dining and lodging company Stafford's Hospitality plans to open a new restaurant, The Drawbridge Bistro, this summer in Charlevoix.

Stafford's noted that the new restaurant will be situated at the Edgewater Inn, immediately north of the drawbridge spanning the Pine River Channel. It will occupy a space where Edgewater Bistro previously operated. The company plans to open The Drawbridge Bistro in July, following a few renovations and repairs.

"The Drawbridge Bistro is a natural fit to Stafford's Hospitality," said Stafford's Hospitality vice president David Marvin. "This is a convenient and casual location, with a beautiful view of Round Lake. We are excited to be working alongside the operators of the Edgewater Inn, a full-service landmark hotel in downtown Charlevoix."

The Drawbridge Bistro will be open for breakfast, lunch and dinner for hotel guests and the general public. Plans call for the menu to feature small plates, artisan pizzas and trendy food items.

"Admittedly, it varies slightly from the traditional Stafford's restaurants, but it has many of the same qualities Stafford's has always been known for: Breathtaking waterfront views, gracious hospitality, and a community rich with history, all in a very casual setting."

Stafford's vice president of food and beverage Brian Ewhank said. "Our team is very excited."

The restaurant's culinary team will be lead by chef Roh Graves-Wesolosky. Stafford's noted that Graves-Wesolosky has been a long-time employee of Stafford's Pier Restaurant and is excited to bring a new dining experience to Charlevoix.

City OK's requests for two studies

City Council moves forward with DeVos donation projects

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — City council members on Monday unanimously voted to send out two requests for proposals for economic studies, projects to be paid for by Amway Corporation president Doug DeVos.

At first, officials planned to spend the donated funds on studies of the downtown Charlevoix district, as well as the city's industrial park. And while the downtown market study remains in the works, the second study is changed.

City manager Rob Straebel explained to council members how the second study will now be for a complete community economic development market study.

"While the park will still be the main focus of the study, we also wanted to see what other opportunities were available for emerging markets besides manufacturing," he said.

Such other emerging opportunities across Northern Michigan include home-based businesses, think tanks and environmental-based companies, officials suggest.

The two requests for proposals for the market studies were approved with closing dates for bids on June 9. City leaders are expected to name the winning bidders for both projects, despite the funding coming from donated dollars.

DeVos offered to donate the funds for economic development purposes and city officials came up with these two market studies, choices made after working with a number of regional, state-wide and national resources.

Bidders are expected to be discussed at the second Charlevoix City Council meeting in June.

son employed at the DNR. Anne Zukowski, of Charlevoix, said she is against the land swap and also opposed to the idea of St. Marys' community committee because it is based on compromise. This is not an issue for compromise, she said.

"Just because (St. Marys has) been a good neighbor doesn't mean we have to agree with everything they do or want to do," Zukowski said.

Bill Jamnick, of Eveline Township, also criticized the community committee concept.

"We're talking about committees that have no standing," he said.

Jamnick further contended that whatever plan such a corporate-backed committee comes back with will include within current parkland more berms, noise and "all the nauseous things open pit mining brings."

In the end, Gibson, Perron and councilman Jeff Porter all voted in favor of the resolution, while council members Peggy Brennan, Lyte Gennett and Shane Cole all voted against the measure. Carlson Jr. broke the tie by voting down the proposed resolution.

"I think I need more facts," Gennett said.

"Any time you have noise that is irritating to people ... you think, is there something we can do?" Ferguson said.

Henne said he isn't opposed to all loud boats on the water, especially during special events like nonprofit benefit event Boyne Thunder, which lures those among the fastest, loudest boats to Lake Charlevoix. But daily doses of loud pipes echoing across the water becomes intrusive, he said.

"I live on a bluff overlooking Lake Charlevoix, so I can often hear them very well," Henne said.

Marine Lt. Don Richards, of the sheriff's department, said one problem law enforcement faces is that when they receive loud boat calls, the alleged offenders are long gone by the time the sheriff's patrol boat arrives.

"So the biggest thing we want to do is educate boaters," Richards said. "Let them know if they are over or under the limit."

In some cases, he said, boaters may be requested to close their "flap exhaust," which is designed to reduce noise.

Sheriff Don Schneider said he is thrilled to accept the equipment donation as part of the marine patrol's educational efforts, and he hopes it can lead to an improved Lake Charlevoix experience for all.

"We're just trying to keep the peace. Our job and focus is to educate," Schneider said.

The sound level meter is expected to be used during this boating season.

EXPANSION

Team Charlevoix, clearly spoke against any expansion of the city's marina in Round Lake. He highlighted how the current marina arrangement emerged from a compromise the city struck with the group years ago when the city overhauled the marina and East Park.

"We are completely against any expansion of the marina," he said, warning that if expansions are continually pursued, Charlevoix may one day have more dock space than open water in Round Lake.

Puhl also said he worries any additional marina expansion will "kill the goose that laid the golden egg," and then encouraged council members not to "spoil" Round Lake.

But not all speakers stood against a marina expansion.

Kirby Dipert, who sits on the Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority board, said he is in favor of an expansion to the city's marina. Of the city's three pitched designs, Dipert said he supports the largest marina expansion proposal, though the compromise option "would suffice," he said.

"I believe it would benefit the downtown, unlike some other speakers, apparently," he said.

The marina expansion idea initially arose in an effort to accommodate larger boats and yachts as a means to stimulate economic growth downtown and throughout Charlevoix.

On Monday, city manager Roh Straebel detailed the three expansion options for city council and the public in attendance.

The city's initial proposal remains on the table, now labeled Option C, including a nearly 160-foot dock extension on Pier A to create six additional 50-foot slips and seven 80-foot slips. Of those seven larger slips, two would be existing 65-foot slips that would be lengthened. Option A calls for about 33 feet of new dockage to create three 80-foot slips, including the two 65-foot slips' upticks.

Finally, Option B — the "compromise option" — would add about 96 feet of dockage to create four additional 50-foot slips and four additional 80-foot slips, again including two existing 65-foot slips lengthened to 80 feet. But the very last option is to preserve Round Lake as it is.

"Option B may be the best compromise between economic development and minimizing visual impacts to Round Lake," Straebel said.

Ultimately, council members by consensus decided not to vote on any of the various expansion options. Mayor Norman Carlson Jr. instead called for a new marina committee to be formed to further investigate the issue and then later return to council with a recommendation.

That committee meeting is expected to be at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 28, at city hall. Visit the city government's website at www.cityofcharlevoix.org online for more details about the new marina committee and how to become involved.

City council members Shane Cole and Peggy Brennan agreed to participate in the continued process as members of the marina committee, and it is expected for representatives from the Keweenaw Star and Beaver Island Boat Company to be invited to join the committee, among others with an interest in Charlevoix's boating infrastructure and community.

that distributes food to needy clients twice a day on Mondays and Thursdays. The goal for the ministry's homeless shelter is to empower women to take financial control of their lives to better raise their children. The facility will offer a sliding-scale day care service in the basement, as well.

Stevens said life skills expected to be taught include finding and keeping a job, maintaining a household, parenting, interpersonal communication and budgeting.

Part of Third Day's plans for Joppa House also is to offer day care for perhaps as many as 12 children. Stevens said the main purpose of the day care is for the mothers who live at the house to have care for their children while they are out seeking and in the early stages of holding down employment.

Joppa House is housed within the local Catholic church's old convent house, which authorities relocated a block away to create the shelter.

Much of the largest expenses came in making the shelter compliant with the Americans with Disabilities Act, including a barrier-free shower, toilet and more on the entry level. The rest of the shelter includes five upstairs bedrooms, an upstairs bathroom, along with an innkeeper's quarters, living room and kitchen on the main floor. Finally, the basement will contain the day care and a laundry room.

Anyone interested in applying for residency at Joppa House can contact Stevens for the required paperwork at Third Day Fellowship at (231) 547-8040.

Comments.

Shepard's pay rate will increase from about $60,343 a year to $68,000 even, effective Oct. 1 this year. Another perk includes 30 days of paid time off, which includes sick, vacation and personal time — six weeks of business days — which cannot roll over into following years if left unused.

Shepard, of East Jordan, said his job changed sigificantly from when first hired as the county's human resources director. Now, as coordinator, he is involved in almost every pending county project.

"Every week it's a different discussion. Every week it's a different project," he said.

Finally, should county commissioners fire Shepard for anything other than misconduct, he will be paid a severance package that includes one year's salary, plus active benefits for one year as if he remained on the county's pay roll, according to the approved employment contract.

Shepard's office hours are 7 a.m.-4 p.m. weekdays, excluding holidays, on the second floor of the Charlevoix County building, 301 State St., in downtown Charlevoix. He can be contacted via email sent to shepardk@charlevoixcounty.org online, or at (231) 237-0156.

EAST JORDAN — A model of consistency.

The Charlevoix High School boys' track and field team has been that and more throughout the 2014 season, turning in records and dominating relay events.

On Saturday in East Jordan, the Rayder boys proved to be one of the best once again, as they came away with a Division III regional championship at Boswell field in East Jordan.

"It was a little tougher than we had anticipated," Charlevoix boys' coach Ken Plude said of winning. "I have so many young kids, I thought maybe I pushed them a little too hard, but they really performed. We didn't come far away from our (predicted) totals."

The Charlevoix boys' finished with a total of 105 points, followed by Benzie Central in second with 91 and Kingsley in third with 89. Lake City placed fourth with 73 points, followed by Suttons Bay, 52; East Jordan, 51; Boyne City, 45; Elk Rapids, 35; Roscommon, 27; Harbor Springs, 27; Houghton Lake, 26; Manistee, 22; Grayling, 7; Kalkaska, 4; and McBain, 1.

The Benzie Central girls' team earned a regional title with a total score of 123 points, followed by Manistee, 99; Harbor Springs, 72; Charlevoix, 71; Kingsley, 52; Boyne City, 47; Roscommon, 43; Houghton Lake, 38; Lake City, 24.5; McBain, 23.5; Suttons Bay, 23; East Jordan, 21; Grayling, 15; and Elk Rapids, 4.

If you're going to mention consistency and Northern Michigan track and field, perhaps no athlete has been more consistent over a four year span than Boyne City senior Kylie Hicks, who will be making her fourth straight trip to the Division III state finals.

"She's got a little ways to get to her overall best ever, but I think she's going to be All-State in both," Boyne City coach Andy Place said. "That's probably the hard part for her this season is that expectation. There's a lot of expectation she puts on herself and others in track that watch her."

Hicks won both the 100 meter and 300 meter hurdles

LUDINGTON — The Charlevoix High School varsity girls' tennis team placed fourth Friday at the Division IV regional tournament at Ludington High School.

Traverse City St. Francis won the regional title as they finished with 28 points, while Ludington was second, 26; followed by Harbor Springs, 17; and Charlevoix.

Both St. Francis and Ludington will advance to the Division IV state finals May 30-31 at Grand Blanc and Holly. Harbor Springs missed out on an automatic qualifying berth by just one point.

HARBOR SPRINGS — A tough deciding factor.

In any game, neither the losing, nor the winning side, wants a game to ultimately come down to a penalty situation or outside influence.

When the Charlevoix and Harbor Springs girls' soccer teams met for the second time this season on Monday in Harbor Springs — with Charlevoix carrying a No. 7 ranking in the Michigan High School Soccer Coaches Association Division IV state rankings and Harbor Springs an honorable mention — a late penalty would turn into one of those situations.

In a 1-1 game late, the Rayders would be awarded a penalty kick opportunity after a handball call inside the Harbor Springs box, where they'd convert on the kick to make it a 2-1 game and eventually the final.

"It was a well fought game by both sides," Charlevoix coach Pete Scholten said. "We Also, Charlevoix's JV baseball team earned a split Monday over Traverse City St. Francis as they won game one, 11-6, and fell in game two, 9-4.

Noah Dvoracek and Kleiber had RBI singles in the nightcap.

Harbor Springs sprinter Salix Sampson earned an additional qualifying time of 12.95 in the 100 meter dash, sending her to the state finals for the third straight year. Sampson also earned a time of 27.08 in the 200 meter dash, good enough for a state qualification.

In the field events, Madeline Boss of Charlevoix tied for first in the high jump at a height of 4 feet, 9 inches, and placed second in the long jump at a distance of 15 feet, 10 inches.

Harbor Springs' Fleming also placed first in the pole vault, clearing 8 feet, 3 inches, while Sidney McLeod of Boyne City placed second by clearing 8 feet even.

For the boys field events, Corey Redman of Boyne City used a season best jump of 6 feet, 1 inch, to earn first place in the high jump, while Charlevoix junior Brian Noiroi earned first place in the long jump by leaping 19 feet, 7.5 inches.

In the distance events, Josh Wojan of East Jordan placed second in the 1600 meter run, in 4:29.21, while Harbor Springs' Marcus Garrow ran a time of 4:30.61, good for an additional qualifying time.

Wojan also placed second in the 3200 meter run, with a time of 10:07.83.

In the 800 meter run, Nick Plude of Charlevoix won the event in a time of 2:01.29.

East Jordan freshman sprinter Ryan Graham finished second in the 200 meter dash at 23.60 seconds, sending him to states.

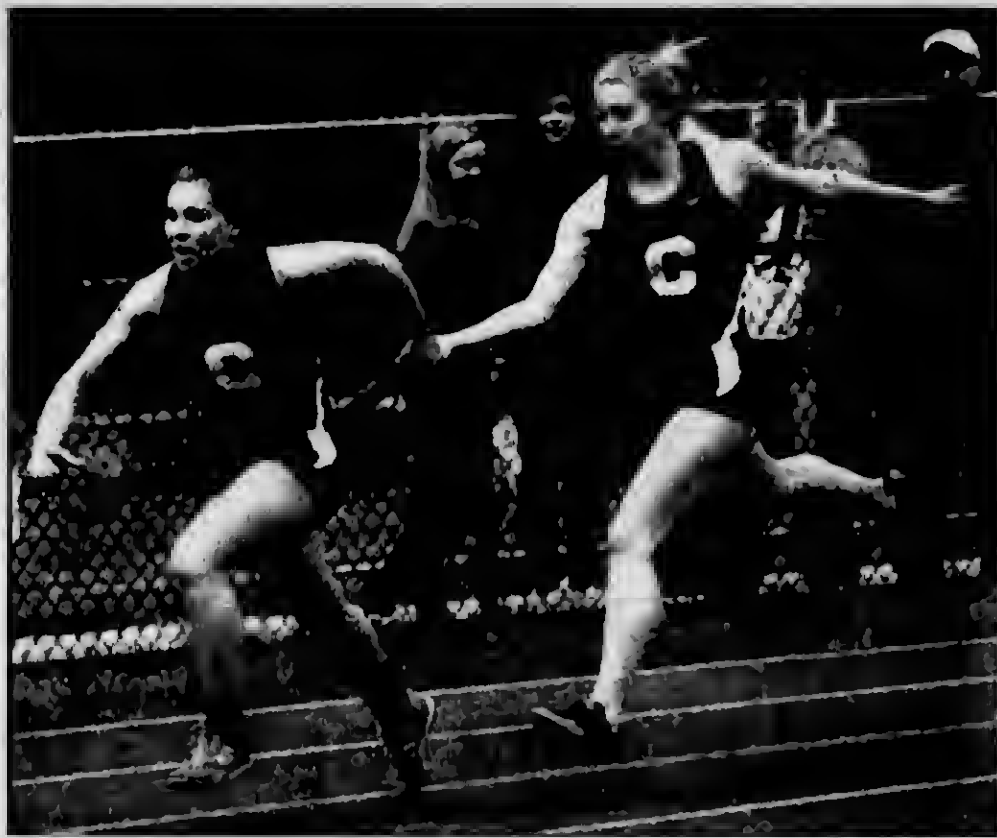

The Rayders dominated the relay events once again, placing first in the 3200, 800 and 1600 meter relay events.

The 3200 meter relay team of Tristen Rudolph, Jackson Buday, Justin Pearl and CJ Rice won in 8:21.05, the 800 meter team of Jared McLean, Micah Peebles, Benjamin Patkai and Nick Plude won in 1:33.68 and the 1600 team of Patkai, Peebles, McLean and Plude won the event in 3:37.28.

Rayders place runner up at league championship

STEVE POLEY
NEWS-REVIEW

ELLSWORTH — The Charlevoix High School boys' golf team finished runner up Monday at the Lake Michigan Conference championship at Antrim Dells Golf Course.

Kalkaska won the league title as they shot a 310, while Charlevoix shot a season-best 338 to place second and Traverse City St. Francis was third at 344. Harbor Springs was fourth with a 352, followed by Grayling, 368; Boyne City, 371; Elk Rapids, 374; and East Jordan, 396.

"It was our best score of the year," Charlevoix coach Keith Grunch said. "Going into districts this week and regionals the following week, it's nice to see our team start peaking."

Ping of Kalkaska was medalist as he shot 73, while Bryce Hunter of Kalkaska was second overall at 74, while Harbor Springs' Ben Bennett Langton was third, 75. Finishing tied for fourth was Charlevoix's Noah Jeakle and Grayling's Jake Hinkle, who each shot 79; while placing sixth was Kalkaska's Michael Dunn, who shot 80.

The top six finishers were all selected to the All-Lake Michigan Conference team.

"Noah (Jeakle) played really well and he finally broke 80 for the first time this year," Grunch said.

Also for the Rayders, Matt Good shot 84, followed by Brad Rizzo, 85; Montana Thompson, 90; Ryan Joy, 96; and Collin Turkelson, 105.

"Along with Noah, Brad Rizzo and Matt Good also played really well," Grunch said. "Montana Thompson is also improving and is turning into a solid No. 4."

For Harbor Springs, Langton led the team with his 75 — good for third place overall — while Shea Fuhrman shot 89, Hayden Grzelak, 89; Keith Fitzpatrick, 99; Ben Arnold, 103; and Cam Kennard, 104.

For Boyne City, Brad Fouchia shot a team-best 83, followed by Griffin Powers, 85; Ben Halstead, 100; Aaron Reynolds, 103; Tanner Evans, 107; and Reece Shankleton, 116.

East Jordan was led by Logan Smith who shot a team-low 82, followed by Britten Lewis, 100; Andrew Drenth, 105; Dan Nise, 109; Steven Spence, 114; and Trent Raymond, 118.

dall said. "We were excited to go and ready to compete, but the weather delayed us from Thursday to Friday. It was very cold and windy, but the sun was out which meant it would be dry."

For Charlevoix, which had four seeded players, Madi Carey at No. 1 singles fell to Leah Collie, 6-3, 6-2; while at No. 2 singles Lexie Barnes, seeded No. 2, advanced to the semifinals as she defeated Grayling, 6-1, 6-1, and fell to Ludington, 6-1, 6-0.

"Madi Carey had a very difficult opening match against Leah Collie," Randall said. "Earlier in the season Madi had defeated her in three sets, but fell here at regionals. She just never got into a groove and found her game. Lexie Barnes was our best seeded flight and advanced to the semifinals against Grayling and in the semifinals Ludington's Lauren Markham defeated her.

"That match (Barnes-Markham) had some beautiful rallies," Randall added. "Some of Lexie's usual closing shots Markham kept returning back, which was very frustrating for Lexie and any Rayder fan watching."

At No. 3 singles, Rae Claramunt, seeded No. 3, defeated Grayling, 6-1, 6-1; and in the semifinals fell to St. Francis' Bethany Richey, 6-2, 6-2.

"She (Claramunt) played strong against her three weeks ago trying to defeat Richey in a closing third set so I thought it was actually a good match for Claramunt," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said.

At No. 4 singles, Charlevoix's Cassie McCraney defeated East Jordan's Bronte Munson, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1; then fell to Harbor's Allison Green, 6-2, 6-4.

"Cassie has a very solid day and really left it all on the court," Randall said. "She defeated East Jordan's Bronte Munson in a long three-set match and she then was defeated by Allison Green of Harbor. Cassie almost worked her way back in on that second set."

In doubles play, Mallory Murray and Emily Roloff, seeded No. 4 at No. 1 doubles, defeated Elk Rapids, 6-1, 6-0; and in the semifinals fell to Ludington, 6-1, 6-2. At No. 3 doubles, Hannah Ennis and Kasi Meggison, also seeded No. 4, defeated Manistee, 6-4, 6-4; and fell to Ludington in the semifinals.

6-0, 6-0.

"They (Murray-Roloff) had some really great rallies," Randall said. "Roloff's serving was very strong. Ennis and Meggison played well in their opening match, some of the best tennis they have played this season."

Also, at No. 4 doubles, Erin Wachler and Cloe Winnie defeated T.C. Christian, 6-2, 6-3; and fell to Ludington in the semifinals, 6-2, 6-0.

"Erin and Cloe had an exceptional outing defeating T.C. Christian in a solid performance," Randall said. "The girls started out strong in the first few games of the semis, but then were defeated by Ludington."

"I really believe the girls played their hearts out, and I am proud to be their coach," Randall said. "We are graduating six seniors this year."

got a lucky break with the penalty kick. It's unfortunate that the game had to be decided by the penalty."

Harbor struck first in the contest, as sophomore midfielder Zoey Bezilla found freshman Elena Esposito on a breakaway goal at the 27 minute mark.

Charlevoix, now 15-5-1 overall, 12-1 in conference play, would tie the game just before the end of the first half as senior Kaitlin Hinkley found senior Katie Kiteley for a goal, making it a 1-1 game at half.

With both teams fighting back and forth throughout the second half, the penalty call that would change the game came with just under seven minutes left to play in the second half.

Junior Elizabeth Way would take the shot for the Rams, knocking it in with a lower left corner shot to give the Rayders a 2-1 lead and eventually the win.

Harbor Springs coach Ed Fantozzi couldn't help but feel the wrong call was made in situation of the game.

"You don't want to lose a game like that," he said. "You've got a conference title on the line and you make a call like that instead of letting two good teams play it out. It leaves a bad taste in your mouth."

Nonetheless, Fantozzi was pleased with how his girls fought, after previously falling to the Rayders 3-2 this season.

"I thought our girls played extremely well and it gives them some momentum this week," he added.

Izzy Gracy and Stephanie Sylvain each took time in goal for Harbor, now 11-6, 11-3, while Gloria Greene earned the win in net for the Rayders, notching five saves on the night.

Charlevoix will host Grayling Thursday at Kipke Field in Charlevoix.

BE A WISE SHOPPER
It's always wise to remember that if an offer sounds too good to be true, it probably is. If you are offered merchandise at an unbelievably low price, check it out thoroughly. A call to the Better Business Bureau (serving Eastern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula) will tell you whether other consumers have had problems with the firm that has offered the merchandise. (248)223-9400. But call the Bureau BEFORE you make a purchase. You'll be glad you did.

Fanara receives restitution

Former assistant prosecuting attorney to receive $375,000 in settlement

CRAIG CURRIER
MMR WRITER

CHARLEVOIX — A former Charlevoix County assistant prosecutor will receive $375,000 as payment for lost wages, mental anguish and the costs of hiring a lawyer as part of a settlement agreement that signifies the end of an 18-month-long legal battle.

Shayne Fanara filed a lawsuit Oct. 1, 2012, alleging gender-based harassment by her boss, former county prosecuting attorney John Jarema. A jury trial was set to begin last week, but attorneys for both sides announced in late April they had reached a settlement. The terms of that agreement were revealed Thursday.

Attorneys for Jarema and Charlevoix County said while they agreed to settle the case, they admit no wrongdoing. Attorney Deborah Lujan, who represents Jarema, said the county's insurance company weighed the risks of a trial and opted for the settlement.

"My client does not admit to any violation of the law at all," Lujan said. "He was not paying the legal costs nor would he have to pay if there was a verdict most likely, so it was not really his decision. It was out of his hands."

Fanara's attorney, Kathleen Bogas, said the lawsuit was about more than money to the former prosecutor.

JAREMA

"While of course Shayne Fanara sought to be compensated for her losses, in the bigger picture she sought to have her reputation be restored," Bogas said.

In court documents, Fanara alleged Jarema "targeted anyone who opposed him," and used his power as her boss to retaliate. Jarema, Fanara alleged, treated female co-workers as "personal assistants" and in her case, "like a servant."

When she questioned her boss, Fanara claims Jarema "blew up."

Fanara alleged that Jarema often fabricated complaints or falsely accused her of improper conduct. Specifically, Fanara claims her boss accused her of having sexual relations with male defense attorneys and then offering better plea bargains to their clients in return.

In court filings, Fanara states Jarema threatened to file unfounded complaints against her with the Michigan Attorney Grievance Commission, wrongly accused her of submitting false time sheets and of authorizing warrants in bad faith or without probable cause.

Eanes sues school for terminating her employment

CHARLEVOIX — A former social studies teacher at Northwest Academy has filed a lawsuit against the charter school's board of trustees, alleging a series of Michigan Open Meetings Act violations leading up to and following her firing in February.

The seven-member board terminated Christina Eanes' employment with the school during a Feb. 12 meeting, a little more than a week after it was reported to administrators that she hugged a student and kissed him on the cheek, according to court filings.

In a phone interview last week, Eanes said her actions were innocent and not sexual in nature as board members have suggested, further alleging that her firing was part of a larger plan to end her employment with the school.

Marion Township grew the most of all the local areas in Charlevoix County according to the latest report by the U.S. Census Bureau.

The township grew by 13 residents to 1,745 total in 2013.

In other areas of Charlevoix County, the city of Charlevoix gained just 10 residents, moving its total to 2,534. Boyne City's population grew by 13 to 3,762 and East Jordan's rose by eight to 2,361.

But, the county's neighbor to the north saw bigger increases in population.

Emmet County's Bear Creek township and Petoskey each grew by nearly 40 residents in 2013. Bear Creek's population inched up by 41 people to 6,291 last year. Petoskey grew by 39 residents, bringing its population to 5,756.

To the south, nearly all communities in Antrim County watched their populations dip slightly. In Mancelona township, the largest by far in the county, the report shows 16 fewer residents last year than in 2012. There are 4,333 people living in Mancelona, according to the Census Bureau.

Warner township, whose population held steady at 410, was the only Antrim County community where there was not a decline in 2013.

In Otsego County, Bagley township's population grew by 22 residents to 5,873. Gaylord added 11 people, moving its total to 3,636. No Otsego County community grew by more than 0.5 percent over the previous year.

Lawmakers say wolf hunts should continue

DAVID EGGERT

LANSING (AP) — A pro-hunting coalition on Tuesday turned in 374,000 petition signatures to protect Michigan's ability to have more gray wolf hunts, proposing a law to override two November ballot issues intended to stop wolf hunting.

Once the measure backed by Citizens for Professional Wildlife Management is certified — the group needs 258,000 valid signatures — the Republican-led Legislature will have 40 days while in session to vote.

If lawmakers approve it, the November ballot issues would become moot. If legislators do not vote, voters will see three wolf-hunting related proposals in November. State lawmakers from Northern Michigan said they back the effort and expect a vote in the coming weeks.

"The bottom line is we've got a quantity of wolves (in the Upper Peninsula) that are affecting human population," state Rep. Greg MacMaster, R-Kewadin, said.

Michigan held a wolf hunt last year, the first since the animal was placed on the endangered species list nearly 40 years ago. State Sen. Howard Walker, R-Traverse City, said while he understands the concern, there's already a system in place to protect the species if numbers dwindle.

"The process allows for citizens to gather signatures and do a referendum on the work that the legislature has done so that's their right," Walker said. "On the specific issue of whether we should have a wolf hunt, I think that we should and it should be based on science, which is current statute right now. It's up to the Natural Resources Commission to decide what's warranted and how to proceed with that and I'm supportive of that process."

State Rep. Frank Foster, R-Petoskey, agrees with his fellow legislators that the pair of ballot measures divert attention away from a safety issue in the Upper Peninsula.

"We have qualified wildlife biologists to make a recommendation already," Foster said. "There's a process for establishing hunts. We're following that process with the legislation."

Two other Republican lawmakers from Northern Michigan, Sen. Tom Casperson of Escanaba and Rep. Jon Bumstead of Newago, joined hunting groups to celebrate their signature-gathering effort. They plan to push their fellow legislators to approve it.

EAST JORDAN

Committee sponsors art project for students

EAST JORDAN — The Rare Threads 2014 Committee has sponsored an in-school program, focused on dying silk scarves with bleeding tissue paper, for area fifth-grade students.

The process consists of creating a design of the student's choice by either tearing or cutting shapes of different colors of tissue. Half of the scarf is covered with the tissue, then it is spritzed with a vinegar/water mixture. The other half of the scarf is folded onto the first half and the mixture applied again. The scarf is then covered with plastic and rolled tightly.

The instructors take the scarves for the final process. They rest over night, opened and then allowed to dry. The tissue is removed and the scarf is pressed, then washed and pressed again. The finished scarves are returned to the students.

Some examples will be selected for exhibit in the Rare Threads—MERAKI Exhibit scheduled for Sept. 28-Nov. 9 at the Jordan River Art Center in East Jordan.

This was an in-school fiber art project with volunteer instructors going to the participating schools. Schools participating were Charlevoix, two Elk Rapids elementary schools, East Jordan, Central Lake, Boyne City, Ellsworth, Bellaire, Boyne Falls, Mancelona and Beaver Island. It reached about 600 students. The supplies were all furnished by grants from the Charlevoix County Community Foundation, Elk Rapids Rotary, Torch Area Artisans Guild and individual donations.

The Rare Threads—MERAKI committee includes chairperson Sylvia Walworth, Nancy Carey, Sharon Gardner, Julie Hurd, Julia McLemore, Yasmin Richmond, Cynthia Tschudy, Marcia Waara and Christine Simmer. Other volunteers helping in this project are Mary Ann Rivers, Betty Easley, Susan Mabey, Lind More and Howard Ellis. Research vessels begin annual fish survey

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources announced last week that all four of its fisheries research vessels are back on the water, beginning their annual surveys of Great Lakes fish populations.

State officials said the surveys conducted are designed to examine relative abundance, total amount in weight, growth, health, diet, survival rates, natural reproduction and movements of fish in the Great Lakes.

"This information is vital in supporting the DNR's mission to conserve, protect and manage the billion-dollar Great Lakes fishery resource for the use and enjoyment of current and future generations and continues assessment and evaluation work begun in the 1960s," officials said in the release.

Research vessels are home-ported in Marquette, Alpena, Charlevoix and Harrison Township, but work throughout the lakes on a variety of assessments and evaluations. Operations start as soon as ice has cleared from the lakes and continue well into November.

Fisheries assessment and evaluation work on Lake Superior is conducted by the research vessel (R/V) Lake Char which is the department's newest vessel, launched in 2007. The R/V Lake Char focuses efforts on Lake Superior's self-sustaining lake trout populations. Information collected by this vessel is used to generate annual lake trout harvest quotas to ensure the continued health of these fish populations and on lake trout sea lamprey wounding rates, a key mortality factor for this species. The latter effort guides sea lamprey control efforts by the Great Lakes Fishery Commission and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Lake Huron fisheries assessments and evaluations are conducted by the R/V Chinoch which has been in operation since 1947 and a research vessel since 1968. This vessel focuses work on specific assessments of Lake Huron lake trout and walleye populations, as well as broader fish community assessments in Saginaw Bay and the St. Marys River that evaluate fish community changes in these Great Lakes systems. The Saginaw Bay evaluations are also frequently conducted with the R/V Channel Cat which is based in Lake St. Clair at the Fisheries Research Station in Harrison Township. Assessment and evaluation of fish populations in lakes St. Clair and Erie are entrusted to the R/V Channel Cat which has been in service since 1968. This vessel focuses its sampling on walleye, yellow perch and lake sturgeon in these waters.

On Lake Michigan, the survey vessel S/V Steelhead (also in operation since 1968) conducts a variety of fisheries assessments and evaluations, including spring evaluations of adult yellow perch, whitefish, lake trout and Chinook salmon populations. Later in the summer, the S/V Steelhead teams up with vessels from the U.S. Geological Survey and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to evaluate lakewide forage fish abundance, which is critical information for the proper management of trout and salmon in this lake.

"The DNR is responsible for management of more abundant and diverse fishery resources than any other natural resource agency in the Great Lakes region, and the survey vessels are critical to this effort," said DNR Fisheries Division Chief Jim Dexter.

Officials: 'Right to Farm' changes not an attack on Charlevoix livestock owners

CRAIG CURRIER
NEWS-REVIEW

When the Michigan Commission of Agriculture and Rural Development approved changes last week to the state's Right to Farm Act, it was an attempt to address problems with an increase in so-called backyard farms over the last several years.

Instead, many saw the move as an attack on livestock owners throughout the state.

A spokesman for the Michigan Farm Bureau said the confusion highlights not only a misunderstanding of the recent action, but widespread uncertainty about the protections provided to farmers under the law.

"(The Right to Farm Act) isn't a right for farmers to do whatever they want," said Matt Kapp, the bureau's government relations specialist. "It's not a right for farmers to pollute, it's not a right for farmers to farm wherever they want. Farmers have to comply with the (Generally Accepted Agricultural and Management Practices) to be awarded Right to Farm protections."

There is no enforcement of Right to Farm guidelines. The practices, referred to commonly in the industry as GAAMPs, set standards for farming operations that, if complied with, provide legal protection for farmers.

The policies have been updated since the Right to Farm Act was initially approved in 1981 as trends changed. In 2000, a siting guideline was added to protect larger farms as people moved from more urban areas to the country and fought with neighbors over the noise, smell and other complaints associated with nearby farms.

If farmers were complying with the established GAAMPs, they were assured protection by the state from lawsuits that sought to end their operation.

More recently, Kapp said, the trend reversed and the farms, though small, are coming into residential areas. Because the siting policy in 2000 only applied to farms with 50 animal units and above, Kapp said

Officials to host Camp Sea-Gull park open house

CHARLEVOIX — Hayes Township officials are inviting community members to celebrate the opening of Hayes Township Park, Camp Sea-Gull, Saturday, June 7. The park is located at 08580 Boyne City Road between Maple Grove and Burgess roads.

may walk the property and talk with local leaders about how they would like to see the park developed. Golf cart tours will be available for anyone unable to walk the hills.

This summer, the 20-acre park with 1,700 feet of Lake Charlevoix waterfront will offer a variety of recreational activities.

The longtime goal of providing a public park on the shores of Lake Charlevoix became a reality over the past several years as local donors raised $625,000 in matching funds, the township's recreation fund provided $500,000, and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Trust Fund made one of its largest grants of $3,375,000 to the township specifically for Hayes Township Park, Camp Sea-Gull.

According to a township news release, officials are working with park designers to determine future amenities, which will include a small boat launch. Grant applications have been submitted to help fund the future boat launch.

Township residents recently participated in the first of many planning sessions scheduled for the next few months, discussing how the former girls' camp will be developed with more recreational facilities.

State's Democratic Party chairman wants to gain ground in north

CRAIG CURRIER
NEWS-REVIEW

When Lun Johnson took over as Michigan's Democratic Party chairman a little more than a year ago, the Kalkaska resident asked members to change their attitude toward the north.

Though prominent Democrats such as Bart Stupak, a former congressman from the Upper Peninsula who served from 1993 to 2011, have come from the region, Johnson says the attitude among party members so often is to surrender in Northern Michigan.

Among his goals when he took over for longtime state party chairman Mark Brewer last year was a renewed effort to seize the north.

"We haven't fought hard enough for Northern Michigan," Johnson said. "We haven't paid enough attention."

Johnson admits there are districts in the state legislature where voter registration numbers sway overwhelmingly toward the Republicans, but in other races there will be no excuse for Democrats if they don't win in November.

Nowhere is that more clear than in the state's 1st Congressional District, which was Stupak's seat until he opted not to seek re-election in 2010 opening the seat to current Rep. Dan Benishek, an Upper Peninsula Republican who rode a wave of Tea Party support into office four years ago.

Democrats have every reason to believe they'll compete against Benishek, whose winning margins have been narrow. Benishek was initially elected in 2010, earning 52 percent of the vote to defeat Democrat Gary McDowell. Two years later, Benishek's margin over McDowell was even smaller as 50.3 percent of the ballots were cast in his favor.

McDowell, a former state lawmaker from the Upper Peninsula, is not running this year. Instead, it's former Kalkaska County Sheriff and retired National Guard Major General Jerry Cannon challenging for the seat. Johnson is touting Cannon as a Stupak-like mainstay for Northern Michigan in the coming years.

Johnson

"You're seeing it in the quality of our candidates," Johnson said during a visit to Petoskey last week. "We're very confident, we're unified and we're hungry to win."

Johnson knows Democrats will have to earn any gains, but he also thinks simple improvements will have big impacts. Michigan voters, Johnson notes, have voted for the Democratic candidate in the last six presidential elections, including 2012 when they chose Barack Obama over Republican Mitt Romney despite Romney being born and raised in the state.

The problem, Johnson says, occurs in non-presidential election years when many Democrats don't turn out to vote. In the 1st Congressional District, which stretches from Traverse City north through the entire Upper Peninsula, there were 49,000 registered Democrats who didn't go to the polls for the last such election in 2010. Throughout the state, there were 995,000 Democrats who didn't vote that year.

"We're focused on those voters," Johnson said. "We have their names, their addresses and their emails! We're looking at why we are losing in off-year elections."

What level of success he's able to have in drawing them to the polls could in many ways define Johnson's first two years as the state party's chairman.

"The only way I know how to win is turnout," Johnson said. "Michigan has to be what Michigan is."

LETTERS to the editor

Does fracking for gas and oil really produce jobs for our economy? Let's take a look.

Fracking is a risky technology. Pipeline leaks, explosions, spills, etc., release toxic chemicals into our environment. All this contamination must be cleaned up. This means more jobs! Unless the contamination occurs in a wildlife sanctuary or impoverished neighborhood, in which case we have to make do with volunteers to clean up the mess. But even then, volunteers must eat, so money is spent in the local economy to buy food. Health care providers must be hired to treat people when injuries or exposure occurs. Lawyers must be hired for resulting lawsuits, and more lawyers to defend the industry against the lawsuits.

Families forced to leave their homes because of contaminated waterwells, noise, air pollution and associated health problems due to fracking provide a boost to the hotel industry, create more jobs for moving van companies and sometimes even new house construction.

Fracking has created water shortages in many communities. What a wonderful opportunity this provides for the bottled water industry job creators! And manufacturers of plastic bottles. And the trucks to transport the bottled water. The possibilities just seem endless!

Public relations experts must be hired to "sell" unsafe fracking technology to the public. Lawyers are needed to defeat attempts by local government to protect their citizens through anti-fracking ordinances. A new, burgeoning industry has developed to help corporate job creators defeat attempts by communities to install renewable energy programs and initiatives. After all, how can money be made on a product such as the sun or wind, which is readily available to everyone?

What about long-term job growth? It's a win-win situation.

Fossil fuels pump ever-increasing amounts of climate-changing gases into our atmosphere causing more severe storms with property damage and injuries. Again, people must be hired to clean up the mess, to rebuild, and to care for the injured. Even the pharmaceutical industry benefits as people buy anti-anxiety drugs to deal with stress. Mental health workers can get in on the economic gravy train as more people become depressed and need counseling!

As a society we should embrace the fracking industry and the endless job-creating opportunities they provide. After all, earth could get struck by an asteroid that destroys all life at any time. In which case there is really no reason to worry about future generations.

A contest that embodies its namesake

Merle Vandenberg was an active citizen in our community.

He was an excellent teacher, mentor, husband, father and grandfather. He quickly made himself available whenever asked to participate in activities that would improve the life of a child or young adult.

Merle Vandenberg or "Mr. V" as he was fondly referred to by his students always put his best foot forward which was usually a recently shined wing tip. Students would remark that he was the only substitute teacher who arrived in a suit and tie.

He was dressed to focus conscientiously on work and expected the same from his students.

Merle was active in the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club. He led the organization as its president and lieutenant governor. Never one to shy away from a challenge, he also assisted with the Volunteers in Probation Program at the Charlevoix County Probate Court, matching volunteers to spend time with a victim by lending them a kind and listening ear.

He made himself available to children in the foster care system by providing them with needed math tutoring, often helping them to attain knowledge surpassing their grade level.

When the Alano Club was looking for mentors it was Merle who volunteered, providing guidance and role modeling for many young men who are still successful and living in the area today.

This is the man after whom the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club named their nonprofit essay contest. The Vandenberg Essay Contest encourages fifth-graders to research organizations that do so much to help others — something very much akin to "Mr. V" himself.

If Merle was alive today, he would be embarrassed by all the attention but proud of what the fifth-graders accomplished.

At the award ceremony each year, his presence is felt among his fellow Kiwanis members. Tall in stature, loud in voice, dressed for the occasion, he wouldn't miss any of the celebration handed out to the kids. These students are much too young to appreciate who the contest is named after but they are not too young to understand the concept of giving and helping others.

Each essay winner receives a check and then they present their check to the nonprofit organization that touched their heart.

I am proud to say I am also a member of this dedicated group. I was asked to be part of this service club by my former boss, Vane Smith. It was historical when I joined in 1986, only because of my gender. I was the second woman inducted into this former all men's group.

This was an era when sap was still collected in steel buckets that hung from the sugar maple trees all around town. Club members taught me how to drive the old truck and trailer. (Maybe that was part of my initiation).

My trouble finding the gears occasionally would cause sap to teasingly reach the rims of the large metal container and then the sticky stuff would find its way to the pavement. It didn't take long for my fellow members to figure out I did better at foraging through the snow drifts to collect the buckets.

I've learned a lot from the members and maybe they've learned a little bit more about women from me. The networking, camaraderie and focus on youth bring like minded individuals together. It energizes us to assist, lead and organize locally and internationally.

The club is still strong today in part thanks to Merle who proudly sported his red shirt with the Kiwanis logo to every meeting and of course his ensemble was not complete without his shiny wing tips.

Thank you "Mr. V" for inspiring us all. The contest is still going strong and so is your spirit.

Rediscovering our past with our future

LOOKING BACK...

Around the time of World War I, George Bruce Douglas of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, whose father was a co-founder of Quaker Oats, imported two mute swans from England to accent his estate. He named them Pericles and Aspasia after the renowned Athenian leader and his shrew of a wife. But it was Pericles who turned out to have the mean streak. Hissing and snapping, he chased and actually endangered Douglas' two daughters and guests. So in 1918 Douglas decided to ship them to his summer home at the Chicago Club in Charlevoix where they were placed on Old River below the club grounds under the watchful eye of club superintendent James Gaskin, who had his hands full containing them. The flock grew to 12 in a few years. Four were sent to East Jordan to begin the flock there that eventually gave the town the name "Swan City." After Gaskin died in 1933, with no one who wanted to care for them, all the swans went to East Jordan where the population really grew. Over the winter of 1946-47, a pair showed up in Traversé City, to be joined by others, and by 1974 that flock numbered close to 600. According to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources that year, Pericles and Aspasia were the ancestors of all the mute swans in Michigan, one of two major flocks in the country. Local photographer Boh Miles, who had begun photographing the Chicago Club swans in 1922, wrote a sonnet about the old bird, as nasty as he was beautiful, and found the living legacy to be only fitting: "... This is the muted swan, Beware! If rumor says, 'He's gone,' 'tis but a lie/ For Pericles is much too mean to die."

Foundation creates new fund for veterans

EAST JORDAN — The Charlevoix County Community Foundation has established a new veterans assistance fund to help local veterans get the help they need.

"Many veterans struggle to pay for basic needs such as health care, home heating and home repairs," said Maureen Radke, program officer at the foundation. "We heard from local organizations that veterans were unable to get assistance to help pay for those needs, and several of our donors stepped in and wanted to help."

John Hess, veterans affairs director at the Charlevoix County Office of Veterans Affairs was instrumental in identifying the need for the veterans assistance fund. His viewpoint was echoed by several other nonprofit agencies that provide services to veterans and their families.

"Charlevoix County is home to between 2,600 and 2,800 veterans," said Hess. "We serve all of them, but many are not eligible for government funding."

Government assistance

John Hess, veterans affairs director, Charlevoix County Office of Veterans Affairs, and Maureen Radke, program officer, Charlevoix County Community Foundation, partnered to establish the veterans assistance fund, which will provide Charlevoix County veterans with short-term assistance for urgent needs.

programs generally cover only those veterans who served during war time, leaving out all of those who served between Korea and Vietnam or between Vietnam and Desert Storm. In addition, Michigan ranks last in the nation when it comes to per-capita spending on veterans, spending $3,400 per vet. The national average is more than $4,800.

This year, Hess has distributed nearly $14,000 to veterans from government funds, but there are many more who were not eligible, since they did not serve during a war.

"A veteran is a veteran is a veteran," said Hess. "If they signed their name on the dotted line to serve our country, they deserve all the help they can get. That's why this fund is needed, so that there will be no veterans falling through the cracks."

The veterans assistance fund has been established to provide assistance on a short-term or emergency basis to Charlevoix County veterans who are ineligible for other types of aid. Funds will be directed to nonprofit agencies that identify veterans who are disadvantaged in some way. The funding provided will be last-resort funding and will provide for clothing, counseling, education, food, home fuel, housing, job training and retraining, personal hygiene items, transportation, utility shut-off assistance and more.

The first funds will be distributed later this year, said Radke.

"We are proud that our donors recognized the great contributions of veterans and wanted to find a way to help those in need here in Charlevoix County. Connecting the donors with the nonprofit organizations is what we love to do at the 'community foundation, and" we are so glad that because of this fund, local veterans will have access to the support they need."

Citizens interested in supporting the new Veterans Assistance Fund are invited to call the Charlevoix County Community Foundation at (231) 536-2440.

Veterans in need of assistance should contact the Charlevoix County Veterans Affairs Office at (231) 547-7220.

The Charlevoix County Community Foundation is a public charity dedicated to improving and enriching the lives of people in Charlevoix County. The organization holds various funds, all established by local donors. Some funds are earmarked for specific causes; others are open-ended to meet changing needs. The funds are held in permanent endowment so they can continue to grow and generate income to enhance the quality of life in Charlevoix County now and for generations to come. For more information, contact the foundation at (231) 536-2440, www.c3f.org.

BOYNE FALLS

Dirty Dog Dash offers new course, challenges

BOYNE FALLS — Boyne Mountain's 5th Annual Dirty Dog Dash, a 3.1-mile obstacle race, returns to the Boyne Falls resort on Saturday, June 7, with an all-new course and challenges.

A portion of each entry fee supports Wounded Warrior Project, with a mission of honoring and empowering wounded warriors.

This year's Dirty Dog Dash has a whole new route, using more of the mountain's natural topography and elevation for the course. Several new obstacles are also planned, with ski features repurposed for this challenging run. Racers face off with a mogul field, traverse rails, climb over hurdles, trudge through water pits and mud, crawl under netting and slip and slide to the finish line. After the mud-slinging wraps up, Boyne Mountain's Boyne Low-E snowmaking guns provide a mist to rinse off and prepare for the post-race celebration.

Live music from Charlie's Root Fusion, featuring a blend of blues, rock and soul, will be part of the celebration, as will food and beverages. An

Agatha Marie Fires Myers

They called her Mrs. Myers.

To the boys and girls of Wilcox Elementary School in Holt, Mich., the hundreds who walked in and out of her library for 17 of the 21 years she worked for Holt Public Schools, she was more than their librarian. She was a person who strived to know each one of them individually. She lived the mantra of the right book for the right reader at the right time; promoting reading and libraries with museum-worthy displays and bulletin boards, international and national author visits, encouraging parent and child reading programs and creating a hillboard on the outside of the school building. Years before Skype was commonplace she arranged for conference calls between her students and two famous authors, Donald Sobol and Dick Gackenbach. She retired in 1985.

They called her grandma.

When I think of my grandmother, her attribute of loving unconditionally is one of the most prominent and one that I cherish most. Through my best and through my worst, through actions and words large and small, she was always genuinely caring and supportive. She made me feel like it was OK to make mistakes and was very understanding. My grandmother was always pleasant and her comforting presence will be greatly missed. — Stuart James Loveall

When I think of my grandmother, three virtues will remain forever in my memory. Her limitless imagination inspired creativity seen in her home and in the things she did for others. Her unfailing kindness and optimism were evident in her thoughts, words and deeds. — Ashley Ann Loveall

We called her mom.

Her presence in our lives was huge from the moment we became her daughters. Her strength and support were unfailing. No one could spin stories as she did; enchanting us so we would eat a meal or fall asleep at night. Her generosity was never more apparent than at Christmas time when the upstairs in our home would fill with all kinds of cookies in boxes to be later arranged on plates given to our family doctor, dentist, milkman, egg lady and numerous friends and neighbors. Our family vacations were filled with arts and crafts and travel bags stuffed with goodies made trips an anticipated adventure. She will be sorely missed but never forgotten.

He called her Dacia, wife.

Her love for her husband, Chuck, was consistent and constant. Theirs was a true partnership. When the World War II memorial was commissioned she worked to have Chuck's service to his country remembered even though he had already passed.

She called her daughter:

Agatha's devotion to her mother was unwavering. Her picture watched over Agatha every night.

Agatha M. Myers, 94, formerly of Holt, passed away Thursday, May 15, 2014, at Mallard Cove Assisted Living in Petoskey. She was born Jan. 19, 1920, in St. Johns, Mich., the daughter of Olin Clayton Fires and Myrtle Irene (Dean) Fires. Agatha graduated from Lansing Central High School in 1938 with honors (95.22 GPA), Lansing Business University and Lansing Community College with an Associate Degree in Library Media Technology in 1976. She was a Life Member of the Alpha Kappa International Honorary Business University serving as president in 1943.

Up until the day of her passing Agatha celebrated every single day but she shined during the holidays with her decorations and giving to others. She enjoyed watching the birds and the squirrels that raided the bird feeder. It was a daily ritual to make sure the bird bath was full. She had a large flower garden at her home in Holt, tending it with the same care she gave to everything she did. After her retirement she enjoyed running garage sales, not so much for the money but for the conversations with all who stopped to shop. She was a member of the United Methodist Church in Holt.

On March 23, 1947, Agatha was united in marriage to Charles Stephen Myers who preceded her in death in 1994.

She is survived by her daughters, Margaret Marie Myers-Culver of Charlevoix, and Nancy Ann (Steven) Loveall of Dimondale; grandchildren, Stuart and Ashley Loveall.

Memorial contributions may be made to your local humane society or First Book (www.firstbook.org).

Local Tree City communities recognized

Boyne City, Charlevoix and Gaylord were recognized as Tree City USA communities in 2013 because of their efforts throughout the year.

Tree City USA is a national program which provides framework for community forestry management for cities and towns across America.

"The program recognizes us for having a well rounded program centered around our trees and how we take care of them in the community," said Michael Cain, Boyne City manager.

Through the Arbor Day Foundation's website, cities are able to find which trees are best suited for their community and their air. Communities that participate demonstrate a commitment to caring for their trees, according to the Arbor Day Foundation. More than 3,400 Tree City USA communities serve as a home to more than 135 million Americans, according to the Arbor Day Foundation.

Tree City USA is an initiative to improve the community through the Arbor Day Foundation in cooperation with the National Association of State Foresters as well as the USDA Forest Service.

Communities achieve Tree City USA status by adapting to and meeting four core standards:

— Maintaining a tree board or department.

— Having a community tree ordinance.

— Spending at least $2 per capita on urban forestry.

— Celebrating Arbor Day.

These standards make it so communities work under sound urban forestry management.

Tree City USA communities that generate annual participation provide the opportunity to educate groups and individuals about the value of tree resources, the significance of sustainable tree management and helps engage in advancing tree planting and care methods.

Certification as a Tree City USA community has the ability to create a strong relationship with state forestry agencies and other conservation groups.

The Tree City USA program allows residents to feel good about their surroundings. The recognition of certification that occurs annually shows visitors as well as incoming residents that trees, conservation and the environment are all significant elements of the community.

Boyne City recognizes their 10th year as a Tree City USA community in 2014. For the first year of advertising their tree and shrub giveaway on Arbor Day through Facebook and Twitter, Cain said the supply ran out by 11:16 a.m. This supply tends to last the city all of Arbor Day and into the following day.

"We hope all the trees and plants made it to safe homes in our community," Cain said.

Boyne City received a large flag to wave outside of city hall to publicly showcase their achievement with matching banners to hang around the city.

BAY SHORE

Subaru dealer to add new sales building

RYAN BENTLEY
NEWS-REVIEW

BAY SHORE — Subaru dealership Subaru-By-The-Bay will relocate new car sales to a building to be constructed immediately east of its existing Bay Shore facility in the next few months.

Dealer principal Ryan Bremmeyr, who owns Subaru-By-The-Bay in partnership with his father, Toby, said the new building will cover about 7,500 square feet. He noted that it will offer a more open floor plan than the existing showroom next door as well as easier access for people with disabilities. Customers likely will find the new showroom's layout more intuitive than the current one's, he added.

On the outside, the new building will feature a stone tower accent, a significant amount of glass area and a silver-and-dark-blue color scheme.

"It will be what Subaru calls their new signature facility look," said Bremmeyr.

The new building will include a drive-in area where customers can drop off their vehicles for service and pick them up afterward — without having to walk through inclement weather — but service work will continue to take place next door in the dealership's current facility. Going forward, that building also will house used vehicle sales and storage space. Bremmeyr said it will receive some exterior paint and roof updates to coordinate with the new showroom building.

COURTESY IMAGE

Subaru-By-The-Bay in Bay Shore plans to add a new sales building that will largely resemble this rendering.

The new building, in which Subaru-By-The-Bay is investing about $1 million, should be ready for use by early fall, Bremmeyr said. Peninsula Construction & Design of Traverse City, which has handled building projects for several other Northern Michigan auto dealerships, will play a key part in construction.

The dealership site along U.S. 31 has housed Subaru sales since the early 1970s. Toby Bremmeyr and an earlier business partner, Richard Lyman, acquired the dealership in 1982 and began operating it as Subaru-By-The-Bay. Ryan Bremmeyr acquired Lyman's stake in 2011.

Fourteen people currently work at the dealership. To help provide for customer care as the dealership adds a second building, Bremmeyr expects two more employees to be added for service and office positions in the near future.

Cre8tive partners open 'Cupcake wonderland'

Downtown Charlevoix
bake shop open 7 days

SHERI MCWHIRTER O'DONNELL
COURIER EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX — A new sweet shop is open in downtown Charlevoix.

Cre8tive Cupcakes, owned by partners Justin Micheau and Alfred Soriano-Micheau, puts a focus on a specific type of sweet treat — cupcakes.

"Ever since I was a kid, this was my dream," Alfred said. "I like the fact that I can make people happy and I've always wanted to have a cupcake wonderland."

All the cupcakes at the shop at 411 Bridge St. are baked from scratch, without prepackaged mixes and never any ready-made frosting.

"We do not sell second-day cupcakes to go, only for here with coffee. Our pink box signifies freshness," Alfred said.

The shop specializes in themed cakes and cupcakes and is open 7 a.m.-9 a.m. seven days per week. Cre8tive Cupcakes can be reached at (231) 350-8122, and also by searching the shop name on Facebook.

The price range for the shop's specialty cupcakes is $3 and up, and is available for catering events such as birthdays, weddings, corporate events or even "just for fun," Alfred said.

"We are not a healthy shop, but we are definitely a happy shop," he added, laughing.

The business features a kids' decorating zone, where children can create their own topping designs. And all-around, the entrepreneurs received a warm reception from the community at both their soft and grand openings.

"It feels like people haven't seen a pretty cupcake before in their life," Alfred said.

"We are excited. We are getting extremely busy, which is great."

Justin Micheau said he stays busy taking business meetings, so Alfred can focus on his passion — baking.

"I want to be the Cake Boss of Charlevoix," Alfred said, laughing again.

Alfred's family in the Philippines told him they didn't think he was much of a baker, he said. But he studied hotel management and excelled in customer service. He earned an internship at the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island several years ago and the journey began that eventually — after stints in Florida and Washington, D.C., — led him to set up shop in Charlevoix, Alfred said.

"I practice a lot and make sure everything is perfect, also with presentation," he said.

So it's the whole package — in pink boxes.

DNR invites public input on forest plans for Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet, Mackinac and Otsego counties

The Department of Natural Resources will host open houses on June 17 in Gaylord and June 18 in Indian River to provide information and receive public comment on proposed forest management treatments for 2016 in the Gaylord management unit.

This area includes Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet, Mackinac and Otsego counties. The open houses are set for:

— Tuesday, June 17, 3-7 p.m.

Gaylord Field Office, 1732 West M-32, Gaylord

— Wednesday, June 18, 3-7 p.m.

Indian River Field Office,

6984 Wilson Road, Indian River

Each year, DNR personnel evaluate one-tenth of the state forest. The inventory provides key decision-making information for foresters and wildlife, fisheries and other resource managers. The age, health, quality and quantity of trees and other vegetation are assessed to enable DNR staff to make informed decisions. Timber management, wildlife and fisheries habitat, minerals, archeological sites, recreational use, wildfire potential and social concerns are just some of the topics taken into consideration during this review.

Because the forest is inventoried approximately two years in advance, a year of entry is assigned to indicate when treatments will be prepared. Information currently under review has a 2016 year of entry. This means that treatment activities on lands being reviewed this year will actually begin in 2016.

Proposed treatments, which may include timber harvesting, replanting and other management activities, are designed to ensure the sustainability of all forest resources.

"Open houses are a good way for interested residents, neighbors and stakeholders to learn about the DNR's proposed treatment plans and to share input with foresters and biologists before any final decisions are made," said Bill O'Neill, chief of the DNR's Forest Resources Division.

"This year we're inviting folks who might not be able to get to a meeting to share their comments via email with unit managers," he added. "When it comes to the health and sustainability of our state forests, we want the planning process to be as inclusive as possible."

To more easily and efficiently oversee the forest resources, the DNR divides each management unit into smaller units or "compartments." This year, the compartments under review are in Chestonia and Warner townships (Antrim County); Chandler and Pealoe townships (Charlevoix County); Beaumont, Ellis, Mentor, Mullett and Waverly townships (Cheboygan County); Bliss, Center and Springvale townships (Emmet County); Bois Blanc Township (Mackinac County); and Charlton and Otsego Lake townships (Otsego County).

Maps and information regarding proposed treatments will be available at the open house. The information can also be found at www.michigan.gov/forestry. Compartment review packets for the 2016 year of entry can be found by selecting the shown map and clicking on the "Gaylord" button. Records of decisions, recorded timber harvests and other treatments for past years are available on this page.

On July 17, the DNR will complete its formal compartment review to decide on final treatment plans for these areas. That review will take place:

— Thursday, July 17, 9 a.m.

Citizens National Bank (basement), 3990 S. Straits Highway, Indian River

People with disabilities who need accommodations for either meeting should contact Joyce Angel, (989) 732-3541, ext. 5440, a minimum of five business days before each meeting.

For more information about the state forest planning process, visit www.michigan.gov/forestplan.

SEA-GULL

"We are very excited and full of pride that we received the biggest financial grant this year for acquisition from the Natural Resources Trust Fund. It is really wonderful that we own that property now, that it is open to the public, and that the public has access to Lake Charlevoix. We could not have done this without broad public support and the help of the many volunteers who raised funds and are now helping prepare the park for summer," township supervisor Ethel Knepp said in the release.

FARM ACT

people with a small number of livestock in a residential area were claiming protection under the Right to Farm Act in land-use disputes.

Therein lies another misconception, Farm Bureau officials said.

"Right to Farm doesn't mean blanket protection for anyone raising crops or livestock, regardless of their location or the size of their operation," a formal statement from the Farm Bureau reads. "The recent changes to these guidelines don't equate to anyone losing protection under the Right to Farm Act."

One of the reasons for last week's update was to empower local communities to set their own policies. While the law provided guidelines for farms with 50 or more animals, it gave no direction to property and livestock owners in areas with smaller farms.

"Urban agriculture is not a bad thing and the Farm Bureau supports urban agriculture," Kapp said. "The local zoning law can allow it. Several cities have zoning ordinances that do."

Boyne City, for example, allows up to four hens on a property inside city limits. Scott McPherson, the city's planning and zoning director, said he's reviewed the Right to Farm Act changes and doesn't foresee any impact on the city policy.

"I don't see it changing our stance or our ordinance," McPherson said.

In Charlevoix, city officials were already considering adoption of a similar proposal to allow for backyard farms in their residential areas.

"It's something that we're probably going to take a look at this summer," city planner Mike Spencer said. "We're looking at some other ordinance amendments and we're just going to put them out there to see how the public reacts."

In 2011, a push in Petoskey to allow for up to four hens per property in residential areas was initially supported by the city council but then repealed amid a citizen-led effort to force a referendum on the issue.

Harbor Springs' zoning code allows for farming in a designated agricultural residential district, but defines farming as raising of crops and gardening, but not keeping animals other than the customary types of household pets.

"Sections of the city code also address the various nuisance issues that could result from property owners keeping animals that have a negative impact on their neighbors," city manager Tom Richards said.

It's that type of local government control that Farm Bureau officials said should provide guidelines for backyard farms moving forward.

"There are local communities out there who say, 'Come on in, we want you,'" Kapp said.

WOLF HUNT

likely in late summer.

Casperon said he fears opponents of wolf hunting, who helped collect signatures to repeal two 2013 laws that cleared the way for the first hunt, will successfully use "30-second sound bites" in political ads to persuade downstate voters.

The newest measure would reaffirm a 1996 voter-approved law letting the state Natural Resources Commission regulate hunting. It would allocate $1 million for "rapid response" activities against aquatic invasive species such as Asian carp. Under state law, tacking on the appropriation would make the legislation immune from being overturned in a referendum.

Keep Michigan Wolves Protected Director Jill Fritz said the newest legislation feels like déjà vu.

"This is now the third ballot measure on wolves and wildlife protection, and the people should be allowed to vote on them," she said. "In an election year, we call on Michigan legislators to stop playing games with voters and stop trying to circumvent a fair election on this issue. It's time to stop this abuse of power."

The Natural Resources Commission scheduled a hunt under authority granted by the Legislature last summer, following approval of a bill designating wolves as a game species.

Opponents gathered enough voter signatures to require a statewide referendum on the game species law. Legislators then passed a second law giving the commission the authority to decide which animals should be designated as game species that can be hunted, prompting opponents to collect enough signatures for a second referendum.

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix County 4-H youth recently participated in its 14th learning project called Take A Day On. In this event, youth get to take a day off of school and take a day on for an organization in their local community. The event was organized by Leah Herrick, MSU Extension 4-H coordinator and took place on Friday, May 16. Twenty youth and eight adults were in attendance.

Mount McSaubu is a recreation area owned by the city of Charlevoix. It is used for variety of different purposes such as downhill skiing and snowboarding, sledding, cross-country skiing, ice skating, hiking and disc golf. Students spent the morning learning all about the history of Mount McSaubu, the summer camp and all the year-round activities the mountain has to offer. The afternoon was spent cleaning the inside and outside of the lodge, painting, raking around the lodge, and picking up litter along the trails.

The day was ended with a group hiking adventure around the area's trails. The youth also collected donations of craft supplies and activities to give to the summer camp at Mount McSaubu. Funding for this event was provided by Charlevoix County MSU Extension, Charlevoix County 4-H Council, Charlevoix Screen Masters, Petoskey News-Review, and the city of Charlevoix.

support of me from day one," Eanes said. "It was definitely not intended as anything sexual. I'm like the mother of the school."

Northwest Academy is a small K-12 public charter school in Charlevoix that opened in 1996, but financial reports show it has struggled in recent years with declining enrollment.

Eanes believes she was targeted by the board after she and two other teachers filed a formal grievance against the school's administrator in early 2013 and recommended policy changes to board members in response to the school's troubles. At first, Eanes said, board members seemed interested in her ideas and even put her in charge of a committee to analyze the school's policies and its mission.

Eanes later discovered that at the same time school leaders were scrutinizing her work and even sought information about her from a Grand Rapids school where she was previously employed.

Then, in February, she was confronted with a police investigation into the hug and kiss she gave the male student, which was reported to authorities by school board president Joe Seidel. According to a police report dated Feb. 11, a school employee who witnessed Eanes interacting with the 17-year-old student said he was "taken back in a way" when the teacher hugged and kissed the student on the cheek. The employee told police he thought the action was "predatory."

While Eanes said the allegation is unfair, her lawsuit doesn't challenge why she was fired. Rather, it is centered around how she was fired.

Following her termination, Eanes worked to obtain a series of email exchanges between board members, as well as more detailed information on discussions that occurred in a closed session meeting regarding her employment. Through her Freedom of Information Act requests, school board members handed over to Eanes at least some of that information, which uncovers an ongoing private discussion among the trustees about the teacher that occurred prior to and after the Feb. 12 meeting.

In the lawsuit, Eanes specifically alleges five violations of the state's Open Meetings Act. Among her chief complaints is the board's decision to close the meeting to the public even though she requested members discuss the matter in an open session. Eanes said she was not allowed in the closed-door session where the initial vote to fire her was conducted.

"The board's own documents suggest there are over a dozen violations of the (Open Meetings Act) related to Eanes' termination and multiple attempts by the board to subvert the transparency that is required by law," the lawsuit reads.

Through Freedom of Information Act requests, Eanes obtained a number of emails that shed light on the conversation that occurred between board members before and after the meeting. Some of the email correspondence occurs between two board members, other emails are between board members and the school's then-administrator, Matt Saunders. Others are sent to all board members and Saunders.

"I feel like I was just a school teacher in a small town living a quiet life with my family and then I just got attacked."

— Christina Eanes

"I have not consulted with our legal council (sic) but I know that the 'at will' contract has held up to scrutiny before," Saunders wrote in a Feb. 11 email to trustee Mick Randall. "The reality is, she is out of a job by the end of May. This incident just makes the inevitable happen faster. If we can get out of paying severance then we will be better off. If not? Oh well, the school will still be better off."

Saunders' email was in response to a message from Randall that cited a New York Times article about new guidelines on sexual harassment in schools and ended with Randall writing:

"Have you called OUR legal on this at all? I guess we can argue the knee jerk response as well as other collaborated incidences. I just have a bad feeling about this. I just want to cross the T's and dot our I's."

A day later and just hours before the public meeting where board members voted to terminate Eanes, Seidel wrote in an email to Saunders: "With all the players, should we gather at some set time for a pre-game conference?"

Later that night after the meeting Seidel wrote Saunders again, saying: "I guess if this ever happens to me again I would get a different lawyer. I would have thought that all the stonewalling I did would have gotten more than the response he gave."

In the days that followed, board members corresponded freely by email referencing plans for "damage control."

In a Feb. 14 email sent from Seidel to the other six board members and Saunders, the board president wrote: "Can we get together carefully, or as a committee?"

Seidel's message was in response to a lengthy email from trustee Shelia Davis early that morning — the day after students protested Eanes' firing by boycotting the school for a day.

"This is totally out of control and (yesterday) being in the school was appalling," Davis wrote. "These kids should not be allowed in any way to run this school the way it was being done (yesterday)."

Eanes also obtained a Feb. 19 email from Seidel to board vice president Richard Hodgson that stated: "We need to get together in small groups and talk this out."

In another email dated March 6 from Hodgson to Seidel, the board's vice president questions the group's actions.

"I have gone through this material several times and there really is not much for us to hang our hats on," the email reads. "The best thing we have is her statement that she had 'violated the student-teacher boundary' and that this was not an isolated incident."

The email continues: "What should have happened? First of all is the principal the punishment should fit the crime. The school administrator should have called in everyone who was involved and all of the witnesses. A report on this investigation should have been prepared. That I did not have time is not going to cut it when you are dealing with a person's career. At that time the administrator should have determined the appropriate course of action from the options at hand — termination, suspension, reprimand, probation, a combination, or nothing."

At the end of his message, Hodgson writes: "Make no mistake, we are deep in the weeds. We can not afford a lawsuit, nor can we afford a large loss in our student base. Both are very possible at this point. We need to calm this down and the hard line approach is not going to work."

Reached by phone Friday, Seidel and Hodgson declined to comment and referred questions to the board's attorney, Andrea Johnson.

Phone and email messages left for Johnson were not returned Friday.

"I guess it's public so you can use it, but I'm not going to comment," Hodgson said.

Seidel, too, declined to speak with a reporter about the lawsuit but said: "We feel very happy about our circumstances."

The Open Meetings Act has been in place since 1977 aimed at promoting openness and accountability in government. Broadly, it prohibits government bodies from meeting or communicating privately to debate policy issues and ensures most discussions and decisions will be made in meetings open to the public.

Eanes said while she is upset, she wasn't surprised to read the email exchanges that surrounded her dismissal.

"It seems very blatant to me, and arrogant," she said. "I don't think they are realizing the seriousness of what they've done."

Eanes and 15 others are named plaintiffs in the lawsuit, which was filed May 7 in Charlevoix County's 33rd Circuit Court. The group has consulted with an attorney, she said, but is not represented by one.

The former teacher said she still is searching for new employment and has yet to decide whether she will file a separate wrongful termination lawsuit against the board, as well.

SETTLEMENT

against Jarema with the Michigan Attorney Grievance Commission for alleged lies he told to county commissioners and a judge. Fanara claims Jarema responded by restricting her hours, reducing her pay and launching investigations into her work.

Lujan said Jarema maintains there was no harassment, saying only that there was a "breakdown in their relationship."

"She claimed this happened almost six years into the relationship," Lujan said. "If he was sexist, he probably would never have hired her as his assistant prosecutor."

Fanara eventually was placed on medical leave after she complained of headaches she said doctors attributed to work-related stress and tension.

At Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners meetings in April and May of 2012, Fanara publicly aired the allegations against Jarema and pleaded with commissioners to step in and stop him from continuing the behavior.

Board members noted at the time there was little they could do about the alleged actions of Jarema, who occupied the publicly elected county prosecutor's office.

Gretchen Olsen, attorney for the county, argued throughout court proceedings that the board of commissioners was not responsible for Jarema's actions. Though Olsen and the county agreed to the settlement terms, she said the county responded properly.

"If we had gone to trial, we believe a jury would have agreed with us," Olsen said. "However, there are many reasons to settle a case. Settlement brings closure with no chance of an appeal and no additional time and energy being directed away from what the county and its employees should be doing."

If the case had gone to trial and the jury ruled in favor of Fanara, Olsen said the county and its insurer would have been responsible for all of the plaintiff's attorney costs in addition to its own. The potential sum, Olsen said, was "substantial."

"Despite anyone's interest in seeing that justice was served, the county's insurance carrier was not willing to take that risk," Olsen said.

Representing Fanara, Bogas said that while "the bulk of the responsibility lays at Jarema's feet," the county fell short of its responsibility.

"It was our position and always has been our position that there are things the county could have done," Bogas said. "They could have dealt with his budget in a certain way, they could have had training sessions, they could have issued public statements that what he is doing is not appropriate and should not be done."

"While they couldn't discipline him for doing what he did, their acts could have had the same effect and they failed to do that."

Jarema was eventually voted out of office, defeated in August 2012 by current prosecuting attorney Allen Telgenhof in the Republican primary.

Attractive landscaping increases the value of your property

A real estate agent will tell you that attractive landscaping always increases the value of a home. Different studies carried out over the past few years confirm this point of view.

Even if the landscaping work costs a lot of money it's still worthwhile, as the value of a typical bungalow or house is 7% higher than a similar property that has very little landscaping or none at all. Moreover, according to a survey carried out in the United States, almost 20% of buyers believe that how a home is landscaped will have an impact on their decision. Other studies clearly indicate that a home will fetch a higher price when green spaces in the neighborhood are within sight. In short, it's not a finished basement which makes the difference, but rather the beauty of the surroundings.

A landscape designer will know how to incorporate your needs, budget, and the special features of your land into a final plan

It will enhance your property and increase its market value. One of the advantages of entrusting the design of your project to a specialist is having access to all the latest trends. If you love summer suppers on the deck, a landscape designer might suggest creating an outdoor kitchen with dining area, storage, and work area. If you have young children, your plan could include a play area that makes clever use of limited space.

Before the ground is even broken, a professional landscape design will allow you to imagine your yard when all the plants have reached maturity. And, of course, if you have the budget or you doubt your own abilities, you can always hire a landscaping contractor recommended by your designer to bring your dream yard into reality!

Many studies have confirmed that attractive landscaping enhances the value of a home.

INDIAN RIVER — One goal at a time.

The goal for the Charlevoix boys' golf team was simply to advance past their district tournament and into regionals. Step one accomplished, next up, regionals.

With a 340 total score at the Indian River Golf Club on Wednesday, the Rayder golfers earned a second place finish in their Division IV district, advancing them to regionals at the Spruce Run golf course of Grand Traverse Resort on Wednesday, May 28.

"Number one goal to start out the year is just to advance," Charlevoix coach Keith Grunch said. "We're through districts, qualified for regionals, hopefully, we can play a little better next Wednesday and get back to the state finals."

Lincoln-Alcona placed first at Wednesday's district match with a 324 total. With the top six teams advancing to the Division IV regional, joining Lincoln-Alcona and the Rayders will be Alanson-Pellston, 359; Harbor Springs, 365; East Jordan, 392; and Mancelona, 410.

Not making the cut were Rogers City, 430; Wolverine, 467; and Inland Lakes, with a 484.

Belvedere to host Michigan Amateur for 40th time

CHARLEVOIX — The Belvedere Golf Club will host the 103rd Michigan Amateur Championship June 15-20, marking the 40th time Belvedere will host the state's top amateur tournament.

Practice rounds begin Sunday, June 15, as an expected field of 156 participants will play two rounds of medal play on Monday, June 16 and Tuesday, June 17. The top 64 players will make it into match play Wednesday, June 18, which will conclude with the championship match Friday, June 20.

On Wednesday, June 18, the top 64 contestants will be paired according to their medal play scores. Similar to the NCAA basketball brackets, if you win you move on and by the end of the day Wednesday after two rounds of match play only the sweet 16 will remain.

On Thursday, June 19, the 16 finalists will be cut to the final four and on Friday, June 20, the final four will be played as well as a champion crowned.

A dinner and awards banquet at the Belvedere Casino will honor the 16 finalist and Dan Pohl will be the guest speaker and talk about his experience in the Michigan Amateur, his time on the PGA Tour and playing in the Masters. Pohl lost in a playoff in the 1982 Masters to Craig Stadler.

The last time Belvedere hosted the Michigan Amateur was in 2003, when Colby Beckstrom of North Muskegon won 5 and 3 over A.J. Balulis of Baldwin.

Belvedere has hosted more Golf Association of Michigan Michigan Amateurs than any other club in the state by far, with the next

A dominating season on the track for the Charlevoix boys track and field team came to a regular season conclusion with a Lake Michigan Conference title last Tuesday in East Jordan.

East Jordan placed second behind the Rayders with 102 points, followed by Traverse City St. Francis with 87; Boyne City, 83.5; Harbor Springs, 74.5; Elk Rapids, 60; Grayling, 60; and Kalkaska, 26.

CHARLEVOIX — All or nothing.

Not a bad attitude to have if you're aiming for a Division IV district title, particularly if you're the Charlevoix girls' soccer team, which is aiming for a sixth district title in seven years.

In a win or go home situation, not many have been better than the Rayders as of late, which is exactly what they proved on Tuesday in hosting their Division IV district meeting against Harbor Springs, coming away with a dominating 5-0 win.

"Our game plan was just to go all out and kind of our team slogan this year has been all or nothing and that's kind of what they did today," Charlevoix coach Pete Scholten said afterward. "We just knew we had to play hard, be first to the ball and not give them the through ball opportunities."

The Rayders earned district titles from 2008-2011, then again last season, by defeating Harbor Springs 1-0 in overtime.

The win over the Rams on Tuesday moves Charlevoix into a Division IV district semifinal game against Boyne City at 5 p.m. Thursday, May 29, in Charlevoix.

Tuesday's matchup, the only difference was the Rayders came ready to capitalize.

Charlevoix would strike on their first goal opportunity with just over 24 minutes remaining in the first half, as a high bounce got over the head of Harbor goalkeeper Stephanie Sylvain and into the leg of Rayder forward Elizabeth Way, who split a pair of defenders to give Charlevoix a 1-0 lead.

The game would hold the 1-0 score at the half, as a defensive battle ensued through much of the first half.

"As pleased as we were with our offensive attack, our defense played a key role in the victory," said Scholten. "Olivia Storm, Isabel Hess, Kaitlin Hinkley and Shelby Robinson did a great job tonight against an explosive Harbor attack."

Rayders strike out in finale

Charlevoix falls to Central Lake, ousted by Boyne City in pre-districts

CHARLEVOIX — Not how they wanted to close it out.

Playing a nonconference doubleheader against Central Lake on Friday, the Charlevoix softball team ended the regular season with a pair of losses, in games of 13-5 and 10-0.

The Rayders would start game one with a 4-0 lead, thanks to a grand slam by senior Kelsey Pischner in the first inning, but it would be downhill for the Rayders from there.

Yogi Hang took the loss in the circle, allowing four walks and 10 hits, including three home runs. She would pick up seven strikeouts in the loss, as well.

Gabby Gray, Hang, Nicole Peterson and Hailey Berry would all have one hit, while Jacy Herriman picked up a solo home run in the fifth inning.

In game two, the Rayders would be held to just one hit off the bat of Jacy Herriman.

Hang started in the circle, allowing 10 runs through three innings pitched, with two strikeouts.

Herriman took over in relief, allowing three walks, with one strikeout.

On Tuesday, the Rayders fell to Boyne City 16-1 in their Division III pre-district game to conclude their season.

Rayders offense would find its stroke, as sophomore Kelsey Engstrom found sophomore Kylee Scholten for a long goal midway through the second half to make it a 2-0 game.

Way would later award Engstrom with a goal opportunity, one she'd convert to make it a 3-0 game less than three minutes later.

Junior Leah Davis would knock in an unassisted goal from nearly midfield to make it a 4-0 game, then Scholten would find Davis for another long goal as the final seconds ticked away on the Rams season.

Gloria Greene earned the win in goal for the Rayders, saving all 12 shots she saw.

"They had nice shots, nice opportunities that they capitalized on," Harbor coach Ed Fantozzi said. "They were the better team than we were today. We had a couple chances to change momentum but we didn't finish them. A lot of those times, that makes the difference."

Overall, the Rams close a 13-7 season, with a team that includes 10 freshmen.

"I thought for the most part we had a decent season, we fought injuries all the way through," added Fantozzi. "Next year, some of these girls will have another run at it. They're young."

For Charlevoix, now 17-5-1, a matchup with the Ramblers awaits on Thursday, with the Rayders holding the upper hand, having defeated the Ramblers by scores of 8-0 and 3-0 already this season.

"We're playing pretty solid soccer right now and we're just going to try to get back to work again tomorrow and keep a fast, two touch game going," added Scholten.

In Tuesday's other semifinal game, Elk Rapids downed East Jordan, 8-0.

For the Elks, 13-5-1, Paige Granger scored three goals, while Carley Patterson added two goals and Mylia LaPointe had two goals. Nicole Hill also scored for the Elks, who'll face Burt Lake Northern Michigan Christian Academy in a Division IV district semifinal on Thursday, May 29.

Rayders take third at conference finals

STEVE POLEY
NEWS-REVIEW

BOYNE FALLS — The Charlevoix High School girls' varsity tennis team concluded the 2014 season Wednesday as they placed third in the Lake Michigan Conference championships.

Traverse City St. Francis won six total flights to claim the league title as they finished with 20 points, while Harbor Springs was second, 13; followed by Charlevoix, 10; Grayling, 5; East Jordan, 4; Boyne City, 3, and Elk Rapids, 1.

Charlevoix was paced by Rae Claramunt at No. 3 singles who won her flight as she defeated Lesky in the finals, 6-2, 6-1. Claramunt opened with a 7-5, 7-5 win over St. Francis and then topped Boyne City, 6-0, 6-1, in the semifinals.

"Rae came out with a tough matchup against St. Francis, but she and I knew today was her day," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "I didn't want to think about anyone trying to take that away from Rae. She was focused and poised throughout the day. A fine win for Claramunt."

Charlevoix's Lexie Barnes at No. 2 singles finished as flight runner-up as she opened with a 6-3, 6-2 win over Grayling; then topped East Jordan, CLARAMUNT 4-6, 7-4, 6-4; before falling to St. Francis' Burke, 6-1, 6-1, in the final.

"Lexie being a senior really left everything on the court," Randall said. "She is a smart, sensible player, and I am so glad I had the opportunity to coach her."

Also in singles play for Charlevoix, Madi Carey at No. 1 def. Grayling, 6-2, 7-5, and fell to East Jordan, 6-4, 6-2, while at No. 4 Cassie McCraney fell to Boyne City, 2-6, 6-0, 6-3.

In doubles play, Emily Roloff and Mallory Murray at No. 1 def. East Jordan, 6-4, 6-2; and fell to St. Francis, 6-3, 6-4; while at No. 2 Jennaca Holecheck and Becca Moon won by default over East Jordan and fell to St. Francis, 6-0, 6-2.

Hannah Ennis and Kasl Meggison at No. 3 won their first match in a marathon, 6-3, 4-6, 7-6 (11-9), and fell to St. Francis, 6-0, 6-0; while at No. 4 Erin Wachler and Cloe Winner topped Elk Rapids, 7-6 (7-4), 6-4; and fell to St. Francis, 6-1, 6-2.

"This group of girls had the biggest growth in their skill sets by the end of the season, especially with the fact it was a very short abbreviated season," Randall said. "I am graduating six seniors this year. They are a great group of girls and will be missed. They have been a great example to our younger players whom they are leaving the Rayder tennis program to."

STEVE POLEY
NEWS-REVIEW

KENT CITY — The Charlevoix High School boys' track and field team placed fifth out of 13 teams Saturday at the Michigan Interscholastic Track Coaches Association Division III state championships.

Hillsdale won the boys Division III state title as they finished with 1,303.5 points, while Standish Sterling was second, 1,218.5; and Grand Rapids West Catholic was third with 1,191; Frankmunth was fourth with 1,040 points; and Charlevoix placed fifth with 944 points.

The Rayders were led by Sam Hovie who placed third in pole vault at 12-6, and Nick Plude who was third in the 800, 1:58.88. Jared McLean was seventh in the 400, 52.71; while Tristen Rudolph was sixth in the 1,600, 4:36.30; and eighth in the 3,200, 10:07.83.

Charlevoix also placed third in the 3,200 relay (Jackson Buday, Ben Boss, Justin Pearl, Rudolph) in 8:19.32; while the 800 relay (McLean, Micah Peebles, Benjamin Paikai, Plude) was fourth, 1:33.76.

Also, Charlevoix's 1,600 relay team of McLean, Paikai, Peebles and Plude placed eighth in 3:41.87.

Rayders fall to Boyne City in Division III pre-district game

DREW KUCHANNY
NEWS-REVIEW

BOYNE CITY — Defending home.

A simple philosophy from the Boyne City baseball team was taken to a whole new level on Tuesday in Boyne City, when the defense-focused Ramblers used that mindset to pull off an upset Division III district win over Charlevoix on their home field.

The Ramblers earned a 5-1 win over the defending district champion Rayders, behind pitcher Tanner Kruzel and a number of defensive plays.

"Tanner Kruzel has really developed into a fine pitcher," Boyne City coach Mark Pontoni said. "He pounded the strike zone all day throwing 18 out of 30 first pitch strikes."

"It was a great atmosphere on our home field. There was a big crowd, including our girls' softball team who had just won their game," Pontoni added.

The win moves Boyne into a district semifinal matchup with Elk Rapids at noon on Saturday, May 31, in Boyne City.

The Rayders would get the best of Kruzel to start the game, as they opened with a 1-0 lead at the top of the frame.

The lead, however, would be short lived as four Ramblers reached base in the bottom of the first, with Jordan Fair knocking in Kruzel and Max Cuper on a two-run single.

Defense would hold for both teams until the fifth inning, when Boyne's Dalton Gardner would hit a double into center, then would later score on a throwing error.

In the sixth, Boyne would add another run, as Colton Sieradski found his way out of a pickle to make it a 5-1 game and eventual win.

For Charlevoix, Nate Moon took the loss on the mound, allowing five hits and four walks over six innings of play, while striking out seven.

The Rayders close a 24-9 season, one in which they tied their previous record for wins in a season.

"It was a tough end to the season for us," Charlevoix coach Allen Telgenhof said. "We just couldn't break through against Kruzel and we made some uncharacteristic errors to give them some insurance runs."

Over the last two seasons, the Rayders compiled a 48-

11 record, thanks much in part to a graduating senior group.

"We had five seniors play in their last game, including Shane Sutherland who was a four-year starter and Luke Klinger, who started three," added Telgenhof. "J.J. Bottomley, Logan Eckhardt and Andrew Mitchell are the other three."

Against the Ramblers, Noah Certa, Moon and Klinger all had hits, while Will Telgenhof scored the lone run for the Rayders.

Kruzel would earn the win by allowing just three hits and three walks, while striking out nine.

"Our defense was great all day," added Pontoni. "We had to bring up Spencer Binkley from the JV and he played a really strong game. Jordan Fair delivered another outfield assist which killed a Rayder rally. Behind the plate, Max Cuper had his best game of the year, and that kept the Rayder running game at bay."

For the Rayders, Noah Certa finished the season with a school record 39 runs scored, breaking his own record of 38 from last year. Also, Will Telgenhof had 47 hits, one short of the school record, and the Rayders as a team hitted .349, just shy of the season record of .354.

The Rayders also set new school records for runs with 294, and had 71 doubles and 176 stolen bases.

calls Nick Aldrich and Drew Heckman of Inland Lakes with an 81 and 113, respectively, and Wolverine's Taylor Shann and Dan Lamerson, with a 113 and 108, respectively.

Lincoln-Alcona's Lucas Weichel shot a district low 74 to earn the medalist position, followed by East Jordan freshman Logan Smith, 75; Connor Kintz of Alanson-Pellston, 78; and Brad Rizzo of Charlevoix, 79.

Also for the Rayders, Noah Jeakle shot an 84, followed by Montana Thompson, 85; Matthew Good, 92; and Ryan Joy, 104.

"That was his low for the year," Grunch said of Rizzo's fourth place finish. "Montana Thompson had a career low, shot an 85. Those two played great. Noah and Matt played higher than they normally do, so if we can get those guys to jell all at the same time we'll be OK for next week."

Following Smith at East Jordan, Andrew Drenth placed a 98 on the card at the end of the day, followed by Britten Lewis, 104; Jackson Robbins, 115; and Daniel Nise, 133.

"I was happy with what they shot. It's a team effort when you get the whole team there," East Jordan coach Darrin Podskalny said. "I think individually, each one kind of stepped it up a little bit."

Podskalny was equally pleased with the individual play of his talented freshman, Logan Smith.

"It was nice to see Logan shoot what he had," he added. "He was pleased with the round, which is a positive thing. I think he's got it in him at Regionals, we'll see. We're excited to see what the team is going to do and what Logan is going to do at this next level."

Also for Alanson-Pellston, Tanner Keller shot an 85, followed by A.J. LaCombe, 97; James Eaton, 99; and Drew Wyatt, 130.

Harbor Springs was left on the day by senior Bennett Langton, who finished with an 80, followed by Keith Fitzpatrick, 92; Hayden Grzelak, 93; Adam Cavitt, 100; and Shea Furman, 101.

Following Aldrich and Heckman for Inland Lakes included Dalton Depauw, 144; Emily Lidy, 146; and Thomas Weaver, 180.

Facing both tougher competition and a tougher course in Shanty Creek, making yet another state finals run will be tough to do for the Rayders, after making the finals last year as a Division III team.

They'll also face off with one of the best in Division IV, Suttons Bay, ranked No. 2 in the Michigan Interscholastic Golf Coaches Association poll.

"All the guys have played there, which is good," added Grunch. "It's a tough course because of the greens, they have a lot of slope to them. We have some stiff competition also, so we'll need to play well to get through it."

closest being Saginaw Country Club with eight times as host.

In 1906, the first Michigan Amateur Championship was contested at Kent Country Club in Grand Rapids. Since that inaugural event, the prestigious Michigan Amateur Championship has been contested annually 102 times — only suspending play for two years during World War I and four years during World War II.

Throughout the 102 championships, only 28 golf clubs have had the honor of hosting the Michigan Amateur with Belvedere set to host its 40th tournament. After hosting the Michigan Amateur 12 times from 1930-1958, Belvedere was the permanent host for the championship from 1963-1988.

Andrew Chapman of Traverse City won the 2013 Michigan Amateur at Muskegon Country Club and is the defending champion. Petoskey's Joey Garber he-came the youngest winner of the tournament as he won in 2010 at Oakhurst Golf and Country Club, and was the tournament runner-up in 2011.

The public is welcome to walk and watch the competition. Parking is available at the Charlevoix High School and a shuttle van will be available to transport spectators to the golf club.

Also, Belvedere Golf Club is looking for volunteers for the tournament. For more information, contact Marty Joy, (231) 547-2611.

The Harbor team of Sampson, Fleming, Cullip and Reagan Damoose also won the 800-meter relay in 1:53.31.

Eye-catching CV + well-prepared interview = a job for sure!

At last, the school year is finished. But it's not the time to relax for you students. You have to find a summer job as soon as you can in order to be able to pay for at least some of your expenses when September comes around again. To maximize your chances of landing a good summer job you should count on an eye-catching CV and a well-prepared interview.

As far as the CV is concerned, it won't help to write a huge tome. You've never held a job before? Then limit your CV to one page emphasizing your talents, interests, volunteer work, etc. The document should be two or three pages long at the most and be written in clear, concise language using the same terms as in the job offer. Your CV has had the (hoped-for) effect and you've been able to get an interview. Good for you! But what strategy do you adopt now? First of all, you have to show the right attitude, that's to say, be confident without being arrogant. The trick is to show sincerity as genuine people inspire confidence. Moreover, facts should be emphasized rather than opinions. Saying that you would make a great day-camp counsellor isn't as valuable as recounting how you managed to keep busy your neighbor's six children who you looked after all last summer! It is also important to be exact, concise and coherent in what you say, being sure to mention any positive comments made about you. Good luck in your job search.

Business partners Adam Engleman (left) and Rich Bergmann spend Wednesday putting finishing touches on the coming Bridge Street Tap Room business, set to debut with the inaugural Charlevoix Craft Beer Festival. So far, they have five beers and two wines hooked up to the wall of taps, with 17 more to go on this wall and another eight available taps around the corner, for a total of 30 taps. The other business partners are Phil Parr and Aaron Hagen.

City leaders approve outdoor seating for new beer business

CHARLEVOIX — City leaders on Monday unanimously approved outdoor seating for new business Bridge Street Tap Room, the same week its owners will host the first annual Charlevoix Craft Beer Festival.

"Outdoor seating is a big thing in the Cool Cities Initiative," said Mike Spencer, Charlevoix city planner.

Charlevoix City Council members first discussed the request and Spencer explained how this activity has been allowed in the past, but only if the applicable liquor license permitted that activity.

The space where the craft beer business will be allowed to set up outdoor tables and chairs encompasses 10 feet of space, from the building wall immediately adjacent to Bridge Park.

Council members talked about what city codes permit in terms of outdoor activity, including how there must be a physical barrier for the tap room's outside space, according to state law. That's important, said Lyle

Changes made to brush pickup program

SHERI MCWHIRTER-O'DONNELL

CHARLEVOIX — City residents must change the way they clean up their properties after the Charlevoix City Council unanimously voted to establish an ordinance to regulate accepted and prohibited materials in the city's curbside pickup program.

City manager Rob Straebel told council members on Monday that city employees take a lot of complaints about the time the brush and other materials remain piled at the curb, waiting for pickup. Also, some materials are problematic for the city to dispose of, including concrete bricks and treated lumber, he said.

"Our intentions at this point is not to write any tickets," Straebel said.

The idea is to streamline the city's brush pickup program, making it more efficient and reducing the time materials remain piled along the streets, officials said.

One resident complained that a neighborhood schedule for pickups should be devised because the brush materials sit for "not days, not hours, but weeks," said Julie Roth. "It's constantly out and nobody knows when they are picking up."

Pat Elliott, public works superintendent, said even with a schedule, the city's brush collection program likely won't be able to collect everything within a day, plus a neighborhood route would require a limit to the amount of materials left for city workers.

Council member Jeff Porter asked if the city could create common areas at property lines to speed up the city's brush collection rate.

"If there could be a community pile, we would be much more efficient," Elliott said. "But it's difficult for some to accept others' debris in

Waterfront property center of dispute

Land battle ongoing between township and Lake Charlevoix property owners

CRAIG CURRIER
DEAR WRITER

CHARLEVOIX — In an ongoing dispute over a stretch of Lake Charlevoix waterfront, a property owner is appealing a judge's decision that the land is designated for public use.

In February, Charlevoix County Circuit Court Judge Richard Pajitas ordered property owners Brigitte and Robert Fowler to remove a boat and dock from adjacent land specified as public property.

The Fowlers disagree, however, and appealed the decision. They are now awaiting that ruling, which their attorney says will determine who truly owns the property.

"It's directly in front of their house," said Bill Carey, attorney for the Fowlers. "I know that the township would like to make this just an issue limited to where to store a dock, but we wouldn't be spending the significant amount of time and money on this litigation if it wasn't a bigger issue than that."

The property in question is along Beach Drive, which is lined with homes and separates them from the waterfront. Prior to the Fowlers purchasing their land in 2011, a litigation settlement between the prior owners and the township seemingly kept the land private until it was sold, at which point it would be turned over to the township.

Hayes Township's attorney Bryan Graham has argued exactly that point.

"There was a past agreement between the Fowlers' predecessors, title and they agreed how this property in dispute was going to be used," Graham said. "Title is now vested in the township. The Fowlers were con-

Three missing teens located near Chicago

STEVE ZUCKER
NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — A trio of Charlevoix-area teens, two of whom were listed on missing persons posters placed at area businesses over the weekend, have been found in the Chicago area.

Charlevoix County Sheriff Don Schneider said on Friday, deputies received a report from family members that Allison Pingle, 17, Jamey Carter, 16, and Tyler Sauve, 17, were missing.

Missing persons posters with pictures of Jamey and Allison were posted in several locations around Charlevoix. The posters were not placed by law enforcement officials.

Schneider said the investigation revealed that Jamey and Tyler, who were already on probate court probation from earlier matters, may have been involved in an alleged shoplifting incident at the Wal-Mart south of Petoskey on Friday. Schneider said after the alleged incident at Wal-Mart, the boys picked up Allison and left town.

Friday's events prompted probate court officials to issue a probation violation pickup order for the two boys.

Authorities said police in the Chicago area tracked the trio down on Monday. The two boys were taken into custody while Allison was released to a family member who has since returned her to Northern Michigan.

Probate court officials said Wednesday that both boys remained in custody in Illinois and could be returned to Northern Michigan by Friday where they will likely await further probate court action.

Commissioners not ready to hire new attorney

CRAM CUNNINGHAM
NEWS-REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — Unable to agree on a new civil attorney for Charlevoix County, the board of commissioners instead is likely to extend a contract agreement with the one who has represented the board for the last two years.

Board chairman Joel Evans has pushed to hire a full-time civil attorney making it a staff position and said he's still hopeful the other commissioners will agree with him.

After interviewing two candidates last month, the board vote split 3-3 on hiring a staff attorney.

"I'm a little frustrated,"

Evans said. "It'd be so convenient to have (an attorney) here."

At a board of commissioners meeting Wednesday night, contract attorney Bryan Graham said he will prepare a short-term contract and bring it to the board for approval next month. Evans said he expects to approve a three-month contract for Graham while the board continues to discuss its permanent solution for the role.

Graham

"I want to do our due diligence, have an application process again and then hopefully we'll settle on someone."

— Richard Gillespie, commissioner

Graham, a Bellaire attorney, has served as the county's civil counsel since 2012, but represents several other municipalities in Northern Michigan and is not considered a candidate for the full-time county role.

Board commissioners accompanied by county coordinator Kevin Shepard interviewed two candidates in April — Boyne City attorney Tim Arner and Traverse City attorney Lisa Vogler. According to Evans, Arner was interested in the staff attorney position, but Vogler wanted to keep her other clients and work on a contract basis for the county.

The interviews occurred in special meetings of the county board of commissioners and while salary was discussed with each candidate, the commissioners haven't disclosed how much they intend to offer for the position.

Commissioners Ron Reinhardt and Chris Christensen voted with Evans in favor of offering the position to Arner, while George Lasater, Larry Sullivan and Rich Gillespie opposed the move.

Gillespie said he supports creating a staff position for the attorney, but that more interviews need to be conducted before a decision is made.

"I want to do our due diligence, have an application

EAST JORDAN

East Jordan bridge work expected through August

EAST JORDAN — State-hired construction workers are currently working to improve the bridge across the Jordan River in East Jordan.

The work involves deck repairs to the M-32 bridge, as well as fresh paint for the structure. The bridge is the sole in-town link between the two sides of East Jordan separated by the river, though motorists can also travel across the river on Rogers Road, south of town.

Work on the in-town bridge requires a lane closure, with traffic controlled by a temporary traffic signal. No over-width loads on vehicles will be permitted during construction. Loads more than 8 feet, 6 inches wide will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

Officials with the Michigan Department of Transportation estimate the project will be completed by the end of August.

Construction is expected to for most of the summer slow down motorists crossing the Jordan River in East Jordan.

Woman jumps from, run over by, vehicle

CHARLEVOIX — A Charlevoix woman was injured early Saturday after she jumped from the vehicle in which she was riding and then was run over by the same vehicle.

In a news release issued Monday, Charlevoix County Sheriff Don Schneider identified the injured woman as Emily Vandeweghe, 26, who was transported to Charlevoix Area Hospital for treatment for her injuries.

Schneider reported that deputies and East Jordan Ambulance crews were called to a report of a personal injury accident at 1344 Sequanota Road.

Deputies later learned that the incident actually took place on Novotny Road near Kerry Lane in Marion Township, but the victim had been moved from the scene prior to 9-1-1 being notified.

Schneider said the investigation showed that a short time before the 9-1-1 call was made, Vandeweghe and her fiancé, 34-year-old Scott Cromie, had left a party near Novotny Road and Kerry Lane with their 4-year-old son.

Police said as Cromie was driving away from the party, Vandeweghe decided she wanted to stay longer and jumped out of the moving vehicle, fell to the ground and was run over by the vehicle in which she had been riding.

Police said Cromie put Vandeweghe back into the vehicle and took her to the Sequanota Road address while a friend called 9-1-1.

Schneider said the incident is still under investigation, but alcohol is believed to have been a factor.

Insulting 'gypsy' comment a lesson in language?

NEWS-REVIEW EDITORIAL BOARD

Editor's note: In absence of a biweekly column by longtime contributor Roger M. Kintson, this opinion editorial first published on May 30 in the Petoskey News-Review, is reprinted here because of the importance of this topic to the entire Charlevoix community.

Language is important to society — just ask a room full of writers and editors. Recently, an elected Charlevoix city leader used a highly offensive language to describe out-of-town vendors. He called them "gypsy artists" with their "gypsy art," and then he said it over and over again during a public meeting of the Charlevoix City Council. More than a few stunned faces could be found in the audience.

Councilman Jeff Porter, of Charlevoix's First Ward, referred to the vendors who come in late June to the annual Summer Solstice Art Show in downtown's East Park. Apparently, he believes the artwork they sell is "poor-quality" and there is "absolutely no reason to have these people here."

That sounds rather elitist to most folks.

Porter balked at the suggestion some people consider his choice of language to be the very least be dripping with condescension and intended as a derogatory insult, while at its furthest stretches to be outright hate speech meant to imply inferiority, whether of ethnicity or socio-economic status. Then he proved that point with a letter to the editor in which he apologized, not for using inappropriate and derogatory language, but for a lack of public understanding of 20th century "unabridged" definitions of words.

See, it's all about semantics because he meant the word gypsy as an adjective to mean "vagrant," but not having to do with the "Romany chals of Europe," Porter explained in his letter. So, he meant to say the artists who come to celebrate summertime and the creation of artwork are vagrants, not people of Romani descent. Right — because that's better.

Porter's choice of words was an insult to people who may come from a different tax bracket than himself, a local dentist and philanthropist. They may be people whom never had a chance to travel to Romania, as Porter said he's done. These traveling artists of whom he fails to approve sell their wares throughout not just Michigan, but the entire country, finding ways to support themselves and their families when economic recession conditions continue and traditional employment opportunities are not equitable among all social classes.

And what about those whom live locally, but can't afford paintings and sculptures with price tags in the tens of thousands? Shouldn't they have an opportunity to purchase art which speaks to them, no matter the lower costs?

What Porter said aloud leaves a black eye on all of Charlevoix.

Tourists and visitors of all economic levels should be welcomed into our community and feel appreciated to spend their disposable income, whether they are here to buy a burger and a cone at the Dairy Grille, or escargot and a filet mignon at the Weatherlane. That's how tourist towns work in today's economy.

Perhaps Porter should invest in a course of sensitivity training. He wouldn't be the first to need this type of social reality check. Maybe everyone should endeavor to learn more about their own language, its constant evolution, and how to use it in ways that won't offend others — or at least learn when to keep their First Amendment-protected opinion to themselves when representing more than just themselves, such as an entire community.

Scope out a blossoming Charlevoix

Editor:

The Charlevoix Area Garden Club's Downtown Beautification Project started in 2004. Merchants compete for awards for container plantings and gardens with the stated purpose of beautifying our downtown. In the beginning we had only four merchants participate, while last year it blossomed to 19. This year it mushroomed to 31!

In early May, we hand-deliver invitation letters to merchants and advertise in local newspapers. This year, we will judge window boxes, flower planters and gardens on July 10. Committee members judge entries using a five-point system with five being the highest score. Criteria are color, texture, originality and design. First, second and third places are awarded in several categories. Additionally, we give awards of distinction and participation.

When our invitation letters are hand-delivered in May, most merchants sign up immediately. They usually know who won the previous year and have carefully selected flowers for the season that will make their planters, window boxes and gardens stand out.

When in Charlevoix, please notice the merchants' flowers and thank them for their efforts to beautify our town.

Bridging our past with our future

LOOKING BACK...

In 1909, five years after Bridge Street was paved, grocer Bert Mason posed with his delivery wagon outside his store at 310 Bridge St., where East Park is now. The building would have been about halfway between Clinton and Mason streets. Bert can be seen under the parasol. To his right are Arthur Alcox, Morris Ackert and Jimmie Conner, who owned a shoe repair business in the smaller structure at left. Jimmie was notorious for his hair-trigger temper. Just above Jimmie's right shoulder can be seen a bunch of bananas hanging on Bert's window frame. Bananas suspended like this indicated that groceries could be purchased inside. Bert's interior also housed a multitude of small hardware and household items. The delivery wagon was his pride and joy, a must for any business back then because without one, a merchant didn't stay in business. Door-to-door delivery was an unspoken given when things weren't as technical as they are today. It was a simple system before powered vehicles became mainstream. Fuel consumption data was never recorded, or much thought about. Emissions were impossible to control, just part of the daily scene. These buildings were torn down in 1934 to make way for a log fort or stockade that went up for the 1935 Michigan centennial celebration and Charlevoix County homecoming, and in which the first Venetian Queen was crowned.

COMMUNITY Highlights

Foundation helps beautify Charlevoix

New Canopy Fund created for tree-planting program

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix County Community Foundation and the City of Charlevoix partnered to protect the beautiful tree-lined streets of Charlevoix and keep the city green for many years to come.

All over Michigan, trees are dying because of the invasive emerald ash borer, a green beetle that infests ash trees, leaving them dead within one or two years. In the past 10 years, Charlevoix lost more than 200 trees throughout the city. Over time, most likely every ash tree within Charlevoix will be affected by the emerald ash borer and will need to be removed.

The tree loss is so great that city funds cannot meet the need to replace the trees, officials said.

"The city has had an aggressive tree-planting program in the past, but reduction in state funding and reduction in taxes has made it difficult to keep up with the

"We're hopeful that the fund will continue to grow, which will help to ensure that Charlevoix's streets will remain as they are today — lined by beautiful, mature and healthy trees."

— Chip Hansen, Charlevoix County Community Foundation president need for new trees," said Rob Straebel, city manager for the City of Charlevoix.

If this continued, Charlevoix would lose much of the beautiful foliage that lines city streets. When partners at the community foundation became aware of this issue, they said they wanted to find a way to help. After talking with a few potential donors, the foundation established a new Canopy Fund dedicated to helping the city replace trees on an annual basis. Established in September last year, the fund is intended to provide for the purchase of seven to 10 new trees each year.

"We're hopeful that the fund will continue to grow, which will help to ensure that Charlevoix's streets will remain as they are today — lined by beautiful, mature and healthy trees," said Chip Hansen, president, Charlevoix County Community Foundation.

This fall the city will plant at least 100 new trees.

"We are incredibly enthused about the partnership between the community foundation and the city," Straebel said. "The Canopy Fund is extremely beneficial, not only for now, but for future generations."

The trees planted will be a diverse variety of species, helping to ensure that any future disease introduced will not spread to affect the entire tree population. No new ash trees will be planted, as those would be quickly affected by the emerald ash borer, Straebel said.

"Keep Charlevoix Beautiful" is more than a slogan, and many factors combine to make Charlevoix a beautiful place to live and work," said Hansen. "The tree-lined streets are a big part of Charlevoix's appeal, and we're pleased to be in a position to partner with the City of Charlevoix to establish and build the Charlevoix Canopy Fund for years to come. We hope more people will join us to participate in this worthwhile project."

Charlevoix Kiwanis Club's annual event garners many sponsors

CHARLEVOIX — The Charlevoix Kiwanis Club recently recognized the winners of its annual Vandenberg Essay Contest with an award ceremony on May 22 at the Charlevoix Elementary School.

The contest is named in honor of the late Merle Vandenberg, who was a Kiwanis member known for his work with many area nonprofit organizations, especially those that serve youth in the community.

Students in the fifth grade were asked to write a persuasive essay about a nonprofit group about which they were interested. The contest drew entries from 65 students in the community.

The committee of seven Kiwanis members who reviewed the essays were to select six essays, but the group was so pleased with the entries they ended up selecting seven, officials said.

For their efforts, the students received a $75 check to present to the nonprofit about which they chose to write. One essay was selected as the overall winner and that student received a check for $150 for their nonprofit.

The Charlevoix Kiwanis Club organized the event with the help of sponsors who provided gift certificates and monetary awards. The committee thanked the following supporters at the event: Ace Hardware, Bay Winds Federal Credit Union, Bergmann Center Aktion Club, Charlevoix State Bank, The Community Shopper, First Congregational UCC in memory of Fran Pletz, Dave and Cynthia Garland, Kiwanis Club of Charlevoix, Carolyn Navarre, Northwestern Bank, Roger and Cynthia Postmus, Bob and Nancy Rajewski and the Round Lake Bookstore.

Red Devils take home quiz bowl trophy

East Jordan earns second grand championship in two years

ERICA RAKOWICZ
NEWS-REVIEW

EAST JORDAN — The Red Devils of East Jordan High School recently scored a victory over the Gaylord St. Mary Snowbirds in the grand championship of Central Michigan University Public Television's original academic quiz show, "Quiz Central."

The East Jordan Red Devils team is comprised of Joel Liesenberg, Laura Harden, Alex Newman and Garrett Imel with alternates Raven Joseph and Nick Lewin. The team took home the trophy for the school's second championship in a row.

"You really don't know, in terms of preparing," said John Liesenberg, quiz bowl coach.

The students spend about an hour a week practicing up until the matches begin.

The team made three trips to CMU's studio prior to winning the title — once in October, again in February and then in March for the grand championship.

The quiz bowl incorporates different styles of questions, some being quick questions and others are longer, drawn out questions. Generally, questions center around history and geography.

Students are also urged to think outside of the box because sometimes the nature of the question isn't always what comes first to mind.

"There was a clue about bonding agents, so you would think, 'Chemistry,' but the question was matching the villain from a James Bond movie," Liesenberg said.

The competition has the ability to become high stress and asks much of the students' attention.

"There have been several instances where East Jordan went right down to the wire when they were behind and the quick questions allowed them to pull ahead," Liesenberg said.

East Jordan High School senior Laura Harden stole the winning points for the Red Devils in the last few seconds of the game.

"That's always fun, it makes it more exciting," Liesenberg said.

The team said the goal for this year was to repeat last year's win.

"And for the kids not graduating this year, their plan is to repeat the win again next year," Liesenberg said.

The Red Devils defeated the St. Mary Snowbirds with a final score of 220-190 during season nine of "Quiz Central."

Teams that participate in the quiz bowl compete in four different divisions based on the size of the participating school for a chance to win scholarships to CMU, the CMU hook-store and bragging rights.

The show is an original series produced by CMU Public Television featuring 48 quiz bowl teams from many Michigan high schools competing for the championship title.

"It was an exciting season and there were a lot of close matches," Liesenberg said.

OBITUARY

Danny Augustus White, 75

Danny Augustus White, 75, of Young, Saskatchewan, Canada, died April 22, 2014, in Watrous, Saskatchewan.

Join his family in a celebration of his life from 2-4 p.m. Saturday, June 14, at the Charlevoix VFW Hall. Burial will be at the Barnard Cemetery in Marion Township.

Danny was born Sept. 27, 1938, to Walter and Agnes White in Charlevoix, Mich. He was the eldest of five children. His siblings included Dawn Winters of Hector, Ark.; Walter (deceased); Jayn (Gary) Morgan of Gold Beach, Ore.; and Jon (Mary) of San Diego, Calif.

Danny was blessed with two children from his first marriage to Francis (Lineback); daughter, Michelle Lynn (1960), and son, Daniel Patrick (1963).

Danny spent three years in the U.S. Army stationed at Fort Hood, Texas (1956). This was at the same time Elvis Presley was stationed there.

After the Army, Danny's first job was as a milkman. Later, he learned carpentry skills, as a cabinetmaker, from Chet Schmelter, who was a real father figure in Danny's life. Danny then worked in construction, building a concrete silo at Medusa Cement Plant in Charlevoix, Mich. From 1978 to 1991, he worked as a construction foreman with N.C.I. Co. of Minnesota, Inc. From 1992 to 2010, he was a superintendent for J-Sons Inc. of Bismarck, N.D., building concrete elevators and potash silos.

His children remember Danny teaching them to love the ocean, lakes and rivers. One of Patrick's treasured memories is the boat trip he and his Dad took on Pat's boat from Grand Rapids to Beaver Island, Mich., in July 2008. Also enjoyed were family reunions in Michigan, the first one being on Danny's 70th birthday, in 2008.

Danny was very much a gentleman. He was very particular on how a job got done. No one could keep a napkin folded and neat like he did. Danny's favorite saying to friends was "Tighten Up." He loved driving down the back roads, with a cool one. In his younger years, Danny enjoyed fishing with his cousin Marc White, scuba diving and hunting. Later on, he loved golfing, fishing and riding his dirt bike. Danny loved fly-fishing with his brother, Jon. In 2010, they went together to Labrador, Canada, on a fly-fishing trip, which Danny greatly enjoyed.

In his retirement, Danny loved to do woodworking, building smaller furniture, while listening to the blues and bluegrass music. Danny had recently begun working on his lathe, turning bowls and making ornaments. He also enjoyed making his own wine, which he'd share with his good buddy, Jerry Osmak of Young.

Danny and Blanche enjoyed a few winters down south. He loved fresh vegetables, grown in his own garden. Danny was a country boy at heart and he enjoyed the simple things in life. In July of 2004, Danny and Blanche bought their first home in Hadashville, Manitoba. They were married there July 2, 2007. In August 2007, they purchased their home in Young, Saskatchewan.

Danny passed away at Watrous District Health Complex on Tuesday, April 22, 2014, following a courageous battle with pulmonary fibrosis. Left to mourn his passing are his wife, Blanche; daughter, Michelle (Joe) Travers; grandchildren, Caitlin, Mikaela and Adam; son, Patrick (Christine) White; grandson, Damien; sisters, Dawn Winters and Jayn (Gary) Morgan; brother, Jon (Mary); nephews, Boh Mann, Dirk Winters and Kevin Winters; and niece, Breanne White.

For those so wishing, donations to the Lung Association of Saskatchewan, 1231 8th Street East, Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, would be appreciated.

Library to host exhibit by local artist

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix Public Library recently announced the installation of an exhibit that will delight all visitors, officials said.

Dr. Harold E. Kohn's artwork, including watercolors and brush and ink drawings, will be on exhibit in the library's community room foyer during the months of June and July. Kohn was a beloved pastor and counselor in the Charlevoix area for many years.

"He was a wonderful person and a delight to know," said Mary Ann Chew, longtime Charlevoix resident and retired Charlevoix teacher.

The installation is being handled by Kohn's daughter, Carolyn Kohn Minch.

"My father, Harold E. Kohn (1918-1975), was a compassionate pastor and counselor, and a talented artist and writer. His essays, brush and ink drawings, and watercolor paintings were in demand across the Northland, the United States, and even in China," Minch said.

Kohn experienced years of intense pain, including seven cranial surgeries over the last 20 years of his life because of multiple brain tumors. However, few of his followers knew that much of his art and writings were produced during this suffering. His art was, in fact, a distraction that helped him live with his affliction.

"He often brushed on the joyful colors of his paintings in the wee hours, unable to sleep, those last two years, before the tumors took his sight and then his life," Minch said.

Minch and her husband said they feel privileged to share her father's legacy by installing a show at the library. Visit www.charlevoixlibrary.org for more information about events at the library.

Watercolor workshop set at Raven Hill

EAST JORDAN — For the fifth consecutive year, a Luke Buck watercolor workshop is scheduled at Raven Hill Discovery Center from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Thursday and Friday, June 26-27.

Luke Buck, a native "Hoosier," grew up and studied art in Indiana. His nostalgic paintings of Americana landscapes and American wildlife show a love for life, art and nature. Many Northern Michigan residents show appreciation for his talents and enjoy collecting his paintings.

"I'm looking forward to returning to the Raven Hill Discovery Center for another workshop session in watercolor painting. It's been my pleasure sharing ideas and thoughts with such an energetic and knowledgeable group of artists during the course over the past few years. It's been a nice blend of painters, from the novice and beginner, to the more experienced and accomplished artist," he said.

The emphasis this year, in addition to traditional watercolor landscape painting, will focus on the differences and advantages of working in transparent watercolor and opaque watercolor, hence the program title "The Thick and Thin of It."

Buck will teach his unique but traditional technique and approach to watercolor painting through lectures, demonstrations, and step-by-step painting with one-on-one

This workshop is designed for beginner, intermediate or advanced watercolor painters and will focus on techniques for watercolor painting. Early enrollment is recommended, as space is limited.

'Waterwalk' screens at library June 14

Father-son relationship film queued up for Father's Day

CHARLEVOIX — "Waterwalk," the award-winning father-son relationship drama screens at 2 p.m. Saturday, June 14, on Father's Day weekend, at the Charlevoix Public Library, 220 W. Clinton St. in downtown Charlevoix.

This feature tells the story of a suddenly unemployed workaholic dad who takes a dangerous 1,000-mile canoe journey with the Asian-American adopted son he barely knows. "Waterwalk" is based on the true story of author Steven Faulkner's attempt to paddle the treacherous Marquette-Joliet discovery route of the Mississippi, from St. Ignace in Michigan to St. Louis, all with his teenage son, Justin.

The film was shot on Lake Michigan, Green Bay, the Fox, Wisconsin and Mis-issippi Rivers. Thirty-five communities are featured along the voyage of discovery route pioneered by the two French explorers in 1673. It is also the first film to showcase the historic Marquette-Joliet journey.

In addition to good critical notices, "Waterwalk" enjoyed a number of sell-outs at cinemas, colleges and festivals in more than 150 communities across the United States and Canada, plus won the Eclipse Award for best feature from the Grand Rapids Art Museum.

"Waterwalk" is directed by Robert Cicchini (of "Godfather III," "The Mentalist," and "Six Feet Under"). The unrated movie plays as PG and has been approved for families by the Dove Foundation.

"Parents and their children appreciate the film's portrayal of a father and his son trying to find common ground on a dangerous canoe journey," Cicchini said. "We've gone into uncharted waters here and told a story that would have been difficult for a studio to tackle."

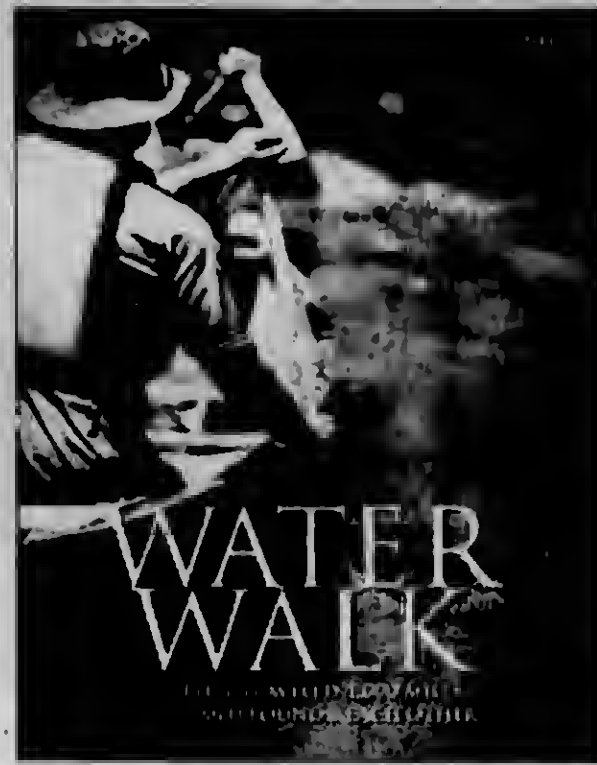

Also appearing in "Waterwalk" is well-known actor Richard Riehle. Among his more than 200 credits are roles in "Office Space," "The Fugitive" and "Grounded For Life." Cinematographer Bruce Schermer was director of photography on Sundance Grand Prize winner "Chameleon Street" and shot most of Michael Moore's first film, "Roger & Me."

"Waterwalk" author Faulkner teaches creative writing at Longwood University in southern Virginia.

He spent his early childhood in the southern Sudan in east Africa, and then moved to Manhattan, Kan., where he graduated from high school. He worked as a truck driver, roofer, grave vault maker, newspaper and doughnut delivery driver, and — for 14 years — a carpenter. He returned to college, working nights to support his wife and children, and acquired the necessary degrees from the University of Kansas.

The Charlevoix Public Library is at 220 W. Clinton in downtown Charlevoix. For more information about this or other events at the library contact Linda Adams at linda@charlevoixlibrary.org or call (231) 237-7342.

Groups join effort to subsidize food for low-income families

Diverse organizations pledge thousands to combat food insecurity

EAST JORDAN — Joining together to put free and subsidized food in the hands of local residents, a diverse coalition of Northern Michigan community organizations has thrown its support behind the food outreach programs of Bluestem Farm in East Jordan.

"As farmers, we believe in the importance of good food, but we are also aware that it can cost more, which puts it out of reach of too many households. We've been working hard to make our food affordable for all," said Mary Brower, owner of Bluestem Farm.

Through a Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) program offered by Bluestem Farm, scores of families purchase farm shares, and then receive regular disbursements of food. This year, however, some of those members have also donated to support the farm's new free and subsidized food program, the Help Others Eat Well Fund.

Joining the farm's members in support of this effort are the Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Petoskey, as well as independent hand Breathe Owl Breathe, which gave a benefit concert for the fund in November last year.

More than $1,000 of donated shares have been given away in the summer of 2014. A committee of CSA members, alongside a group of case managers from the Health Department of Northwest Michigan, determine who receives the donated shares.

A second program,

Hoophouses for Health, has provided an additional opportunity for Bluestem Farm to reach out to even more low-income families. In 2013, the Michigan State University Center for Regional Food Systems awarded a zero-interest loan to Aaron and Mary Brower to build a hoophouse, or unheated greenhouse, at Bluestem Farm.

The Browsers are paying back the loan by paying it forward, and giving away food to low-income families. This year, Bluestem Farm will put an additional one thousand dollars of donated food into the hands of families whose children participate in the Head Start program.

"The purpose of the program is to introduce vulnerable families to local farmers markets and to provide these families with the resources they need to become loyal, repeat customers. Hoophouses for Health also puts working capital into the hands of farmers who use it to build hoophouses, which extend the growing season, and allow Michigan farmers to grow cold-tolerant vegetables throughout the winter months," said Dru Moutri, Michigan Farmers Market Association (MIFMA) director and program partner.

Bluestem Farm is also able to accept SNAP/EBT payments for all food purchases. More information about Bluestem Farm is at www.bluestemfarm.net online.

Charlevoix Craft Beer Festival

Craft beers will be served on Friday, June 6, at four local businesses, including:

- The Villager Pub serving Short's Brewery
- Stafford's Weathervane serving Petoskey Brewing Company
- Scovic's Gourmet Deli serving Beard's Brewery
- The Flight Deck serving Cheboygan Brewing Company

Sampling craft beers at the festival will be 2-6 p.m. Saturday, June 7, in Bridge Park in downtown Charlevoix. Tickets are $10 and include two beer samples, while additional tasting tickets cost $2.

Gennett, council member from the 1st Ward, who explained he wanted to ensure nobody could just wander off from their table into the park, drink in hand.

Council member Jeff Porter, also of the 1st Ward, said he believes this action will set a precedent for the commercial use of public space. However, Spencer disagreed, explaining how some other downtown businesses have outdoor tables and chairs that are not entirely on private property, but still "jut out onto the city sidewalk."

Porter then inquired if the company will provide any "remunerations for the use of public land." Officials explained that no fee is being applied for that.

"I think something like this should be on a case-by-case basis," said Shirley Gibson, council member from the 3rd Ward.

Gibson further explained how she isn't a fan of commercial use of public space, but she really wants the tap room to succeed as a new start-up.

Council member Leon Peron, of the 2nd Ward, said he would feel more comfortable about granting this request if the business makes some donations to worthy causes across the community.

Phil Parr, one of the principals in the business, said they've already started by purchasing 16 flats of petunias from the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful organization.

ducting themselves in violation of that prior agreement."

According to the approved minutes from a July meeting of the Hayes Township Board of Trustees, the dispute with the Fowlers began about a year ago when township officials ordered them to remove a dock from an area designated for public use. The Fowlers didn't move the dock and the township did so for them, sending the property owners the bill.

Rather than pay, the Fowlers argued the dock had been on their property and in July the Hayes Township Board of Trustees authorized Graham to file a lawsuit.

"All they have to do is move their dock over probably 100 feet and then I would be happy," Graham said.

But Carey said the Fowlers are more interested in settling the property dispute. The attorney said his clients believe the agreement negotiated by the prior owners, which relinquished control of the land to the township, is invalid.

Carey said all such changes are subject to a complex process outlined in the Land

— Bill Carey, Fowlers' attorney

Division Act. In the case of the land now owned by the Fowlers, that process was not followed by the prior owners and the township in their agreement.

"When you're dealing with plats, with subdivisions, and you want to change the configuration of the subdivision or change the ownership of common areas of the subdivision, there's a very technical process you have to go through," Carey said.

It's unclear how soon a decision will come in the appellate court, but both sides are eager to find out whose land it is.

"It really comes down to who owns a pretty significant stretch of Lake Charlevoix and who doesn't," Carey said.

front of their houses."

According to the new city ordinance, accepted materials include tree branches up to a foot in diameter, leaves, perennial cuttings, grass clippings and any acceptable materials placed in biodegradable bags.

Unacceptable materials include concrete, bricks, asphalt, dirt or soil, sod piles, treated lumber, railroad ties, rock piles, root balls or large tree stumps more than a foot in diameter, and any materials placed in plastic bags. These items will no longer be collected by city workers when the ordinance goes into effect after 30 days.

Ellitt said residents can contact a landscape or excavating company about removal of unacceptable materials.

COMSTOCK PARK — It's all still kind of sinking in for Charlevoix junior standout distance runner Amber Way.

After all, Saturday's events were quite a lot to take in.

Way, the defending Michigan High School Athletic Association Division III girls' state individual champion in the 3,200-run, repeated as state champion Saturday on a hot and steamy afternoon at Comstock Park High School.

Way, who last year won the 3,200 in a new state-record time of 10 minutes, 48.48 seconds — beating the 2004 state record time of Nicole Bush of Wyoming Kelloggsville who later went on to run at Michigan State University — set a new MHSAA Division III state record again as she beat her own record, finishing in 10:35.33.

Way, who has competed in three straight Division III state finals and now has earned five All-State medals, blew away the field as Clare's Jasmine Harper was second, 11:01.49; and St. Louis' Hannah Davis placed third, 11:16.28.

"It was kind of like my sophomore year," Way said. "It's good to know and you just put yourself out there. I wasn't ready to fail."

Way, who prior to the 3,200 ran a leg in Charle-voix's second-place finishing and school-record breaking 3,200-relay team and also was third in the 1,600, said she was ready and focused despite the heat.

She didn't even know she'd be competing in three events until about a week ago.

"I was splashing myself with water and drinking a lot of Gatorade, being cautious," Way said. "Doing three events, my focus all day was to just get ready for the next

NEWS-REVIEW

COMSTOCK PARK — Northern Michigan was well represented Saturday at the Michigan High School Athletic Association Division III track and field state finals at Comstock Park High School.

Led by individual state championships from Charlevoix's Amber Way and Boyne City's Kylie Hicks, both the Rayders and Ramblers earned top 10 team finishes at the meet.

The Charlevoix High School girls' track and field team had four athletes earn All-State medals led by junior Amher Way, who repeated at the state champion in the 3,200-meter run as she finished in a new meet-record time of 10:35.33.

Way set a meet-record last season as a sophomore when she won the 3,200 in 10:48.48.

"Winning two years in a row is such a blessing," Way said. "It's always fun and next year I hope to do it again. To have that goal in mind, it's a really good feeling."

Meanwhile, Hicks, who was competing at her fourth-straight Division III state finals, won the individual 300-meter hurdles title as she finished in a school-record time of 44.59 seconds.

"It's different year to year and this year early in the season she had some things hurting," Boyne City coach Andy Place said. "She didn't work out as much as she would've liked early on, but this was a nice development-like year for her. We went to some different meets, went to Clare and Alma College to see some different competition and that really helped her."

Hicks also placed runner-up in the 100-meter hurdles for a third straight year as she finished in 15.13 seconds, just behind winner Sydney Bronner of Frankenmuth who won in 15.08.

Also for the Rayders, Way placed third in the 1,600-meter run, 5:07.15; and was part of Charlevoix's second-place and school-record setting 3,200 relay along with Cora Taylor, Madeline Boss and Caroline Boss who finished in 9:34.57.

Shepherd won the 3,200 relay in 9:30.22; while Manistee's Annie Fuller won the 1,600 run, 4:55.64.

"Our relay team is really close and we all run that relay for each other," Way said. "Once we get the baton, we want to get rid of it to the next person as fast as possible. I have a saying of 'Out like a bullet, in like a cheetah.' It's amazing how good our team comes together."

Also for the Charlevoix girls, who placed a program-best fifth with 24 points (Frankenmuth won the team title with 96 points, followed by Pewamo-Westphalia, 72; and Manistee, 33) Caroline Boss was 11th in the 800, 2:23.49; while the 1,600 relay team of Madeline Boss, Taylor, Kourtney Putman and Caroline Boss was 12th, 4:14.45; and Boss placed 12th in the high jump, 4-9.

The 800 relay of Putman, Olivia Bartelli, Mackenzie O'Leary and Caroline Boss was 20th, 1:54.20; while Madeline Boss was 27th in long jump, 14-3.

"Our two-mile relay ran outstanding and set a school record by 10 seconds," Charlevoix girls' coach Mary Plude said. "Cora Taylor was amazing. We substituted her in a few days ago and she had a six second PR to lead us off. She was just on."

"It's believing in a kid and she believed in herself," Plude said. "She was ready to go and that was outstanding."

TRAVERSE CITY — For the Charlevoix girls' soccer team, everything continues to go according to plan.

Or perhaps even better, so far.

A Lake Michigan Conference championship, a Division IV district title, a 4-0 record against their biggest conference rival and now, a Division IV regional semifinal win and championship game to come.

The Rayders earned a 3-2 shootout win over Leland in their Division IV regional semifinal game on Tuesday in Traverse City, sending them to a regional final game set for Thursday.

"Exceeding the plans," Charlevoix coach Pete Scholten said. "Well, when we started, we wanted to win conference, then we wanted to win districts. It's not easy. We had a tough district. I'm just so proud of them. The girls showed a lot of heart."

Charlevoix will play Muskegon Western Michigan Christian at 6 p.m. Thursday, at Coast Guard Field in Traverse City.

The Warriors earned an 8-0 win over Big Rapids Crossroads on Tuesday in Traverse City, advancing them to the final.

Tied 2-2 after regulation, the Rayders and Comets would again hold the tie after two 10 minute overtime periods, sending the teams to a shootout, in which each team would have five opportunities for a penalty kick.

Charlevoix, now 20-5 overall, would kick first sending junior Ellie Way in front of the net, but her kick would be saved by Leland keeper Jessica Fleis.

a nice crossing pass from Kelsey," Charlevoix coach Pete Scholten said. "It was big for us to get that first goal, and so early in the game."

The Rayders would hold the one-goal lead at halftime.

Elk Rapids would spoil Charlevoix goalkeeper Gloria Greene's shutout at the 28-minute mark of the second half on a Megan Henige penalty kick after a foul was called in, the box on an Elks corner kick.

"The penalty kick was an unfortunate break for us," Scholten said. "But, the girls kept playing hard and we got the bounce we needed."

With the game moving to overtime, notched at 1-1, Way found herself in the open and only the goalie to beat.

"I was able to stay on side, tap the ball into the open around the defender," Way said. "I had a lot of net on the left to shoot at, and it passed the goalie and went in."

For Way, it was the second consecutive season that her goal was the game-winner in a district championship.

"When Ellie had the ball, we had faith and confidence that she could score," Scholten said. "Just like last year in Harbor Springs, she put it in."

The Elks ended the Rayders four consecutive district wins two seasons ago, but fell short this time.

"We got off to a slow start tonight," Elk Rapids coach Andrea Krakow said as her team closes a 14-6-1 season. "I am proud of the girls, they did not give up, they kept coming back and playing tough, we got a break with the PK, but we were unlucky in the end."

The district titled marks the first time in three tries that Charlevoix has claimed a district championship at home.

"I was pleased with how fast we were to the ball," Scholten said. "We were able to maintain possession through a great deal of the game. I was proud that we didn't panic after the penalty kick. As a team we kept our composure and found a way to win."

"After such a cold, rainy spring it's difficult to play in the heat we had today," Charlevoix coach Pete Scholten said. "Our girls really gave it all they had and they were rewarded."

Charlevoix junior Amber Way (right) begins the 3,200-meter run during Saturday's Michigan High School Athletic Association Division III state finals at Comstock Park High School. Way won her second-straight individual state title in the 3,200 as she finished in a meet-record time of 10:35.33.

Way said she was worried about her race strategy and whether it would work in the 3,200.

"Then I did the mile and I could feel it," Way said. "I was a little worried because Gina Patterson (Lutheran North High School) was there and she had beaten me by a second. I thought I have to own that race and I can't run her race, I have to run my race."

Way went out strong with the pack and after a quick pace following the first lap, near 75 seconds, Way looked to make a surge near the first mile.

"After the first mile I tried to get away from the pack and it seemed to work," Way said. "Then Gina Patterson collapsed, I didn't expect to see that, but I still went with my strategy and I kicked again with about 800 to go."

"It was getting hot, probably upwards of 100 degrees on the track," Way added.

Way said she had hoped to finish in the 10:30s and top her own record.

"My plan most definitely was to beat my own record and beat it by a good way," Way said. "I've been in the 10:30s this year and I was really happy. I'm sure I could've gone faster the last 200, but nobody was with me."

Charlevoix coach Mary Plude said she talked to Way about doing three events this year at the state meet and doing so to represent Charlevoix the way she knew she would.

"I didn't convince her until about a week before to do all three," Plude said. "She's good enough to do it, and afterwards she said to me 'You're right, I'm glad I did all three.'"

Plude said Way opened up a three-second lead near the three-quarter mile mark and increased that advantage to some 10 seconds after another three-quarter mile.

"She understood when she had to put the hammer down," Plude said. "One of my best moments I've ever had coaching is when you explain a game plan to someone and it works. That was awesome."

Way's time in the 3,200 was fifth best regardless of division Saturday, and she'll look to improve her time as she'll compete in a New Balance national meet June 13-14 in North Carolina.

"She knows there's four girls in Division I that beat her and she wants to see what she can do in national competition," Plude said. "She's more than ready for it. She just might have to soak her feet a little bit. It was 91 degrees in the shade Saturday."

advantage.

Leah Davis would convert next for the Rayders and another wide shot would come for the Comets, this time by Lydia Gulow. The advantage was now 2-1, Charlevoix.

Both Charlevoix's Kelsey Engstrom and Leland's Jaden Prevost would come away empty, Engstrom's hitting the post, while Prevost's shot was blocked by Rayder keeper Gloria Greene.

Rayder senior Katie Hinkley would have the opportunity to seal the game with her shot, and she wouldn't disappoint, sending a slow roller to the right, past Fieis.

"Super proud of these girls, they've got a lot of heart," added Scholten. "We've overcome a lot of adversity, today was no different. It's been a fun ride with them."

"Super proud of these girls, they've got a lot of heart."

—Pete Scholten, Charlevoix coach

Before the Rayders were able to rush the field in celebration, it was the Comets with reason to cheer first, as Munoz put Leland up 1-0 on a breakaway-goal with just under 16 minutes left to play in the first half.

Less than five minutes later, however, the Rayders got on the board, with Scholten setting up senior Katie Kiteley in front of the net.

With a little over eight minutes to play in the first half, Engstrom would help Kiteley to her second goal of the game and fifth of the postseason, with her kick hitting the right side crossbar and bouncing in.

At the half, Charlevoix led 2-1.

For much of the second half, though, it'd be the Comets game, with Munoz doing most of the offensive end work.

Before even 10 minutes could come off the clock in the second half, Munoz tied the game at 2-2, as she turned on a shot in front of a pair of Rayder defenders.

Opportunities would come for both teams in the second half and overtime, but so would three yellow cards and a red card, in a physical game on both sides. For much of the 20 minutes of overtime, the Rayders would play down a player because of the red card.

"That was unusual and that was both ways," Leland coach Joe Burda said. "Got a little out of control there, we had a lot of girls limping off. But I think as far as that game, that was a great game, both ways. We played a really good team."

As much as Scholten was pleased with his girls' first half play, the Comets, who finished the season 22-3-2, made them change their game in the second half, while having a number of offensive opportunities gone arid.

"They're a great team, really fast to the ball," added Scholten. "That was the other thing, the mistake we were making, we were just playing around with it too long. They were coming in and taking it from us and we weren't quick enough to distribute."

In the end, though, shots in front of the net would be all that mattered for the Rayders and after a 12-shot shootout win against Elk Rapids already this season, Charlevoix would have the experience and will to move on against a Muskegon team Scholten and his girls are fairly familiar with.

"We went to Muskegon West Michigan Christian in the regional semifinal last year," said Scholten. "I think they were pretty young, I'm thinking they're pretty good."

A 2-1 win by the Warriors in that regional was the outcome, leaving the Rayders with a chance for revenge this season, as everything continues to go according to plan.

ing. Our 800 relay also had their best time and everybody performed and competed the way they should. We've never finished fifth in the state and that is the most points we've ever had. It was a nice finish for them."

The Rayders lose just a pair of seniors, Caroline Boss and Taylor, to graduation. Boss will run at Olivet College this fall.

For the Rayder boys, seven different athletes earned All-State honors as the Charlevoix 3200 and 800 relay teams both placed within the top eight.

The 3200 relay of Jackson Buday, Justin Pearl, Tristen Rudolph and Nicholas Plude were fourth in 8:07.60; while the 800 relay of Jared McLean, Micah Peebles, Benjamin Patkai and Plude were sixth, 1:32.75.

Also for the Rayder boys, the 1,600 relay of McLean, Rudolph, Patkai and Plude was 12th, 3:34.06, after being seeded No. 17; while Brian Noiro was 19th in the long jump, 18-7.25; and Nicholas Plude 22nd in the 800, 2:08.95.

"It was a good day and our two-mile relay had their best time by quite a bit," Charlevoix coach Ken Plude said. "In the 800 relay, we finally broke into the sprints and had our second fastest time. Seven different guys brought home hardware, which is always an honor. I know Benjamin (Patkai) was really excited. He's an exchange student from Hungary and I watched him cherish that medal."

Also in the boys meet, where Sanford Meridian won the team title with 45 points, followed by Mason County Central, 39; and Hillsdale, 33; East Jordan senior Josh Wojan was fourth in the 1600, 4:25.00, to earn an All-State medal, and was 15th in the 3,200, 10:10.09; while Ryan Graham took 16th in the 200, 23:50.

Harbor Springs' Marcus Garrow was seventh in the 1,600, 4:29.84, to earn All-State honors, while Boyne City's Corey Redman was tied for ninth in high jump, 6-2; while Boyne's 1600 relay (Logan Sulak, Redman, Kory Skop and Conner Mills) was 18th, 3:35.68.

The Harbor Springs girls 1,600-meter relay team of Charlotte Cullip, Claire Fleming, Kyra LaRue and Salix Sampson placed eighth and earned a state medal as they finished in a school-record time of 4:08.59, breaking their own record.

Also for the Rams, Sampson was ninth in the 100, 12.86; and 10th in the 200, while Cullip was ninth in the 400, 1:00.16. The 800 relay of Reagan Damoose, Sampson, Fleming and Cullip was 16th, 1:15.83.

Boyne City's Sidney McLeod placed tied for 17th in the pole vault at 8-6; while East Jordan's Katie Rowthorn was 17th in the 100-hurdles, 17-10.

CHARLEVOIX — It took only a year for Rev. Ginger Stevens to raise the $75,000 needed to finish renovations for the Joppa House in Charlevoix.

"It's amazing how the community has just surrounded this project," Stevens said. "We are ready to take residents as soon as the applications and interviewing are done. Probably within the second week of June."

Now that the final renovations goal has been completed, the need to sustain the shelter has begun.

The second annual Fashion Show to Benefit Joppa House will begin at 11:30 a.m. today, Friday, June 13, in the King's Great Room at Castle Farms in Charlevoix.

"The fashion show raised $3,000 last year," said Joan Lemerand, fashion show coordinator. "We wanted to make the fundraiser

EAST JORDAN — Perhaps the best-known advocate for the Jordan River Valley is gone, but he will not be forgotten.

John Richter, 62, a well-known East Jordan veterinarian and environmental activist, died on May 28, leaving behind not only friends and family, but an entire community who cared as much for him as he did for his beloved Jordan River Valley.

"So, so many people. He was meaningful to so, so many," said Anne Zukowski, longtime friend and fellow Northern Michigan environmental advocate.

Richter was among the founders of the nonprofit Friends of the Jr-

Man faces charges in North Point dog death

Cruelty to animals resulting in death a misdemeanor

CHARLEVOIX — A Charlevoix man is facing a criminal charge in connection with a shooting that led to the death of a neighbor's dog.

According to a news release issued by Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney Allen Telgenhof, James Jerome Gibbons, 83, of Charlevoix was recently charged with cruelty to animals resulting in death. The charge is a misdemeanor carrying a maximum penalty of one year in jail and/or a $2,000 fine.

According to Telgenhof, Gibbons is accused of shooting his neighbor's dog with a pellet gun resulting in the dog being paralyzed, and later being euthanized.

Telgenhof said the alleged incident in question took place on May 26 on Gibbons' property on Pa-Be-Shan Lane in Charlevoix Township. He said, according to the Charlevoix County Sheriff's office report, "there is no indication that the dog was doing anything wrong other than being in the wrong yard."

Telgenhof said Gibbons turned himself in to police on June 6, the same day the charges were authorized.

Gibbons is scheduled to be arraigned in the 90th District Court at 8:30 a.m. on Friday, June 20.

Telgenhof noted the charges against Gibbons are mere accusations at this point and he is presumed innocent unless and until he is proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

Gibbons is free from custody after posting a $400 cash bond.

He has hired Charlevoix Attorney Roy C. Hayes III to represent him.

CHARLEVOIX — City planning leaders intend to pursue several possible zoning changes in coming months, including whether downtown merchants can display products outside or homeowners can create "granny flats."

Charlevoix Planning Commission members met Monday and had a lengthy discussion about last year's zoning change that prevents shops from displaying items outdoors to lure in customers. It's been met with some push back, said Mike Spencer, city planner.

CHARLEVOIX — An Oxford man who was convicted of sexually assaulting a woman during a bachelor party will spend the next 57 months to 15 years in prison after his motions for a new trial failed Wednesday.

Charlevoix County Circuit Court Judge Richard M. Pajtas handed down the sentence to Jesse Louis Royster, 27, after he was convicted on April 24 on four counts of third degree criminal sexual conduct.

Judge Richard M. Pajtas of the 33rd Circuit Court stated that Royster's crimes were crimes of violence in handing down his sentence, Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney Allen Telgenhof wrote in a news release.

The charges arose from an incident which occurred on Dec. 1, 2012 at the Boyne Mountain Resort. Royster and family and friends were at the resort hosting a weekend-long bachelor's party prior to Royster's upcoming wedding. The victim and a male friend were invited back to Royster's condominium after the groups met at a local bar. The victim testified that when she left the bathroom in the condo, Royster had turned off the lights and locked the door and attacked her.

"She is a victim, but more importantly, she is a survivor," Assistant Attorney General Angela Povilaitis said of the victim during the sentencing. Pajtas heard that the victim has moved from the area and has suffered from post-traumatic stress disorder, anxiety and panic attacks following the incident.

Prior to the sentencing, Pajtas denied two defense post-trial motions seeking

Police investigate mailbox bomb

Overnight explosion first thought to be fireworks noise

STEVE ZUCKER
NEWS-REVIEW

BOYNE CITY — Police in Boyne City are continuing their investigation into a recent incident in which a mailbox was destroyed by a homemade explosive device.

Boyne City Police Chief Jeff Gaither said the incident was reported around 8:43 a.m. on May 31 when residents at a home on West Michigan Street discovered that their mailbox had been destroyed sometime overnight.

Gaither said the residents recalled hearing a sound like an explosion overnight but had attributed the noise to someone in the area shooting off fireworks.

He said the investigation revealed that sometime overnight someone placed an explosive device made from common household chemicals inside the mailbox. The device exploded destroying the mailbox and causing chemical burns to the surrounding lawn.

He said there was no mail in the mailbox and no injuries were reported.

Gaither said the investigation, so far, points to the incident likely being a prank, and not intended as an act of intimidation or targeted toward the residents in the home specifically.

He said at this time, the matter has not been referred to the postal inspector's office, but he noted that devices such as the one involved in the incident can be very dangerous and could have caused serious injury to those who placed it in the mailbox, a postal employee, the residents of the home or passers-by.

Under state law, it is a felony to place an explosive substance "in or near any real or personal property with the intent to frighten, terrorize, intimidate, threat-

Happy Father's Day

"The men that are gracious, patient and kind, when they get upset you don't seem to mind."

That's been my mantra throughout life. I understand the value of testosterone as it gives men physical strength which at times I wish I could muster but it also brings out the protective side from which the comment was born. "I take care of my family." With Father's Day just around the corner it's time to focus on the gender that was necessary to give life and create one for us that made us feel secure and challenged us when we needed to be challenged.

Today's fathers are different from the father figures from the past. The adage of children should be seen and not heard has slowly diminished and has been replaced with a newer generation of dads who are hands on. A trip to a farmers market, playground, school event, beach or parade; it's evident that this generation of dads wants to be involved more in parenting their children. Maybe it's due in part to women playing a major role in the work force. Also, women today do not hesitate in requesting that dad get involved with sharing the duties not only of the household but active parenting.

We went for a walk down by the marina this afternoon and noticed a father pushing twin boys in a stroller while a young girl about the age of 3 bounced around him gleefully because she noticed our dog. My husband noticed the twins and he mentioned to the young man "Now there is twice as much fun." A compliment that needs to be heard more often rather than, "Are all those kids yours?" They were having a nice time and I never thought anything about the fact that this was a man without a significant other to assist. It's more common-place to see fathers walking, talking and playing with their children all by themselves.

I loved my dad and all the activities we shared when I was little from mowing the lawn to helping him create the perfect ice skating rink. I appreciated his time spent with me. He worked long hours and still carved out father/daughter moments which made being together very special. Unfortunately, some jobs and life situations deem otherwise and moms take on the responsibility of caregiver, chauffeur, disciplinarian, house keeper and the list goes on. But the good news is that all the latest surveys I can get my hands on reflect the tide is turning and both men and women have blended their roles and the children seem to be better for it. By that I mean that just as you are cross trained in your workplace to be able to do someone else's work if they are sick or on leave, children receive the same care without the drama of "mom's not here or dad's not here" because it shouldn't really matter. What is occurring in more homes today is the blending of roles where both parents play an active role in discipline, caring and household tasks.

Children with this upbringing will have less of a chance to play one parent against the other because they know both parents are on the same page. Also if one parent is tired and needs a little break the other one is not stressed out about taking charge because they have already walked in the other spouses shoes and knows what to expect. Whether it's a sick child or one falling behind in school the situation will be handled pretty much the same so consistency is followed: The same holds true when couples are no longer together. More parents today focus on what needs to be done to help the life of a child to be consistent rather than focus on dad's house versus mom's house.

This Father's Day I want to say thank you to all the dads who actively participate in their child's life. I miss my dad every day; his advice will always be treasured but the memories of our time together were a gift. Thanks dad for letting me be seen and more importantly heard; it helped me be the person I am today and for that I am eternally grateful.

LETTERS to the editor

Beautiful flowers turned to 'garden of evil'

Editor:

When does a beautiful flower garden become a "Garden of Evil?" When the owner makes the decision to throw rocks at a 13-year-old dog that wandered into his yard, leaving the dog inert. The owner of the garden then shot him multiple times with a pellet gun and left him lying there unable to get up and in pain.

Robby was known in the neighborhood of North Point for his friendly, gentle ways. He was the he-loved companion of Carol Roznoski. We are in shock over the cruelty. So a beautiful flower garden becomes a "Garden of Evil" when it is tended by an ogre.

Unhappy with council's land swap proposal coverage

Editor:

Being a long-time subscriber and regular reader of the Courier, I was surprised and somewhat disappointed by your coverage of the land swap proposal at the Council's May meeting. In contrast to the Courier's customary and good journalistic M.O., balance, analysis, and perspective were most notable by their absence.

As recent history demonstrates, proceedings involving public lands and waters often surface opposition. Most of the emotions are sincerely expressed; some are simply reflex opposition - the Lord's Prayer probably would not have passed unanimously at this gathering. Merely cataloging attendance, though, neither reflects a realistic assessment of a broader community sentiment nor promotes an informed public opinion. Analysis of the substance of the proposal, a precise description of the procedure which will govern the land swap, a presentation of an overall perspective, as well as full review of potential adverse public relations consequences would have been far more helpful.

At a time when Charlevoix is seeking to revitalize its economy, the "ready-fire-aim" approach that the Council's motion reflected does not put Charlevoix's best foot forward. It certainly was in marked contrast to the Council's probing and flexible consideration of the marine expansion proposal.

Mayor Carlson's leadership and fellow council member support urging patience and further examination, in my opinion, deserves credit.

As further events unfold, the Courier should have opportunities for redemption. I urge you to take advantage of them.

Bridging our past with our future

LOOKING BACK...

The appearance of Charlevoix's second bridge over the lower channel 150 years ago in 1864 is featured in this historical photo. It was placed about 160 feet west of the first span, a tiny footbridge erected in 1859, that stood closer to Round Lake. Only a drawing of the second one, a drawbridge, survives. In the bridge's original form, a single roadbed was hoisted and lowered by means of a rope attached to its north edge that led to a pulley high atop a pole, then down to a winch on the west side of Bridge Street operated by three men. This is the only known photograph. Unfortunately it shows only the southeast corner of the approach and roadbed (far left). On each side of the channel stood a sign that read, "Five dollars fine for riding and driving on this bridge faster than a walk, or for driving on more than ten head of cattle at once." Five dollars was an enormous amount back then, in some cases the equivalent of two weeks' wages, indicative of the importance of the structure to the community. In 1869, the bridge was altered and lengthened to two roadbeds, or leaves, similar to today's, and a draw widened to 24 feet. After a schooner under full sail ran into and demolished the north half of the wooden structure in September 1877, a much larger steel swing bridge was installed in June 1878, after a very long winter with no way to get across except by boat or walking on the channel ice. In the background are the huge lumber piles of the Charlevoix Lumber Company, now the site of the Edgewater Inn.

Thalia Ferenc (right) is shown here with Janice Elliot, NASW-Michigan board president, after she accepts the 2014 Social Worker of the Year Award.

Charlevoix resident named Social Worker of the Year

CHARLEVOIX — On April 3, Thalia Ferenc, LMSW, DCFC of Charlevoix was awarded the 2014 Social Worker of the Year Award by the National Association of Social Workers — Michigan Chapter. This year's award was presented at the annual meeting of the association's conference in East Lansing.

The Social Worker of the Year Award is given to a licensed practitioner who has shown outstanding leadership, while contributing a positive image of the social work profession. During her nearly 30-year social work career, Ferenc proved to be a fierce advocate on many issues, including mental health, child welfare, domestic violence and the importance of the arts in public education. "Thalia exemplifies outstanding leadership skills; a strong commitment to the values and ethics of her profession and a personal enthusiasm for serving her clients and the community. She is always willing to share her knowledge and insights and is a caring and compassionate woman," said Bernadette Beyer, L.L.P., LMFT, RPT-S, one of Ferenc's colleagues who wrote a letter of support.

"Her efforts have spread solid professional service to people far beyond what she could have done alone and has achieved outstanding results," she said.

In 2010, Ferenc and her husband moved to Charlevoix, where she established her current solo private practice. She proactively founded the multi-discipline Women Therapists' Network for females who provide psychotherapy or counseling services and have a master's or doctoral degree. She saw a need for informal peer supervision, speakers to keep social workers updated on area resources and new techniques, referral sources, as well as mutual support from the unique perspective of other women. In doing so, Ferenc provides a tremendous support program for Northern Michigan social workers and therapists across several disciplines.

The National Association of Social Workers is the largest membership organization of professional social workers in the world, with 135,000 members in 56 chapters nationwide.

The association works to enhance the professional growth and development of its members, to create and maintain professional standards, and to advance sound social policies.

Foundation awards $5,000 grant to Moms & Tots Center

Cribs, car seats coming for Charlevoix County residents

ELLSWORTH — Charlevoix County Community Foundation awarded a grant of $5,000 to the Moms & Tots Center for the purchase of cribs and car seats for Charlevoix County residents who are unable to afford them.

The grant was awarded to help address the foundation's concern for the safety of children.

The grant was recommended to the foundation's board by the Youth Advisory Committee. The Youth Advisory Committee has been a core part of the community foundation since the beginning. Youth from throughout Charlevoix County are selected to be members of this special committee and together they oversee grantmaking to causes that serve area youth. They meet several times a year to share their perspectives on local issues, survey their peers to set grantmaking priorities, advocate for youth needs, acquaint themselves with area resources and nonprofit organizations, and put philanthropy into action.

This is a training ground for future philanthropic leaders, and an excellent place to learn the power of giving. They review and evaluate grant requests and select projects for the future. Over the years, the youth committee awarded more than $803,000 in grants to benefit this area's children, teens and families.

Hestia Women's Giving Circle plans to grant awards

CHARLEVOIX — The Hestia Women's Giving Circle will award $37,200 in grants to nine local programs serving women and girls at its annual meeting and membership reception planned for Monday, June 16.
